INLAND SEA

High Water At All Times Proposed By Gigantic Plan

A project for improving Quincy bay, Hingham bay and the adjacent estuaries and converting over 30 miles of coast line into use is being discussed by residents of the South shore and others interested in the utilization of the district, says the Boston Herald.

It is probable that a bill will be introduced in the next Legislature asking that the board of harbor and land commissioners acting with five other members to be appointed by the Governor as a special commission, consider a plan for building a sea wall, tide gates and small locks and report as to the cost and feasibility. If the plan is found practicable, it will be asked that this board construct the wall under the same method of supervision as that used by the Charles river basin commission.

WILL ABOLISH FLATS.

The idea is to overcome the objections now made to the wide stretch of ill-smelling flats left when the tide recedes. When the tide is in, there is 10 feet or more depth of water over the entire 40 square miles enclosed by the coast and Peddocks island, giving Hingham, Quincy, Weymouth and Hull beautifully outlined sea frontage. But at low water the shore is left useless, boats are grounded the miles of flats are unsightly and odorous, and only a narrow and winding channel extends through to Hull gut. Another objection is that the discharge from the sewer at Nut island floats in when the tide is still, making that portion of the bay unpopular with both fishermen and yachtsmen.

SEA WALL TO PEDDOCKS.

It is proposed to construct a sea wall across the half-mile of open water between Nut island and Peddocks island, and across the 150 yards of water at Hull gut. At the latter place, however, a tide gate would have to be built. As warships and other large vessels must pass through on their way to the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company at Quincy, this gate would have to be 100 feet wide, and of peculiar construction. The height of the vessels that pass through would prohibit a lifted draw, and the race of the tide would make a swinging draw impossible. An engineer who has given the matter some thought suggests a collapsible draw, which could be dropped to the bottom at even tide when there would be no great pressure of water, as the solution.

TEN FEET OF WATER.

This wall would serve to imprison the 10 feet of water which now runs in at high tide, filling up the bay and the estuaries and making the shore desirable for building and the waters desirable for sailing at all times. Small locks are proposed for the use of sailing craft in the wall between Peddocks and Nut islands. The wall would also keep the sewer discharge out of the bay.

The passage of the Fore River ships steamboat traffic and smaller craft must be provided for, and the schemes already outlined are thought to provide for these. The swiftness of the tide at Hull gut has been cited by some as absolutely prohibiting the construction of any kind of tide gate, but the special board, if appointed, will be asked to consider that.

The division of the cost has been suggested. The proposition is that the state pay 25 per cent. the towns of Hingham, Weymouth, Hull and Quincy 25 per cent. together, and the owners of abutting property the remainder.

Your regular news agent or newsboy will get the benefit if you place a "trial order" for the Daily Ledger, which will be delivered in any part of Quincy on the day of publication. One hundred votes with every trial order.

Atlantic Parade On the Fourth

The route of the parade at Atlantic on the morning of the Fourth, as now laid out is as follows: Forming on Hancock street near the church of the Sacred Heart, the line will move at 5.30 over Hancock street to Billings road, thence to Faxon road, Edwin, Clark, Squantum, Botolph, Clive, and Walker streets, Newbury avenue, Atlantic, Hancock, Walnut, Myrtle, Oak and Hancock streets to the starting point.

Prizes will be awarded for the best features and it is planned to have Mayor Shea and the city officials review the parade. The reviewing party will probably be at the residence of Councilman Cherrington on Clive street.

Drowned In Quarry Pond

Joseph Mussi, aged 25 years, a quarryman boarding at 8 Filbert street, was drowned Tuesday night in the pond at the Craig & Richards quarry while in bathing.

From what can be learned, Mussi dived from the top of the ledge to the pond, a distance of fully 35 feet. It is supposed that when he landed in the water he struck on his stomach and sank immediately.

The police were notified and Officer Hinchon made a raft and grappled for the body, but was unable to find it before night set in.

Soundings made at the pond showed the water to be 65 feet deep. The police are making another attempt today to recover the body.

Body Not Recovered.

Editor of Ledger:

Being one of the number who stood by watching for the recovery of the young man who was drowned on North Common last evening, I feel obliged to say that in our city, where we have such an efficient police force, the progress was very slow.

The young man was drowned about 6.30 P. M. One officer arrived at the scene about seven o'clock, and nearly an hour passed before any attempt was made to get the body. At last the quarry was dynamited but with no success.

Much credit should be given the two young men who so bravely gave their services and went into the water to search for the body.

SCHOOL BANKS

School Committee Vote To Establish In the Quincy Public Schools

A regular meeting of the School Committee was held Tuesday evening those present being Messrs. Bushnell, Hunting, Newcomb, O'Hara and Wadsworth.

SAVINGS BANK.

It was voted to inaugurate the system of savings banks in the grammar schools recommended by the Superintendent, the civic betterment committee of the Women's club guaranteeing the expense of starting the system.

The plan as adopted is that on each Monday morning the children bring their pennies which they give to their teacher, receiving a small pass book showing the amount deposited and the date. These collections are then passed to the headmaster who deposits them in the Savings bank on a school pass book. As soon as a pupil accumulates $3 or more the master takes out a pass book at the Quincy Savings bank in the child's name and transfers that child's deposit quarterly to this book. This book is then left at the Savings bank for safe keeping.

The pupil may withdraw his or her savings any Monday on request of the parents or guardian of the pupil.

This system has been used for several years in Massachusetts and has given unqualified satifaction. It avoids many of the disadvantages of the stamp system and possesses the four essential qualifications of being educational, economical, safe and business-like.

COAL CONTRACT.

The contract for coal was awarded to the Neponset River Co., and the contract for wood to Thomas O'Brien & Son.

The offices of the school committee will close July 8 for the summer, and while closed labor certificates may be obtained of Charles H. Johnson, the truant officer.

RESIGNATIONS.

The following resignations of teachers were accepted: Miss Eleanor W. Guild of the High school, Miss Mildred B. Hopler of the Adams school, Miss Edith G. Coyle of the Cranch school, Miss Florence M. Pratt of the Lincoln school, Miss Anne H. Upton of the Quincy school, Miss Ethel Vogler and Miss Nina B. Gage of the Washington school.

Officers Raid The Orient Club

The first raid in the interest of good order at Houghs Neck this season was made at 2 o'clock this morning when Officers Thorne, Boutin, Duane and Olson swooped down upon the Orient club who occupy a cottage on Island avenue and scooped in the eight members of the club on a charge of disturbing the peace.

The eight men who hail from Roxbury are: Fred J. Gramer, Joseph F. Murphy, William A. Carey, William Larkin, Willard Garland, Frank Karlback, James Keefe and Frank L. Cain.

Numerous complaints have been made of the amount of noise that came from the cottage occupied by the club and the neighbors found themselves unable to sleep. Last night the racket was continued and Officer Thorne telephoned Chief Burrell, who ordered out a squad of officers to scoop the crowd. Officer Boutin and Medical Examiner Jones furnished the automobiles and the officers made a quick run to the cottage. The officers went in and arrested the whole bunch.

They were arraigned in court for disturbing the peace and a dozen men and women residing in the immediate neighborhood appeared to testify against them. But few of the witnesses were heard however. The court placed the cases on file on payment of costs amounting to $1.50 each, with the understanding that there should be no more trouble.

Sidewalk Obstruction.

Editors Daily Ledger:

Permit me through your paper to direct the attention of the police to the fellows who are in the habit of congregating on Sunday afternoons and evenings in front of the Hancock Chambers and making unmannerly remarks for the benefit of passers-by. Last Sunday conditions were unusually annoying. Not only were the gentry sitting in doorways but they procured chairs somewhere, placed them on the sidewalk, tilted them back against the building and occupied them. It is now up to the police to put an end to the practice.

POPULAR RESORT

Something Doing Always at Houghs Neck By the Seaside

Mrs. Annie Collins of Savin Mill avenue, Dorchester, has leased the Lynch cottage on the water front, for the summer season Mrs. Collins will take possession on Monday.

The young men of the Neck are organizing a base ball team. There are some very good players among the summer residents. The want of a field is the only thing now that will prevent Houghs Neck from having a ball team that is a ball team. Leo Collins of Holy Cross will play first base and William Galvin of the Dorchesters will pitch.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Murray have leased LaBrecque's bungalow for the month of July.

The boat from Nantasket Point from Houghs Neck starts today on its daily service. This trip is one of the best on the South Shore.

Houghs Neck now has a daily newspaper in which all summer residents should be interested. Everyone is invited to contribute news, but no anonymous letters are wanted. Always accompany news with name of writer, which however will not be published.

Houghs Neck news in nearly every column of the Ledger today.

Mrs. Fred Scott of Bell street is one of the best woman bowlers at the beach. Mrs. Scott sometimes trims Mr. Scott at bowling.

Special meeting of the Houghs Neck Associates will be held tonight at the Quincy Yacht club. The principal business of the meeting will be the taking of immediate action for incoporation.

The city has extended the water mains to Rock Island into the newly opened land. There have been many houses built at this place in the last five months. The land company reports that most of the land has been sold.

Send the Houghs Neck Daily Ledger to some of your out-of-town friends today, and help boom this seaside resort.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Otto Kramer of Roslindale spent the week end with N. B. Grant and family of Rawson road.

Mrs. F. A. Gross of West Elm avenue entertained Mrs. Freeman Atkins of Charlestown on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Freeman of Somerville were the guests on Sunday of Mrs. E. A. Snow of West Elm avenue.

Some of the stores in City Square display signs giving notice that the store will close Wednesday at noon during July and August.

Mrs. C. Flanders of Lebanon, N. H., who has been the guest of Miss Amelia Linnell of Davis street the past two weeks, is visiting friends in Everett.

Flowers for the Flower Mission may be taken to the lower door of the Unitarian chapel on Friday morning from 8 until 9.15 instead of Saturday owing to the holiday.

A hugh pile of barrels boxes, etc., has been made on the Atlantic Playground, near the depot for the bon fire to be lighted at midnight the "Night Before the Fourth."

The South Quincy boys are having a hard time accumulating old boxes, etc., for their bon fire. They gather quite a lot during the day only to have it carried off at night for fire wood.

George Ruxton of Chestnut street is at Mountain Farm in New Hampshire, recuperating from the effects of his recent illness. He is making rapid progress and expects to return and resume business at an early date.

Mrs. Torrey and daughter of New York city are enjoying a few weeks with Mrs. Olive Milbury of West Elm avenue. She will spend the rest of the summer with her mother Mrs. Milbury of Nova Scotia.

Mr. Blake led the prayer meeting Sunday evening at the Park and Downs Congregational church. His subject was "Longings and Satisfactions." Miss Pearl Pattern spoke on "Vacation Religion." Next Sunday Mr. Megathlin will have for his subject for the prayer meeting, "Our vows and their fulfilment."

No civil cases, except the few already on the trial list, will be heard in the District Court until September. Learned counsel may now proceed to the mountains and beaches and enjoy themselves for the next two months, without fear of being defaulted or nonsuited during their absence. An exception is made of ejectment cases. Those are in order for a speedy hearing at all times.

IF GRAY IS WILLING

Democrats May Give Him the Second Place on Ticket

BRYAN ON ANTI-INJUNCTION

His Radical Views Do Not Meet With Favor and May Be Opposed--Fight Against Federation of Labor Proposition Considered Likely

Denver, July 1.—Although candidates for the nomination for vice president on the Democratic ticket are numerous, and despite the fact that their number is likely to be largely increased before a choice is actually made, it is the general opinion among such leaders of the party that are now here that if George Gray of Delaware will declare his willingness to accept the second place on the ticket he can have it.

Josiah Marvel, manager of the Gray presidential campaign, who has arrived in Denver, will not, however, give his consent. He insists that the Delaware man is a candidate for first place, and when it has been settled that he cannot have first place it will be ample time to place him in running for the secondary position, provided he cares to take it. Marvel denies, however, that Gray will be satisfied with anything less than the head of the ticket.

It is well known that Mr. Bryan would be pleased to have Gray for the vice presidential candidate, and the ohly thing that prevents the latter from becoming a leading candidate for that position is the simple but all-powerful fact that he will not declare himself to be a candidate at all.

The Gray presidential boom has been formally launched and headquarters were opened in the Savoy hotel yesterday afternoon. A corps of bill-stickers were going about the hotels, putting up lithographs of the Delaware candidate. No other pictures have been placed as yet, and the Gray men secured the most prominent places in the lobbies of all the leading hotels.

The Johnson headquarters will not be opened for several days, and the date on which the Bryan banners will be thrown out has not yet been determined, but it will be Saturday or Sunday, after the arrival of the Nebraska delegation.

It is certain that there will be a strong fight in the committee on resolutions, and possibly on the floor of the convention itself, over the anti-injunction plank. Word has come indirectly from Lincoln that Bryan is in favor of a plank somewhat radical in nature, and it is certain that such men as Sullivan, national committeeman from Illinois, and Chairman Taggart of the national committee are strongly opposed to it.

Sullivan gave out a statement in which he favored "equal rights before the law," and used other expressions of a similar character which were construed to mean that he was opposed to a strong anti-injunction plank. It is well known that between Bryan and Sullivan and other influential members of the Illinois delegation no particular amount of love is lost, and reports have been circulated that if an anti-injunction plank is adopted more radical in its character than the Illinois people feel they can approve, that the state, when it comes to balloting for president, will break away from its Bryan instructions. Sullivan denied this.

The forces opposed to a radical labor plank were strengthened by the arrival of Charles G. Heifner of Washington state. Heifner announced emphatically that the Pacific coast, and particularly Washington, was opposed to the adoption of such a plank as was presented at Chicago by the American Federation of Labor. "The adoption by our party of such a plank would be a transparent sop to union labor which would be repugnant to voters in all sections of the country. It will be a promise that no law-making body would be willing to fulfil. It would not help, but would injure the Democratic ticket at the polls."

The coming of Heifner with his statement of the sentiment on the Pacific coast against the proposed anti-injunction plank, and the announcement in the east that Martin W. Littleton of New York will come here to make a fight against the insertion of such a plank in the platform easily makes this question the most important under discussion. New England is said to be opposed to the plank, and New Jersey and Pennsylvania also are accredited with pronounced antagonism to such a resolution. If the New York delegation and the Pacific coast delegations should take a determined stand against it, the fight would assume formidable proportions.

Military Balloon of Great Size

Berlin, July 1.—A new military steerable airship designed by Major Gross, chief of the balloon corps of the army, made its first ascent at Tegel. The ship, which is 200 feet long and 33 feet in diameter, is propelled by two motors of 75 horse-power. The trial trip lasted for one hour and a half and was highly successful.

No Contraband Landed

Havana, July 1.—The report of the army officers detailed to investigate the rumor that a cargo of arms and ammunition had been landed recently from a schooner at Puna del Coco states that the rumor was without foundation.

M'CLELLAN'S TITLE CLEAR

But It Cost Him $40,000 to Defend His Claim For the Mayoralty

New York, July 1.—George B. McClellan's title to the office of mayor of New York city was made clear by a decision of Justice Lambert in the supreme court in which the justice ordered a jury to render a verdict that McClellan was duly elected mayor in 1905. W. R. Hearst has been contesting the mayor's right to the office. The recount left McClellan with a plurality of 2965.

The jurors were allowed $510 each, having sat fifty-one days.

Mayor McClellan issued a statement in which, after defining his attitude in regard to the recount, he states that he has been forced to pay out $40,000 to defend his title, not including counsel fees which are still unpaid. The mayor directs attention to the fact that "the result of this enormous expense and this protracted litigation has been to increase my total vote and to diminish my official plurality by about 500 disputed ballots."

Matteawan the Place For Thaw

Albany, July 1.—President Ferris of the state lunacy commission says that for the safety of the community, patients with Thaw's unfortunate hereditary taint, with his instability of mental poise and demonstrated homicidal impulse, should be cared for in a hospital for people of his mental class, and the community should not be subjected to the risk of experiments entered upon from sentimental reasons. Ferris expressed himself as pleased with the decision of Justice Dowling, denying the application to have Thaw committed elsewhere than to Matteawan.

Refugees Safe In Legation

London, July 1.—The foreign office has refused the request of the Persian government that the political refugees at the British legation in Teheran be handed over to the local authorities, and at the same time it has protested with warmth against the action of the shah in posting troops in the neighborhood of the legation. The refugees will not be given up without definite and reliable guarantees of their proper treatment.

Big Subscription Raised

Washington, July 1.—Announcement that the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle has met the congressional requirements that $13,000,000 be raised by subscription, before the congressional appropriation of $600,000 for the exposition can be available, is made in a telegram received from the officers of the exposition. Secretary Cortelyou will designate a treasury official to examine the exposition's securities.

No Japs In Public Schools

Seattle, July 1.—Seattle Japanese have decided to withdraw their children from the public schools, because, as was alleged at a meeting of the Japanese Association of the State of Washington, the education given is not satisfactory to them. Japanese schools and Japanese instructors will be substituted for American schools and American instructors.

Lower Wages For Ten Thousand

Pittsburg, July 1.—A wage agreement has been reached between representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the American Sheet and Tin Plate company. There is a 5 percent reduction in the pay of the tin workers and a cut of 2 percent in the scale for the sheet department. About 10,000 men are affected.

Moroccan Chieftain Tortured

Fez, July 1.—Abd-el-Malek, chief of the El-Quar expeditionary force, who was captured by the followers of Mulai Hafid, was subjected to horrible torture on account of his refusal to surrender. His captors wrapped him in chains and let him hang head downward, while they lashed him into insensibility with whips.

Sherman Feels In Good Health

Cleveland, July 1.—Congressman Sherman, Republican candidate for vice president, who is recovering from a ten days' illness here, will leave for his home in Utica, N. Y., Thursday. Sherman has almost entirely recovered his strength and expresses himself as feeling in good health again.

Resumption of Railroad Work

Omaha, July 1.—Extension work on the Harriman lines begun today where it was stopped several months ago because of the threatening financial unrest. Large gangs of men were sent to the Athol hill cut-off in Colorado and the extension of the branch line from North Platte to North Port.

Negro Footpad Punished

Cleveland, July 1.—Fined $400 costs and sentenced to three months in the workhouse was the penalty meted out to a negro who assaulted and attempted to hold up Miss Emma Tapperwein, a delegate from San Antonio, Tex., to the National Educational contention.

Justice Moved Swiftly

Jersey City, July 1.—A jury which was selected in twenty-one minutes took less than an hour to find Sabine Malillo guilty of murder in the first degree. Malillo killed Alphonse Bechino with a hatchet after a dispute over their discharge from the Lackawanna tunnel.

Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title Incorporated 1892.)
The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.
Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.
The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL
(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889
The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.
Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received.
The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams Street, Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

NAMED UNANIMOUSLY

Maine Republicans Choose Fernald to Head Their Ticket

VOTING IS DISPENSED WITH

Matters Expedited by Motion of Successful Candidate's Opponent--Platform Sticks to Prohibitory Law and Considers Child Labor

Bangor, Me., July 1.—Bert M. Fernald of Poland was nominated by acclamation for governor of Maine by the Republican state convention yesterday afternoon, just when it had begun to look as if the convention would outlast the daylight.

It was William T. Haines of Waterville, Fernald's opponent for the nomination, who expedited matters. The convention had been sitting since 2 o'clock. At 5:40, when the speech-making had been concluded and the convention was preparing to ballot, Haines came upon the platform, and in a brief speech moved that the voting be dispensed with and that Fernald's nomination be made unanimous.

This won the instant approval of the great majority and the motion was carried amid great enthusiasm. Thus an hour's time was saved and the convention was adjourned exactly at 6 o'clock.

The platform adopted by the convention endorses the administration of President Roosevelt and his strenuous efforts for the betterment of conditions, approves of the business-like and courageous administration of Governor Cobb, who has been true to every pledge made by him, and declares adherence to the principles of the Republican party as set forth in its national platform.

It demands the faithful and impartial enforcement of the prohibitory law, and opposes "resubmission or any measure tending to the repeal of the law which has done so much to promote the moral and material welfare of the people of this state."

The last plank is as follows:

"We approve of the legislation on our statute books looking to the protection of children employed in our factories and shops, and we urge upon our legislature the propriety of considering a reduction of the hours of labor from 60 to 58 per week for women and minors of our state."

Charles P. Hatch was nominated for auditor.

Poison Squad's Stunt Ends

Washington, July 1.—After having partaken for some months of specially prepared government food containing saltpetre, with a view to determining what effect this chemical product has upon the human system, Dr. Wiley's famous "poison squad" completed their dietary course at the bureau of chemistry last night. A mass of data is being collected, showing the effects of certain ingredients upon the various classes who have undergone this "treatment."

Missing Student May Be Safe

Fresno, Cal., July 1.—It appears possible that Kenneth Archibald, the Cornell student who has been lost in the high Sierras for several days, has wandered to Paradise Valley, and is being cared for by Indian women. An Indian runner arrived from Paradise Valley country last night and told of a white man having wandered into the camp of the Indians and being very weak and too ill to talk.

Resolutions Lauding Cleveland

New York, July 1.—Grover Cleveland's notable services in public office and his valuable contribution "to the preservation and elevation of the business of life insurance" were lauded in resolutions passed by the executive committee of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents at a meeting held here. Mr. Cleveland was chairman and counsel of the committee.

Minus $35,000 Worth of Diamonds

Chicago, July 1.—S. C. Powell, a jeweler employed by wholesale jewelers here, reported to the police that he either lost or was robbed of a sack containing $35,000 worth of unset diamonds which was in his pocket. The police are inclined to believe that Powell may have been the victim of pickpockets.

Willie Winter Shaken Up

Los Angeles, Cal., July 1.—William Winter, the veteran dramatic critic of New York, was brought to this city, suffering from a shock sustained in the wreck of a train near Winslow, Ariz. Winter was badly shaken up and is under the care of a physician, who will not permit him to be seen.

Curtailing Cotton Mill Output

Spartanburg, S. C., July 1.—Four of the largest cotton mills in Spartanburg county, the Whitney, Spartan, Pacolet and Arkwright, closed down today for thirteen days. This stops 200,000 spindles. It is understood others will give their employes a layoff of two weeks later in the summer.

Near Death's Portals

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 1.—Reports from the bedside of Bishop Potter of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York, who is critically ill here, are somewhat more favorable, but his condition is still extremely serious Oxygen is being freely administered.

HAVE DELICATE TASK

Army Officers Cannot Make Promiscuous Arrests

TROOPS ON MEXICAN BORDER

Question of Law as to What Extent They May Check Entrance of Persons to United States--Strict Neutrality Must Be Observed

Washington, July 1.—American military forces are now in service for the enforcement of the neutrality laws along the Mexican border.

General Myer, commanding the department of Texas, has reported to the war department that directions have already been given for the dispatch of four troops of cavalry from posts in his department to Del Rio. As to other points he will be guided by his conferences with the civil officials.

The employment of American troops for this purpose is almost without precedent in recent years, and the law officers of the war department, as well as the attorney general himself, have been obliged to give close study to the question as to the extent to which they may exercise the power of preventing persons entering the United States from Mexico.

Under the law no passports are required except in the case of Chinese and Japanese, and about the only reasonable ground for the detention of fugitives would be some presumable violation of the immigration or health inspection laws. Thus it will be a delicate task for the army officers to avert clashes with the civil courts if they undertake to make promiscuous arrests of persons fleeing from Mexico into the United States.

Frequent conferences were held by the various officials of the state and war departments, and Senor Godoy, the Mexican charge at Washington, also had a thorough discussion of the situation with Acting Secretary of State Bacon.

Attorney General Bonaparte, whose department is co-operating in the efforts of the United States to see that strict neutrality is observed, was at the war department and had talks with Secretary Taft and with General Bell, the chief of staff of the army. All the agencies of the government are now at work along the same lines in the effort to prevent any substantial aid being given the Mexicans from sympathizers across the border.

Cavalry at Del Rio

Del Rio, Tex., July 1.—Two troops of the Third cavalry, formerly stationed at Fort Clark, arrived here this morning. The troops were under command of Lieutenants Cullen and Boone. In all there were six officers and eighty-nine enlisted men. They brought with them rations for ten days. In all possibility the abandoned battallon posts along the Mexican border, which are in a good state of preservation, will be garrisoned by troops during the summer.

Revolutionists Using Bombs

El Paso, Tex., July 1.—The first revolutionary outbreak in Mexico beyond the borders of the state of Coahuita occurred yesterday, when the garrison at Palomas, Chihuahua, seventy miles west of this city, was attacked by a band of fifty men, who were repulsed with a loss of one killed and one captured.

There were fourteen guards stationed at the Mexican post when the attacking party surprised the town.

According to a dispatch received here from Columbus, N. M., Juan Correon, the Mexican general, arrived there from Palomas bearing dispatches to his government concerning the attack. It began when a bomb was thrown into the telegraph office, thus shutting off communication with outside points. In the fight which followed several hundred shots were fired and many bombs thrown at the headquarters of the officers.

Owing to the fact that the bombs were ill-timed, the officers were able to throw them away before they exploded, thus saving the building and their own lives. The fight lasted one hour, after which the attacking party fled to the mountains west of Palomas. One man was killed, but it seems that he was a non-combatant.

One revolutionist was seriously wounded and captured. He speaks good English and the Mexican authorities think he is a native of New Mexico. This idea is confirmed by the report of the section foreman at Mimbro, seven miles west of here, to the effect that about fifty men assembled there Monday. They would not allow him to leave the yards during the day. They had two large bundles of rifles and bought provisions. They left Mimbro, a railroad station, about midnight Monday night.

Not Allowed to Surrender

Del Rio, Tex., July 1.—It is reported here that a company of rurales yesterday surrounded a detachment of eight of the revolutionists who attacked Las Vecas and that a fight occurred in the mountains to the southwest of the city. The revolutionists were short of ammunition and after the exchange of a few volleys their ammunition became exhausted. The rurales are reported to have charged the hiding place of the men and, despite the fact that they offered to surrender, shot them to death.

CRUSADE AGAINST BETTING

Bookmaking Said to Be Going on Openly at Boston

Boston, July 1.—A crusade against betting on horse races and baseball games was started in Boston by the arrest of Frank J. Meehan and W. H. Hartwell, both charged with registering bets on races. Hartwell was also charged with conducting a place to receive bets at 623 Washington street.

The arrests were made in front of the Hotel Cecil by Inspectors Gleavey and Pelton of police headquarters on complaint of the Watch and Ward society, officers of which say that there are fifteen more persons under suspicion and that more arrests will follow.

Meehan was released in the municipal court on $100 bail, but Hartwell was held in $1000 to July 2.

Officers of the Watch and Ward society claim that betting has been going on in Boston for six months, and that it has become so open and flagrant that a stranger can easily find a chance to bet on races and ball games.

Leyden For Governor

St. Albans, Vt., July 1.—The Vermont Prohibition state ticket was announced by the committee appointed by the state convention on June 23 to present the party's candidates for state officers. The nominees are headed by Eugene M. Campbell of Lyndon for governor. The party platform favors the anti-canteen law, better preservation of forests, better educational laws and the conservation of natural resources, with the usual declaration of prohibition principles.

Labor Men on Senators' Trail

Boston, July 1.—The senators who were responsible for the defeat of the bill to regulate the issuance of injunctions, known as the "Turtle peaceful picketing bill," at the last legislature, were denounced in a mass meeting of delegates of labor organizations of the state, gathered in this city. A legislative committee was appointed to conduct a campaign to defeat, if possible, at the next election, all those senators who voted against the bill in question.

Fishermen Are Missing

Nantucket, Mass., July 1.—Four members of the crew of the fishing schooner Shenandoah are reported lost by Captain Gannon and the remaining three members of the crew. Monday night, while about ten miles off Nantucket, the vessel grounded heavily on a shoal, and the four men took to a dory. Since then they have not been heard from. The Shenandoah was floated an hour later, apparently uninjured.

Lower Pay For Paper Makers

Franklin, N. H., July 1.—The 10 per cent cut in wages of International Paper company employes on Aug. 1, announced in New York, where the head offices of the corporation are located, will affect about 5000 men in New York state, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine. The company has several mills in Franklin and Berlin.

Boston Has a Scorcher

Boston, July 1.—One death and eleven prostrations occurred as the result of the heat yesterday. The highest temperature at the government bureau was 89. With the exception of Atlanta, where the mercury went to 86, Boston was the hottest city in the United States yesterday.

Young Man and Woman Drowned

Burlington, Vt., July 1.—While Henry Debgarar was assisting Sadie Brown, aged 19, into his rowboat from a wharf here the boat upset and the girl and young man were drowned, while Miss Anna Moquien, who was in the boat, was rescued by Henry Chiott, who was on the wharf.

Headed by St. Louis Woman

Boston, July 1.—With the introduction of the new officers, headed by Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis as president, to the assembled delegates of the General Federation of Women's Clubs last night, the Federation brought to a final adjournment the ninth biennial convention.

Paid the Death Penalty

Wethersfield, Conn., July 1.—John Waslielesky was hanged at the state prison here early this morning for the murder of John Lukeswicz at Westville, a suburb of New Haven, on the night of Dec. 3, 1903. The murder was the result of a quarrel over Lukeswicz' wife.

Boy Killed by Lightning

Newton, Mass., July 1.—While fishing in the Charles river here during a thunderstorm, James McKee, 14 years old, was struck by lightning and died on his way to a hospital. The bolt struck him in the stomach, ran down one leg and took his shoe off.

Admitted Accepting Rebates

Chicago, July 1.—A. Booth & Co., one of the largest concerns dealing in fish and oysters in the west, pleaded guilty to having accepted $469 as rebates from two railroads. Judge Landis will announce sentence later. The maximum penalty is $20,000 fine.

Prison For Injunction Violators

Chicago, July 1.—J. J. Brittain, G. H. Lakey and C. G. Grassel, business agents for the Carpenters' union in this city, were sentenced to thirty days in jail for violation of an injunction against the calling of strikes on buildings under construction.

Douglass Loses Another Wife

Norfolk, July 1.—Mrs. Louisiana H. Douglass, one of the numerous wives of the alleged bogus "Lord" Oswald Reginald Douglass, was granted an absolute divorce here from "Lord Douglass" on the ground of desertion for more than three years.

Extradited From Honduras

Porto Cortez, Honduras, July 1.—President F. G. Bailey and Secretary A. W. Bailey of the Export Shipping company of New Jersey, C. H. H. Myers, agent of the General Supply company, and Captain Onley, master of the steamer Goldsboro, were turned over to the custody of Lieutenant Berry of the New York police department. They were involved, it is alleged, in the carrying off of a valuable cargo on the steamer Goldsboro. The prisoners were removed to the Norwegian steamer Utslein, which sailed for New Orleans today.

Mrs. Cleveland Leaves Princeton

Princeton, N. J., July 1.—Mrs. Cleveland has left for Tamworth, N. H., where she will join her children, Marion and Francis, who remained there during the funeral of their father. With Mrs. Cleveland were her two other children, Esther and Richard; Miss Bryant, a daughter of the family physician, and President Finley of the College of the City of New York. Mrs. Cleveland said she preferred to make no announcements at present.

For Boston Custom House Site

Washington, July 1.—Bids for a site for the new custom house to be built at Boston were opened at the treasury department. Of eight tracts of land offered, only five came within the limit of $500,000, set aside by the treasury department for a site. Any of these bids, or none of them, may receive favorable action. An agent of the treasury department will be sent to inspect the various sites.

Backed by United States

Brussels, July 1.—Foreign Minister Davignon admits that Great Britain is not satisfied with some of the conditions existing in the Congo Independent state. He submitted a new note to the chamber of deputies, with some additional demands, and announced also that the United States was supporting the contentions made by Great Britain.

Stable Roof Caved In

Minneapolis, July 1.—Two men were killed and three were injured in the collapse of a livery stable here which was being torn down. Bricks that were being removed were thrown on the front part of the roof, making the weight greater than the walls could bear. The front part of the roof caved in.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Mrs. Theodore Hay and baby of Beach street have returned from Lynn.

Have the Daily Ledger sent to your vacation address. We pay the postage.

Gordon Jameson of Beach street has gone camping in Maine for two or three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fitts are moving this week into their pretty new house on Bigelow street.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Douglas of Rockland visited Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Loud of Beach street on Sunday.

Miss H. L. Linnell of Rawson road entertained Miss Butler of Linden and Mr. Wesley Hume of Malden on Sunday.

Friends are glad to hear that Seth S. Crocker of Beach street is able to be up and out after his long seige of the grip.

The new sidewalk in front of the First church is a great improvement but sadly needs an edgestone to make it complete.

W. Cameron Forbes, a native of Milton, has been appointed by President Roosevelt as vice governor of the Philippine Islands.

Miss Mary Webb Dinegan started Tuesday for a trip through the south and west visiting Vassar classmates in a number of places.

Just take a look under the burlap around the trees in your neighborhood and see whether the pest arrived last night. They come suddenly from "nobody-knows-where."

The Quincy delegates at the Mass. meeting of delegates from labor organizations of the state held in Boston on Tuesday were: Charles W. Hanscom, Frank Hibbett and H. Marr.

Your regular news agent or newsboy will get the benefit if you place a "trial order" for the Daily Ledger, which will be delivered in any part of Quincy on the day of publication. One hundred votes with every trial order.

Miss Margery Melcher of Bigelow street has returned from Indiana, where she has been pleasantly engaged for six months as State Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association educational work.

Henry B. Raymond who died at East Weymouth on Monday was well known in Quincy. For years he and his wife have been identified with the temperance movement and they have frequently furnished musical numbers at temperance gatherings held in Quincy.

The sewing and sloyd classes for boys and girls under the auspices of the Educational committee of the Quincy Women's club, are to begin next week; the sewing class at nine o'clock Tuesday morning at the club house and the sloyd at nine o'clock Monday morning at the Y. M. C. A. Girls and boys who wish to join the classes should be on hand promptly.

HERE IS RELIEF FOR WOMEN.

If you have pains in the back, Urinary, Bladder or Kidney trouble and want a certain, pleasant herb relief for Women's ills, try Mother Gray's "AUSTRALIAN-LEAF." It is a safe and never failing regulator, and relieves all Female Weaknesses, including inflammation and ulcerations. Mother Gray's Australian-Leaf is sold by Druggists or sent by mail for 50 cts. Sample sent FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

New Man In Fourth Place

Capt. Drew has moved up today to fourth place in the Motor Boat contest and will obtain one of the prizes if he keeps that position. Several other changes will be noticed down the list.

Blanks for placing trial orders for the Daily Ledger may be obtained at the office of publication, and will be mailed upon request. Each trial order gives a credit of 100 votes to your favorite candidate.

The standing of the candidates will be printed each day, all votes received previous to 9 A. M. being counted that day.

It is not necessary that candidates shall be members of a yacht club or any other club. Neither is the contest limited to men. Women as well as men may enter.

The prizes offered are valuable ones, there being others besides the motor boat which is offered as a first prize.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

Prize Winners At the Picnic

The Sunday school and friends of First church had a fine time Tuesday at the annual picnic at Houghton's pond. The trip was made in barges and the party arrived in good season.

There was a series of sports during the day for which souvenirs were awarded.

A series of sack races were won by Pearl Hayden, Allan Miller, Harold Round, Rena Galvin and Katherine Hannum.

Three legged race by Rena Galvin and Blanche Hayden.

Potato races, by Blanche Hayden, Bessie Grant, Richard Blackmur and Bartlett Sprague.

Running races by Floyd McDonald, Seth Taylor and Bartlett Sprague.

Hop-step and jump by Morris Blackmur.

50-yard dashes by Dorris Taylor, Fred Schenkelberger, Maria Schenkelberger and Pearl Hayden.

25-yard dash by Lettie Schengelberger and Helen White.

A competition race between runners from the Quincy church and four children from Braintree church, which was also holding a picnic there, was won by the Quincy church.

During the day ice cream, lemonade and fruit were served and a good time was enjoyed by all.

The New Crane At Freight Yard

As a rule the travelling crane at the new freight yard at South Quincy, is giving general satisfaction, although things will run smoother as the employes get more accustomed to the handling of the machine. As a rule seven cars are on the switch and stone is placed on either of these cars at will.

There has been some complaint on the part of teamsters, but this seems to have been the fault of the manufacturers who shipped the stone.

Instead of loading a team with all the pieces going to one destination, some of the manufacturers will load parts of several different monuments onto one team, each stone having a different destination. The result is, that when a team arrives at the derrick, instead of unloading quickly, the blocks have to be sorted out and placed on different cars according to their destination. This means considerable extra work, and has doubtless been the cause for complaint. If manufacturers when loading would see to it that the load on the team was to go to the same section of the country, it would save the teamsters a lot of time when they arrive at the derrick.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Bowling League At Houghs Neck

The Bay Views defeated the Night Owls two out of three strings in one of the most exciting games played in the Houghs Neck bowling league. The match was played at Brown's bowling alley Tuesday evening. The Bay Views captured the first two strings while the Night Owls won the third by a good margin. The Night Owls were somewhat handicapped by having to put in a substitute in the first two strings. Both teams had a large bunch of rooters.

The summary:

NIGHT OWLS.

McLellan	75	77	66	218
Mitchell	83	86	75	244
Smith	68	67	72	207
Flynn	79	87	86	252
Boutin	82	77	92	251
	385	390	398	1173

BAY VIEWS.

Brown	68	79	83	230

Connelly	78	72	82	232
Grag	79	78	84	241
	401	400	378	1179

The next league match will be played Thursday evening at Brown's bowling alley when the Yannigans meet the River Roads.

The league standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Yannigans	3	0
Bay Views	4	2
Night Owls	4	2
River Roads	0	3

Japanese Evening At Wollaston Park

The D. O. club gave a Japanese evening, Tuesday at the Park and Downs Congregational church. "My Aunt's Heiress," a little one-act drama was presented by the club in the auditorium at eight o'clock. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and strawberries and cream were served later in the church vestry by thirteen little Japanese ladies. The vestry was decorated with roses and leaves, Japanese parasols, fans, screens and lanterns. Fifteen tables were set for two. The evening's entertainment was most successful.

The cast of characters was:

Mrs. John Smith,	Miss Pearl Patten
Anna Maria,	Miss Freda Klingenhagen
Jemima,	Miss Bertha Given
Sophia,	Miss Angie Rose
Arabelle,	Miss Edna Marr
Matilda,	Miss Gertrude Sass
Clementina,	Miss Flora Sass
Jane,	Miss Phronie Rose
Mrs. Alexander de Courey Smith,	Miss Kuth Page
Betsy Brown,	Miss Geraldine Scott
Sippetts, servant to Mrs. J. Smith,	Miss Clara Mansfield

Miss Hazel Jones was the pianist. A seven piece orchestra composed of some of the young men of the church played several selections.

D. O. means Opus Domino (work for the Master.) The club has indeed chosen a good name for its work has been most faithful and helpful for the Park and Downs church the past winter. Each member deserves the highest praise.

"Trial order" blanks for the Daily Ledger will be sent on application at the Ledger office. The paper will be delivered in any part of Quincy, and the subscriber may cast 100 votes for any candidate in the Motor Boat popularity contest.

Quincy Enters Boston P. O. District

The post offices in Quincy are now branch offices of Boston, the consolidation going into effect this morning.

While the change is an important one, it will make no difference to the patrons of the office for they will enjoy the same facilities as they have. Changes will, however, be made in the near future that will increase the service at the Quincy office.

This change is the putting of a night clerk on duty at the Quincy office, a late night collection of the boxes, and a late mail from Boston. This clerk will go on duty at 9 or 10 o'clock in the evening, and remain on duty all night, although the office will be closed to the general public as now.

The carrier who makes the late collection from the boxes will start on his rounds in the vicinity of 9 o'clock, and will get back to the office in time for the mail to be dispatched to Boston on the last inward train at 11.15.

A mail from Boston will arrive on the last train at 11.49 P. M. This mail will be sorted during the night by the night clerk. It will go into effect at an early date.

Up to the consolidation, the offices at Wollaston, Atlantic, Braintree and South Quincy were branches of the Quincy office, under the jurisdiction of Postmaster Charles L. Hammond. Now they are branch offices of Boston. The Quincy office remains in charge of Mr. Hammond, but his title changes to that of superintendent, and John H. McDougall who was the assistant postmaster becomes assistant superintendent.

At the Wollaston office, Martin F. Burns has practically been the superintendent and he retains that title.

At Atlantic, Miss Nellie L. Gerry becomes the chief clerk in charge.

At Braintree, M. A. Minchin becomes the chief clerk in charge, and at South Braintree W. A. Torrey.

Letters dispatched from Quincy will be post marked Quincy as before.

The Boston district now includes:

HOUCHS NECK ASSOCIATES

Steps Taken To Secure Incorporation Of Organization

A special meeting of the Houghs Neck Associates was held Wednesday evening in the dance hall of the Quincy Yacht club. The attendance was unusually large. Henry W. French acted as chairman, calling the meeting to order at eight sharp.

Alfred LaBrecque, tendered his resignation as secretary, giving the reason that he was too busy to properly attend to the duties attached to office of secretary. Herbert W. Robbins was appointed secretary pro tem. Mr. LaBrecque's resignation was accepted and William P. Taylor of Shennen street was appointed in his place. A vote of thanks was given to Mr. LaBrecque for his services.

The matter of incorporation was then taken up. William Drew,a Boston lawyer, offered to draw up necessary papers. His service was accepted with thanks, and a committee was appointed to work with Mr. Drew.

It was voted to hold a monthly supper on the next meeting night.

A vote of thanks was extended to Harry Brown and C. F. Cook for their kindness to the Associates in giving the use of their business places to help raise a building fund.

Mr. Drew was appointed as the attorney for the association.

Captain O. G. Fosdick, chairman of the building committee made the report of that committee. Mr. Fosdick stated that he was firmly convinced that enough money would be raise to purchase a permanent home.

A committee was appointed to see the owners of various buildings and find out what terms can be made toward the purchase of some building.

The meeting was then adjourned until the fourth Wednesday in the month, July 22.

Interscholastic Golf.

The Quincy High school had two entries in the field of 40 in the Interscholastic golf tournament at Wollaston this week. Charles Hallet Kendall of Atlantic was the only one however, to qualify, his net being 85. J. E. Gourlie scored 90. The best score was 76 by W. T. Flynn of Milton High with P. Tewksbury of Newton second. In the first round for the championship Kendall was defeated by R. D. Pierce of Newton, 5 up 3 to play, but will play for the president's cup. In the consolidation division Gourlie was defeated by Madigan of Newton High by 2 up.

Probate Court.

The following business was transacted at the Dedham session of probate court Wednesday:

Wills allowed of Maria Elizabeth Jones of Brookline, Andrew C. Wheelwright of Cohasset, Julia A. Sanderson of Wellesley, Maria W. Everett of Franklin, Francis W. Whiting of Medway, Mary Ash of Weymouth, Ann McCormick of Milton, Frances W. Webber of Cohasset, and Andrew J. Bolton of Jamestown, N. Y.

Administrations granted on the estates of Henry A. Locke of Brookline, Orlando H. Alford of Brookline, Frank E. Donhan of Medfield, Francis F. Stedman of Needham, Peter W. Pierce of Brookline, Francis A. McCormick of Milton, Florence L. Stedman of Needham, Eliza G. Pettee of Foxboro and Catherine A. O'Donnell, Medway.

Several Bonfires "The Night Before"

What will probably be the largest bonfire ever lighted in Quincy will be touched off at West Quincy the Night before the Fourth.

The bon fire will be located on top of the hill in the rear of the West Quincy depot, and should be seen for miles. L. S. Anderson of the Granite Railway Co. has contributed two car loads of sleepers for the fire, and saw to it that they were transported over the Quarry railroad near to where the fire is to be set off.

In addition to this persons interested in making the affair a success have transported a mass of old boxes barrels, etc., to the site.

With huge bonfires at West Quincy, South Quincy, Quincy, Wollaston and Atlantic, all to be touched off at midnight, it looks as though the city would be well illuminated.

Fourth at Atlantic.

The glorious Fourth—that's what Atlantic is going to have in the fullest sense of flaming bonfire, lively music and unique parade. The boys have at last crowned their efforts in wood gathering by procuring the semblence of an old boat which at present tops the pile of heterogeneous burnables. For the Fourth itself, a band has been hired for all day, and sports have been planned to amuse old and young. It is rumored that one of the most fetching features of the parade will be the float of "Merry Widows" in their gorgeous display of millinery.

Fireworks at West Quincy.

West Quincy citizens have raised $100 for fireworks which will be touched off Friday evening in the vacant lot on Copeland street opposite Doble's store. Several set pieces are included.

The Bride Was From Scotland

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hall, 108 Franklin street, Wednesday evening a number of friends assembled to witness the joining together as man and wife of Mr. James Heggie, a fitter at the Fore River ship building yard, and Miss Edith Finnie, who came from Scotland about a month ago for the purpose of meeting her lover and to get married in the country of his adoption.

Mr. Heggie came from Scotland about two years ago, and has found conditions so much to his liking here, that he has decided to make it his home. Of course it was natural he should have with him the one to whom he had given his love. Mrs. Heggie is a handsome blond and will be a pleasing addition to the social circles of Quincy Scots.

The happy pair were married at the manse of the First Presbyterian church on Quincy street, by the Rev. N. J. Sproul, in the presence of Mrs. A. Hall, Miss Margaret Hall and Miss Mary Leslie. The last named was the maid of honor, and Mr. James Jollie of Cambridge was best man.

After the ceremony the wedding party adjourned to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hall's home on Franklin street, where they were met by Mrs. Hugh Ross of Maine, Mr. William Fyfe, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cowe, Mrs. William Flint of New Haven, Mrs. John Griffin, Mr. John Wallace, Mr. James Cahoun, Mr. William Fyfe, Sr., Miss Nellie Drummond, Miss Kelhier, Miss Robina Hall, Miss Dorothy Quincy Hall, and others.

After the newly married pair had been congratulated and covered with confetti, etc., refreshments were served. Then a round of songs and other amusements. The singers were Miss Margaret Hall, Mr. Jollie, Miss Robina Hall, Miss Nellie Drummond, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Heggie are to reside on Centre street where they have fitted up a pretty little home for themselves.

Would Result In Fewer Alarms

It has been suggested that in view of the large amount of sickness in Quincy that Chief Wiliams cut out the fire alarm whistles the night before the Fourth.

It is agreed that all of the permanent and call men will be on duty at the different fire stations and there will be no need of the whistles.

Then again if there are no whistles the crowd of celebrators in many cases will not know when an alarm is sounded, and there will be an absence of the usual crowds responding which frequently handicap the firemen in their work. It would also result in fewer alarms.

Houghs Neck Personal Items

The Quincy Yacht club are to have a display of fireworks on the Night of the Fourth.

Michael Smith of Stoughton is visiting his brother, Frank of Bell street. Mr. Smith will stay until Sunday.

Miss Katherine Shea of Washington, D. C., is visiting the Connors family of Mears avenue, Great hill, for a few days.

Many residents of the Neck are spending the week in Stoughton. It is old home week there.

Thomas McCormick of Stoughton is spending a few days with his mother on River road.

The people of Great hill are wondering whether the arrest of the eight young men of the Orient club will have any effect on the other clubs on the hill.

Matthew J. Connors, treasurer of the Boston and Houghs Neck Steamboat company, has gone to New York on a business trip. He left on the Yale Tuesday evening and is expected to return Friday.

Another match in the bowling league tonight.

Houghs Neck has a surprise for the candidates in the Motor Boat contest today.

The new daily paper for Houghs Neck came almost as a surprise on Wednesday. Few realized that Secretary LaBrecque of the Associates had been successful in securing the necessary number of subscriptions, but the publishers were satisfied with the outlook and had no hesitancy in establishing the daily. It already requires an edition of over 100, and will soon double. It is an excellent medium to reach the cottagers at Houghs Neck every day, and many extra copies should be mailed to friends out of town to let them know what an enterprising place Houghs Neck really is. That line will appear under the heading of each issue, showing some of the up-to-date improvements of Houghs Neck.

That proposed inland sea with high water at all times would be a great thing for Houghs Neck, Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree, Hingham, Nantasket and Hull. It is certainly worthy of study as outlined in the Daily Ledger on Wednesday.

Base Ball At South Quincy

An effort is being made to give South Quincy fans an opportunity to witness good base ball on their own grounds. The old South Quincy team is being reorganized and will play it's first game at home the morning of the Fourth.

The best of the old players will be there, and the line-up will be filled in and strengthened with new talent. Jack Duffy, Oswald, Jim Duffy, Cadman, Perkins and Birnie are so well and favorably known they require no further mention. Harry Stephens is also well known here and throughout the New England league circuit, where he played with Fall River. Nick Kappler was last year given a tryout with Haverhill, and is even better this season. The best batteries obtainable will be secured for the different games.

Fuller who will pilot the team has had extensive experience with base ball in the West. He ran an advertising team for the Cadillac Motor Car Co., of Detroit, Mich., and was also with the Jackson team of the Michigan State League. He will appreciate the co-operation of the fans, and believes with their help he can give them fast ball the remainder of the season.

The Washington A. C., without a doubt the fastest colored team in the state, has been secured for the morning of the Fourth on the South Quincy grounds. Not only are they good players, but are also very funny on the coaching lines and are sure to be a good attraction.

Annual Outing Board of Trade

The July meeting of the Quincy Board of Trade was held Wednesday evening at the headquarters in the Adams building, and was well attended. President W. E. Piper was in the chair. Several subjects of public interest were informally discussed.

A letter was received from Mayor Shea relative to Metropolitan Improvements Commission, suggesting that the Board of Trade was the proper organization to be interested. Referred to Committee on City Improvement.

The committee to consider overcharges for freight shipped by rail reported, and discussion followed.

The expediency of holding the annual outing was referred to a committee to see what arrangements would be made.

Lawn Party At West Quincy

The Ladies' Aid of the West Quincy M. E. church gave a very successful and enjoyable lawn party on the church grounds Monday evening. Despite the showers of the afternoon and evening a large number were present, and a good sum of money realized to help along the work.

The many Japanese lanterns hung from the trees and the parsonage, and the neatly arranged seats, and tables, gave the place an inviting appearance, and the refreshments and fancy needle work found a ready sale.

Choice musical selections were played during the evening on a graphophone kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. Shaw of Quincy.

Mrs. J. R. McCormick president of the society had general oversight of the affair being assisted by the following committees on arrangements.

Needle Work,—Mrs. W. A. McCormick and Mrs. Geo. Hawes.

Lemonade,—Misses Frances Burk, Olive Grant, Margaret Shirley.

Pop Corn,—Mrs. Gene Blaisdell, Charles Wentzel, Fred Bent, and Daniel McNeil.

Peanuts,—Mrs. J. Frank Merrill, and Miss Jennie Doble.

Candy,—Miss Nettie Loud, Mrs. Mrs. Jose and Mrs. Raupach.

Ice Cream,—Mrs. F. L. Badger, William Loud, Thomas Burke and Mrs. Williams.

Body Recovered.

The police and friends of Joseph Mussi, the Italian drowned in the pond hole at Craig & Richards quarry dragged the pond all day Wednesday in their efforts to recover the body, but without success. Soundings made showed the depth of the water to be 65 feet. This morning Officer Phillips and Fred Jones went out in the pond in a boat, and after several hours' work with grappling irons brought the body to the surface.

NO COMBINED FIGHT

Gray and Johnson Will Not Pool Issues Against Bryan

EACH OUT FOR FIRST PLACE

Boomers Say They Are Giving No Consideration to Vice Presidency --Bryan's Stand on Injunction Plank Explained by Frank Monett

Denver, July 2.—Claiming a victory on the first ballot, but overlooking no possible chance to make certain their triumph, the followers of Mr. Bryan have been watching for any move on the part of his rivals that would compel him to go single-handed against the field, as Taft was obliged to show his strength in the early stages of the Chicago convention against the combined forces of the "allies."

The arrival, however, of the personal representatives of Judge Gray and Governor Johnson, the only candidates who are now expected to enter the race against Bryan, has failed to disclose any common ground of agreement between them.

The Gray managers assert that they have no intention of entering into a coalition with the followers of Johnson and have not received from them or made to them any overtures for a combination. The same disclaimer of a desire to pool issues is made by the Johnson people. They say that they have no other object in view but the nomination of Johnson and intend to make their fight for that purpose only.

This attitude which the Gray and Johnson people have assumed has led to considerable conjecture of a vice presidential character. The followers of Bryan profess to believe that the refusals of the Gray and Johnson men to make a combined fight against the strength of Bryan means that they are not averse to occupying positions in which they can avail themselves of Bryan's votes for second place in the event of his nomination for the presidency. On this point, however, both Mr. Lynch, for Governor Johnson, and Mr. Marvel, for Judge Gray, insist that the Bryan people are utterly in the wrong. Their men, they say, are out for the first place and are giving no consideration to the vice presidency.

Mayor Lawler of St. Paul is not prepared to discuss the platform or the vice presidential situation. He is, however, emphatic in his statement that he expects Johnson to be nominated.

"I do not believe," he said, "that any nomination will be made on the first ballot. There are many uninstructed delegates; in fact, more than one-third of the convention is unpledged, and we do not believe that under such circumstances any nomination will be made immediately. We look for Johnson to make an excellent showing from the first ballot and to steadily gain strength from that time until he is nominated and we do not expect that many ballots will be necessary."

What is regarded as the very latest indication that Bryan does not contemplate changing his position on the injunction question to meet the ideas of the conservatives was brought to town by Frank S. Monett, Republican attorney general of Ohio from 1896 to 1900. Monett was in conference with Bryan at Lincoln Tuesday, as the result of which he says he will have Bryan's endorsement in appearing before the resolutions committee of the convention to state the legal and political reasons why the injunction plank should pledge the Democratic party to an amendment of the law in these three particulars:

First—To prevent the issuing of the writ in industrial disputes, except after notice to defendants and full hearings; second, to permit trial before a judge other than the one who issued the writ; and, third, to allow a jury to be summoned in all cases where the legal contempt is committed outside the province of the court.

That Bryan heretofore has taken his stand on an injunction plank containing these elements is the statement of Monett, and the fact that Bryan requested Monett to urge their acceptance by the resolutions committee is taken by the Ohioan to mean that Bryan will be satisfied with nothing less.

Having recently been the legislative attorney in Ohio for the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, Engineers and Firemen, as well as having close contact with labor views through his legal connection with the miners and brickmakers in the Hocking Valley strike of last February, Monett said that he informed Bryan that Roosevelt's 250,000 majority from the industrial centers in Ohio and 500,000 in Pennsylvania was given because labor believed Roosevelt was with them, particularly on the injunction demand.

"This independent vote," as Monett named it, would, he said, surely go to an independent candidate should one be put in the field, in the event the Democratic party failed to pledge itself in positive language on this question. The history of the injunction issue, Monett said, was what Bryan was most anxious should be given the resolutions committee in detail.

Taft's "Fatal Weakness"

Cincinnati, July 2.—Senator Foraker, in a speech before the Chamber of Commerce in this city, declared that the business depression has been caused by the Sherman anti-trust law and the Hepburn railway law, and that it was being continued by the promise of tariff revision. In speaking of the future, he referred to Mr. Taft as a "man who in character is all that could be desired," and he was interrupted by cheers. When the applause had ceased, he continued:

"But, unfortunately, there is one fatal weakness in the candidate, in that he favors a continuance of the so-called Roosevelt policies, of which we have already had far too much."

To Introduce Cleveland Resolutions

New York, July 2.—Alton B. Parker, William F. Sheehan and other Democratic delegates from New York, have left for Denver to attend the national Democratic convention. On the day of ex-President Cleveland's funeral an informal conference of leading men from many states was held, at which it was agreed that, upon the completion of the address of the temporary chairman of the convention a series of declarations commemorative of the ex-president's relations to his party and the country should be introduced. As a result of this agreement, Parker will present the resolutions to the convention.

Jacobson by Acclamation

St. Paul, July 2.—In a single session lasting but three hours the Minnesota Republican convention nominated Jacob F. Jacobson for governor, adopted a platform endorsing the work of the Chicago convention and the administration of Roosevelt, and pledged the party in Minnesota to continue the work of railway regulation. Jacobson was nominated by acclamation, after Messrs. Young and Snider, opposing candidates, had withdrawn. Joel Heatwole, who also was a candidate for governor, did not withdraw, but his name was not presented to the convention. A full state ticket was named.

Towne Wants Second Place

Lincoln, Neb., July 2.—Charles A. Towne of New York was a visitor at Fairview yesterday afternoon. Towne, who is an avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination for vice president, stopped off here for the express purpose of discussing vice presidential politics. At the conclusion of the interview Bryan said he had nothing to say. Towne admitted to newspaper men that his candidacy had formed the main topic of conversation. "New York is the logical state to furnish the vice presidential nominee," he said.

Chairmanship Still In the Air

Washington, July 2.—After a conference with Arthur I. Vorys, lasting two hours and a half, Secretary Taft said: "You can say definitely that the chairmanship of the Republican national committee has not yet been settled. No announcement of a decision as to the chairmanship will be made until after I have conferred at Hot Springs, Va., next Wednesday with the sub-committee of the national committee. I hope this is sufficiently definite and that my statement will be accepted."

Trouble Started by Anarchists

Mexico City, July 2.—Secretary of Foreign Affairs Gamboa showed a number of telegrams and official documents to the correspondent of The Associated Press which set forth that the recent attacks in northern Mexico were made by small bands of malcontents, driven to deeds of desperation by lack of work and an enmity towards the local officials. These men had been furnished literature of an anarchistic and inflammatory nature by agitators in the United States. The trouble is practically over.

Taft Doffs Official Robes

Washington, July 2.—Yesterday was Mr. Taft's first day as a private citizen in many years. His resignation as secretary of war became effective at midnight and for a period of twelve hours the American government was without a secretary of war. Luke Wright took the oath as secretary of war just at noon. The incoming and retiring secretaries then held an informal reception of the officials and employes of the department.

A Slippery Customer

Puerto Cortes, Honduras, July 2.—Francis G. Bailey, president of the Export Shipping company of New Jersey, who, together with Albert W. Bailey, C. H. H. Myers and Captain Oxley, was placed aboard the steamer Utstein in the custody of Lieutenant Berry of the New York police department, made his escape in a small boat from the steamer. A search is being carried on in the woods and swamps nearby.

Sherman Leaves For Home

Cleveland, July 2.—Traveling in a private car, James S. Sherman, Republican vice presidential candidate, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman and a physician, left Cleveland this morning for Utica, N. Y., where he will arrive at 9:15 p. m. When questioned as to an operation, Mrs. Sherman said: "No doubt this will be done as soon as Mr. Sherman has sufficiently recovered his strength."

Ahearn's Contention Uphe'd

New York, July 2.—The legality of Borough President Ahearn's re-election to office, after having been removed by Governor Hughes under charges of incompetency, was upheld by Justice McCall, when he sustained the demurrer interposed by Ahearn's counsel to the suit brought to oust him from the position.

Paid Fines Aggregating $44,000

New York, July 2.—Twenty-two members of the Manila and Fibre Paper Manufacturing association, who were fined $2000 each for operating a combine in restraint of trade, paid their fines to the United States circuit court here.

Idaho Board of Pardons Commutes Orchard's Sentence

HAS MURDERED MANY MEN

Judge Who Presided at Trial of Haywood and Pettibone Recommended Clemency For Service Rendered State--Orchard Wants to Die

Boise, Ida., July 2.—The state board of pardons has commuted the sentence of Harry Orchard, who was under sentence to hang tomorrow for the murder of former Governor Frank Steunenberg, to imprisonment for life.

Orchard was arrested two days after the assassination of Steunenberg at Caldwell, Ida., Dec. 30, 1905, and confessed his guilt, asserting that he was employed to commit the crime by officers of the Western Federation of Miners. As a result of his confession, Charles H. Moyer, president; William D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, and Charles D. Pettibone, were arrested and brought to Idaho to answer the charge of murder.

Haywood and Pettibone were acquitted after memorable trials in which Orchard told a story of wholesale assassination which shocked the world. Following the trial of Pettibone the case against Moyer was dismissed.

Orchard, when arraigned, stood mute, and the court directed that a plea of not guilty be entered. His case was continued from term to term until April 10 of this year, when it was called at Caldwell, and he asked for permission to change his plea. The court granted the request and Orchard pleaded guilty of murder in the first degree.

In pronouncing the sentence of death a week later, Judge Wood recommended that the board of pardons commute the sentence, saying he was firmly convinced that Orchard had told the exact truth at the trials of Haywood and Pettibone and that he was, therefore, for the service he had rendered to the state, entitled to clemency.

The pardon board, consisting of Governor Gooding, Secretary of State Lansdon and Attorney General Guhen, met in regular session yesterday and took up the Orchard case. Frank Wyman appeared before the board and presented a formal argument in behalf of Orchard, basing his plea solely on the legal status of the case and maintaining that, in making Orchard a state witness, the state obligated itself to extend consideration to him in return. No one appeared to oppose the proposed commutation, and by the unanimous vote of the board clemency was extended.

Orchard to the last was opposed to having sentence interfered with. Only yesterday he said to his attorney that he hoped efforts to save him from the gallows would fail.

Britons Won't "Loosen Up"

London, July 2.—Lord Desborough, in behalf of the British Olympic council, recently has been appealing to the British public to subscribe $50,000 for the purpose of entertaining the judges and the officials and the 2500 foreign athletes who are coming here for the Olympic games. He now states that the response has been so small that the council has been compelled to abandon the proposed official reception, excursions and entertainments.

The Wilson Poisoning Mystery

Philadelphia, July 2.—The police are no nearer to an arrest of the person or persons who sent supposed poison to Dr. Wilson in a bottle of ale than they were on Monday. Since they first secured something tangible to work on it is admitted that several important things have developed that may change the complexion of the case completely. The only admission is that they are "looking for a man and a woman."

A Trolley Car Smashup

New York, July 2.—In a collision between trolley cars here forty persons were injured, five of them so seriously that they were taken to hospitals. A Third avenue car struck a Sixth avenue car in the middle. Flying glass assailed the passengers and there was a panic, during which several women fainted.

The Treasury's Big Deficit

Washington, July 2.—The treasury statement of the government receipts and expenditures shows that for the fiscal year just ended the total receipts were $599,895,763, and the expenditures $659,552,124, leaving the deficit for the year $59,656,361, as against a surplus one year ago of $86,945,542.

Expedition Meets With Trouble

Trondhjem, July 2.—The Swedish gunboat Swenksund, bound for Spitzbergen with Professor Geers' geological expedition, has been wrecked near Norvik. The members of the expedition are safe.

NORFOLK SS. SUPERIOR COURT.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

Respectfully libels and represents Caterina Bizzozero of Quincy in said County, that she was lawfully married to Natale Bizzozero formerly of Quincy, Massachusetts, now of parts unknown, at Quincy on the third day of July A. D. 1899 and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Natale Bizzozero lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit, at said Quincy, at East Lyme, Connecticut, and afterwards at said Quincy and there have been born to them the following children, Iride aged 16, Antenore aged 14, Norma aged 12 and Elvira aged 10, of whom the said Natale is the father; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations but the said Natale Bizzozero being wholly regardless of the same at said Quincy on THURSDAY the nineteenth day of March A. D. 1908, and on the twenty-first day of March A. D. 1908, and on numerous other occasions before said dates has been guilty of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Natale Bizzozero, and that the libellant may have the care and custody of the said minor children, Iride, Antenore, Norma and Elvira.

And your libellant further says that she is without adequate means or funds for maintaining this libel, or of support for herself and their four children now in her custody and that said Natale has failed and refused to pay for maintaining said libel or to furnish the necessaries of life or to give any assistance in the support of your libellant and his minor children, although well able to do so.

Wherefore your libellant prays that the said Natale Bizzozero may be ordered to pay into the court for the use of your libellant during the pendency of the libel, an amount which may enable her to maintain the libel although exceeding the taxable costs and may be required to pay to your libellant alimony during the pendency of the libel and such sums as your Honors may consider expedient and necessary for the benefit and support of your libellant and the said four children.

And your libellant further prays that the real and personal estate of the said libellee may be attached to the value of $10,000.00 in order to secure a suitable support and maintenance to your libellant and to such children as may be given to her care and custody.

Dated the 19th day of May 1908.

CATERINA BIZZOZERO.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. SUPERIOR COURT.

On the foregoing libel, it is ordered that the libellant give notice to the said Natale Bizzozero the libellee to appear before the Justices of this Court to be holden at Dedham within and for said County on the first Monday of August next, by causing an attested copy of said libel, and of this order thereon to be published once in a week for three successive weeks in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of August next and further by sending through the mail as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Natale Bizzozero an attested copy of said libel and of this order thereon, that the said Natale Bizzozero may then and there show cause why the prayer of said libel should not be granted.

And in order to secure a suitable support and maintenance to the libellant (and to such children as may be committed to her care and custody) the sheriffs of our several counties or their Deputies or either of them, are hereby directed to attach on said libel the goods and estate of said libellee to the value of ten thousand dollars. By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

TWELVE HOURS IN AIR

Count Zeppelin's Great Performance With Steerable Balloon

WORLD'S RECORDS SMASHED

Carried a Crew of Fourteen and Traveled Over Mountains and Many Cities, Executing a Long Series of Evolutions of Difficult Character

Friedrichshafen, July 2.—Count Zeppelin has out-distanced all world's records for steerable balloons. He remained in the air for twelve hours, traversed the greater part of northern Switzerland, and visited Zurich, Winterthur and Lucerne, attaining an average speed throughout of thirty-four miles an hour.

His airship displayed splendid qualities of dirigibility and answered the slightest movement of her helm, while her stability was quite up to the greatest expectations.

In the most desirable weather conditions, almost a dead calm, the airship, manned by a crew of fourteen under the leadership of Count Zeppelin, left its floating home on Lake Constance at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. Less than five minutes later Zeppelin shouted "all clear" and the balloon rose about 1000 feet in the air and turned her bow towards Constance. By 9 o'clock it had disappeared on the western horizon.

Telephone messages from Frauenfeld, Winterthur and other towns soon reported the appearance of the airship and her passage over the canton of Zurich. The giant craft remained ten minutes hovering over the town of Zurich and the lake, and then vanished from view at a rapid rate in the direction of Lucerne.

It was about 1 o'clock when the airship came into view at Lucerne and the thousands of astonished tourists from all parts of the world, including hundreds of Americans, greeted her with loud cheering as she sailed quickly over the waters of the lake.

With the greatest precision Zeppelin guided his airship and proceeded to carry out a long series of evolutions, which included complicated figures, circles, the figure 8, sharp turns, descents and ascents. He then undertook a tour of the whole lake, visiting every bay and indentation along the shores.

Finally he turned the nose of the ship homewards, crossing the Albis range of mountains in the high air and traveling at a good pace. They soon reached Zurich again, and great crowds of people had gathered there in anticipation of the balloon's return and were waiting to cheer its arrival. The roofs of the houses and all the open spaces were crowded. The count, however, only accorded them a five minutes' view of the balloon, merely encircling the town hall and then continuing on his way to Winterthur and Frauenfeld. At the latter place he crossed the artillery range and was cheered by the troops engaged in field and firing exercises.

By 6:30 o'clock in the evening the airship had again reached Lake Constance and turned eastward to Bregenz, a frontier town of Austria-Hungary. From that place it traveled to Friedrichshafen, executing a most difficult series of maneuvers all the while until it was over the town. It descended to within 100 feet of the roofs of the houses and was greeted with the firing of a salute from a battery of small mortars, cheers and shouts, to which the crew of the airship, led by the count, responded. A few minutes later the balloon slipped easily into the shed from which it had been absent just twelve hours.

The greatest altitude reached in the long voyage was 2500 feet, and the distance covered was about 220 miles as the crow flies. Passengers traveling on a train between Zurich and Constance say that the balloon easily overhauled their train, which it left behind.

Count Zeppelin considers the prospects for the approaching twenty-four hours' flight as favorable.

Balloon Became Balky

Berlin, July 2.—A new military steerable balloon which recently made its first successful flight came to grief during further trials last evening. While sailing over Charlottenburg, at an altitude of 5000 feet, the airship suddenly became unmanageable. She pointed her bow downward and rapidly descended to the Grunewald forest, where the platform became entangled in the topmost branches of the trees. The five occupants of the car were not injured.

Day of Field Ice Is Passing

Bangor, Me., July 2.—Machine ice is fast superseding native field ice, and as a matter of evolution, field ice will soon be a thing of the past, according to the belief expressed by President Oler of the American Ice company, who has arrived in this city from New York. Oler says artificial ice is gaining rapidly in favor.

Soldiers Perhaps Poisoned

Saigon, Cochin China, July 2.—Two hundred soldiers belonging to the French colonial infantry were seized with a sudden nausea in their barracks here. This unexpected illness cannot be accounted for, and it is believed the men are victims of an attempt at wholesale poisoning.

AN ALLEGED BLACKMAILER

Arrested After Putting Railroad to Considerable Trouble

Rutland, Vt., July 2.—Edward Gereu, aged 24 years, of Lincoln, was placed under arrest at Bristol Notch last night, charged with attempting to extort money from the Rutland railroad by "Black Hand" methods.

According to a railroad official, General Manager Jarvis of the Rutland road received a letter last week demanding that the road give up $500. The method of delivering the money was the peculiar part of the affair. It was stipulated that the money was to be thrown from an engine running wild from Brandon to Alburg, at a place designated by a white flag. On no account was the engine to be stopped, or the engineer and fireman would be killed.

Accordingly on Sunday an engine was run according to the directions. But following the engine was a special, bearing officers. No white flag was seen and the officers found no occasion for their presence.

On Monday Jarvis received a second letter stating that the messenger who was to receive the money had been unable to get to the spot Sunday and a second attempt to deliver the money must be made Tuesday.

The second wild engine was sent over the road Tuesday and at Beldens a white flag was seen. The engine was stopped and officers following in another special entered the woods and found Gereu. The officers did not believe they had evidence sufficient to hold the man at the time and let him go.

Watching the house in Middleburg where he was stopping it is claimed that he later ran away and the officers went in search of him. Late last night he was located in the woods at Bristol Notch and placed under arrest.

Work of a Crazed Cook

Providence, July 2.—Harry Roberts, 31, a night cook at the Hotel Lenox, walked into his boarding house at 77 Winter street, carrying two loaded 38-calibre revolvers, and immediately opened fire on the two women he found there. Edna Edmunds, 25, was shot in the arm and in the hip. Carrie Lloyd, a seamstress, was shot in the abdomen. She died later. Roberts is dead, having shot himself in the right breast just under the heart. Edna Edmunds is in a serious condition. "He was crazed," Medican Examiner Magill says.

Punishment of Bribe Receiver

Cambridge, Mass., July 2.—Isaac E. Wotten, formerly president of the Lowell water board, was sentenced by Judge Bell to serve six months in the house of correction, to pay a fine of $500 and to be forever disqualified from holding public office. Wotten was convicted of accepting a bribe to secure a man a position as inspector in the water department. Execution of the sentence was suspended until the supreme court shall have passed on a bill of exceptions filed by the defendant's attorney.

Boy Found Body In Woods

Tiverton, R. I., July 2.—A boy wandering in the woods outside of the town found the dead body of a well dressed man. He had been shot through the heart and a revolver, from which one shot had been fired, was found some distance away. The man's pockets were turned inside out and there was nothing on the body by which identification could be made. The man was about 45 years old and had been dead several days. The medical examiner is investigating.

Lower Wages For Officials

Franklin, N. H., July 2.—The agent of the International Paper company here received orders from the head office in New York to reduce the salaries of all the officials in the six mills of the corporation here next Monday. The reduction will not be uniform. It is understood similar orders have been sent to all the mills of the company in New York state, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine.

Will Not Properly Drawn

New Haven, July 2.—Judge Studley, in the probate court, denied the application for admission to probate of the will of Miss Alice T. Boot, who died a few months ago, leaving property valued at about $20,000. The court decided that the will, written on an ordinary sheet of writing paper, was not drawn in accordance with the laws of the state of New York, where Miss Boot died.

To Vote on Strike Question

Providence, July 2.—Vice President Potter of the Rhode Island company, at a conference with a committee of street and electric railway employes, refused to accede to any of the demands of the men, and the employes will vote on Friday night to determine finally whether they will strike or submit to the decision of Potter.

Noted Theologian Dead

Cambridge, Mass., July 2.—Rev. Alexander V. G. Allen, D. D., one of the leading theologians in the United States and for forty-one years professor of church history at the Episcopal Theological school, is dead. He was born in Otis, Mass., in 1841 and was widely known as a theological and biographical writer.

Assets May Not Yield Much

New Haven, July 2.—Schedules filed with the referee in bankruptcy here by officers of the International Mineral company, which operated talc and graphite deposits, show liabilities of $62,820 unsecured. The assets are given at $70,000, but in the opinion of stockholders very little will be realized on these assets.

Certain of Fair Trial

Lansing, Mich., July 2.—The supreme court denied a change of venue to former State Treasurer Glazier of Chelsea, who is charged with misapplication and embezzlement of state funds as a result of the failure of the Chelsea savings bank, with over $600,000 of state funds on deposit. The supreme court found that there was no prejudice in Ingham county which would operate against a fair trial for Glazier.

Perjury and Forgery Charged

New York, July 2.—Mae C. Wood, who sued Thomas C. Platt for divorce, was indicted by a grand jury on charges of perjury and forgery. Miss Wood is charged with having signed Platt's name to a document, acknowledging Miss Wood as his wife. The perjury indictment is based on Miss Wood's testimony in the divorce action when she testified that she was married to the senator in 1901.

Checking Duelling In Austria

Vienna, July 2.—The long-sustained efforts made by the Anti-Duelling league in Austria have finally met with success, for the imperial sanction to a decree prohibiting duelling in the empire without the consent of a military court of honor has been secured. To fight a duel without this consent henceforward will be a breach of the regulations and severely punished.

Cannot Meet Obligations

Norfolk, July 2.—On the petition of the Trust Company of America, joined in by the railroad, the Norfolk and Southern Railway company was placed in the hands of receivers by order of Judge Waddill in the federal court. The company officials admit their inability to meet maturing obligations.

Another Victory For Ballot

Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., July 2.—James R. Keene's Ballot added another stake to his already long list when he easily won the Advance stakes, worth $11,750 to the winner, at Sheepshead Bay. He also made a new world's record for the distance, one mile and five-sixteenths, in 2:09 3-5.

Potter Is Gradually Sinking

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 2.—Bishop Potter's physicians report that their patient is gradually, but perceptibly, losing strength. He is, however, still conscious and is free from physical suffering.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fred Hickey, 26 years old, jumped from a burning motor boat into the Seekonk river at Providence. Hickey could not swim and was drowned.

Lord Curzon of Kedleston unveiled a medallion of "John Oliver Hobbes" (Mrs. Craigie) in the general library of University college, London, of which the late Mrs. Craigie was a student.

Captain Doyle has been selected to command the battleship Missouri, succeeding Captain Merriam.

James V. Jessey, 24 years old, of South Westport, Mass., was drowned while swimming. He was subject to fits, and it is probable that he was attacked while in the water.

Major Walter S. Hale has resigned his position as aide on the staff of Governor Guild of Massachusetts. The governor has appointed Guy Murchie to fill the vacancy.

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

Saturday, the Fourth of July will be observed as a holiday by the Daily Ledger, the office of publication being closed all day. See the Daily Ledger of Monday for three days news.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Makaria vs. Merrymounts, at the Park, on the 4th, at 10 A. M.

There were 208 criminal cases befor the district court during the month of June.

Work has commenced on the cellar for the new house of John Q. Newcomb on Bigelow street.

The Makaria team play the Atlantics at Atlantic on the afternoon of the Fourth.

The large quantities of moths which swarm about the electric arc lights at night are said to be gypsy moths.

Rev. B. F. Crawford of Atlantic and Rev. Carl H. Raupach of West Quincy will exchange pulpits Sunday evening.

The Fire department was called out twice on still alarms Wednesday, to extinguish fires on the School street bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. John Halleron of Toledo are visiting Mrs. Halleron's mother, Mrs. Mary Kelly of Billings street.

Michael and Troup for Makaria, Kolson and Rodgers for Merrymounts, will be the batteries in the Merrymount-Makaria game on the Fourth at the Park, at 10 A. M.

Mayor Shea has appointed the following as special police: David L. Farrell, John J. Avery, Jeremiah D. Dhooge and William J. DeCoste.

The patriotism of those who go to Boston for printing for the Fourth of July celebrations is of the doubtful variety. Have they the interest of Quincy at heart?

The letters of John Evans of Copeland street, now traveling in Scotland are unique and interesting. Another will appear in the Daily Ledger the first of next week.

Two car loads of picnickers from the Swedish church at Campello passed through Quincy this morning on their way to Germantown. They selected a fine spot for their outing.

A dog laid down under an electric car in City Square this morning, shortly after the car started and there was a dead dog. The animal was owned by James Skinner of Whitwell street.

Mrs. George J. Edwards of 53 Old Colony street, Atlantic, left Boston on the Steamer Halifax on Tuesday for a visit to Nova Scotia and Cape Breton. Her many friends wish her a pleasant vacation. She does not expect to return before the last of August.

The second game between Makaria and Merrymounts will be played Saturday, at 10 A. M., at the Park. Merrymounts won the first 3 to 1, so a fast game can be expected. The Makaria boys want the second one.

Mrs. Henry Kolseth, whose house on Walker street has recently been purchased by Mr. Thomas De Wolfe of Atlantic, will leave the last of the week for Manchester, N. H., where she will make her residence with relatives for the remainder of the summer. Her daughter, Mrs. Harry Kolseth left Thursday for Baltimore.

The boarder who was said to have been responsible for the fire in the house of Mrs. Harcus on Newcomb place early Monday morning wishes to state he was not in that vicinity on the night in question. He further states that Mrs. Harcus denies accusing him of causing the fire, and that the telephone sent to the police was without her authority.

The Afternoon Fire.

The alarm from box 25 shortly after 2 o'clock this afternon was for a fire in a lumber pile on Newcomb street owned by N. B. Furnald. It was extinguished with a small loss.

CAPT. PRAY

New Leader In the Contest Jumps From Twelfth Place

The friends of Capt. Pray have certainly sprung a surprise in the Motor Boat popularity contest today. It was only last week that Mr. Pray entered the list of candidates. Today he becomes the leader, having jumped from twelfth place. He has 360 more votes than "Bill" Bield, whom many had picked for a sure winner of the first prize.

Capt. Drew who took a mortgage on the fourth prize yesterday, is crowded out of the quartette of prize winners, which now includes Messrs. Pray, Field, Foster and Middleton.

Capt. Pray has been janitor at the clubhouse of the Quincy Yacht Club for several seasons, and was equally popular for a number of years as a conductor on the street railway. His winter home is at Quincy Point, and he has friends all over the city who will vote often.

No one yet has a cinch on the Motor Boat or the cash prizes, and others with less than 100 votes may suddenly come to the front. Only a few "Trial orders" are necessary.

Several gains will be noticed today for different candidates.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

Opening of the Fresh Air Camp

The heavy shower Wednesday afternoon interfered with the program for the opening of the Fresh Air Camp at North Weymouth. Upwards of seventy persons were present to witness the exercises, but everything was omitted save the raising of the flag. Six tents were in position and fifteen campers spent the night there. All present were enthusiastic over the location of the camp and its success is assured.

Less Coal For the Salem

The scout cruiser Salem, the fastest vessel in the navy, returns to the Fore River yard this afternoon with brooms flying. Not only is she the fastest vessel, but her record for coal consumption per mile on a 24-hour run is also the smallest of any battleship or cruiser.

The Salem left Boston for her last test before her acceptance by the government on Tuesday. This test was to determine her coal consumption in a 24-hour run at a speed of 22 1-2 knots. Her consumption was found to be 2.73 tons per mile. This is about 8-100 of a ton less than the Chester consumed on a like run.

Bids for Colliers.

A Washington dispatch of Wednesday to the Herald says the navy department today opened bids for three fleet colliers which were authorized by the last session of Congress. The item was secured largely through the efforts of the Fore River Ship Building Company, which had constructed three colliers for the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, but which could not be utilized owing to delay in the construction of a coal carrying railroad in Virginia. The navy department, however, held that bids should be asked for. The bid of the Massachusetts Steamship Company for the colliers already constructed at Fore River was $525,000.

The other firms which submitted bids were the Maryland Steel Company and Cramp & Sons. Their figures varied from $376,000 to $458,000.

Commander John L. Gow of Quincy was one of the fourteen naval officers voluntarily retired on Wednesday. The officers retired are promoted to the next higher grade, with three-fourths pay of that grade.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss.
Monday, June 1st, 1908.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction, on SATURDAY the eighteenth day of July, 1908, at nine o'clock, A. M., at my residence, 163 Franklin Street, in Quincy, in said County, in said County of Norfolk, all the right, title and interest that John T. Cavanagh, of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the eleventh day of January, 1908, at nine o'clock, fifteen minutes, A. M. being the time the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, to wit:—

A certain tract or parcel of land comprising upland and marsh with buildings thereon containing about 38 acres of land more or less, situated in that part of Quincy known as Houghs Neck and lying on the southerly side of the road from Quincy to Houghs Neck known as Sea street. Said parcel being more particularly described as follows:—

Beginning on Sea Street at the northeasterly corner of the premises thence running south about 229.5 feet; thence turning and running east about 168.9 feet; thence turning and running south about 948.9 feet; thence turning and running west about 175 feet to a ditch on the edge of the marsh, thence continuing west along the edge of the marsh about 107 feet to a ditch; thence south by said ditch about 525 feet to a small creek; thence westerly by said creek and a ditch about 980 feet to a creek sometimes called Rock Island Creek; thence a little northwest by said creek about 125 feet to a ditch; thence north by said ditch about 293 feet to the edge of the upland; thence east by the edge of the upland about 120 feet to a wall; thence turning and running north by said wall about 604 feet to Sea Street; thence turning and running east and northwest about 1430 feet by the southerly and southeasterly line of said Sea Street to the point of beginning.

Also four certain parcels of land with the buildings thereon situated in that part of said Quincy known as Houghs Neck being lots 21, 22, 23 and 24 in Section 2 as shown on a plan entitled "Plan of Sea Shore Lots at Houghs Neck, Quincy" drawn by H. T. Whitman, Surveyor, 1891, and recorded in Norfolk Deeds at the end of Book 668.

Lot 21 is bounded and described as follows:—Easterly on Sea Street as shown on said plan 52.92 feet; Southerly on lot 22 as shown on said plan, 87.87 feet; Westerly on lot 24 as shown on said plan 50 feet; Northerly on lot 20 as shown on said plan, 105.45 feet:

Lot 22 is bounded and described as follows: Easterly on Sea Street as shown on said plan 54.7 feet; Southerly by lot 23 as shown on said plan 115.97 feet; Westerly by lot 53 as shown on said plan 50 feet; Northerly by lots 21 and 24 as shown on said plan 137.87 feet.

Lot 23 is bounded and described as follows: Easterly by Sea Street as shown on said plan 55.2 feet; Southerly on Shennen Street as shown on said plan 92.25 feet; Westerly by lot 53 as shown on said plan 50 feet; Northerly by lot 22 as shown on said plan 115.97 feet.

Lot 24 is bounded and described as follows: Easterly by lots 20 and 21 as shown on said plan 100 feet; Southerly by lot 22 as shown on said plan 50 feet; Westerly by lot 25 as shown on said plan 100 feet; Northerly by Winthrop Street as shown on said plan 50 feet.

Library Notes.

It is well worth a trip to our Public Library to see besides the beauty of the new Crane Memorial Hall, the photographs of the Madonna in the various schools of art. The beauty of these pictures, some seventy-two in number, is enhanced by the charming background of red and gold Japanese leather paper on the walls of the art gallery, where formerly were the book shelves containing works of travel. For the first time there is an opportunity to properly show any such photographs which we may have from the Library Art Club or any other loan collection. Here are old favorite Madonnas, and many others not so well known. This special collection will remain only this week.

The convenient tables and comfortable chairs and the quiet which prevails all thro' the reading room are evidently appreciated judging by the number of readers, men and women of all ages, and many High school young folks, to be seen during the week.

But to those who love the little ones the children's room holds the chief charm of the place. Many interesting experiences not to be written up are found there these first days. A little Italian child, only in Miss Underwood's room, spells out the words by sound laboriously in a low chair, at one of the little tables, and thinks after she has "done four" she may have the book to take home. Another little fellow is almost in tears with a quivering lip and has to be comforted because his father will not be home until half past five to sign the registration slip to allow him to have a book.

A book every day is likely to prove too much, surely when the school opens, for some of the little folks, and one wise mother has limited her little boy to two books a week. Parents will recognize that it is they who must regulate. The librarians may influence, but they cannot control. Certainly the beauty and attractiveness of the place has a marked effect, for the good behavior is most commendable. It is hoped that all will continue to take a pride in their own room when the newness of the experience wears off.

A Chain and Its Links

In telephoning there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service:" 1. The person calling. 2. The operator. 3. The person called.

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

If the person calling fails to consult the catalogue and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitably repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally there is no one on the line."

Being human the operator—the third link—is liable to err occasionally, but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

If Link No. 1 Gives the Right Number and Calls Distinctly, and Link No. 3 Answers Promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy, or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one of 300,000 telephones in the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Even if he is not a subscriber, you can arrange to have the person desired called to a Pay Station to talk to you.

Celebration of the Fourth Parade and Other Events

Beginning at early candle light tonight there will be something doing in all parts of the city in the way of celebration of the "Glorious Fourth." Several wards of the city have arranged special programs that will be pulled off on time unless a storm prevents.

In Ward One there is no special program other than open houses of the several clubs. A bon fire will be lighted on Woodward avenue at midnight.

In South Quincy a big bonfire will be touched off at midnight and open house will be the rule. On the morning of the holiday there will be a ball game on the playground at 10 o'clock between the South Quincy's and Washington A. C.

At West Quincy the citizens committee have arranged to begin their celebration the night before. There will be a display of fireworks including several set pieces in the lot on Copeland street opposite the store of E. H. Doble & Co. At midnight a big bonfire will be lighted on top of the granite hill in the rear of the West Quincy depot. This should be seen for miles.

St. Mary's Total Abstinence society will hold an all-day field day and old-home celebration at Shawmut park, on Hall place on the holiday. There will be a band concert all day and a series of sports including ball games at 10 A. M. between the Bryants and Rail Reds; at 1 P. M., between the West Ends and Copelands, and at 3 P. M. between the Quincy council, Knights of Columbus, and the St. Mary's for a purse of $100. Games for boys and girls will be run off at 12.30 and a series of field and track events at 2 P. M. In the evening there will be a display of fireworks.

At Wollaston Houdesaunee tribe of Red Men will keep open house "the Night Before" and will give a patriotic stereopticon exhibition, the pictures to be thrown on a screen opposite their hall on Newport avenue. Bonfires will also be lighted at midnight.

At Atlantic the greatest celebration will be held. There will be something doing from 12.01 the "Night Before" until midnight Saturday. The celebration starts in with the lighting of the bonfire on the playground. Up to that time everybody will keep open house and extend a royal welcome to all callers.

The program of the Fourth starts in at 5.30 with a grand antique and horrible parade that will form on Hancock street and march through Norfolk Downs and Atlantic taking in all of the important streets.

At 7.45 there will be an original horse race and at 8 A. M., there will be a laughable game of ball between the fat and lean men at Atlantic.

At 10 A. M., there will be a series of athletic sports in the vicinity of the boulevard. There are twelve events on the list.

At 10.30 there will be an entertainment at Music Hall by Dudley Prescott, the well known entertainer, for the children.

At 2 o'clock there will be a series of water sports at the foot of Appleton street.

At 3 P. M. there will be a game of ball on the playground between the Atlantics and Makarias.

At 3.30 there will be a yacht race.

The last event of the day will be pulled off at 8 o'clock at the corner of Billings road and Faxon road. This will be a grand display of fireworks and band concert.

A large and efficient committee has charge of each event, which makes it sure that they will be successfully carried out.

Open houses will be the rule at Houghs Neck on the Fourth and the Sunday following. There is no general plan for a celebration, but there will be a display of fireworks from the piazza of the Quincy Yacht club. There will also be several private displays.

In addition to the events enumerated above there will be a game of ball at Merymount park at 10 A. M., between the Makarias and Merrymounts, and other ball games; also an open regatta at City Point for the yachtsmen.

HOURS at the Thomas Crane Public Library.

On and after Monday, June 22, the main library will be open from one until six o'clock P. M., until further notice.

ATTITUDE OF BRYAN

Not Disposed to Favor Any Plank or Candidate

PREPARED FOR EMERGENCY

Voice Will Be Heard at Denver With Great Celerity If Convention's Action Is Not In Accord With His Wishes--Reception at Lincoln

Lincoln, Neb., July 3.—Fourteen delegates and a score or more of sightseers bound for the Denver convention arrived here yesterday. Mr. Bryan met the visitors at the Lincoln hotel, holding a brief reception, after which he entertained them at luncheon. Later most of the visitors made a pilgrimage to Fairview and were shown about the Bryan home.

Sifting the statements made by delegates, after talking with Bryan, it may safely be stated that the Democratic presidential candidate will leave the platform-makers and the vice presidential canvass alone. Only urgent necessity, such as to threaten the passage of a plank repugnant to what the Nebraskan considers progressive Democratic doctrine, or a considerable move in favor of some vice presidential candidate whose views and political practices were antagonistic to the platform, will constrain Bryan to interfere.

So far, however, it is believed Bryan has nothing against any of the thirty-nine running mates reported as having been "mentioned" to date. The great majority of them, of course, are not taken seriously. The very number of possibilities is taken here as proof positive that no man so far mentioned has received assurance of active support from Bryan.

However, should occasion arise for interference, Bryan has provided the means for prompt action. Lincoln will be in close telegraphic touch with the convention hall, and Fairview will be in direct and continuous touch with the telephone and telegraph offices here. Friends in thorough accord with his wishes will keep him promptly informed of every move in the committees and on the convention floor, and by the same means Bryan, if compelled to by some move radically antagonistic to his judgment, will make his voice heard at Denver with great celerity.

At 3 o'clock Bryan, accompanied by some of the delegates, returned to Fairview. All through the day, at the first conference, at the luncheon, and at home, Bryan made it plain that he would not lift his voice in favor of any candidate or plank prior to the convention, and not then unless compelled to do so.

Mr. Clayton tried throughout the day to start work on his speech as permanent chairman of the convention, but was interrupted so constantly that he made no headway. Even at Fairview, where he and Bryan discussed outlines of the address, Clayton was allowed to make only a few notes. It is his intention to begin work on the speech as soon as possible after his arrival in Denver today.

The Lincoln hotel lobby, in a small way, was reminiscent of Chicago hotels during the Republican convention. Politics formed the one topic of conversation. Who will be the vice presidential nominee? What manner of labor plank will be adopted? These questions were uppermost. The delegates seemed to take it for granted that some features urged by labor organizations would be embodied in the plank.

Collapse of Great Tile Roof

New York, July 3.—The massive tile roof over the patrol wagon approach to the new police headquarters building, which is in course of construction, fell with a roar that could be heard for many blocks. The collapse of the roof resulted in a spreading of the marble pillars supporting the arch at the wagon entrance and the pillars may fall at any moment. The damage already done amounts to about $10,000.

Electrocuted While at Work

Port Chester, N. Y., July 3.—Two employes of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company were shocked to death near here while repairing a wire on the block system signal service. Henry P. White and Frank Holmes were the victims.

Reported Arrest of Rebels

San Antonio, Tex., July 3.—Seven alleged Mexican revolutionists have been captured by United States troops at Del Rio and the surrounding country, according to information brought here by W. E. Weatherbee, a ranch owner.

FOURTH OF JULY IN TEXAS.

Cowboys, Girls and Comanches Trip Light Fantastic Toe.

The hottest and funniest place on the grounds, says a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, describing a Fourth of July celebration in Texas, "was the dancing pavilion. A canvas cover was stretched just overhead. When some tall cowboy, in the excess of his patriotism, put an extra inch on his spring, his hat scraped the cover. The floor, which was of rough boards in the morning, was polished before noon by a thousand shuffles. In a corner the orchestra, with a strangely solemn face and downcast eyes, sat on the spring seat of a farm wagon and drew from a violin such strains as might put action into a cork leg. But the star of the pavilion combination was the caller. He was a mild mannered gentleman named Granger, whose flexibility of voice was equaled by his originality of expression. Sometimes he chanted, sometimes he declaimed, and sometimes he let his voice follow the music. He was a master of ceremonies, too, who had learned his profession. The cowboys would sidle up and say:

"Mister, can't we have a little dance? We came sixty miles for this thing."

"Don't you know anybody here?" Granger would ask.

"Not a livin' soul 'cept just the boys," they would affirm, with more or less emphasis.

"Reckon mebbe I ken fix you," the master would say reflectively. Then he would cross over to where the buxom daughters of the grain farmers were shocked up along the side of the platform. Pretty soon he would return, and, with a "Come this way," he would lead the cowboys, one at a time, across the platform. The farmer's daughter would bow prettily and the cowboy elaborately, with a twitch at his big white hat. Then a new couple would join those on the floor. Occasionally a cowboy would intrust his hat to a friend, but this seldom happened. The girls didn't mind, and hats were worn as a rule.

When the set was slow in filling the master called out persuasively:

"Two more couple and we'll have a little dance. Hurry up now and throw yourself around on this stretch like a quarter horse. Let's have a race."

But it was not often the dances needed encouragement to fill. More frequently the master was obliged to argue:

"Stan' back and give us a little room, people; we've got a wildcat spring here."

The crowd in the eagerness to see the dancing gave scant room for the measures.

"Hoe down on her," said the master. The violin started, and so did the shuffling.

"Circle to the left and gents trail home. Let the ladies' row in front."

So he called, and, dropping his voice an octave, he sang:

"Everybody dance; corners swing
Good style; pretty little partner;
That's the thing."

Shuffle-shuffle go the feet, and the figure is finished. Off starts the caller again:

"First couple right; ladies swing out;
Gents swing in, swing out and promenade.
Do, do, gents, slow;
Do, ce, ladies, don't you know!"

Then comes more intricate work. The cowboys can't begin to get in all of their fancy steps. The pace is hot. The skirts of the grain growers' daughters swish through the air as the master calls:

"Balance the next; three hands round;
Ladies swing out; gents swing in;
Three hands out and go it ag'in;
Gents swing out and go it ag'in;
Seven hands up and ladies swing out;
Four and balance; now partners; promenade all."

The master permits thirty seconds' breathing spell, during which the cowboys try to get rid of some of their surplus perspiration, while the girls ply their fans and look moist and happy. The caller gathers himself for a prolonged effort. "Second couple to right," he calls, and then he goes it, without a break for five minutes, like this:

"Ladies swing out; gents swing in;
Three hands up and go it ag'in;
Balance again; ladies to center;
Fall in the corner; promenade home;
Six to two and two come down;
Ladies in center and seven hands round.
Fall in the corners. Now partners all.
Go south. Wheat's all dead,
And you've got corn bread, I guess."

"Not in the Wichita valley the wheat ain't dead, by a jugful!" one of the dancers shouted, but without minding interruptions the caller goes right along with his funmaking:

"Fall and balance; swing and run;
Four to two and two come down;
Lady in center and five hands round;
Ladies swing out and gents swing in;
Five up and go it ag'in.
Swing out; run away with the swing;
Hold and balance; all balance;
Now, partners, run away with the hall.
Everybody dance, everybody dance."

And the next time it is something with variations on this kind of a figure:

"Four hands up; half round the world;
Gents turn a summerset; ladies jest so;
Ladies round the gents; gents don't go;
Round up fours; everybody swing;
Swing the corners like swinging the wing;
Swing, ladies, seaside fashion;
Pretty little partner; round up fours."

And thus it went on with endless variety in the language and measures, but the same shuffling, the same buxom girls and the same frolicsome cowboys, until the sun went down behind the Comanches' tepees. Old men looked on and said, "Them's the same dances they used to dance in south Texas when I was a boy." Occasionally a cowboy, overcome by the inspiration of the moment, let out a wild "whoop." As for the Indians, they stood about the outer edge of the pavilion and looked on impassively. An Indian always enjoys seeing the palefaces dance, but you never could tell it from the expressionless cast of his countenance.

NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, two certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament and one codicil of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate, by Horace F. Spear of Quincy, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to him, or some other suitable person, the executor named in said will having died.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County, on the eighth day of July A. D. 1908, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in said Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Superior Court. Norfolk ss.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

Respectfully libels and represents Ellen M. Lamphere of Quincy in said County, that she was lawfully married to Charles A. Lamphere of said Quincy, now of parts unknown, but believed by your libellant to be in some part of Maine (the state of) at Quincy aforesaid on the twenty-third day of September A. D. 1903, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Charles A. Lamphere lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit: at said Quincy, that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations but the said Charles A. Lamphere being wholly regardless of the same on or about the sixteenth day of March A. D. 1904, utterly deserted her, and has continued such desertion from that time to the date hereof being more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel, and, being of sufficient ability, did grossly, wantonly and cruelly refuse and neglect and ever since to the date hereof has refused and neglected to provide a suitable maintenance for her.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Charles A. Lamphere and that your libellant may be allowed to resume her maiden name of Ellen M. Lindblom and for such further orders and decrees as to your Honors may seem fit and proper.

Dated this 8th day of June A. D. 1908.

ELLEN M. LAMPHERE.

AT DEATH'S PORTALS

Friends of Bishop Potter Notified That End Is Near

FAMILY IS AT HIS BEDSIDE

Distinguished Prelate Was Son of a Bishop--Became Assistant to His Aged Uncle and Succeeded Him as the Head of the New York Diocese

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 3.—Bishop Potter is apparently very near death. All the members of his family remain near the bishop, none of them having retired last night. Friends at distant points have been notified that the end is near.

BISHOP HENRY C. POTTER.

Henry Codman Potter, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York since 1887, was born in Schenectady, N. Y., on May 25, 1834. His father was Bishop Alanzo P. Potter of Pennsylvania. He was educated chiefly at the Episcopal academy in Philadelphia and subsequently entered the Theological Seminary of Virginia, from which he graduated in 1857. He was ordained on Oct. 15, 1858. His first incumbency was Christ church, in Greensburg, Pa., where he remained about two years, leaving it to become rector of St. John's, in Troy, N. Y. After seven years' ministry in Troy Dr. Potter went to Boston as assistant to the rector of Trinity church. He left there in 1868 to accept the rectorship of Grace church, New York city, which he held until 1884.

Meanwhile, in 1863, he had declined the presidency of Kenyon college, Ohio, and in 1875 had been elected bishop of Iowa, but had also declined that honor. From 1866 to 1883 Dr. Potter was secretary of the house of bishops.

In the latter year his uncle, Horatio Potter, then bishop of New York, found himself, by reason of age and increasing infirmity, unable to fulfill all the duties of his office, and upon his application his nephew, Henry, was appointed assistant bishop of his diocese. The old bishop's health became steadily worse, and he soon resigned the active charge and responsibilities of the diocese of New York to his assistant, who, in fact, discharged nearly all the duties of the episcopate until his uncle's death in January, 1887, when he was appointed bishop of New York.

In 1902 Bishop Potter married the wealthy Mrs. Albert Corning Clark of Cooperstown and New York city.

Charged With Grand Larceny

New York, July 3.—Herbert J. Hapgood, president of Hapgood's Incorporated, an employment agency, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny, together with his secretary, Ralph Kirby. Hapgood is a director in a number of other companies and his extensive advertising has made his name known all over the country. There are five complainants against Hapgood. The prisoners were held in $20,000 bail.

Deaths May Number Two Hundred

Yusovo, Russia, July 3.—A terrible explosion of gas occurred in the Rikovsky mine. One hundred and fifty-seven bodies have been recovered, but it is believed that death roll will reach at least 200. Seventy-three of the men were rescued alive, but many of them are in a serious condition. There is great excitement here and troops have been called into service to prevent disorders.

Looks Like Victory For Obaldia

Panama, July 3.—Domingo de Obaldia, the independent candidate for the presidency of the Panama republic, has received returns showing that his ticket was carried in the municipal elections, with a total of 164 presidential electors. The ticket of Ricardo Arias, the Constitutionalist candidate for the presidency, has a total of seventy-nine presidential electors.

Murder In Prison Cell

Warsaw, July 3.—A prisoner confined in one of the jails here, suspecting his mate of espionage, detached a brick from the wall of his cell and killed the man.

Paraguayan Revolution Reported

Buenos Ayres, July 3.—It is reported here that a revolution has broken out in Paraguay.

WOOD PRESERVATION.

Steps Taken by Railroad Men to Conserve Diminishing Timber Supply.

The recent action by the board of directors of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way association in appointing a committee of seventeen to investigate and report upon the subject of wood preservation has shown that the practical railroad men of the country recognize the importance of taking steps to conserve the rapidly diminishing timber supply of the United States.

Timber is one of the principal materials purchased by the railroads, and its economical use is a subject of far-reaching importance. More than 100,000,000 cross ties are used annually by the different railroad companies, and their average life in this country is not more than six or seven years. From a study of European methods and the knowledge of wood preservation under conditions in this country timber testing engineers say it is reasonably certain that an average life of from fifteen to twenty years may be secured by treating the tie with a good preservative and the use of improved devices for the prevention of mechanical abrasion, thus to a large degree diminishing the drain upon the timber supply.

While the quantity of timber used for ties is very great and the problem of a future supply is a serious one, yet this class of timber is not the only one which should receive consideration. A greater length of service from timber now used by railroads for bridges, trestles, piles, fences and transmission poles is greatly to be desired.

A. L. Kuehn, engineer of track and roadway of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway, is chairman of this special wood preservation committee, and C. G. Crawford, specialist in wood preservation of the United States forest service, is its vice chairman. The first meeting was recently held in Chicago for the purpose of organizing and deciding upon a plan of work. The committee was divided into four subcommittees to take up the following lines of work:

Statistics and economics, O. Chaunte, consulting engineer, Chicago, chairman.

Preservatives and specifications, H. von Schrenk, consulting timber engineer, St. Louis, chairman.

Adaptability of woods and their preparation, W. K. Hatt, civil engineer, forest service, Lafayette, Ind., chairman.

Treating processes, C. G. Crawford, specialist in wood preservation, forest service, Washington, chairman.

This American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way association now consists of about 900 members representing 200,000 miles of railroad track and including among its membership the leading railroad engineers of the country. The object of the association is the advancement of knowledge pertaining to the scientific and economical construction, operation and maintenance of railroads. The method employed to obtain this information is through standing committees appointed by a board of directors. Each committee is appointed to investigate a special subject and to report at each annual meeting, presenting the results of its investigation, followed by recommendations which are published in the Manual of Recommended Practice after they have been adopted by the association.

LETTER BOXES TO BE RED.

Change to Be Made So That Folks Can See Them More Easily.

Red letter boxes are to be in vogue next by government order, says a Washington dispatch. Once they were gray, then green, and now cardinal is desired. Many boxes in Washington have received the red coat to test the paint before the change is ordered universally. If a durable red paint is found, then all street letter boxes will be painted red.

This is what the first assistant postmaster general says about it: "Why have we decided to paint 'em red? Sometimes it is difficult to find a letter box; hard to see it. Green is not conspicuous enough. Red flaunts itself in one's face—sort of slaps one in the eyes, as it were, with its scarlet splendor. It will be a good thing, we think."

Cannibal Hens.

Poultry raisers in Watertown, Conn., this season are sufferers because the hens have developed a cannibal instinct for eating young chickens alive. Heretofore hens have been satisfied to eat eggs, but this year they attacked the chicks.

To Those Who Labor.

[Note.—The free employment agency of Kansas has issued a call for 21,500 men and 1,200 teams to handle the wheat harvest in that state.]

Ho, ye of bone and sinew,
Ye laborers who wait
In overcrowded cities
Around the bread line gate,
Go to trekking to the westward
Where work is plenty and
The golden fields are waiting
To take the workman's hand

Ho, ye who struggle daily
To keep the wolf away,
Who feel that each tomorrow
May end your work today,
Get out of such surroundings
And go where harvests need
The labor that is looking
For better homes and feed.

Ho, ye pent up in cities,
In closets close and hot,
Get out into the open
Where tenements are not Go ye to smiling farm lands
Where fields of ripening grain
Bring to the cheery worker
Forgetfulness of pain.

Ho, ye who starve and smother
Beneath the high, hot walls,
Get out into the sunshine
Where health to nature calls.
There labor's crown of labor
Is golden and the soil
Gives back to man what nature
Intended for his toil.

Grade Crossing Hearing.

The adjourned hearing before the special commission on the abolition of the grade crossings at Water and Saville streets will be held at City Hall next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. At this hearing evidence in favor of other plans presented will probably be heard.

As a rule the plan of the city for Saville street meets with general approval. Not so however with Water street. Some want the tracks elevated, some want the street to go over the tracks and some want Water street to be dead ended on each side of the present crossing and a new crossing made beneath the tracks south of the depot.

The granite men at South Quincy have held numerous meetings trying to agree upon some plan, but they have not succeeded.

Advocates of the several plans will therefore advocate their particular plan, and the commission will determine later which shall be adopted.

Child Saved.

Conductor Herbert R. Morton probably saved an infant child of Mrs. Martha Peterson from serious if not fatal injury Thursday afternoon, by snatching the child from in front of his car. The car was going toward Neponset when the child suddenly appeared on the track. The motorman was unable to stop his car, and had it not been for Conductor Morton the child would have been seriously injured. Mr. Morton saw the danger and reaching forward swung the child out of harm's way.

Cars to Atlantic.

Special cars will be run early Saturday morning from City Square to Atlantic, to enable the many from other sections of the city to arrive in season to see the grand antique and horrible parade. The parade which forms on Hancock street near the Sacred Heart church moves at 5.30, and in order to reach there in season people from other sections must make an early start.

Supt. Gammons of the street railway says that special cars will leave City Square at 5 A. M. for Atlantic. This will be in ample season to see the parade.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

The following is found in the July St. Nicholas over the name of Florence R. Faxon and is appropriate for today:

"Our cat and dog, they know the Fourth
For both have gone away,
And in the attic, and the barn
Prefer to spend the day,"

Everything is very dry.

Certainly a hot spell of weather.

A little showery this morning but more was needed.

The hours of the Quincy post office tomorrow will be from 7 to 11 A. M.

Chief of Police Burrell will have four automobiles in use tonight in addition to the patrol wagon.

The finals for the school golfers will be played today by William S. Flynn of Milton and Charles H. Anderson of Winthrop.

People will do well not to leave any material that will burn about their yards tonight.

Callomore P. Clayton of Bowbells, North Dakota, was the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. James of Rawson road.

A meeting of the Quincy Day Nursery Association will be held at the Women's club house on Tuesday, July 7th at 2.30 P. M.

Stephen Aulbach of Walker street, who is studying in Erie, Penn., for the priesthood, is a guest of his father, William Aulbach.

Mrs. Niel A. McDonald of 24 West street, West Quincy, formerly Miss Mary E. Lyons, has left for Prince Edwards Island for an extended vacation.

Already the boulevard has become quite a promenade in Atlantic. There being no speed limit as yet, the visiting machines do whiz along at a good clip!

C. H. Kendall, who won in the first round for the President's cup in the interscholastic golf tournament, was defeated in the second round by E. McPhail of Brookline High by 1 up.

The addition to the John O. Holden house on Adams street is a great improvement, the broad front being pleasing to the eye, and in harmony with the rest of the house. E. C. Norris of Braintree is the architect and Dimock & Patten of Wollaston, the builders.

Miss Clara Blandick a most successful actress starring as Glory Quayle in "The Christian, in "Raffles" and as Marianna in "The Two Orphans" is appearing at Keith's in a sketch entitled "The Bard Box." Miss Blandick as a school girl lived in Quincy and will be remembered as Clara Dickey of Hancock street.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Wendell Gammons of Franklin street, last Saturday entertained the office attaches of the Shoe Retailer and the Shoe & Leather Reporter. Boating, games and music made the afternoon pass very pleasantly, and the afternoon's entertainment concluded with refreshments.

The July number of St. Nicholas contains an interesting article by A. W. Rolker entitled, "The Under-Seas Sailor and His Boat," telling how it feels to go down in a submarine. The illustrations show the Octopus and Cuttlefish built at the Fore River shipyard, in various manoeuvres, on the surface, diving and under water.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth are certainly going to have a most attractive home on Presidents hill, at the corner of Goffe street and Munroe road. The outside plastering has been put on this week which gives one a good idea of the whole effect when finished. The coloring is to be yellowy brown cement with brown trimmings, an artistic combination.

The Brackett A. C., composed of boys living on Brackett street and the vicinity have been collecting wood for a bonfire in celebration of the Fourth for the last three weeks, and now have built a pile of sleepers, boxes and barrels standing some 60 feet. The boys have been working hard and people who have seen the pile say they are well paid for their work. Permission has been given by city officials, and as the fire at the wharf is at the foot of Brackett street, property will not be endangered. The fire will be set at 12 o'clock tonight.

Overheated Stove.

The alarm from Box 42 at 10.40 Thursday night was for a fire in a building on Copeland street near Brewer's corner, owned by T. J. Lamb and occupied by two Finns as a printing establishment. The fire evidently started from an overheated stove, as the stove was red hot when the fire department arrived on the scene. The fire was quickly extinguished with a loss of not over $75.

WHO FOR PRESIDENT

Contest for Head of Houghs Neck Associates

The Houghs Neck Associates at present have no real head, but it is understood that a president will be elected before the incorporation of the association is finished. The names of Henry French of Bay View avenue and Archibald F. Baird have been mentioned quite freely in connection with this office. It is rumored that another man is working hard for the position and that his friends claim that he will be elected.

Eight pages today.

The Daily Ledger will not be printed tomorrow on account of the holiday.

News items for the Daily Ledger can be given to Alfred LaBrecque or sent to the office of publication, 1424 Hancock street, Quincy.

The car tracks on Sea street from "the willows" to Palmer street have been raised a few inches. For the past five or six years the electrics have been delayed many times whenever there was an unusually high tide. In fact it has been impossible to get through at times, causing considerable annoyance to the passengers to and from the Neck. The raising of the tracks will do away with most of this trouble. The trouble could be settled for good if the city would raise Sea street. As it is now the street railway cannot have their tracks above the street.

Eugene LaBrecque of 1259 Sea street successfully underwent an operation for appendicitis this week at the Carney Hospital. He is doing as well as can be expected.

William P. Taylor, the newly elected secretary of the Houghs Neck Associates has had considerable experience as a secretary, having held that office for over five years for the Revere Republican Club.

Regular Sunday services will be held at the Union chapel on Bay View avenue, during the summer at 11 A. M. Rev. George H. Cate of West Newton, who is passing the summer at the Buckskin cottage, will conduct the services. Sunday school sessions are held following the regular service.

Eugene N. Tessier has sold his large house on Sea street. Boston parties purchased the house for a summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Hall are spending a few days with Mr. Christy of the Pilot cottage on the water front. Mr. and Mrs. Hall and Mr. Christy are members of the same theatrical company, and are to leave for Chicago on July 15, where they have been engaged by W. F. Mann, the largest theatrical producer in Chicago.

There has been numerous complaints against some of the motor boats in Quincy bay. It is claimed that most of them have no mufflers on their engines, causing a great annoyance at night to the people who live on the water front. One man living on the water front threatens to attach some of the motor boats and sue their owners.

Dancing at Pandora Hall every afternoon. 6t

The holiday and Sunday time of the steamer between Houghs Neck and Nantasket Point is advertised today.

Fore River Supt. Married in New York

The Daily Journal of Ithaca, N. Y., reports that one of the most notable and brilliant church weddings of the summer took place at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 10 o'clock, Monday morning, June 29, when Miss Helen Celesta McAllister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McAllister, of 135 Blair street, became the wife of James Eugene Neary, Cornell, '06, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Neary of Niagara Falls and now a superintendent at the Fore River Shipyard at Quincy, Mass.,

The chancel rails and altar were decorated with palms and cut flowers and a large company of relatives and friends were in the church awaiting the appearance of the bride and groom. Miss Mary Clynes played charmingly on the organ, and at the apointed hour she started the strains of a wedding march and simultaneously the groom and his best man Attorney Daniel G. Griffin, '03, entered from the vestry and the ushers followed by the maid of honor, Miss Helen Hassett of Elmira, and the bride in single file entered from the front of the church.

The bride and groom met and proceeded to the altar where the impressive marriage ceremony of the church was performed by the Rev. J. F. Wintters. The bridal party then retired from the church to the strains of another wedding march and went to the bride's home, where a wedding dinner was served to about twenty guests.

The bride appeared charming in an exquisite gown of white liberty crepe trimmed with baby Irish lace. She wore a veil caught with orange blossoms. Her bridesmaid was attired in a white silk Princess lingerie gown of val and fillet, wore a hat of baby Irish lace and plumes, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas.

The bride received a large number of presents in cut glass and silver and numerous checks. Her gift to her bridesmaid was a beautiful signet ring, and the groom's gift to his best man was a pearl scarf pin. The ushers for the occasion were Attorney Peter F. McAllister, brother of the bride and Professor Charles H. Tuck of Cornell University.

The bride is well known here and is one of the charming young people of the city. She is talented in music and was teacher on string instruments at Wells College. She graduated from the Ithaca High School in 1900 and studied at the Conservatory, also instructing at the Conservatory for some time.

The groom is superintendent of the manual training department at the Four River Shipbuilding Company in Quincy, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Neary left on the "Black Diamond" for Atlantic City and an ocean trip to Boston. They will be at home after August 3, at 803 Hancock street, Wollasfon, Mass.

FINED FIFTY DOLLARS.

The continued case of John Varney, for keeping and maintaining a common gaming house at Quincy, was called in the district court. He pleaded guilty and paid $50. Varney's place was at 8 Standish avenue, Wollaston, and it was raided by Inspector Goodhue last week. A number of men were seated about a table but were not playing when the officers entered. Cards were found on the premises however.

CLEVELAND TRIBUTE

Bryan Men Displeased With One Drawn Up by Parker

PLANNING TO HEAD IT OFF

Portions Relating to Maintenance of Integrity of Courts and Finance Arouse Ire--Friends of Johnson and Gray Have Not Given Up Fight

Denver, July 3.—Charging that Alton B. Parker's resolution of tribute to the memory of the late President Grover Cleveland is a clever move on the part of the enemies of William J. Bryan to infuse factional feeling into the Democratic national convention, friends of the Nebraskan have determined to offer a resolution of a character designed not to raise controverted political issues.

Through control of the temporary organization of the convention the Bryan following expects to have its resolution brought to the attention of the delegates immediately after the speech of the temporary chairman has been delivered. In that event, the Parker resolution would have to be offered as a substitute, if submitted at all, and the Bryan men declare that the New York delegation would thereby be placed in the attitude of attempting, under the guise of eulogizing a great party leader, to create strife and dissension and to make harmony impossible.

All Democrats, without regard to factional affiliations, applaud the suggestion coming from New York that the national convention should embrace the first opportunity of honoring the memory of Mr. Cleveland, but most of those who have expressed themselves on the subject are of the opinion that the resolutions adopted should not contain anything over which there could be the slightest difference of opinion.

The New York resolution is denounced by many Bryan leaders, who declare that its adoption would be a direct slap at Bryan. The portions of the resolution which particularly aroused the ire of the friends of Bryan relate to Cleveland's record on the question of maintaining the integrity of the courts and finances, the paragraphs being as follows:

"He maintained the public credit and honor, stood firm as a rock in defense of sound principles of finance, and resisted dangerous economic doctrines and practices left by the Republican party as a heritage of our people."

It was said by Mayor Dehlman that these expressions are but thinly veiled attacks upon Bryan and his well-known attitude on the question of adopting an anti-injunction plank, and his position in 1896 and 1900 on the money question.

The publication of the Parker resolution was as a bombshell exploding in the midst of the Bryan followers, and steps were at once taken by members of the committee on convention arrangements to head off its introduction in the convention. They were unanimously of the opinion that it would provoke a discussion and possibly a fight.

At the instance of Roger C. Sullivan of Illinois it was decided to prepare a resolution which, while honoring the memory of Cleveland, would offer no opportunity for acrimonious disputes.

"We still feel the utmost confidence in the outcome of our campaign and our twenty-four hours in Denver, instead of weakening, has strengthened our assurance," remarked Mr. Lynch, who has charge of Governor Johnson's candidacy for the presidency. Asked for an explanation, he replied that he had been given much encouragement from leaders on the ground and from others on the way here.

"I have received a number of telegrams of a most encouraging nature," he said. "One comes from members of the New York delegation, saying: 'Don't give up the fight; it is impossible for Bryan to be nominated on the first ballot.' Others of similar import have come from members of the Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachusetts and other delegations. If Bryan is not nominated on the first ballot, which will not happen, his defeat is certain."

Judge Gray's friends also contend that Bryan's nomination on the first ballot is quite out of the question, and say that if the Nebraskan can be kept down until the second or third vote the nomination is as likely to go to one man as another and that Gray's chances will be equal to the best.

"You say Bryan and Gray," said Josiah Marvel, the Gray manager, to Judge Powers, head of the Utah delegation, who wears a Gray button, but says he is for Bryan; "why not make it Gray and Bryan? By contending for Gray for second place you admit his qualities as a vote-getter. Bryan has tried twice and failed. He would get the ticket as vice presidential candidate all the votes he can command as a candidate for the presidency. Give us Gray and Bryan and we will win."

UTICA HONORS SHERMAN

Bands, Illuminations, Fireworks and a Long Procession

Utica, N. Y., July 3.—The homecoming last night of Congressman Sherman was made the occasion of such a demonstration as has rarely been seen in this section of the state. The welcome to the Republican candidate for the vice presidency was a nonpartisan affair and to a great extent personal, as the congressman's recovery from his recent somewhat alarming illness gave added reason for a public rejoicing upon his safe return.

Mr. Sherman, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman and Dr. Carter, reached here from the west at 9:18 o'clock. As his train drew into the station bands played, fireworks were set off and church chimes rang out. In every spot adjacent to the railroad station thousands of persons were crowded.

Mr. Sherman stepped from the train slowly and looked pale and worn. He had, however, stood the journey very well. A monster procession formed in the vicinity of the station and escorted the candidate to his home. The paraders included representative organizations of a civic, military and fraternal nature. The route lay through the principal streets, the buildings of which were decorated with flags, streamers and mottoes all illuminated by brilliant electric lights.

A dozen bands furnished inspiring music, fireworks added a spectacular feature and tens of thousands of persons ranged along the route shouted themselves hoarse. At Sherman's home the formal welcome was made, the principal speech being by Mayor Kernan.

The parade was close to two miles long and as the Sherman home is less than this distance from the depot, and the line of march followed a direct course, Sherman, at the head of the parade, had reached his home before the last division had formed in line.

Socialist Labor Against Debs

New York, July 3.—The name of Eugene V. Debs, candidate for president on the Socialist party ticket, was presented for endorsement unexpectedly at the convention of the Socialist Labor party here. As Debs was practically read out of the Socialist Labor party some time ago, the presentation of his name threw the convention into an uproar. Two members of the Socialistic party Unity league offered the name of Debs for endorsement. A motion was finally passed to the effect that the suggestion of the Socialist Party Unity league could not be adopted.

Contesting Delegates Start

Chicago, July 3.—The Cook county Democracy and the Chicago Democratic club is making the trip to Denver by special train, having left here this morning. The contesting delegation from Illinois accompanied the club.

Des Moines, July 3.—Governor Cummins authorizes the statement that he will not resign from the office of governor and states that there was never any serious consideration of the matter on his part.

Honored by Roosevelt

London, July 3.—James F. Sullivan, president of the A. A. U., and manager of the American Olympic team, has received a cablegram from the state department at Washington, announcing that President Roosevelt has appointed him United States commissioner at the Olympic games and that Ambassador Reid has been notified to advise the British Olympic association to that effect.

Secretary Wilson Goes West

Washington, July 3.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson left last night for an extended tour of the west in the interest of the work which the department is conducting in that section of the country. The secretary probably will be gone for more than a month. Meanwhile, Dr. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, will be acting secretary of agriculture.

Fatal Quarrel Among Italians

St. John, July 3.—A row took place last evening among Italians employed on construction work on the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad near New Denmark. One Italian was shot dead and another was shot and seriously wounded. Officers of the county have gone to the scene of the trouble.

Justified In Killing "Peeping Tom"

Raleigh, July 3.—The coroner's jury in the case of Engineer B. M. Stultz of the Sea Board Air line, who was killed Wednesday night in this city, acquitted Turner Smith, 19 years old, who admitting shooting Shultz because he was peeping at his young sisters while they were undressing.

Ito's Hand Guides Korea

Tokio, July 3.—Viscount Sone has left here to relieve Prince Ito, who is returning to Tokio and will reach here on July 15. Ito probably will remain in Japan, but will not release his control of Korea, though Sone will act as resident general.

A SAD FOURTH OF JULY.

The Day on Which Two of America's Greatest Patriots Died.

The Fourth of July, 1826, was the death day of two of the republic's greatest men, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson. On July 4, 1831, five years later, James Monroe breathed his last. Sixty years later, on July 4, 1891, Hannibal Hamlin died.

The death of both Adams and Jefferson on the day accepted as the nation's birthday was a strange coincidence. The day was one neither forgot, for both were among the signers of the immortal document which officially first saw the light just fifty years before their death, both remembered the date, and each was cognizant of the other's mortal illness.

Adams was past ninety. Jefferson was about seven years younger. Yet he had lived thirteen years more than the threescore and ten years allotted by holy writ. At midnight eighty years ago, when Independence day was just being ushered in, Jefferson, even then dying, but with memory not yet altogether impaired, muttered, "This is the Fourth of July." In the morning Adams, the same thought apparently running through his mind, roused himself to ask, "Does Jefferson still live?" Adams died a little after midday, Jefferson a few hours later.

IRREVERENT INSECTS.

How Flies Interfered With the Signing of the Declaration.

Congress on July 19, 1776, ordered the Declaration passed on the Fourth, fairly engrossed on parchment, with the title and style of "The unanimous Declaration of the 13 United States of America, and that the same, when engrossed, be signed by every member of congress."

It was a sultry day in August. Jefferson, when in a genial, reminiscent mood, was accustomed to say that the signing was hastened by swarms of flies that came into the hall through the open windows of the statehouse from a livery stable near by. The day's business had been arduous. It was hot and sticky, and the flies assaulted the silk stockinged legs of the honorable members with vigor and real Tory vindictiveness. With handkerchiefs and all available papers the fathers of liberty lashed the flies, but with no avail. The onslaught became unendurable, and the members, capitulating, made haste to sign and bring the momentous business to a close. Of the fifty-six signatures not all were attached even at this date.—Washington Star.

Where the Declaration Is Kept.

The original engrossed copy of the Declaration as signed is now in the keeping of the secretary of state. The document was in the patent office from 1841 to 1877, as that department was believed to be fireproof. It is now, since 1894, kept hermetically sealed in a frame and placed in a steel cabinet, with the original signed copy of the constitution. It is no longer shown to any one except by express order of the secretary. Being on parchment, which shows destructive signs of cracking, due more probably to the making of a facsimile ordered by President James Monroe in 1823 than to age or handling, the document is jealously guarded. Many of the names of the signers are no longer legible. Two pages of Jefferson's original draft, with a few interlineations by Adams and Franklin, are also preserved at the department of state. The facsimile which was ordered by President Monroe was made for the purpose of giving a copy to each of the signers then living and their heirs. These original copies are now of great value.—Baltimore News.

FORTY-SIX STARS NOW.

Oklahoma's Admission to Union Keeps Flag Factories Busy.

The United States naval flagmaking establishment in the bureau of equipment building at the Brooklyn navy yard has been unusually busy this year. One cause of this activity was the adding of the additional star for the new state of Oklahoma to the national flag, making forty-six stars in all. This necessitated an entirely new arrangement of the stars as well as the manufacture of thousands of the new forty-six star ensigns which every American vessel will have to carry. Although the new flag does not go into effect officially until July 4, to have the required number in readiness meant hustle on the part of the flagmakers.

The stars are cut by machine, a star shaped die cutting out a half hundred stars at one stroke. These are basted on by hand and finally stitched on the flag by machine. Instead of the old arrangement, where the six rows alternate each with seven or eight stars, the new United States flag has them arranged in the following manner: Top row, eight stars; second row, seven; third row, eight; fourth row, eight; fifth row, seven; sixth row, eight.

The operatives engaged in making the flags enjoy their work and enter into it with more interest than is usually displayed by men and women engaged in an occupation of this sort. But few very large flags are turned out in the establishment, the demand being almost wholly for the sizes used on battleships and fortifications.

The full flag equipment of a battleship costs about $2,500.—New York Mail.

July Fourth.

This glorious Independence day
Stands memorable in history—
A date that hints the mingled play
Of sequence and of mystery.

'Twas Hawthorne's birthday, eighteen and four.
His myriad Anglo-Saxon debtors
Acclaim from many a distant shore
The graceful "Marble Faun" of letters.

And Garibaldi, too, was born
On this day back in eighteen and seven.
To Italy, by faction torn,
He brought our own free Union leaven.

We broke the ground for our canal—
The Erie; De Witt Clinton planned it—
On July Fourth at Rome, and all
The world of eighteen and sixteen scanned it.

A decade more, see Adams dead,
The elder John, our second president,
And Monticello's pall is laid
On Jefferson, her laureled resident.

Monroe, whose doctrine statesmen quote,
In eighteen and thirty-one was stricken.
He died on July Fourth, you note,
Whose words our nation's pulses quicken.

Texas annexed in forty-five—
Again the mystic date is fateful—
And parties long will strive and strive
To settle if the gain is grateful.

Vicksburg surrendered, sixty-four,
The river key to upland regions.
Grant's triumph rings from shore to shore,
Our flag above his conquering legions.

St. Louis' mighty bridge of steel
In seventy-four is opened proudly—
A giant bond, our poets feel,
'Twixt east and west, applauded loudly.

In ninety-four—again this date—
With Yankee energy to lead 'em
And bound to test the will of fate,
Hawaiians make their strike for freedom.

In ninety-eight the Fourth is cheered,
Applause for Schley and Sampson mixing,
Spain's navy smashed, as it appeared
The day before, beyond all fixing.

This glorious Independence day
Stands memorable in history—
A date that hints the mingled play
Of sequence and of mystery!

PITCHERS WHO STUDY

Methods of Chicago Twirlers In Sizing Up Batters' Weakness.

WAGNER HAS THEM GUESSING

Old Honus Is Just as Apt to Hit Wild Pitch as He Would Slow One—Clarke, Donlin and Beaumont Hardest Batsmen to Pitch To.

Baseball would be even more interesting to the patrons of the sport if they could divine the thoughts and schemes in the heads of the pitchers when the game is close and a heavy hitter is at the plate. "What shall I do with the slugger?" is always the question uppermost in the pitcher's mind, and usually it doesn't take the twirler long to frame up his answer.

The Chicago Cubs fell to discussing the hitting prowess of various National league batsmen recently, and before the fanning bee was over nearly all the pitchers had expressed their opinions on what was the best policy to pursue when working on such hitters as Donlin, Wagner, Seymour, Beaumont, Lumley and Magee.

In general, the pitchers agreed on most of the weaknesses of the hitters, but it does not follow that all pitch the same to the opposing foe. For instance, Mordecai Brown can fool a notorious curve ball hitter with curves, whereas Lundgren, whose curve isn't as good as Brown's, would go at the fellow with a high, fast ball on the inside of the plate. There you have just the opposite kind of pitching to accomplish the same purpose.

Many of the leading National league batsmen, not including those on the Cub team, are attacked in about this way:

Seymour, New York—Low curve over inside corner of the plate. When Cy is in the hole, give him wild pitches to hit at.

Donlin, New York—If he stands in the front part of the box, whiz a fast one up for him and curve one over if he is back. If Donlin has two strikes and one ball on him, it is good policy, say the Cubs, to curve one over the outside corner, for Mike would be apt to let it go, expecting the pitcher to waste that ball. If, however, he has only one strike and two balls, he would be pretty sure to murder a curve on the ouside, for he would be laying for something of that kind. Donlin is liable to hit any kind of a ball, and the pitcher must keep working with him and have "something on" the ball all the time.

Tenney, New York—Lay the fast balls in close to him and drive him off the plate. That mode of attack nettles Tenney.

Wagner, Pittsburg—Reulbach's system is to slam high, fast ones near the German's head. That is Lundgren's policy, too, but Brown and Overall work him on a slow ball. Hans is not an easy man to figure at any time, for, like Lajole of the American league, he is liable to hit a wild pitch out of the lot. You are never quite sure what he is going to do.

Clarke, Pittsburg—Try to outguess him. The Pirate manager has no weakness at the bat and is dangerous against any kind of pitching. It's a case of hard work for the pitcher with Clarke at the bat. Don't offer him anything easy.

Leach, Pittsburg—Low curve outside. Lundgren is liable to tackle Tommy with high, fast ones, as that is "Lundy's" most effective ball.

Beaumont, Boston—Impossible to tell what to hand "Rusty." He hits any kind of pitching in any direction. Like Clarke and Donlin, he requires the pitcher's utmost efforts.

Magee, Philadelphia—Don't get a straight on over the plate for Magee. He is a hard man to deceive, but if he has any weakness it is a low curve outside.

Thomas, Pittsburg—Three right over the middle. Make him hit, because he can't drive the ball far. Thomas is a great man to draw bases on balls, and it is safe not to try to fool him or he'll walk.

Lumley, Brooklyn—Keep 'em high. Even then he is liable to knock them over the fence. Some pitchers use a low ball on Lumley, which is only another way of saying that he is a mighty hard man to handle.

Jordan, Brooklyn—Keep the ball close to Tim and high. Jordan takes a very hard swing and murders a ball on the outside.

Ganzel, Cincinnati—Hand the Red manager low ones.

Huggins, Cincinnati—Make him hit, for, like Thomas, he doesn't drive the ball hard; a good waiter, but a little weak on a big curve on the outside of the plate.

Lobert, Cincinnati—Have something on it all the time, for the little German has a good eye for any kind of pitching. It is best to keep the ball high and on the inside.

Byrne, St. Louis—Hits like Steinfeld; therefore keep the ball low. He likes a high ball on the inside, but is weak on a curve on the outside.

The foregoing tells how the pitcher would in most cases go after his foe, but to carry out those plans it takes great control. Sometimes it is all a pitcher can do to get the ball over any part of the plate. Often it becomes necessary to disregard all hopes and plans and do nothing but aim at the plate, for, above everything, a pitcher must not pass men to first. It is better to give the sluggers straight balls just where they like them than to walk them. Some of them will go out on long flies or hard grounders if you put the ball over, but to walk them is positively fatal.

A NEW ENGLAND TEMPEST

Three Deaths From Lightning and Great Damage From Rain

Boston, July 3.—Bred of a day of extreme heat and sultriness, in which all New England sweltered, a succession of terrific thunderstorms ended a day of discomfort in one hour of death and destruction in southwestern Maine and northeastern Massachusetts. At least three deaths were caused by the lightning bolts. Lightning and torrential rain combined did damage mounting into thousands of dollars to buildings, crops, trees and roads.

The victims of the lightning were Roy Ericson, South Chelmsford, killed while berrying; Edward Waterhouse, West Kennebunk, Me., killed in a hayfield; Frank Isabelle, Auburn, Me., a railroad section hand.

In Lewiston, Me., trees and roads bore the bulk of the damage, but one house being damaged by lightning to any great extent.

Portsmouth, N. H., was also a severe sufferer. About three inches of rain fell in an hour, doing immense damage to crops and roads, while many houses and the Advent church were damaged by bolts.

Lawrence, Mass., was prostrated for over an hour by a storm, rain, hail and lightning causing heavy losses. Telegraph, telephone and street car services were paralyzed and the fire department was overwhelmed with calls to extinguish the several fires started by lightning. At Lowell several places were struck by lightning and Mrs. J. J. Griffin's baby was hurled from her arms, but not much hurt.

The principal damage in the northeastern part of this state was confined to crops. Gardens, after a good spring of great promise, have been greatly in need of rain to save them, but the flood of an hour's duration, accompanied by hail, did an incalculable amount of harm.

Boston escaped the tempest, getting but a few minutes of light rain. The suffering here throughout the day had been intense, one death being the result of the combined heat and humidity, while one woman is dying and one man was driven insane.

Boys Prevent Train Wreck

Poland, Me., July 3.—A serious accident by the wrecking of a passenger train from Portland because of three washouts was averted by the quick-witted action of two boys who discovered the undermining of the tracks by heavy rain and stopped the train by signalling when it was within only thirty feet of the first danger point. The rain was needed to relieve the six weeks' drought, but it was accompanied by hail, and so thoroughly washed the surface of the ground that the damage to garden truck was severe.

Serious Blaze at Woburn

Woburn, Mass., July 3.—A fire of threatening proportions broke out in the business section on Main street this morning and destroyed the large four-story wooden building occupied for the most part by a laundry company and for storage purposes. The loss on building and contents is estimated at $30,000. From this structure the flames spread to the adjoining building occupied by the Jacob A. Ham Grain company. All the fire-fighting apparatus of the city was called to the scene.

Action Against Boston and Maine

Exeter, N. H., July 3.—An information against the Boston and Maine Railroad company, alleging that the company has transgressed the New Hampshire laws in increasing its freight rates since 1889, was filed in the supreme court of Rockingham county by Attorney General Eastman by way of response to an open letter addressed to him by R. W. Pillsbury, candidate for governor, calling attention to certain alleged violations of the law.

Fall Broke Aged Man's Back

Livermore Falls, Me., July 3.—Followed by a pulley weighing 1500 pounds, which had broken through a staging, William Cay, aged 62, an employe of the International Paper company, fell thirty-five feet to the ground and was instantly killed. His back was broken in three places.

Diplomat Under the Knife

Putnam, Conn., July 3.—The condition of Arthur S. Hardy, former minister to Spain, who was operated upon for appendicitis here, is still critical. Hardy was taken suddenly ill at his summer home in the Woodstock hills last Sunday and was removed to a hospital.

Boy's Body Wedged Under Car

Boston, July 3.—Ezra Carmill, aged 9, was instantly killed by being struck by an electric car at the corner of B street and Broadway. So tightly was the boy's body wedged under the car that the body was only removed by jacking up the car.

Vacation For Three Thousand

Lowell, Mass., July 3.—Notices were posted at the hosiery mills of the Lawrence Manufacturing company, announcing that the plant will be shut down tonight until July 20. The mills employ 3000 operatives.

A Better Church Understanding

Washington, July 3.—"The name universalist was once anathema to all the Orthodox. Now the Universalist church is associated with other churches in Christian work. The change has come because other churches understand better for what we stand and in what we believe." Thus Rev. E. D. Ellenwood testified to the growth of tolerance and the spread of good feeling in addressing the annual convention of the National Young People's Christian Union.

VETERAN EDITOR DEAD

Murat Halstead Occupied High Position In Journalistic World

Cincinnati, July 3.—Murat Halstead, one of the leaders in American journalism for over half a century and widely known as a vigorous editorial and magazine writer, died at his home in this city in his 79th year. At his bedside were his wife, his son, Robert, and one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Stem. Halstead had been failing in strength for several months and on Wednesday suffered from cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. and Mrs. Halstead celebrated their golden wedding anniversary a little more than a year ago, at which time Halstead's health seemed frail, and as time passed he grew weaker, so that the news of his death was not wholly unexpected. The sudden death of his son, Marshall, a few months ago, was a severe shock to him. Albert Halstead, another son, is American consul at Birmingham, Eng., and the other members of the family are scattered throughout the country.

Mr. Halstead was one of the great editors of the last half of the nineteenth century, and one of the strongest tributes to his incisiveness as a writer was in 1889, when his nomination by President Harrison to be American minister to Germany was rejected by the United States senate because of articles he had published charging corruption to some members of that body. In the Civil war Halstead personally reported many battles, and later in the Franco-German war and also in the Spanish-American war he added to his reputation in that line.

For fifty years he attended and reported all Republican national conventions, and in 1860 he was the only newspaper man who reported all the varied political conventions of that year.

Peary Going to Oyster Bay

New York, July 3.—President Roosevelt has invited Commander Peary to lunch with him Tuesday, prior to the explorer's departure for the Polar regions. Peary has accepted. Steamer Roosevelt was visited by a number of persons carrying bundles of books, magazines and all kinds of reading matter for the crew. The gifts grew out of a statement made by one of the crew that the sailors would appreciate reading matter during the four months of Arctic night.

Cigaret and Gunpowder

New York, July 3.—Walter White, aged 14, Eugene Heym, 14, and Harry Gill, 16, all of Port Richmond, S. I., were carrying a bag containing twenty-five pounds of gunpowder, when a spark from a cigaret which one of the lads was smoking burned a hole in the bag and ignited the powder. There were three explosions in quick succession and the boys were enveloped in flames. It is believed Heym and Gill will die. White may recover.

Floods and Starvation In China

Hong Kong, July 3.—Detailed reports from the floods in southern China show that hundreds of people have been drowned and thousands are starving in the destroyed villages. Chinese and foreigners have combined to raise a large relief fund. Large sums and quantities of food are being consigned nightly from Hong Kong. The government has made a grant of $30,000 and the Standard Oil company has subscribed $5000.

Mexico Has a Grievance

City of Mexico, July 3.—Mexico will ask the United States to punish severely the local authorities of Del Rio, Tex., and possibly others of the state under whose authority they acted. The grounds will be that the officers knowingly failed in their duty by allowing persons who partook in the Las Vecas raid to return to the Texas side of the river uninterfered with and to take with them their wounded.

Gas Franchises Sustained

New York, July 3.—Attorney General Jackson's attempt to annul the charter of the Consolidated Gas company has been defeated. Justice Erlanger sustained a demurrer to Jackson's complaint and directed judgment in favor of the gas company. The contention of the attorney general was that the franchises had lapsed, and therefore had no value that could be estimated.

Budget of $1,125,000,000

St. Petersburg, July 3.—The duma passed its approval of the budget of state revenues, amounting to $1,125,000,000, practically without change in the ministerial figures. It is noteworthy that the opposition refrained from criticism of the main features of the existing system of taxation.

"Uncle Remus" Critically Sick

Atlanta, July 3.—Joel C. Harris, the author, and widely known under pseudonym "Uncle Remus," is critically ill at his home in this city. Harris has been in poor health for the past month, but has only been confined to his bed for the past ten days. He is nearly 60 years old.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Vice Chancellor Howell, at Newark, N. J., signed an order authorizing the receivers of the Pope Manufacturing company to continue the business for one year.

Rumors are current of the presence of a pernicious fever at Porto Cabello. This illness is supposed to be yellow fever.

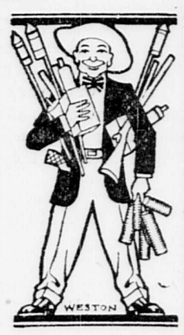

The grand stand and a theatre on the county fair grounds at Rutland, Vt., were destroyed by fire, with a loss of about $7000.

The Oxford university endowment fund, which was inaugurated by Lord Curzon on his election to the chancellorship, has reached $500,000.

The Patriot.

A Gun For Little John and Dynamite For the Baby.

This is my country's natal morn. My heart with rapture thrills.
I've bought a gun for little John, the kind that sometimes kills.
And Susie has a pistol too. She'll burn herself, I fear.
But what's the difference if she does? It's only once a year!
That I in patriotism lack it never shall be said.
The baby has some crackers now that might blow off his head.
They're somewhat dangerous; they're filled with dynamite, I hear.
But shoot them off, my darling child; 'tis only once a year.

"I'VE BOUGHT A GUN FOR LITTLE JOHN."

I've heard that rockets have been known to put out children's eyes.
Of course in every childish sport some danger lurking lies.
We'll have to take our chance of that—they mustn't stand too near—
For we must celebrate the Fourth; 'tis only once a year.

"THOUGH THE BABY'S BLOWN TO BITS."

So, though the baby's blown to bits and Johnny's lost his sight,
Though Susie's hair is all burnt off by time that it is night,
I'll sing "My country, 'tis of thee," in accents loud and clear,
For I have kept the glorious Fourth, which comes but once a year.

—Elsie Duncan Yale in Lippincott's.

Flag Facts.

The flag of the United States was adopted by our national congress June 14, 1777.

The brilliant flag of Austria-Hungary was adopted March 6, 1869, and floats over 24,000,000 people.

The oldest flag in existence is that of Denmark, which dates from 1219.

The well known tricolor of France dates from the revolution of 1789.

The German flag was first unfurled in 1867 and floats over an empire of 52,000,000 people.

In compliment to William, prince of Orange, the great leader, the colors of the house of Orange were added by the sturdy people of the Netherlands at the end of their long bout with Spain, orange, white and blue, but nobody knows how during the centuries since the orange became changed to red.

Peter the Great, it is said, borrowed the idea of the Russian flag from the Dutch, among whom he learned shipbuilding. He simply turned the Dutch tricolor, red, white and blue, upside down.

The simple striping of the red and yellow in the flag of Spain was suggested by the arms of Aragon.

The white cross on the red field of the Swiss flag has a religious meaning. It was adopted as an appeal to heaven in 1339, when the stout Swiss fought and won one of their greatest battles.

The crescent, moon and stars were adopted by the Turks as their device on the capture of Constantinople by Mohammed II. in 1453.

It has taken a thousand years to build up the great British empire of 386,000,000 people, of which the familiar flag of Great Britain is the symbol.

There are many flags in many lands,
And there are flags of every hue,
But there's no flag, however grand,
Like our own red, white and blue.
—Boston Traveler.

A Fourth of July Game.

The new Fourth of July game of "abbreviated states" calls forth lively competition. A prize is given for the first correct list of the following questions:

What state reminds you of a great rainfall? Ark.

What state can be often multiplied? Tenn.

What state commences the domestic week? Wash.

What state is mightier than the sword? Penn.

What state is always sure of itself? Kan.

What state has a medical degree? Md.

What state is a chronic invalid? Ill.

What state is a maiden? Miss.

What state suggests a sheltered spot? Del.

What state is a woman's name? Minn.—Washington Star.

The Chesapeake a Flour Mill.

The Chesapeake's final fate was a curious one. She was taken to England and in 1820 was sold to one John Prior, a miller of Wickham, for old timber. Prior tore down his old flour mill and built another one out of the Chesapeake's timbers, many of which still contained solid shot from the Shannon's guns.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

Free to You and Every Sister Suffering from Woman's Ailments.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.

I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from woman's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whitish discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths; also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousnnss, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney and bladder troubles where caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete ten day's treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week, or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhoea, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumpness and health always results from its use.

Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all women's diseases, and makes women well strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten day's treatment is yours also the book. Write today, as you may not see this offer again. Address

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title—Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

NOTICE!

Monatiquot Spring Co., of South Braintree, is in a position to deliver water to any part of Quincy for the small sum of 25 cents a carboy. No spring water on the market is superior. It is free from all surface drainage and is absolutely a pure mineral water.

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

Saturday, the Fourth of July will be observed as a holiday by the Daily Ledger, the office of publication being closed all day. See the Daily Ledger of Monday for three days news.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Arthur Carson of Granite street has gone to Westerly, R. I., to spend a few days with relatives.

Quincy lodge of Elks will as usual keep open house for members tonight, and serve refreshments.

Fletcher Miller of South Central avenue has gone to Pittsburg, Penn., where he has accepted a position with the Carnegie Steel Works.

Mrs. Blair and daughters have moved from 823 Hancock street to Philip Cook's new flat house at 893 Hancock street.

Arthur W. Stetson left this week by water, with Canton City of Lynn, for St. John, New Brunswick. Will be joined at Portland by Canton Ridgely and Chandler's Band. Stops will be made at Lubec and Eastport, Maine.

The boys of Foy's corner, South Quincy, have been saying nothing but sawing wood, gathering wood rather. They have gathered a good pile of it too. The fire will be touched off when the clock strikes twelve and there will be fireworks.

The weather bureau reports that June was an exceptionally hot and dry month. The records show a rainfall of only a little over one inch, while the average precipitation for June in thirty-eight years is three inches. There is a deficiency of over six inches since the beginning of the year.

Word was received at the police station of a dog that was running about South Quincy acting in a strange manner. Inspector Goodhue later found the dog, a large yellow mongrel, on Taber street, and shot him. Dr. Abele who later saw the animal said he had the rabbies.

At the patriotic service Sunday evening at 7.30 at the Point church, Mrs. K. B. Blaisdell of Neponset, a member of W. R. C. 103, will recite the poem, "That Rug," and Comrade Phillips of Paul Revere Post, No. 88, G. A. R. has kindly consented to deliver a poem. The address will be by the lawyer-orator, Rev. Mr. Merrill of North Weymouth, and Mrs. E. C. Page is the soloist.

A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

Exercise Vigilance.

My Dear Editor:

On the approach of the glorious Fourth it may not be unwise to call attention to the many accidents that happen on that day, besides, the very great loss of property.

The day before the Fourth, the hospitals commonly make preparation for the approaching celebration as do also the various police stations. The day is commonly more replete with disasters than many times happens in actual battle.

All this being so I would ask you to enjoin upon those in authority in our city, the necessity of exercising extraordinary vigilance that the damage may be as light as possible; this is the only civilized nation that celebrates its great and serious events in its history by making a very loud noise. If parents will consider the good of their own, and others, they will be glad to co-operate in making the destruction of life, limb, and property, as small as possible.

Again, I ask you, to do all that you can in lessening the inevitable evils of our so called "Glorius Fourth."

R. F. C.

Keith's Theatre.

During the months of July and August it has been the custom at Keith's for several season past to have some special attraction as permanent feature. For the past eight years it was The Fadettes, but as Mrs. Nichols and her organization are booked in the West for the entire summer they will not be in Boston this year. In their place will be the Romany Opera Company. This organization won the reputation last season of being the finest vocal aggregation ever heard in vaudeville. For this special engagement its membership has been doubled, so that it is now made up of twenty-five people. Among the principals will be Florence Quinn, Mary Obey, Alicia Desmond, Leila Bertoni, Flora Tileri, Alexander Bevan, Ettore Campena, George Nathansen, Walter Buchanan, Marcello Resemini and Giorgi Scotti. It is not the purpose to present condensed versions of well known operas, but rather the gems, the program running about three-quarters of an hour. The company will open next Monday in favorite selections from Gounod's "Faust," with Miss Obey as Marguerite" in the afternoon and Miss Quinn at night. The surrounding bill will be a notable one, for it will include the Waldhorn quartet and Gustav F. Heim, trumpet soloist, from the Poston Symphony orchestra, with a novel instrumental program. De Chunt and his acrobatic dogs, Seymour and Nestor, character songs and new Kinetograph pictures.

—Save the broken lens; we can match it. We grind them at 1473 Hancock st., Quincy. You may watch the operation. Williams Tel. 279-3.

Yannigan Win In Houghs Neck League

A very exciting bowling match was witnessed at Brown's bowling alleys Thursday evening, when the Yannigans defeated the River Roads two out of three strings. The Yannigans won the first string by only seven pins and the scond string by thirteen. The strings were very close it being anyones game up to the last boxes. Frank Galvin of the River Roads made the highest individual string, 103.

Newsy Budget From Shipyard

J. T. Cogan, the stewart of the Fore River Ship Building Co., who looks after the commissary department during the trial trips of the government vessels, was presented yesterday with a handsome traveling bag by Rear Admiral R. P. Plover. Admiral Plover, was the president of the government trial board during the trials of the scout cruiser Salem, and the gift was a mark of appreciation for the way in which Mr. Cogan looked after the wants of the inner man during the trials.

Congratulations are extended this week to James E. Neary who has charge of the educational work of the apprentices. He was married on Monday to Miss Helen McAllister of Ithaca, N. Y., near his parental home.

The Boston Transcript says: In command of Lieutenant Charles E. Courtney, the submarine boat Octopus, built at Quincy, the largest of the deep-water divers in the United States Navy, arrived at the New York Navy Yard Wednesday morning after a twenty-hour run from Newport. Last week the Octopus was given another trial run off Newport and the Navy Department has since accepted her. With the submarines, the Tarantula, the Cuttlefish and Viper, now at the New York Navy Yard, the Octopus will form the North Atlantic submarine flotilla. Before the four boats leave the local yard each is to be equipped with a bridge above the stern at the rear of the deck. The bridge is the invention of Lieutenant Marquard, commander of the Cuttlefish, who had one temporarily constructed of wood on his craft last winter while the submarines were engaged in practice manoeuvres in Chesapeake Bay. These bridges, which are designed for surface cruising, are so constructed that they will not interfere with the boats while steaming under water.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured
with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. GRAND CELEBRATION FOURTH AT ATLANTIC.

From 12.01 the "Night Before the Fourth," until late Saturday night there was something doing at Atlantic. There was not an idle moment during the whole time. Everything went off as scheduled, and but for the sad accident during the afternoon when Myron L. Bean lost his life, there was nothing to mar the occasion.

The opening gun was the kindling of the bonfire a minute after midnight. All residents of Atlantic kept open house in the evening, and entertained guests, while the several committees having in charge the celebration of the Fourth were busy completing arrangements. As the hour of miduight approached everybody went to the playground near the depot, and it said that there was never as many people gathered together in one place in Atlantic as there.

Mayor Shea arrived on the scene a few minutes before as did also a number of city officials. Ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston and Congressman Joseph O'Connell were also present. Mayor Shea applied the match to the mass of sleepers, barrels and boxes that reached a height of sixty feet, and in a few seconds the whole pile was a mass of roaring flames. It was a spectacular scene and burned for an hour or more, then Combination No. 2 arrived and put out the remainder. By this time everybody but the "all nighters" had gone to their homes to get a little sleep, so as to be on hand for the parade in the morning.

Lieut. McKay had charge of the squad of police on duty, and while there were crowds about, there was but little disturbance, until 3.15 when someone touched off the unoccupied blacksmith shop on Hancock street which resulted in the one fire alarm of the night.

The celebration of the day started in with a parade in the morning. The line was formed on Hancock street and moved at 6.15 in the following order:

Charles R. Safford, Chief Marshal.
City Band, Quincy.
Scotch caddie lads.
Man and boy on high wheels.
Hobby horses.
Old lady wheeling baby.
Farmer and wife.
Spirit of '76.
Rockefeller oil trust.
Columbia, on a bicycle with attendants
Butterfly float, containing six ladies.
Atlantics Modiste in sheath gown.
Group of colored girls and Indian boys.
Hayrack load of Bingville residents.
White float trimmed with pink containing ladies of Atlantic whist club in white gowns and pink hats.
Sonoma Girl, the trotter.
Drummer boy of '76.
Atlantic's merry widow in sheath gown.
Old Sports.
Eczema trotter.
Wollaston Yacht club float.
Combination No. 2 1-2 a take off on the local apparatus.
Hayrack load of children labeled "Vacation Time."
"The Trust" labeled "In gold we trust."

One of the best features in the parade was the group composed of Elliot Green and his sons Ollie and Henry representing that famous painting "The spirit of '76."

William Rice in his make up as the merry widow in a sheath gown correctly portrayed the prevailing style.

The trust impersonated by Walter Bolster was a decided hit. A throne had been erected on an open wagon upon which Mr. Bolster was seated representing the trusts. The vehicle was drawn by a half dozen men, who were the common people, while in the rear was Uncle Sam with a rope about his neck attached to the wagon. A banner read, "In gold we trust."

The Atlantic whist club and the butterfly wagon were both very prettily gotten up, the ladies who occupied the floats vieing with each other in attractiveness.

Cornelius M. Duggan, the Irish poet, and his group representing the old sports also attracted much attention.

The Scotch caddie lads were the choir boys from St. Chrysostoms church. They were gowned in Highland costumes.

The float containing a family from Bingville was very funny. In the hay rack and following behind were many of the well known characters of that village, among whom noticed were Doc. Livermore, Hoke Wiliams, Miss Zella Comstock, Gid Hawkins, Hen Weatherby, the store keeper, Milly Hawkins, Mollie Tucker, Hank Dewbury and others.

L. F. R. Langelier, gowned as a lady, wheeled a baby carriage said to have been made in the year 1776.

For local hits the best was that on the local fire department. This was called Combination 2 1-2. Frank A. Martin was the district chief, William Granahan the driver, and Charles Bevis the captain. In the crew were William Price, Edward Welsh, James Brennan, Stephen Cullen, Patrick Duggan and Charles Travis. On the wagon were a number of signs. One read "We eat fire" while others were "Never too late to save the cellar," "Who saved the blacksmithshop," and "Our water tower."

The parade moved through the principal streets of Norfolk Downs and Atlantic and was reviewed at the residence of Councilman Charles E. Cherrington on Clive street by Mayor Shea.

Others in the reviewing party were Councilman Freeman, Commissioner Bainbridge, City Auditor Fairbanks, City Solicitor McAnarney, Assessors

The Fourth At Houghs Neck

Houghs Neck experienced the quietest "night before" on record. Though the streets were packed with people all the night, the police found very little to do. The crowd was the most orderly one that has ever visited the beach on the night before the Fourth. The opening of the dance halls all night did a lot towards keeping the peace as the younger folks had somewhere to go instead of roaming the streets all night as they did in previous years. The only excitement was the raid made by Inspector Goodhue on the fruit store of Ralph Piazzola corner of Sea street and Sea avenue. The police seized about two dozen bottles of beer and a jug of whiskey.

Nearly all the cottages were decorated on the Fourth making a fine display. The Sea Street Dream was prettily decorated both on the interior and the exterior.

The Quincy Yacht club kept open house the Fourth, ending the day's program with a fine display of fireworks in the evening.

Field & Wild Foreman Killed

Oscar A. Johnson, foreman at the quarry of Field & Wild, was instantly killed shortly before noon today by a derrick falling upon him.

Mr. Johnson was engaged in taking the derrick down to move it to another location. As the derrick was being lowered it fell in a different direction from that it was intended it should, and caught Mr. Johnson and pinned him to the ground, causing almost instant death.

The unfortunate man was about 35 years of age, and had been employed by the firm of Field & Wild for a number of years. He was looked upon as a first-class man in every way, and was very popular with the workmen. He resided at 2 Gothland street, leaves a widow and three children.

Lawn Party.

The King's Daughters' Circle connected with Pond Home are to hold a lawn party on Wednesday, July 8, at the Home. Ice cream, cake, fancy and useful articles will be for sale and it is hoped that it will be well patronized by King's Daughters and all interested. The train for Pondville leaves South station at 12.05 instead of 12.27 as formerly.

A SHORT REVOLUTION

Results In Paraguayan Government Being Ousted

APPOINTMENT OF PRESIDENT

Combination of Two Powerful Parties Represented In New Cabinet, Thus Assuring Early Peace--Over Five Hundred Casualties

Buenos Ayres, July 6.—Advices received here state that revolutionists have been victorious in Paraguay and that a new government has been established.

These advices have been confirmed by a dispatch received by the minister of foreign affairs from the Argentine legation at Ascuncion, officially notifying the minister that the revolutionary party has succeeded in overthrowing the Paraguayan government and that several of the Paraguayan ministers of state had taken refuge in the legation.

The revolutionists have appointed Emiliano G. Naveiro president. He held the office of vice president in the government which has just been ousted.

Unofficial dispatches state that the new cabinet includes Manuel Gondra, the Paraguayan minister to Brazil; Eusebio Ayala, Alvino Jara, Adolfo Rigulme and Manuel Franco. These represent a combination of the two most powerful parties in Paraguay, the Liberal and Colorado, and it is believed that their appointment will assure early peace to the country. The members of the former government, it is understood, have taken refuge in the foreign legations.

Fighting has been proceeding in the streets of Asuncion for some days past and many of the public buildings have been seriously damaged. Previous estimates of the killed and wounded, however, have been exaggerated and it is now believed that the number will not exceed 500. It is expected that telegraphic communication with Asuncion will be restored today.

A Great Balloon Race

Chicago, July 6.—The "Chicago-to-ocean" balloon race ended last night when the last of the nine contestants came to earth at West Shefford, Que., 800 miles from the starting point. This craft was the Fielding, owned by F. J. Fielding. It covered approximately 100 miles more than its nearest competitors. The contest was marked by several thrilling escapes from drowning. The landing places of the nine balloons were as follows: Fielding, West Shefford, Que.; America, Carsonville, Mich.; King Edward, Port Huron, Mich.; Chicago, Atwood, Ont.; United States, Pinkerton, Ont.; Columbia, Clinton, Ont.; Cincinnati, Covert, Mich.; Illinois, Glen Island, Ont.; Ville de Dieppe, Benton Harbor, Mich.

Minus One Prisoner

New Orleans, July 6.—Lieutenant Berry of the New York police department arrived here with A. W. Bailey, Charles H. Myers and Captain Oxley from Puerto Cortez, Honduras, on the steamer Utstein last night. F. G. Bailey, the missing prisoner, made his escape on July 2, while the Utstein was in the harbor of Puerto Cortez. The Baileys are wanted on the charge of conspiracy to use the mails of the United States to defraud. F. G. Bailey was president of the Export Shipping company of New Jersey, while A. W. Bailey was secretary of the concern.

Clear Track For Obaldia

Panama, July 6.—The announcement of the resignation of Senor Arias as candidate for the presidency has resulted in dissipating the threatening conditions which were disturbing the peace of the republic. The war clouds have disappeared and resentments seem to have been forgotten. It is believed that the overwhelming majorities obtained by Senor Obaldia's partisans at the recent municipal elections in most of the provinces is the chief reason for Arias' resignation.

Great Fire at Port au Prince

Port au Prince, July 6.—A serious fire broke out here in the vicinity of the palace and senate building. The flames spread quickly and 400 buildings were burned, including the courthouse and the prison. All of the prisoners were taken to other quarters before the building took fire. Sparks were carried to the arsenal, which also was destroyed, together with stores of powder and munitions. The burning of the arsenal was accompanied by many heavy explosions.

Arrest In Wilson Mystery

Philadelphia, July 6.—Frederick Gies, foreman of a department in the press room of the Curtis Publishing company of this city, was taken into custody last night by the police as a suspect in connection with the murder of Dr. William H. Wilson, who died on June 26 after drinking a bottle of poisoned ale which had been sent to him through a local express office.

"Uncle Remus" Laid to Rest

Atlanta, July 6.—During a heavy thunderstorm the body of Joel Chandler Harris, the author and journalist who was so well known as "Uncle Remus," was laid at rest in Westview cemetery on the outskirts of this city. Despite the heavy rain, a long line of carriages followed the body to the grave.

BOATS STRUCK A HAWSER

Three Persons Drowned and Others Barely Escape Same Fate

Medford, Mass., July 6.—Three persons were drowned and thirteen others came near ending their lives as the result of a hawser stretched across the surface of the Mystic river to a dredger above the Craddock bridge, which caused the capsizing in succession of a canoe and two rowboats filled with a party of relatives and friends bound for the Mystic lake on an outing.

Those drowned were Mrs. John J. Burns, aged 25, and her son, John J. Jr., aged 3 years, and Reta Cooper, aged 8 years, a sister of Mrs. Burns. The body of Mrs. Burns, with her babe clasped in her arms, was recovered by the police boat with grappling irons two hours later, and the body of Reta Cooper was recovered in a similar manner.

The picnicing party was made up of the Burns and Bowen families of Medford, young people of the Cooper family of Roxbury and others. Those who were rescued had narrow escapes from death.

Many Drowning Accidents

Manchester, N. H., July 7.—Early this morning, while taking a bath, Arthur Gosselin, aged 17, was drowned in the lake at Pine Island Park. Young Gosselin could not swim and had taken a life preserver. In fooling with some of his companions, the life preserver got away from him, and he went down in ten feet of water.

Sebago Lake, Me., July 6.—By the overturning of a sailboat at the Images, four young people of Westbrook lost their lives by drowning. The dead are Harvey Jacquis, Margaret Hawkes, Gertrude Lowell and Benjamin Larrabee. The bodies were recovered.

Clarence Davis, aged 19, was drowned while swimming in Flax pond, Lynn, Mass. He was seized with cramps.

The waters of Lake Gardner, Amesbury, Mass., claimed a victim when Natros Thornosi, a Greek, aged 19, was drowned while bathing.

While bathing in the Taunton river, Taunton, Mass., James Carpenter, a laborer, 40 years old, got beyond his depth and was drowned.

While swimming in a branch of the Malden river at Malden, Mass., Francis Powell, 18 years old, was seized with cramps and drowned.

Met Instant Death

Leominster, Mass., July 6.—A missile from a cannon killed Edward McLaughlin, aged 42, a laborer, and three young men are under arrest, charged with the shooting. According to the police, McLaughlin was annoyed by the Fourth of July celebrators, some windows of the house having been broken and some revolver shots fired into the mail box at the door. McLaughlin came down stairs to drive the intruders away and had reached the front hall when he was struck and instantly killed by a missile fired from a cannon which had been set up on the front steps.

Church Had Mad Dog Scare

Lynn, Mass., July 6.—Much excitement was caused among the congregation of St. Paul's M. E. church yesterday by the shooting of a dog, supposed to be mad, by a policeman after it had been finally cornered in the pastor's room. The animal had been previously chased from the street through other parts of the church. It finally ran to the pastor's room, where it was killed by three shots from the officer's revolver.

Boston Police Kept Busy

Boston, July 6.—The police made a record in the total number of arrests for any one day by taking into custody 542 persons on July 4. This great increase is ascribed to the orders issued by Police Commissioner O'Meara to the effect that the police should keep the streets free at night from young women who were unescorted, as well as sending home or detaining boys who became disorderly.

Millionaire's Mysterious Death

Lynn, Mass., July 6.—Charles H. Bond, president of Waitt & Bond, Inc., cigar manufacturers of Boston, was found dead in a bathtub at his summer residence at Swampscott. The medical examiner gave the cause of death as drowning, but declined to state whether he believed the drowning was accidental or with suicidal intent. Bond was a millionaire.

Boy Killed and Two Men Hurt

Somerville, Mass., July 6.—Nelson McCleod, aged 9, was struck and killed by a locomotive at the Winter Hill station. Near the same spot Fire Chief Hopkins and Police Captain Ferry were badly hurt when the automobile in which they were responding to a fire was struck by an engine. The advanced age of the two men makes their condition serious.

Won't Accept Reduction

Franklin, N. H., July 6.—A vote not to accept the 10 percent reduction in wages announced by the International Paper company from New York was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the local Papermakers' union and the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers' union. There are about 300 men employed by the company here and all are organized.

Poisoned Himself In Public

Gloucester, Mass., July 6.—Entering the palm gardens of the Hotel Savoy, where hundreds of persons were dining, Patrick S. Bradley of Boston seated himself at a table, drew a poison tablet from his pocket, swallowed it and fell dead. The tablet contained cyanide of potassium. Bradley was about 35 years old.

NOW IN PRISON CELL

Preston Named For President by Socialist Labor Party

AN "HONEST WORKINGMAN"

Has Not Reached Age Required by Constitution For Chief Executive of United States, but It Is Declared That It "Makes No Difference"

New York, July 6.—Candidates for president and vice president of the United States were nominated and a platform was adopted by the national convention of the Socialist Labor party here Sunday. The ticket named is as follows:

For president, Martin R. Preston of Nevada; for vice president, Donald Munroe of Virginia.

The nomination of Preston for president was unanimous and the announcement of the result was received by delegates and audience with wild applause. The candidate was placed in nomination by Daniel De Leon, who characterized the man he was naming as "an honest workingman, not a professional workingman," and added:

"The name of that man is Martin R. Preston, and he is now in jail at Goldfield, Nev. Preston is in jail today for conduct that is honorable and which no workingman should be ashamed of."

De Leon later explained that Preston had been sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment in Nevada for shooting a restaurant keeper in Goldfield three years ago during a strike in which Preston, De Leon asserted, had acted as the protector of defenseless girls and by so doing had enraged a restaurant keeper named Silver. Silver, De Leon added, was shot by Preston while threatening to kill the latter.

De Leon said he knew that Preston had not reached the age which the Constitution says a president of the United States must be, but he declared that made no difference. "It is for the working class to elect Preston," he said, "and if he is elected he will be seated. Constitutions are for the people and not the people for the Constitutions."

A telegram was sent to Preston notifying him of his nomination. Vice Presidential Candidate Munroe was likewise notified and is expected to be present to take part in the meeting for the ratification of the ticket to be held in Cooper Union here tonight.

The platform is identical with the one adopted by the party four years ago, and declares for the substitution of the co-operative commonwealth "for the present state of planless production, industrial war and social disorder."

After empowering the national executive committee to fill vacancies on the ticket, should any occur, the convention adjourned sine die.

Prayed In Vain For Rain

Bari, Italy, July 6.—The long drought, with intense heat, is causing disastrous effects throughout the Apulia region. In the hope of securing rain through divine intercession there was carried in procession through the town the centennial image representing Calvary. Thirty thousand of the faithful participated in the ceremonies, but the rain did not come.

Suicide of Aged Woman

Fall River, Mass., July 6.—Mrs. Laura Peckham, aged 70, committed suicide at her home here by asphyxiation. She was found sitting in a chair close to a gas range, the stop-cocks of which had all been left open. No cause for the deed is known.

Cannon Cracker Killed Cannon

Boston, July 6.—Martin A. Cannon, aged 48, who sustained a compound fracture of the skull as the result of being hit by a cannon cracker he was setting off on the Fourth, died last night as the result of his injuries.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The body of Melvin S. Lown, 16 years old, was found hanging in the loft of his father's barn at Fall River, Mass. No cause for the suicide is known.

James A. Nunn, aged 55, an actor in a stock company, was found dead in his room at a Portland, Me., hotel, with a laudanum bottle beside him, indicating suicide.

Charles A. Goud, aged 63, for a number of years captain of the Portland, Me., fireboat, who subsequently retired from the service of the fire department and had been commanding a small craft in Portland harbor, committed suicide by shooting.

The Italian cruiser Ettore Fieramolca, in command of Admiral Lorrchio, arrived at Philadelphia from Rio Janeiro, after a long cruise in southern waters.

The telegraph cable between Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard Islands, Mass., has been sold by the United States government to private parties.

A monument to the memory of Sergeant Alonzo P. Stinson, the first Portland volunteer killed in the Civil war, was unveiled at Portland, Me.

BIDDLE'S NEW VENTURE.

Society Leader, With His Family, to Explore Canada In Big Automobile.

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia, society leader and clubman, who has already gained laurels as an author, amateur athlete and as a motorist, is about to turn his attention to new fields. Accompanied by his wife, his three children, his chauffeur and a mechanician, he will invade the pathless forests of Canada to explore the country north of the province of Quebec and study the flora and fauna as a representative of the London Geographical society.

His destination will be Labrador, and he will leave Philadelphia about July 15 in a forty horsepower Locomobile touring car. The journey is expected to cover about 4,000 miles, and Mr. Biddle expects to return to Philadelphia in September.

Mr. Biddle, while in the midst of his preparations, discussed with a Philadelphia Press reporter the proposed tour with all his well known enthusiasm and energy. He said:

"We are preparing now for a trip and will start for Canada almost immediately upon our return. We go from Philadelphia direct to Portland, Me., and then across the Canadian border and up to Riviere de Loup, beyond which no automobile has penetrated. Ezra Fitch made this point, and he has placed all the information he had in my hands. After that we will depend on woodcraft and the information I have picked up from other sources. There are no roads, and most of our route will be along paths made by hunters and wild animals."

Here Mr. Biddle opened a small bundle and pulled out a commodious tent of balloon silk; then, with the air of the experienced camper, he opened up a neatly arranged package of aluminium camp utensils, the entire package weighing no more than an ordinary frying pan.

"You see," he continued, "we will have all the equipment in such shape that we can stow everything away in the car. For supplies we will depend to some extent on settlements, traders and on the fish and game. We have figured it all out, in fact, down to what each person will eat on the trip, for we have all been camping before and have made note of these points."

Mr. Biddle expects his scientific researches to be of considerable value. Mrs. Biddle spoke as enthusiastically of the coming trip as did her husband. She looks forward to the hardships from the viewpoint of long experience in camping, shooting and fishing trips with her husband and children.

SOUND PROOF HOME.

Ironmaster to Live In Luxury on Third Floor of Foundry.

In order that he may be always at his place of business and yet enjoy all the comforts of a luxurious home, August Mugler has filed plans for adding a third story to his two story iron manufactory in New York city. The floor will contain a suit of seven luxuriously appointed rooms, which will include a music room and apartments for servants.

As close proximity to the iron works would ordinarily make the place too noisy for comfortable residence, Mr. Mugler has contracted with his architect to make the whole structure sound proof, a feat which can be accomplished by the liberal use of felt layers and wide air spaces. This difficulty having been remedied, there is one more which Mr. Mugler will have to overcome in order to enjoy his new home. This will be the heat.

Realizing that the foundry heat and warm weather combined would not be agreeable, Mr. Mugler plans to have his dwelling artificially cooled by a system of his own devising, which will probably be run by power from the manufactory. It is not yet known just what the system will be. There will be a wide air space between the floor and the ceiling of the manufactory, and this will make the sound proof arrangements, it is thought, very effective.

WOMAN'S TWO SOULS.

May Be Strangers to Each Other, but They Exist, Says College President.

Women have two souls, perhaps more, according to President G. Stanley Hall of Clark university.

He gave this as the explanation of the fickleness of woman, of her "erratic methods of jumping at conclusions and her intuition," in his address on "Psycho-therapeutics" before the graduating class of the College of Physicians and Surgeons the other day at Boston.

"Woman is much more susceptible than man," he said. "There is a good reason for this. We know that she has two or more souls. She may love and hate at the same time and the same person. She may say and think that she is sick or well when the reverse is really true. It means simply that one soul is in the ascendency. These two souls may be absolute strangers to each other, but they certainly exist. We have proved it beyond the shadow of a doubt."

They're Off.

We used to study up each horse,
The record he could clip,
Then pick our choice with due regard
To chart and dream and tip.
And when the ponies got away
What man could look and scoff?
It thrilled the heart to hear the cry
"They're off!"

The anti-gambling bill has passed,
And we shall sin no more,
Nor shall we very deeply care
To steep in equine lore.
Now gone alike the chance to lose
And Fortune's cup to quaff.
To wicked bets a long farewell—
They're off!

What Is The Fresh Air Camp

"What is the Fresh Air Camp of Quincy and Weymouth?"

Some of the citizens of our city, realizing that one-half of the population are vacationless, desired to offer rest, recreation and vacation privileges to all people in this vicinity (Quincy and Weymouth.)

Boston has such an organization, with the Rev. D. W. Waldron, at its head. He has a camp in Maine, where vacations are provided for the otherwise vacationless. The Salvation Army has a Fresh Air Camp at West Newton, which furnishes recreation for little children and their tired mothers.

Browning says, "all good things are ours, nor soul helps flesh more than flesh helps soul." And it has seemed to some of our citizens that a Fresh Air Camp, offering free of charge, rest and recreation and vacation privileges, to one-half of our population, would be a good thing, helping both body and soul.

We hear much of certain social evils; one social evil is the absence in many homes of sufficient relaxation, rest and recreation mfwyp hrdl Fresh Air Camp of Quincy and Weymouth is to try to meet that problem and offer to all people, healthy recreation and rest. Organizations and boys' clubs will be entertained there throughout the month of July, but it is hoped that mothers and children, parents with their families will avail themselves of the privileges of this camp.

Monday's Ledger will tell of the location and shore advantages.

I. O. O. F. PICNIC.

"Lost, a good time if you are not at the third annual picnic at Canobie Lake, N. H.," Puritan lodge of South Braintree is joined in this outing by Wildey lodge of South Weymouth, Mount Wollaston of Quincy, Crescent of East Weymouth, John Hancock of Wollaston, Rising Star of Randolph, and Odd Fellows of many other lodges. All the grand lodge officers are expected to be present. All people who conduct themselves properly are invited to enjoy the picnic on Wednesday, July 15. Dinners can be bought at the lake and those who desire may carry basket lunches. For amusements there will be contests between the lodges, boating, roller skating, etc. The special train will leave North station, Boston at 8.45 and return at 5 o'clock. Go and enjoy yourself.

Slight Fire At Pandora. State Inspectors Here Sunday

Fire broke out in the engine room of the Pandora Park company Sunday evening causing considerable excitement for a few minutes. Box 17 was pulled and the Houghs Neck department arrived on the scene in record breaking time. Fully three thousand people were attracted by the alarm and gathered on Fensmere avenue causing a blockade. The damage amounted to only $100.

Class in ball-room dancing every Tuesday morning from ten to twelve, 12 lessons $4.00, this term only; also class in fancy dancing for the children, Friday morning, ten to twelve, admission 15 cents. At Pandora hall, J. A. Graham, manager. 6t

Friends of Frank Pray are working hard to win for him the launch offered by the Daily Ledger as a prize to the most popular yachtsman. To help Mr. Pray and also give the young people of Houghs Neck a lot of pleasure for very little work. Harry S. Brown of Brown's summer ball-room will accept Ledger votes in place of dance tickets from either boys or girls under the age of 15 years between eight and nine every Monday night, and during the entire session every Wednesday afternoon. Save your votes and give them to the children. This will not only give them lots of pleasure but will help Mr. Pray win the launch.

Franklin G. Saylor had his cottage, the Berkshire, Bay View avenue, decorated very prettily with lanterns and bunting on the Fourth. In the evening Mr. Saylor entertained a lot of friends with a fine display of fireworks.

The State inspectors were at the beach on Sunday, but found everything quiet. They are enforcing the laws relative to the penny vaudeville allowing minors in their places. The law states that no minors are allowed to enter any penny machine houses at any time. This is a black eye to the penny vaudevilles at the Neck.

Mrs. George E. Cooper of Letete, St. George, New Brunswick is visiting Mrs. Rufus Sears of Island avenue, Great hill, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dow of Dorchester are the guests of Mrs. A. M. Turner and Mrs. Rufus Sears of Island avenue, Great hill, for a week.

The Strollers held their first dance at Pandora hall on the night before the Fourth. The hall was packed all night and the affair was a big success.

Presentations to Stewart Cogan

Before leaving for their homes last week the cooks, pantrymen and waiters of the Commissary Department of the Trial Trip Crew of the "Salem" presented their "Chief," James T. Cogan with an elegant seal ring with initials on the seal, and on the inside is engraved "Salem 26.88, presented July1, 1908.

Mr. Cogan has had this crew with him thirty-two days which is an extra long time for a trial. This is Mr. Cogan's twenty-third trial trip for the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, and he says the best.

He was taken by surprise but gamely responded by having all hands assemble in the "Quincy Cafe" on the ship and drink to the success of the "Salem," the Curtis Turbine and the Fore River Shipbuilding Company.

Mr. Cogan was also presented with an 18-inch cowhide Gladstone bag, leather lined, by Admiral Clover and members of the Board of Inspection and Survey who conducted the trials for the government. The warrant officers on the ship also presented him with a solid silver cocktail shaker. All persons on board the ship during the trials expressed their hearty appreciation of the first class manner in which Mr. Cogan conducted the commissary.

Miss Adams, bookeeper for Hardware Supply Co., left Saturday night for Lakeport, Maine, where she will sojourn from duties for a week.

Mrs. John E. Lennon, with son and daughter of Marlboro has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Owen Gibson and sisters of Granite street the past few days.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Miss Lizzie F. Burrill, formerly of this city, and Edward E. Nimeon, at St. Lukes church, Monvobia, California, June 30.

Mrs. Carolyn B. Mellin of Bay View avenue entertained a number of friends of Crescent lodge, D. O. R., of Dorchester, and from this city at her home last week. A very enjoyable time was had by all.

Miss Ruth W. Bean entertained her tennis club Friday evening at her home 167 Atlantic street. The grounds were brilliantly lighted with Japanese lanterns and looked very attractive. A pleasing entertainment was given and the hostess served a collation. At midnight the party went to the playground to see the bonfire.

Thomas Lamb, a detective sergeant of the police department of Detroit, Mich., was in town the Fourth, the guest of his cousin, Thomas J. Lamb of West Quincy. Mr. Lamb was born on Adams street, Quincy in 1850. He left Quincy with his parents when but nine months of age and this is his first visit to his native place. Mr. Lamb has long had the desire to visit the town of his birth, but the opportunity never presented itself until now.

MIDDLETON'S BIG GAIN

The Feature. Of the Day In Motor Boat Voting Contest

Capt. Middleton nearly overtook Capt. Foster today in the Motor Boat contest with a handsome gain of 427 votes. Capt. Foster also adds 100.

The biggest jump of the day, however, was by W. G. Geekie, the promising candidate of the Atlantic Athletic Association. He moved up from No. 87 to No. 8.

Charles Howard, the popular young man at the Fore River, who is manager of the Makaria base ball team, has also passed the 100 mark and moved up from No. 14 to No. 10.

James F. Parker and several others also make good gains.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

BRAINTREE.

Dr. William Gallagher is recovering rapidly from his recent illness and enjoyed a trolley ride to Quincy recently. He expects to go to Chocorua lake, N. H., today for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Amasa Thayer, Mrs. Fred Leonard and Mrs. Susan Wilde will go to Nantasket beach in a few days to spend a week or more. Mr. Thayer's health has very much improved and it is hoped that the salt air will bring back his former good health.

Miss Flora Farquhar of West Quincy, was the guest of Miss Elsie Tonner, Wednesday.

Lillian and George Leighton of South Quincy have been spending the week with their aunt Mrs. Hugh W. Owens, 50 Franklin street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shay of Central street are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Crowley, Mudoch avenue, Quincy Point.

Postmaster Mansfield of Boston was at the South Braintree post office recently, accompanied by Mr. Windsor, superintendent of departments; Mr. Ward, superintendent of stations; Mr. Hammond, superintendent of Quincy post office. They complimented Supt. W. A. Torrey upon the neatness of the South Braintree post office. A large auto conveyed the gentlemen to South Braintree.

Warren H. Foss and family of Hancock street are moving into their new home the Josephus Sampson house opposite the Monatiquot school. Mr. Foss has rented his house to Mrs. Charles Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bradford and daughter Marion have returned to their home on Central street after a two weeks' vacation at Marshfield.

Mrs. Horace R. Drinkwater entertained a few friends Thursday at her home on Park street.

Mr. Henry T. Reed of President road, has resigned his position as superintendent of the Stetson Shoe Co., of South Weymouth, and will go this week to Gardiner, Me., where he will have full charge of the factory of the Commonwealth Shoe & Leather Co., of that place. His family will remain in Braintree for the present.

Mrs. Wilbert E. Welch and sons, Harlow and Wilbert are at Ocean Point, Maine, where they will spend the summer.

Mr. H. M. Gage of Cedar street has been entertaining his brother Mr. Walter Gage, headmaster of Hackley school at Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Starr of Allen street received among their wedding gifts a fine kitchen range, presented by the members of the fire department. Mr. Starr has been a member of the department eleven years.

We are glad to see again the smiling face of Joe Caron, after a three years' absence in the Navy he has traveled all round the world and it is very interesting to hear him relate what he has seen in that time.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wilde and daughter of Braintree left Thursday last for North Weymouth beach where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. A. G. Bowditch of Quincy avenue for nine years regent of the Susannah Tufts Chapter D. A. R., was presented with a Regent's pin (D. A. R.) by two members of the chapter on Thursday afternoon, as a token of the love and appreciation of her associates and in recognition of her faithful and valuable services while regent of the chapter.

Celebration At Atlantic

Adams and Duggan, President Hobbs of the City Council and Councilmen Gilson, Whiton and Cherrington, ex-president Walter E. Piper of the City Council, Dexter E. Wadsworth and Thomas F. Mannex of the Park Commissioners, ex-Councilman Frank E. Badger and the judges of the parade, who were G. A. Gray, William Huff and ex-Councilman Eugene R. Stone.

As soon as the parade had passed, the reviewing party were entertained at breakfast by Councilman Cherrington and ex-Councilman Badger who were assisted by several ladies. Everybody was hungry and the sandwiches, doughnuts, fruit and coffee went to the right spot.

While this was in progress Galen, the old veteran, put in an appearance, and after he had filled up consented to sing one or two of his selections.

Meantime the judges on the parade were making up their list which was as follows:

LADIES' FLOATS.

First—Pink trimmed float representing the Atlantic whist club arranged by Mrs. Alfred Jelinick.

Second—Butterfly float arranged by Mrs. H. D. Gearwar.

Third—Vacation float arranged by William L. Buckley.

Fourth—Columbia on a bicycle with group, arranged by Mrs. McIsaacs.

MEN'S GROUPS.

First—"The spirit of '76," arranged by Eliot Green.

Second—Cow boys and girls, arranged by John Morrison.

MEN'S ORIGINAL.

First—The Trusts, arranged by Walter Bolster.

Second—Scotch caddie lads arranged by William Musgrove.

Third—Bingville village arranged by Miss Helen Green.

MEN'S FUNNIEST.

First—Burlesque of fire department arranged by William Granahan.

Second—Old Sports, arranged by C. M. Duggan.

Third—Hobby horses arranged by Henry VonEmden, Walter Nichols, C. W. Dill, David Moffat.

INDIVIDUALS.

First.—Merry widow in sheath gown arranged by William Rice.

Second.—Farmer and wife.

ORIGINALS.

First.—Ecezeman trotter, Leslie Morton.

Second.—Rocekefeller, Cornelius Regan.

Third.—Belle of Atlantic, Merrill Bill.

FUNNIEST.

First.—Mother wheeling child. by L. F. R. Langelier.

Second.—Bicycle tramp.

Third.—Hobo, Clifford Hill.

The prizes given in the parade were cash.

THE BALL GAME.

The next event of interest was the ball game betweent the Fat and Lean men of the village. This proved very laughable.

The line-up of the two teams was as follows:

Lean men.-F. Kolb, lb; Cherrington, p; Badger, cf; Moir, rf; Cunniff, ss; Langelier, lb; E. Baker, 2b; R. Baker, 3b; Lewis, c.

Fat men.—Barker, rf; Osgood, 3b; O'Neil, c; Hadlock, lf; Clark, lb; Cornish, p; Pierce, 2b; Gill, ss; Wilson, c.

The umpire was Dr. Kolsaith, selected for what he was suposedto know about the game. Ex- Councilman Barker was the first at the bat and got base on balls. Then he wanted to know where the base was and after being told ran around the diamond to the home plate and was surprised when told that the run did not count. Three men were quickly out and the single men came in and made a few runs. It was funny to see those skinny fellows run around the bases led by Councilmen Moir and Cherrington.

Five innings were played and the result was declared to have been a tie as each side had made 16 runs. Others said that this score was wrong and that it should have been 15 1-2 for the lean men. The half run being when Frank Badger was left on second.

There were many amusing incidents connected with this game which unfortunately space does not permit mentioning. Dennis O'Neil, who looks after the streets of Atlantic, made the most runs, five in number, and he was awarded a broom. It is said that he knows how to use it.

DELICIOUS BANANA CREAM.

This recipe is highly recommended by one of our correspondents; try it for desert tomorrow.

Peel five large bananas, rub smooth with five teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add one teacup sweet cream beaten to a stiff froth, then add one 10c. package of Lemon JELL-O dissolved in 1 1-2 teacups boiling water. Pour into mold and when cold garnish with candied cherries. Serve with whipped cream, or any good pudding sauce. JELL-O is sold by all Grocers at 10c. per package.

FIELD SPORTS.

At 10 o'clock there was a series of field sports near the boulevard. The prizes for these events were handsome silver cups. These resulted as follows:

100 yards dash, won by H. Ward, second, A. Arthur.

Sack race, won by Ralph Knapp, second, Mat McClure.

Boys 100 yard dash, won by Mat McClure, second L. Ward.

Shot put, won by John McClure, second P. Duggan, third William Granahan. Distance 29 feet 9 inches.

220 yards dash won by Herbert Ward, second George Nelson.

Running high jump, won by Norman Cook, second Edward Poland, third H. Arthur. Distance 5 feet 2 inches.

Running Broad jump, won by Norman Cook, second Clifford Hill. Distance, 16 feet 4 inches.

Mile run won by Edward Stenberg, second William Geekie.

Water Sports.

The first event in the afternoon was the water sports that were held at 2 o'clock at the foot of Atlantic street, and were witnessed by a large crowd. They resulted as follows:—

Boys' swimming race, won by Rider Gay; second, E. McCarthy.

Girls' swimming race, won by Marion Philips; second, Katherine Burch.

Swimming under water, won by Charles Tobin; second, Harry Wilson.

Fifty yards swimming race won by C. Hallett; second, G. Mellet.

Silver cups were also given as prizes in the water sports.

While these sports were in progress a man was seen to fall overboard from one of the yachts. He sank imediately and did not come to the surface for some time. The cry went around that a man had been drowned, and boats hurried to the spot. It proved a fake, for the man was William Street of the Brookline Water club who had been engaged to give an exhibition of fancy swimming.

During the sports the band gave a concert. There was an occasionable shower but no one seemed to mind it much.

The other water events was the yacht race. This was started at 4 o'clock, and was a seven mile course. There were ten starters and the race was won by the I. X. L. The Zoe entered a protest of the Toss, but later withdrew it. The judges of the race were C. Tobin, F. Johnson and H. Birch. The first prize was a bronze vase and the second a punch bowl.

The summary was as follows:

Name and owner	Actual Time. h. m. s.	Cor'ted Time. h. m. s.

BALL GAME.

The other events of the afternoon was the game of ball on the playground between the Atlantics and the South Quincys which was won by the home team by a score of 5 to 3. Dam formerly of the Worcester New England team pitched for Atlantics and Colligan for South Quincy.

There was also a pleasing entertainment given at Music hall for the children by Dudley Prescott the well known humorist.

FIREWORKS.

The closing event of the day was the grand display of fireworks that was held during the evening in the field at corner of Billings road and Faxon road.

An hour afterwards most of the residents of Atlantic were taking a well-earned sleep. This was especially true of the committee having the celebration in charge. They have worked hard night and day for several weeks and are deserving of great credit for the manner in which the program of the day was corried out.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

The unbounded success of the great Fourth of July parade warrants public expression of gratitude to the prime movers in the provision for such a procession and as regards the Highland costumes for the twenty-four caddies, to the following named ladies is due the praise: Mrs. Briggs, the Misses Maud and Beatrice Briggs, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Charles R. Safford and Mrs. Butler.

Mr. W. A. Musgrave of Plainfield, Conn., who spent the Fourth with his brother on Appleton street, expressed himself as much delighted with the entire arrangement and execution of the day's celebration.

The Celebration At West Quincy

The business men of West Quincy had quite a celebration the night before the Fourth. During the early evening the American band of East Weymouth gave a concert on Cross street between Copeland and Crescent streets, and later in the evening there was a display of fireworks in the vacant lot in from of the store of E. H. Doble & Co. An African dodger also held forth in the neighborhood and was an attraction.

There were crowds of people on the streets but it was an orderly one even if they did make considerable noise. The closing event was the big bonfire on the hill near the depot.

There was a large crowd present all day the Fourth at the field day held at Shawmut park under the auspices of St. Mary's Catholic Total Abstinence society. A mamouth tent had been erected on the grounds where refreshments and tonic were for sale. A band was also present and gave concerts.

The event of the morning was a game of ball between the Bryant A. C. and Rail Reds, the former won by a score of 15 to 9.

During the afternoon there was a series of field sports which resulted as follows:

12-pound shotput—White of Mercersburg academy won, Harrison of Quincy second, Stanton of West Quincy third. Distance 47 feet 10 inches.

220-yard dash—Powers won, McCarthy second, McLaughlin third. Time 23s.

100-yard dash—Powers won, McCarthy second, Hunter, third. Time 10 1-2s.

Broad Jump—McIntire won. Owens second, O'Brien third. Distance 19 ft. 10 in.

Standing three jumps—Sullivan won. Smith second, O'Brien third. Distance 38 ft. 10 in.

Hop step and jump—McIntire won, Sullivan second, Powers third. Distance 45 ft. 1 in.

Hurdle race—Powers won, O'Brien second, Hammond third. Time 16 1-2 s.

There were also two games of ball. The Copelands defeated West Ends by a score of 12 to 10. The batteries were Desmond and Barry; Kolson and Forbes. The score by innings:

In the evening there was a band concert and display of fireworks.

Gala Day For Finnish People

On Sunday afternoon, July 5, on Owens field, off Albetina street, about 200 of our city's Finnish people held a gala day.

That they enjoyed themselves was evidenced by the amount of romping, shouting and hilarious laughter they indulged in.

The game most played was "ayeedabadiula", catching partners, which to be a success requires much fast racing and agile dodging, for the game is one of, catch me if you can, but I shall do my utmost to be caught by the fellow I like best.

The fact that the mercury soared among the 90's did not sizzle out their ardor. Though the sun beat unceasingly down on them, and they sweltered and perspired, taey continued their of apeedabadiula until the arrival of a wagon loaded with good things to eat and drink which they enjoyed without ceremony.

With the advent of the refreshments there arrived several people who announced they had a mission different from that of merry-making on Sunday. Their exhortation and prayers did not seem to impress the picnic makers in the least, for as soon as they had refreshed they were at their games again. So strennous and excited were they at times that several slight accidents occurred. One young lady had her face severely scratched, besides having her beautiful gold watch smatshed.

The shades of night however brought the fun to a close and by 8 o'clock quiet was over the field.

The Night Before Free From Deviltry

The night before the Fourth in Quincy while noisy was a peaceful one. Unusual precaution had been taken by Chief Burrell of the Police department and Chief Williams of the Fire department, and things were kept well in hand. The lid was wide open and there were crowds on the street all night. They made all the noise that they wanted to, but there was an absence of that viciousness that has characterized some "nights before." There was but one bell alarm of fire during the night, and the department was called out but few times on still alarms.

The bell alarm came from Box 63 at 3.15 and was a fire in an unoccupied blacksmith shop on Hancock street, Atlantic. The fire started from the inside and was evidently set. Combination No. 1 went out on a still alarm for a slight fire on Water street, and the Atlantic Combination went out twice on still alarms. Once to put out a fence fire that had been started near the playground, and later to extinguish the embers of the big bonfire on the playground.

Open houses were the rule all over the city, especially at Atlantic. There was practically no drunkenness and the crowd was an orderly one. Chief Burrell had four automobiles in service, but there were only two arrests made the night before. One of these was for drunkenness and the other was of a man carrying a loaded revolver who had been using it in a careless manner

At the fire stations every man was on duty, and Chief Williams had a wagon with men and hose at the places where the big fires were touched off, especially those located near houses. He also sent a wagon with hose to Germantown.

Bonfires were lighted all over the city, and at midnight look in any direction and the sky was illuminated The first big fire was lighted at 10.30. This was on Cranch Hill and it made a bright illumination. At 11 o'clock Mayor Shea applied the torch to the big pile of material on top of the hill back of the West Quincy depot, and then hastened to Atlantic in his automobile to light the fire there.

At midnight fires were lighted on Woodward avenue, Atlantic, South Quincy and at Quincy Point.

The police kept close watch on the fire alarm boxes and saw to it that there were no false alarms. The police and fire service arrangements the "night before" were the best ever, for while young America had about all the liberty he desired the police saw to it that he was kept within proper bounds, and there was no wanton destruction of property.

At Quincy Point the boys put in some hard work for at midnight Charles Hall gig, which has run many a good race with Molly June, was found at the top of the flag pole at Sheppards coal wharf. Some of Mr. Hall's old stoves also went visiting.

PROPOSALS—Sale of U. S. vessels St. Mary's and Shearwater. Sealed proposals will be received at the Navy Department until noon on the 5th day of August, 1908, at which time and place they will be opened, for the purchase of the U. S. S. vessels St. Mary's and Shearwater, appraised values $4,000 and $1,200, respectively. They will be sold for cash to the person or persons or to the corporation or corporations offering the highest price therefor. A separate proposal for each vessel bid upon must be submitted in a sealed envelope addressed to the Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C., endorsed "Proposals for the purchase of the U. S. S. ....." (naming the vessel for which offer is made), and each proposal must be accompanied by a satisfactory certified check for not less than 10 per cent of the amount of the offer. On application to the Navy Department, forms of bids and bonds, together with the terms and conditions of sale, also a printed list giving general information concerning these vessels, will be furnished. The vessels can be examined at any time after this date by applying to the Commandants of the navy yards, New York, N. Y., and Philadelphia, Pa., respectively, where they now lie. They must be removed from the limits of said yards within such reasonable time as may be fixed by the Department. The Department reserves the right to withdraw either or both of the above-named vessels from sale and to reject any or all bids. TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY, Acting Secretary of the Navy, June 30, 1908.

Red Men Entertain At Wollaston

But for the celebration by Hodenosaunee tribe of Red Men, the night before the Fourth, it would have been very quiet at Wollaston, but the warriors were certainly active and hundreds of Wollaston people enjoyed their celebration. The tribe kept open house at their hall on Newport avenue, and entertained with music and refreshments. There was a bountiful supply of sandwiches, crackers, lemonade, punch, olives, pickles, etc.

For the entertainment of those who assembled in the streets a great variety of pictures were thrown by Councilman Gilson, an expert with the stereopticon, upon a screen opposite the hall, which could be seen as well from the depot grounds as the street and hall.

There were patriotic views, flags, prominent men, comic pictures, moving pictures, statistics of the Order of Red Men, scenery, public buildings, and of special interest to Red Men, thirty pictures of real Indians of Lake Huron.

SACHEM WARDWELL.

When the views of the "Holy City" were shown, Joe Dillon sang the solo. The music for the evening was by Dillon's orchestra.

Among the guests of the evening were Mayor Shea, who was enthusiastically greeted; Alexander Gilmore of Malden, the Grand Chief of Records; William Scampton, a Past Great Sachem, and other prominent Red Men.

Much of the success of the evening's enjoyment was due to Sachem George A. Wardwell, and an active committee. Mr. Wardwell has been at the head of the tribe for two terms, and can look with credit upon his work.

HOT REPLY TO BRYAN

Guffey Brands Statements of the Nebraskan as False

MATTERS ARE NOT MINCED

Points Out Candidate's Interference In Other Than National Politics--Denounced as Impudent, Domineering, Devastating Boss--Friend of "Corporation Men" When Money Is Forthcoming

Denver, July 6.—Colonel J. M. Guffey of Pennsylvania, who was on Saturday attacked by Mr. Bryan in a speech at Lincoln, has issued the following statement in reply:

"In the course of his Fourth of July speech to twelve or fifteen out of the sixty-eight delegates from Pennsylvania, Mr. Bryan made certain explicit declarations. He charged that the Pennsylvania delegation was taken from him by 'conspiracy,' against the expressed wish of a great majority of the Democratic voters.

"This statement is false. The state convention voted down a resolution endorsing his candidacy by a substantial majority, and there is no basis whatever for Bryan's assumption that the members of that convention did not accurately represent the voters who had elected them delegates. Mr. Bryan personally forced the issue before the people, when, in flat contradiction of his boasted policy of non-interference, he came to Pittsburg, pleaded his own case before thousands in the Exposition hall, and put his own ticket in the field against the regular candidates. The result of his fervid appeals was the election of 3½ Bryan delegates and 26½ anti-Bryan delegates to the state convention.

"Mr. Bryan further asserted, with all solemnity, that his opposition to me for national committeeman was the first instance of any interference on his part in local or state politics. What, then, was he doing in Kentucky during the last campaign for senator? How does he, or can he, explain his opposition to Mr. McGraw in West Virginia, or his begging appeals to Democrats in Indiana to defeat Mr. Taggart? Did he, or did he not, try to humiliate Roger Sullivan and drive him off the committees? Did he, or did he not, write this letter to his friend, Judge O. P. Thompson of Illinois, on July 17, 1906:

"'Mr. Sullivan's presence on the committee contradicts all that we can say in the party's behalf. His corporate connections would harm the party far beyond his power to aid the organization, but this could be left to some future convention to deal with if he were actually the choice of the Democrats of Illinois.

"'The fact, however, that he holds his office by fraud and against the express wishes of a majority of the state convention, makes it impossible for honest Democrats to associate with him as a member of the committee. If he refuses to resign and thus put his ambition or his business before the party's success, the sooner he is ejected from the committee the better.'

"What kind of 'scrupulous abstention' from interference does Mr. Bryan call that, and what particular brand of hypocrisy is indicated by these salving words uttered by Mr. Bryan at the Iroquois club last December, when he stood up and said:

"'We must forget the past and work for the future. We must forget all and forgive all. For myself I may say I have no grievance. I no longer judge a man by what he has done. The future is everything to me. I want to know what he is going to do in the future.'

"How can we account for this abrupt change from brutal assault to smirking palaver? Had Mr. Sullivan changed? Was not his position held by 'fraud' then as much as in 1906? What had happened so suddenly to make it 'possible' for 'honest Democrats' to associate with him? Simply this, as everybody knows:

"Mr. Bryan wanted the Illinois delegation to the convention, and to accomplish this purpose he did not hesitate an instant to eat his own words.

"Mr. Bryan views me with sanctimonious horror as a 'political boss, who shall never be in the party organization except over my protest'; as 'a bushwhacker who should not be put in my councils to betray me.'

"'My councils,' indeed. Is the Democratic party really absorbed? Has it no councils? Is Mr. Bryan the whole organization? 'Let the people rule,' he shouts, and forthwith pleads to dictate not only every act, every office and every resolution of this convention, but also to put the ban on every man from any state who is opposed to his candidacy or his platform. Does he turn his vituperation against me because I am a boss? Not at all. I am no more of a boss now than I was during the two campaigns when I won his approbation by trying to elect him. The only boss he hates is the boss who is opposed to his own arrogant self—the most impudent, domineering, devastating boss the Democratic party has ever known.

"But there is another reason. I am a corporation man. Well, I am. I was in 1896 and 1900 and am today. But I have been connected with corporations. There is not a dollar in any company which is not an incorporation of my own private business, and which I absolutely control. That, however, makes no difference. I am a 'corporation man,' but it is only when Mr. Bryan is opposed to me that I am considered unworthy of association with the one living 'honest Democrat.' My counsel and my help are no longer desired.

"It was not always so. In 1896 and 1900 the late Senator Jones many times declared there were just three men upon whom he never called for financial assistance in vain. One was the late Marcus Daly, another was William R. Hearst, the third was myself. Through his friend and manager, Mr. Bryan not only accepted gratefully, but beseechingly sought our aid and we gave secretly thousands and thousands of dollars. Mr. Bryan knew then and knows now that I was as much of a 'corporation man' in 1896 and in 1900 as I am in 1908, but did he 'scruple abstemiously' to use our money to help his canvass? Let him answer at his leisure.

"And what followed? After his defeat Mr. Hearst became his patron and paid him thousands of dollars, only to be turned upon with a qualm, though now, when again a candidate, Mr. Bryan fawns upon him in hope of gaining his support. I reap my reward in a vicious, brutal attack from the man who professed to be my friend. Mr. Daly died soon enough not to see the ingratitude of one who accepts a man's assistance and, at the first refusal to serve a selfish purpose, spits in his face."

Allies Are Losing Ground

The chief interest has centered in the movement of the "allies" to galvanize the opposition to Bryan into something like a definite and formidable movement. But their best efforts have not been entirely successful. Chief Murphy of Tammany, on whom the hopes of the "allies" have been centered, will give no sign of committing his forces against Bryan. He is too shrewd a politician for that when the tide seems setting toward Bryan. On the contrary, his lieutenants are passing word around that New York's vote will be for Bryan. However, the allied opposition still contest that the fight will be continued.

The Bryan managers have at no time shown any nervousness over the renewed activities of the "allies," and Mayor Dahlman of Omaha, one of the Bryan chiefs, made a very definite statement showing the expectations of the Bryan forces. He expressed his views as follows:

"Mr. Bryan will be nominated on the first ballot. The Bryan forces now control thirty-six delegations and will have at least that many members of the committee on resolutions and probably more. The platform adopted will be in accordance with Mr. Bryan's personal views and will express his well-known ideas on all of the important political issues.

"Governor Haskell of Oklahoma is now regarded as the leading candidate for the chairmanship of the committee on resolutions, but there are many other prominent men being mentioned for the place. It is needless to say that a loyal Bryan man will be chosen.

"The vice presidential question may be described as being 'in the air.' If the men who call themselves the old guard can unite on a strong eastern Democrat, the Bryan men will not show curiosity as to the attitude of their candidate toward Mr. Bryan in 1896 and 1900. If the eastern Democrats fail to get together on a man, we will make a selection from a hundred available candidates, any one of whom would be satisfactory to Mr. Bryan."

All of the Bryan men express the utmost confidence in their ability to carry out the program outlined by Dahlman.

Delegates Arrive In Force

The arrival of delegations began early Sunday morning and has been going on steadily. Among the many arrivals were the Cook county marching club, uniformed and hilarious, with trim black suits, shining silk hats and natty canes topped with streamers. After them came the rough and ready Oklahomians, true products of the soil, with broad-brimmed sombreros, high boots and the stain of travel. Delegations from Florida, Alabama and Iowa filed through the streets during the morning and later came delegations from South Dakota, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and Minnesota.

The Tammany braves, on several special trains, were anxiously awaited, but word came that they stopped off at Omaha to go to church. They arrived here this morning, about the time that Bryan's home cohorts arrived from Nebraska, including the crack organization from Lincoln, the Commercial Travelers' club, which is to lend vehemence to the Bryan demonstration.

Prepared For Battle

The most aggressive delegation that has yet appeared in Denver are the twenty-two contesting representatives of Cook county, who arrived from Illinois on a special train Sunday. With the delegation came 150 representatives of the Cook county Democracy of that city, headed by a band of forty pieces.

Forming in column at the depot at the foot of Seventeenth street, the delegation marched for an hour through the principal streets, with the band playing patriotic airs and the delegates singing campaign songs, cheering for Bryan and waving flags and banners.

The delegation arrived at their headquarters at the Albany hotel, former in a group in the street in front of the hotel and gave vent to their enthusiasm in songs and cheers. At the lobby of the hotel Judge Prentiss of Chicago, one of the contesting delegates, and the man who will make the principal fight for the delegation before the national committee and the credentials committee, addressed a crowd which completely filled the lobby and corridors of the hotel and spread far out into the street.

The contesting delegation claims twenty-two seats in the national convention, two of which are seats of delegates-at-large. All of the contested districts are in Cook county. The contests are directed against the Roger C. Sullivan faction and is a continuation of the bitter fight that has been raging in Chicago for nearly five years. The fight centres about the place for national committeeman from Illinois now held by Sullivan. If the contesting delegation is seated, Sullivan will be turned down for re-election and Millard F. Dunlop, a close friend of Bryan, will be chosen for the place.

Legal briefs, setting forth the claims of the contestants, have been prepared and will be presented to the national committee.

To Look After Diplomats

John Barrett, director of the bureau of American republics, has reached the city to make arrangements for the entertainment of members of the diplomatic corps who are to attend the convention. It is stated that not as many diplomats will make the trip to Denver as attended the Chicago convention, but that the corps will be represented by seven or eight of its members.

Mr. Barrett went before the national committee today and delivered a message from the British and the French ambassadors, expressing their regret at not being able to attend the convention. Both ambassadors have been obliged to leave the country for their homes to attend to governmental business. Their compliments and regrets are thus to be officially extended to the Democratic party as an evidence that no discrimination was intended, as both diplomats attended the Chicago convention.

A Novel Suggestion

Former Governor Thomas of Colorado, who will represent that state in committee on resolutions in the forthcoming Democratic convention, declared with seriousness that he was for Roosevelt for vice president. "He is by long odds the strongest man we could name," he said, "and I believe that if his name should be presented he would prove a winner, and that if nominated he would accept. I don't see how he could refuse."

Candidate Taft's Visitors

Hot Springs, Va., July 6.—Senator Crane and Representative Lawrence of Massachusetts have arrived here and are the vanguard of the coterie of political leaders who will confer with William H. Taft on political matters, and especially on the question of selecting a chairman and treasurer for the Republican national committee before the meeting of the executive committee next Wednesday.

Home-Made Cannons Bring Death

North Sunderland, Mass., July 6.—Albert H. Abbey, 10 years old, with his two young cousins improvised a small cannon out of the hub of a wagon wheel. They filled the hub with powder, and when Abbey lighted the fuse the whole contrivance burst and a piece of iron pierced the lad's brain. He died within half an hour.

Quincy, Mass., July 6.—Myron Bean, aged 14, was instantly killed by the explosion of a cannon of his own manufacture. Bean filled a section of iron pipe with explosives and when it went off the pipe exploded and a piece of the iron tore through his chest.

Nineteen Innings Without a Run

Newark, N. J., July 6.—One of the most stubbornly contested games ever played between professional clubs was played here between the Newark and Jersey City Eastern league teams. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the nineteenth inning, without a run having been scored by either side. Lafitte, who pitched for Jersey City, held the Newarks down to three hits, while Brockett for Newark allowed his opponents but six singles.

Bishop Potter Clings to Life

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 6.—With each succeeding hour hope brightens for the recovery of Bishop Potter, who is seriously ill from a complication of stomach and liver trouble, and his physicians believe that his improved condition warrants a decided hope for a favorable outcome of the case. While the bishop's improvement is slow, it is apparently constant, and with returning strength it is believed the patient has a good chance to combat his malady.

Two Men Charged With Murder

St. George, Me., July 6.—Arthur Wiley and Ralph Gilmore were held for the grand jury on the charge of murdering William E. Pinkham near his home. Pinkham was returning from a fishing trip when he came upon a party of four men in the woods near his home. Evidence pointed to Wiley and Gilmore as the men who attacked Pinkham, causing his death. The other two men were discharged.

Killed Himself While Asleep

New York, July 6.—Josiah H. Vose, office superintendent of Silver, Burdett & Co., publishers of school supplies of New York and Boston, was found dead with a bullet in his brain at the home of D. W. Brown of White Plains. Vose had suffered from insomnia and somnambulism. The coroner believes that Vose killed himself while dreaming.

Wire Conducted Lightning

Methuen, Mass., July 6.—While sitting near his telephone in the sitting room of his home here, Milton J. Sawyer, aged 45, was struck by lightning and instantly killed during a thunderstorm. The bolt followed the telephone wire into the house and did considerable damage to the interior.

Pittsburg Woman Describes the Value of Beautiful Thoughts.

SAYS SOUL MUST BE REACHED

Miss Margaret Thuma Tells National Dance Experts Why Lofty Ideas Are Pillars of Exquisite Dancing—Quips of Skeptic From St. Joseph, Mo.

Beautiful thoughts! These are the pillars of exquisite dancing. One must possess them before one can properly "Merry Widow" waltz or even buck and wing. This sweet truth was graven the other day in the minds of the delegates to the third session of the twenty-fifth annual convention of the National Association of Dancing Masters which was held in Chicago. Miss Margaret Thuma, a dancing instructor well known in Pittsburg, was the lecturer. She soon proved that the city of smoke is the core of things aesthetic. She drilled her fellows in ways of dancing instruction that few ever dreamed of before. Miss Thuma maintained first and foremost that one must entertain beautiful thoughts before one can do beautiful dances. Then she told them how to have ornate ideas.

Miss Thuma, arrayed in becoming and close fitting black, stood before her auditors in a position statuesque. Her arms slowly and majestically were lifted upward until the limp fingers touched above her pompadour. She calls it a "mental circle." Her eyelids closed dreamily, and in musical accents she delivered her tenet from Pittsburg.

"To dance in a way that is lovely and harmonious one must reach the soul," she said. "The soul responds with its flow of personal magnetism, and it is then registered at the brain, which is, as you must understand, the seat of all intelligence."

"How true!" murmured several feminine hearers.

"Then the mind, or, as I might say, the mental force, gives out this soul feeling," continued Miss Thuma in softer tones. "When this has been done we will have completed the true harmony of the soul."

"Isn't it lovely?" whispered a slender girl to her masculine neighbor.

"Great!" said the man, who represented St. Joseph, Mo.

Miss Thuma, as if in heavenly rapture, went on:

"Force generates different elements in man. Mental force is related to the mind. All spiritual force is related to the heart. But, remember, life force is the inner atmosphere of ourselves. When we have fully cultivated the soul we multiply personal magnetism, although I prefer to call it soul magnetism."

"It must be a help in a barn dance," muttered the man from St. Joseph, Mo.

"I have one line of thought which I call 'A Vision In a Garden Fair,'" said Miss Thuma, all oblivious. "One may imagine one is meeting Apollo in a garden of Eden or one may picture the tete-a-tete of Romeo and Juliet. She is in a balcony, we may conjure, and he calls to her. She is apprised of his presence here. Then it is his heart to hers and finally his lips to hers."

"I wonder if Missouri would stand for it," said the man from St. Joseph.

"I have still other modes of thought which must be absorbed by the dancer," said Miss Thuma. "There is the 'Vision of the Accursed,' in which the reviled one is groping onward, onward in Stygian darkness. Then there is the 'Vision of the Graces,' a kaleidoscope of flitting, blending goddesses, with garlands intwined. All this, my friends, will tend to give you complete control of the centers mental, physical and emotional, and finally you will have attained the true grace of mind."

A patter, a refined and delicate patter, of applause vignetted Miss Thuma's address; then a bunch of the men got up and jigged about to see if their emotional centers had rusted.

Miss Thuma lined up all the other dancing teachers and showed them how to act out the soul stuff. She had them raise their right hands and nod the palms gently to waltz time. Then they were ordered to sway their left hands gently attuned to the piano. Next the forearms were brought into play. Gradually, almost imperceptibly, Miss Thuma coaxed her pupils into motions that grew more and more strenuous. At length the affair became a hopping, dipping, swinging ordeal that was neither soulful nor pleasant for the stout men. Once she had them pose as Mercury. Did you ever see a 200 pounder imitate Mercury?

When it was all finished the party was still in an unsoulful mood. This was proved when Isadore Sampson, the general instructor, proposed to teach them a new ballet step. The men demurred.

"Aw, show us the buck and wing!" they shouted.

And so it came to pass.

Restraining a River.

The Platte river has made trouble for Nebraska railroads ever since the railroads were built. It wanders around over a wide plain with no channel to speak of and is likely to rip out a piece of bridge three or four times a year. The Burlington railroad is just trying a new scheme at Fremont and apparently with great success. Heavy embankments have been built on either side, and all of the water is being forced through one main channel. This scheme is making the river dig a decent bed for itself.

LOCAL AND LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE

Remember: One Fare for the Round Trip—for the message and the answer.

It may cost a little more—but so does the Twentieth Century Limited.

A Chain and Its Links

In telephoning there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service:" 1. The person calling. 2. The operator. 3. The person called.

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

If the person calling fails to consult the catalogue and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitably repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally "there is no one on the line."

Being human the operator—the third link—is liable to err occasionally, but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

If Link No. 1 Gives the Right Number and Calls Distinctly, and Link No. 3 Answers Promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy, or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one of 300,000 telephones in the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Even if he is not a subscriber, you can arrange to have the person desired called to a Pay Station to talk to you.

OUR FLAG.

Its Origin and History Related by Rev. Thomas B. Gregory.

The stars and stripes became the flag of the United States on June 14, 1777. On that day it was resolved by congress that the "flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, and that the Union be thirteen stars, white, in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

The congressional enactment creating Old Glory said nothing concerning the particular form in which the stars should be grouped, and as the circle is the simplest of all figures the circular form naturally became the one in which the stars were arranged.

The national flag continued with thirteen stripes and thirteen stars until Jan. 13, 1795, when congress voted that "after May 1, 1795, the flag of the United States be fifteen stripes, alternate red and white, and that the Union be fifteen stars, white, in a blue field."

Twenty-three years later, April 4, 1818, congress adopted the following resolution:

Be it enacted that from and after the Fourth of July next the flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white, and that the Union be twenty stars, white, in a blue field.

And that on the admission of a new state into the Union one star be added to the flag, and that such addition shall take place on the Fourth of July next succeeding each admission.

Certain members of congress in their patriotic ardor wanted a new stripe for each new state, but Mr. Windover, one of the members from New York, arose in his place and said:

"Mr. Speaker, I am heart and soul in favor of any proposition that will give us a big flag. We are going to be a big people, and we need a correspondingly big flag. But it must not be so big as to be a burden to us. At the rate the United States is now growing if a stripe were added for every new state admitted it would soon be impossible to find a mast or pole tall enough on which to hoist the flag."

Mr. Windover's speech settled the matter, and the limit was drawn at the thirteenth stripe.

The first time the stars and stripes was displayed in battle was at Fort Stanwix, now the city of Rome, Oneida county. Colonel Peter Gansevoort was in command of the fort, and, being surrounded by St. Leger and called upon to surrender, the gallant old colonel replied as follows:

"It is my determined resolution, with the forces under my command, to defend this fort to the last extremity in behalf of the United States, who placed me here to fight for it against all their enemies."

The first salute given by a foreign power to the stars and stripes was in Quiberon bay, on the coast of Brittany.

Paul Jones in the Ranger was cruising in those parts and, coming up with a French admiral, saluted his flag.

The Frenchman returned the salute gun for gun.

Before that event it had been the usage of Europe to salute the flag of a republic with four guns less than were fired in saluting the flag of a crowned potentate, but Jones claimed that Old Glory was the peer of any flag afloat and that in saluting it must get as many guns as it gives.

Glorious old flag! And of every American north, south, east and west the prayer is:

"Long may she wave!"—Rev. Thomas B. Gregory in New York American.

Made Bullets of George III.

When the Declaration of Independence was read by an aid to Washington's army in New York on July 9, 1776, joyful citizens overthrew a statue of George III. and ordered the lead of which it was composed made into bullets to fight the British.

NATHAN HALE, YALE'S HERO.

University Plans to Erect a Monument of Him on Its Campus.

A short time ago a committee of Yale alumni assembled in the studio of William Ordway Partridge in New York to see the newly completed statue of Nathan Hale by that sculptor which the alumni of the institution propose to offer for the campus of the university. The patriot spy is the chief hero of the famous institution of learning at New Haven, and Yale men have long felt that there should be a statue upon the college grounds of an alumnus who did such honor to his alma mater; hence the movement resulting in the execution of this work.

NEW NATHAN HALE STATUE.

Mr. Partridge has studied the subject for ten years and has written a book about the character of Hale and the story of his great sacrifice for country. His statue presents an interesting contrast to that of Frederick W. MacMonnies, which stands near the New York city hall. Neither had any portrait of Hale upon which to work, for none exists. They had to be guided by the descriptions of the hero which have been handed down and by their own conceptions of his appearance and expression.

Each statue has its own special admirers. Hale was twenty-one at the time of his cruel death. Perhaps he seems more boyish in the statue by MacMonnies. Partridge has succeeded well in expressing in the features of his Hale the patriotic fervor of the young enthusiast in the cause of the new nation and his athletic qualities.

The hero was about six feet tall and could put his hand on a fence as high as his head and clear it with a bound. The spot on the Yale campus where he made the famous jump that marked him as the best all around athlete of the college was shown for years after his time. He is said to have possessed not only ideal proportions, but a grace and charm which endeared him to all he met. Yale men are enthusiastic over the manner in which Mr. Partridge has met their ideals in the portrayal of Hale.

Thomas Jefferson's Politeness.

Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, and his eldest grandson were one day riding in a carriage together. They met a slave, who respectfully took off his hat and bowed. The president, according to his invariable custom, returned the salutation by raising his hat. The young man paid no attention to the negro's act of civility. Mr. Jefferson, after a moment's pause, turned a reproachful eye to him and said, "Thomas, do you permit a slave to be more of a gentleman than yourself?"

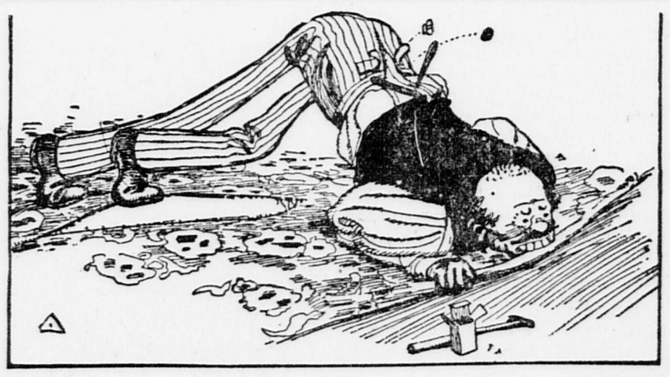

A Capital Fire Balloon.

A fire balloon should be flown as a kite is flown, with string attachment, so that the owner and his friends may enjoy it and not the next county. Much skill can be shown in keeping it close hauled and then giving it slack and finally twitching it so wildly that it burns itself up, thus adding a spectacular climax to its career.

Going to the Dogs.

Dog-on that turtle, anyhow! He's most provoking slow;
If he were up to date he'd learn to use an automo.
Just like some men in business life, he to the dogs is going,
Because he will not ADVERTISE and keep his horn a-blowing.

When father lays the carpet,
He gets right on the job,
And WANT ADS. get there also
When you try 'em on the mob.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

E. Landis Snyder, supervisor of music in the Quincy schools, left for Middleton, Pa., last week for the summer.

Ex-Councilman Eugene R. Stone kept open house the night of the Fourth at his home on River street and entertained a lsrge party of friends. During the evening there was a display of fireworks.

Representative Eugene C. Hultman as usual kept open house at his home on Washington street and entertained many callers during the afternoon and evening. In the evening he had a display of fireworks.

Inspector Goodhue with Officers Thorne, Phillips and Hawthorne raided the fruit stand of Ralph Piazzola on Sea street, Houghs Neck, Friday night and seized two cases of beer. The proprietor was arrested.

Emelio Paul of Boston, formerly of Atlantic, visited Mrs. William Briggs of Appleton street last week. Mr. Paul was warmly welcomed by his old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hall of Milton hill, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Doble, Mrs. William N. Eaton and Miss Grace Eaton of Brookline have taken a cottage at Falmouth on the Cape for the summer.

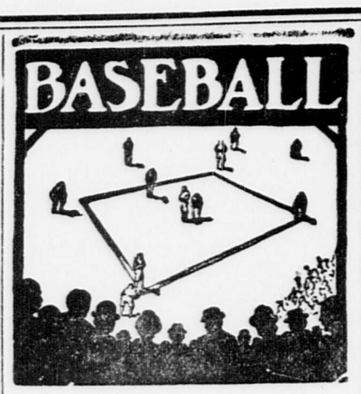

Mrs. Henry Wiliams of Barry street and her son Wiliam T. Williams sailed June 30 on the "Saxonia" for two months' travel through England. Best wishes of their many friends go with them for a pleasant trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kolb of Brooklyn, N. Y., also Mr. and Mrs. Donna Caswell and son of Lawrence, were at the home of their mother in Clive street over the Fourth. Mr. Kolb is chief engineer of the Rapid Transit Railroad.

Following their usual custom the James H. Stetsons, who are settled in their cottage at West Harwich on the Cape for the summer, entertained a large party over the Fourth. Mrs. Stetson writes friends that she has been cool and comfortable since leaving Quincy.

American friends of late Mrs. Craigie "John Oliver Hobbes," will be peased to know tat on July 1st a memorial was unveiled for her at University college, London. Lord Curzon made the presentation, also contributed money for a scholarship to be called the John Oliver Hobbs scholarship. Mrs. Craigie was Boston born. She was a student at the English university where her memory is now honored.

The boys of Foy's corner did their part of rejoicing the night of the Fourth. About nine o'clock they began to pile their bonfire and had it all ready about half past eleven, and from that time on there was a jolly time. Songs were sung and there were many participants. About the time the fire was ready to be started people began to pour in from everywhere and the fire caused a big illumination. Every one conducted themselves in a good manner and all went off merrily.

Makaria 7; Merrymounts 4

Before a crowd of 400 at the park Saturday A. M. Makaria defeated Merrymounts 7 to 4. The feature of the game was the batting of Kolson. Home run in the sixth with one man on base netted 2 runs, Nichols following with a 2-bagger scored on an error, giving Merrymounts a lead of one run in the 6th.

Honey Curtis put the game on ice for Makaria in the 7th with 2 out. Honey put a beautiful single in centre for 2 bases, scoring 2 runs while Bill Smith followed with a single scoring Curtis, an error scored Smith netting Makaria 4 runs.

A feature of the game was the work of Walter Troupe behind the bat for Makaria; it was gilt edged.

Lively Row Several Arrests

There was a lively row on Brooks avenue shortly after midnight this morning during which it is alleged that Charles Salucci aimed a gun at Officer Curtin and threatened to blow his head off. Officer Curtin had his attention called to the Salucci residence by the disturbance they were making.

The officer placed Ernest Perrelli and another man under arrest. While at the box waiting for the wagon one of the men got away.

With the wagon came Officers Cahill, Broberg, Matthews and Phillips Perrelli was loaded into the wagon and the officers started after the man who got away.

The man ran to the house of Salucci, who, it is alleged, shouted to the other men to kill the officers. The men ran into the house and a second afterwards the muzzle of a gun was poked through the window. At this the officers kicked in the door and Officer Curtin rushing in found the gun in the possession of Charles Salucci.

The gun was then aimed at the head of Officer Curtin, who grabbed the muzzle and threw it up into the air, and began to use his night stick. A general mix-up followed, during which Officer Curtin had his clothing badly torn and Officer Broberg had his trousers torn off.

Things were lively for a few minutes for the officers were obliged to use their clubs freely. When the row was over, Charles Salucci had been locked up for disturbing the peace and for assault with a gun and Antonio Salucci for disturbing the peace and threatening assault and David Salucci for disturbing the peace. They were all in court.

ACCIDENT.

A. T. Morris, aged 30 years, who is said to live at 83 Edison park, is at the City Hospital suffering with a concussion of the brain caused by a fall near the Atlantic depot shortly before 6 o'clock, on the Fourth. It is said that he came from Boson on the train, and having refused to pay his fare, the conductor put him off the train. As the train started up he ran after it and tried to get aboard. He slipped and in falling struck his head against the rail. Dr. Peirce was called and the man taken to the hospital in the police ambulance.

ASSAULT.

John Field of 4 Carlmark street was arrested the night of the Fourth for assault on Charles Folsburg of 2 Carlmark street. The assault is said to have been taken place in the field in the rear of the street and was said to have been an unprovoked one. Folsberg got a cut six inches long on the face with a knife. The cut started in below the left eye and ran to the end of the jaw. The injured man was attended by Dr. W. J. McCausland, and Field was locked up.

TODAY'S COURT.

John Field was arraigned for assault with a dangerous weapon on Charles Forsberg at Quincy. He was held in $1000 until July 10.

Dennis F. Crowley was arraigned for assault on Stephen S. Master at Quincy. Case continued until July 11.

Alphonse Mason was fined $25 for exposing his person at Weymouth.

Joseph Mier was fined $5 for violation of the city ordinances of Quincy by carrying a loaded revolver.

Robert N. Burns was fined $10 for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Quincy.

Walter Moe was fined $20 for rescuing a prisoner from an officer at Weymouth.

Oscar Johnson was fined $15 for assault on an officer at Weymouth.

Antonio Salucci was arranged for threatenassault and for disturbing the peace, David Salucci for disturbing the peace, and Ernest Perelli for disturbing the peace, at Quincy. Cases continued umtil July 11.

Frank McVitie was fiued $50 for violation of the liquor law.

Fatal Accident At Atlantic

Just as the water sports were about to commence at Atlantic the afternoon of the Fourth, word was received of the accidental death of Myron W., the 14-year-old son of Leon Bean of 50 Billings street. The young man had taken part in the parade of the morning and was celebrating by exploding torpedos, which were said to have contained dynamite. He stood on the back porch of his home and had an old army musket.

It is said that he placed a number of the caps in the musket and started to explode them with a fire cracker. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion. The young man ran forward for a distance of fifteen feet and dropped. His mother rushing to the door saw her boy lying in the grass. Uttering an agonizing cry she ran to him and gathered him in her arms. Her cries were heard by George Bean who lives near by and he rushed to her assistance.

Realizing that the boy was seriously injured he telephoned for physicians. Doctors Drew and Bruce were soon on hand but the boy was beyond their aid. The gun had exploded and a piece of the metal had penetrated his side cutting a large blood vessel of the lung.

A particularly sad incident connected with the accident was the fact that the father had been called to Springfield that morning by the serious illness of his mother who was in a dying condition.

The Bean boy graduated from the Quincy school last month. He was a particularly bright boy and a general favorite and his untimely death cast a shadow of gloom over the festivities of the day.

Auto Accident.

Early Friday evening an automobile owned by Harry M. Carruthers, of 170 Adams street, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers skidded on Beale street, and brought up against a tree. Mr. Carruthers was giving attention to an oil valve at the time. Mrs. Carruthers was thrown against the bonnet of the car and somewhat bruised but Mr. Carruthers was uninjured. The front of the car was damaged.

Metropolitan Park Commission.

Resolve to authorize and direct the Metropolitan Park Commission to investigate the desirability of constructing a new bridge across the Neponset River between the cities of Boston and Quincy, and of constructing a boulevard in the City of Boston from Columbia Road to Neponset River.

Resolved, that the metropolitan park commission is hereby authorized and directed to iifvestigate the desirability of contsrutcing a new bridge across the Neponset river between the cities of Boston and Quincy at or near the location of the present bridge, and to report the result of the investigations to the next general court not later than the second Monday in January. Said commission shall consider the most suitable location of said bridge with reference to the various uses to which it may be put and also with reference to any existing or proposed boulevard in the vicinity of either approach to said bridge, and make estimates of the expense of said structure and approaches, including the draw required in said bridge; the commission shall also investigate and make a separate report upon the advisability and probable expense of taking and constructing a boulevard in that part of the city of Boston, formerly Dorchester, from Columbia road at a point east of the Plymouth division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to said Neponset river. There may be expended from the treasury of the commonwealth a sum not exceeding twenty-five hundred dollars for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this resolve. (Chap. 141 of Resolves of 1908.)

The Metropolitan Park Commission will hear all persons interested in the matters referred to in the above Resolve at its office in Boston, 14 Beacon Street, Room 507, on Wednesday, July 15, 1908, at 2 o'clock P. M.

By order of the Commission,

HOUGHS NECK LICENSES

The Subject For Debate At Meeting of City Council

Although it was almost hot enough in the City Council chamber to roast eggs, the Council was in session until after 9 o'clock. An effort was made to run through two more permits to transport liquor but was unsuccessful.

The debate of the evening was started when Councilman Bryant offered an order revoking a victuallers license at Houghs Neck. During this debate it was brought out that some of the members of the Council had been playing detective, and they painted things rather black for this resort about which so much has been said this year.

Councilmen Falconer, Freeman, Gelotte and Hogan were absent.

MOTH APPROPRIATION.

A communication was received from the Mayor stating that the apropriation for gypsy and brown tail moth was exhausted, and unless additional money was appropriated work must stop. To Finance Committee.

SCHOOLHOUSE WORK.

A communication was received from the Mayor calling attention to Order 72 which calls for an appropriation for improvement of exits of the school. It was important that this work should be done during the school vacation. To Finance Committee.

SURFACE DRAINAGE.

A communication was received from the Mayor calling attention to order 112 calling for an appropriation for surface drainage of the streets. This was an important work and the Mayor hoped the Council would pass the order at once. To Finance Committee.

UNPAID TAXES.

A communication was received from the City Auditor inclosing a list of persons who had not paid their real estate tax for the year 1906. Placed on file.

NEW BRIDGE.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Metropolitan Park Commission, giving notice of the hearing on a new bridge over the Neponset river. To Committee on Legislature Matters.

PETITIONS.

A petition was received from Herbert Hicks for a concrete sidewalk in front of his premises on Warren avenue. To Executive.

A petition for repairs on Squantum street was referred to the Committee on Streets.

A petition from the Electric Light company was referred to the Committee on Streets.

LICENSES.

Action on applications for permits to transport liquor from H. H. Lowe. Carl Lilja and Maria Monti and from Jacob Wise to collect junk were refused.

Councilman Whiton appealed from the decision of the chair on the H. H. Lowe application. He then withdrew his appeal and moved a suspension of the rules.

The Council refused to suspend the rule that the application might be acted upon.

Councilman Whiton presented a petition that David Silverman be granted a license to collect junk. An order granting the license was adopted later in the evening.

Councilman Welsh presented a petition that Joseph Silver be granted a license to collect junk. Referred to License Committee.

FIRE ORDERS.

The Committee on Fire Department reported a substitute order appropriating $50 for a fire alarm box on the corner of Intervale street and Brooks avenue. Referred to Finance Committee.

The Committee on Fire Department reported ought to pass on the order appropriating $200 for fire nets for the Hook & Ladder companies at West Quincy and Wollaston. Referred to Finance Committee.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Licenses reported an order granting Alphonso G. Williams a license as a private detective. Order adopted. His bond of $3000 was approved.

The Finance Committee reported an order transferring $200 for extra clerical services for the Assessors. Adopted.

The Finance Committee reported an order refunding taxes to T. H. Fahey. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported orders granting the Telephone Co. attachments and locations for poles, and the Electric Light Company locations for poles. Ordered to a second reading.

FIRE STATION.

Councilman Cherrington offered an order for $400 to repair the fire station in Ward Six. Referred to Committee on Fire Department.

POLICE ORDINANCE.

Councilman Beal offered an order amending the Police Ordinance. The amendment reorganizes the department so that there shall be a chief, one captain, two lieutenants, one sergeant, twenty patrolmen, and a reserve force of seven men. Referred to Ordinance Committee.

LICENSE REFUSED.

Upon motion of Councilman Cantfill the application of S. V. Gerdman, to transport liquor, was taken from the table. He then offered an order granting the license.

Councilman Bryant moved reference to the Committee on Licenses. Motion lost, 7 voting yes and 9 no.

On roll call the permit was refused by a vote of 6 in favor and 10 against, as follows:

YES—Bishop, Cantfill, Carey, Moir, Walsh, Whiton—6.

NO—Abele, Beal, Bean, Broughton, Bryant, Cherrington, Curtis, Gilson, McGilvray, Teasdale—10.

ABSENT— Falconer, Ferguson, Freeman, Gelotte, Hogan, Oakes—6.

NOT VOTING—President Hobbs.

CODDINGTON FURNISHINGS.

Councilman Moir offered an order appropriating $5,200 for furnishings for the Coddington school. Referred to Committee on Public Buildings.

GRADE CROSSINGS.

Councilman Bryant offered an order appropriating $1,000 for engineers services on abolition of grade crossings. Referred to Finance Committee.

TRANSFER.

Councilman Bryant offered an order transfering $500 from salary of City Engineer to appropriation for miscellaneous city expenses. Referred to Finance Committee.

Councilman Broughton offered an order for a light on Norfolk street. Referred to Executive.

VICTUALLERS LICENSE.

Councilman Bryant offered an order revoking the victuallers license of L. M. Newton at Houghs Neck.

Councilman Walsh objected The place had all the facilities required by law.

Councilman Bryant—The woman in charge was asked if she had facilities for serving meals and she replied no. She said she sold tonic and hoped to sell potato chips a little later. There was no stove there.

Councilman Walsh declared the place had a stove and all facilities, and there were sandwiches on exhibition.

Councilman Moir said the place had nothing in the line of eatables.

In reply to a question by Councilman Whiton, Chief Burrell said he had visited the place two hours before, and it had all requirements.

Councilman Bean moved the previous question. Motion lost.

Councilman Bryant claimed sixty per cent of the victuallers licensed in the city were running unlawfully.

Councilman Broughton asked if all places at Houghs Neck were equipped.

Chief Burrell replied that as a rule they complied with the law.

A motion to lay on the table prevailed.

Councilman Moir offered an order that the Chief of Police furnish the City Council with a list of all victuallers at Houghs Neck; with full name of each; if they had all things required by law; and if they had signs. Adopted.

Councilman Moir offered an order for the Chief to furnish the Council with a list of places at Houghs Neck which are open for business contrary to law July 12 and July 19 and if any such are prosecuted.

Councilman Moir then rubbed it into Houghs Neck. There were 36 places licensed as victuallers, he said, and many places running without a license.

Councilman Whiton asked if it was the duty of the police to go into places and see if they had a license, to which Chief Burrell replied that it was.

Councilman Gilson moved to strike out the words Houghs Neck and insert in place therefore the words "All sections of the city."

The amendment was adopted.

Councilman Moir claimed much of the unruly element at Houghs Neck was caused by these places being open. If there were no such places the rough crowd would not come. It is for this reason that the Council has to appropriate money for extra police. There were wide open places that had no license and there were disorderly crowds.

Councilman Teasdale thought the last speaker was mistaken about the unruly element. That element was the clubs. The people that patronize these stores are not that element.

Mayor Shea said he could not remain quiet and let the assertions made go unanswered. He must repudiate the statements made. Things do not exist as the gentleman has stated. He was surprised that the Councilman should make statements about disorderly conduct. He has not reported a single case to the Council but has given the place a black eye. It is up to him to make good.

Councilman Moir—It is a well known fact that places are running at Houghs Neck contrary to the law. If these places were closed up there would be no attraction for the bad element. It is the duty of the police to close them up.

Mayor Shea—Houghs Neck is as clean today as any part of the city. It is not fair for the councilman to make the assertions he has made.

Councilman Teasdale believed the gentleman should make specific and not general charges.

Councilman Walsh said he was a resident of Houghs Neck, and as for law and order it was never better than it is at the present time. The police have cleaned out the bad places..

In reply to a statement as to places being closed by the State police, Chief Burrell said places of amusement were under their jurisdiction.

The order was then adopted.

Upon motion of Councilman Moir, Rule 1 was suspended.

Upon motion of Councilman Bryant it was voted when the Council adjourned it be until July 13.

The order granting the Telephone Company attachments was given its second reading and passed.

Adjourned at 9.46 until July 13.

ABOLITION CROSSINGS

Street Railway Counsel Objects To Paying for Improvements

The adjourned hearing on the separation of the grades at the railroad crossings at Saville and Water streets was held in the Council chamber at City Hall at 10 o'clock this morning, before the special commission appointed by the superior court.

Although the air was hot and stuffy in the Council chamber there was quite a large attendance including several ladies.

Mr. Burdett had examined several plans but had no figures. That was the essence of the whole matter. He wanted these before he stated the position of the street railway company.

City Solicitor McAnarney stated that the city's engineer was busy preparing an itemized statement giving land damages and costs by abolition of crossings by city plans.

John Q. A. Field would present the estimates as to cost and damages by his plan at the next hearing. He said it was important to keep as near the ground as possible at Water street. His plan would eliminate the heavy grade. Would like the future of the business at South Quincy considered by the Commission. It would cost thousands of dollars for horses by an overhead bridge.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Moonlight evenings.

Full moon next Monday evening.

The afternoons will decrease twenty minutes before the month is out.

Misses Florence and Marion Howe of Bigelow street left this week for a sojourn in Maine.

The funeral of John Adams of Quincy, the second President of the United States, took place on July 7, 1826.

Miss Josephine Wright and Miss S. E. Graves of Revere road are at the Abbott farm, Kearsarge, New Hampshire.

People having a good back porch out of the sun, and screened from flies are to be envied during these hot days.

On eight days only since the first day of June has the noon temperature of Quincy been below 80 degrees, and on eight it has been above 90.

Since his retirement from business Joseph Whiton has been making many improvements about his pretty estate on Washington street.

In July of 1906 Quincy had no 90 degree temperature—89 being the maximum. Last year the maximum for July was 94, and in 1905 it was 95.

Frank E. Parlin leaves tomorrow for the American Institute of Instruction at Burlington, Vermont, and goes thence to his summer camp at Ashland, N. H.

Officers who are authorized to take care of unlicensed dogs should get busy at Quincy Point where doys without owners are making the nights miserable with their howlings.

Dimock & Patten, builders, are making remarkably quick progress on Miss Prescott's house on Russell park. Electricians, plumbers and furnace men, as well as carpenters have been at work this week and the house is about ready for plastering. It is expected to be ready for occupancy early in September.

Engagement Announced.

At a luncheon given in Utica, New York, July 2, by Mrs. T. Frederick Warnes and Mrs. W. Otto Weiskotten, announcement was made of the engagement of their cousin, Miss Mildred H. Tavender of Boston, and E. D. Lee of Utica. The table was decorated with pink roses, scattered petals adding greatly to the effect. Covers were laid for twelve, the guests being former schoolmates of Miss Tavender.

NEW YORK'S SILENCE

It Knocks the Props From Under Opponents of Bryan

HIS NOMINATION IS ASSURED

Tammany's Chief Held Key Which Might Unloose Powerful Force Against Nebraskan, but Refused to Use It--Guffey and Sullivan Triumph by Securing Re-election--Injunction Plank In Platform Causing Difficulty In Committee

Denver, July 7.—The wave of Bryan sentiment has increased to apparently overwhelming and irresistable proportions, and the nomination of the Nebraskan seems now assured beyond any reasonable doubt unless some unlooked for reversal of present conditions occurs. All efforts to unite on a vice presidential candidate have proved futile, and the convention begun its deliberations today with the contest for second place wide open.

A majority of the Pennsylvania delegation in caucus named James M. Guffey as national committeeman, in open defiance of Bryan's demand for his displacement, and on the heels of Guffey's stinging public arraignment of Bryan as a "hyprocite, ingrate and falsifier." A minority of the Pennsylvania delegation held a rump caucus which sought to depose Guffey from leadership and install James Kerr, a Bryan man, as Pennsylvania leader.

The New York delegation appointed a committee of ten to draft a platform and named Alton B. Parker, the Democratic standard bearer of 1904, as the New York representative on the platform committee. The New York caucus was silent on the presidential and vice presidential situation and New York still fails to show her colors.

The Democratic national committee held its first meeting to consider contests, which resulted in the dismissal of Senator McCarren's New York contests and the seating of Roger Sullivan's Illinois delegates.

Day Crowded With Events

The foregoing are only the main features of an eventful day—a day marked by the culmination of that noisy demonstration which ushers in a national convention, with delegations and their hosts of followers pouring into town, with bands and marching clubs vieing in turbulent demonstrations, and with streets and hotel lobbies filled with surging crowds.

Amid all this confusion the men of action have worked unceasingly. Most of the states effected their organization, electing members of the committees which will serve today. The arrivals have practically completed the roster of state delegations and have gained an idea of the aggregate strength commanded by the Bryan forces. There has been one continuous swelling of the Bryan strength, with only scattering accessions for other candidates.

This has become so apparent that the nomination of Bryan seems assured, not only by the required two-thirds vote of the convention, but by practically a unanimous vote, except that of Minnesota and Delaware, whose representatives still insist they will be steadfast to the end to their favorite sons, and scattering anti-Bryan votes from Georgia, New York, Pennsylvania, Maine and several other localities, a scattering opposition dwarfed by the magnitude of Bryan's total.

Murphy Remains Silent

While this steady tide of Bryan strength has been setting in, the allied opposition have been looking intently but vainly toward New York, for it has been recognized that Chief Murphy, the political genius of the delegation, held a key which might unloose a movement of genuine force against the Nebraskan. With New York taking the lead and throwing its seventy-eight votes against Bryan, Guffey and his Pennsylvania cohorts would have followed suit; Georgia was wavering and likely to turn a block of southern strength away from Bryan, and this, with the organized strength of Johnson and Gray, might have given vitality to the allied opposition.

But all these reckonings have come to naught because of New York's persistent silence. Murphy is neither for Bryan nor against him, and with this leaderless, aimless position, the allied opposition has crumbled to pieces. If Murphy has waited for some one else to take the lead, as is generally believed, he will have the satisfaction of going back to New York with the declaration that it would have been lacking in political sagacity for New York to act against Bryan until the aggregate strength of the opposition was demonstrated to be sufficient to defeat him.

What Might Have Happened

For the first time the allied opposition has disclosed figures showing what might have happened had New York announced at the outset that its seventy-eight votes would be swung against Bryan. According to this table a total of 349 votes, or considerable more than the necessary number to block a Bryan nomination, would have swung into line with New York. The total vote of the convention is 1002, the one-third necessary to prevent a nomination being 334, whereas the allied opposition claimed fifteen in excess of this requirement had New York furnished the rallying point.

A meeting was held late last night of the various anti-Bryan elements, during which the situation was fully canvassed and a practical agreement reached that it was futile to continue the fight in view of New York's inaction.

The heated contest in the Pennsylvania delegation raged around Guffey, but his victory, his enemies claim, is less significant than might appear. The hopes of the Bryan men are centered on the nine contesting delegates from Pennsylvania. As these contestants are Bryan men, they are practically assured of being seated by the Bryan committee on credentials, and, once seated, Guffey's victory may be succeeded by Bryan's final triumph today, according to the calculations of the Bryan men. Against this, however, Guffey secured the signatures of forty Pennsylvania delegates whose seats are uncontested, and who have an undisputed majority of sixty-eight Pennsylvania votes regardless of contest.

Bryan's Wishes Ignored

Against the wishes of Bryan, the Illinois delegation re-elected Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic national committeeman for the state of Illinois, and also chairman of the delegation. They also, against Bryan's wishes, made known to the delegation, elected Samuel Alschuler a member of the committee on resolutions, in place of Edward F. Dunne. Sullivan sought to have the delegation reconsider their action and elect in his stead, as national committeeman, Charles Boenschenstein, but in that he was overruled. The announcement of the election of Sullivan was greeted with vociferous applause.

Resolutions on Cleveland

The appointment of the committees on credentials, rules and permanent organization will be followed today by the presentation of resolutions on the memory of Grover Cleveland. Judge Parker has prepared a new draft of these resolutions, completely eliminating politics and dealing only with the eminent public services of Cleveland. If, however, there is a slightest disposition on the part of any one of Bryan's friends to object to the Parker resolutions, owing to the feeling created by its early provisions, it will not be presented. Today's proceedings will be brief and after the preliminary organization is effected an adjournment will be taken as a mark of respect to Cleveland.

Working on the Platform

Evidences are multiplying that probably the only difficult plank to prepare for the Democratic platform will be that relating to the use of injunctions in industrial disputes. Bryan has let it be known that his position on this plank is not rigid. He has stated clearly that he realizes that there might arise situations where the issuance of an injunction without notice to those enjoined would be the only remedy against loss of life or irreparable damage to property. To meet such cases, Bryan has further indicated that if the resolutions committee could draw a plank which would provide for such emergencies, with the safeguard that this class of injunctions should be self-dissolving after a period of three or five days, the plank would meet his approval.

Work on the platform continues through the medium of an informal subcommittee consisting of Governor Haskell, who is to be chairman of the resolutions committee, and a number of prominent members of the party who will have places on that committee. The plan contemplates telephoning each plank to Bryan at Lincoln as soon as it is agreed upon by the sub-committee. In this manner it will be possible for the sub-committee to present to the full resolutions committee a perfected platform which already has received the approval of the prospective candidate.

The tariff plank has come in for considerable discussion, with the result that this language was put forward tentatively as embodying the position the party should take:

"The Democratic party believes in tariff for revenue only, but, inasmuch as the expense of the government is great, and we are depending largely upon imports for the revenues for running the government, which means the imposition of a tariff, we favor the laying of the tariff duties in such a manner that there shall be no discrimination in behalf of any section of the country or any industry."

Massachusetts Men For Bryan

"Massachusetts will cast her votes for W. J. Bryan," declared John W. Coughlin, the newly selected member of the national committee from Massachusetts, upon the adjournment of that state's caucus. "We have held no conference as to the vice presidency and are leaving that matter in abeyance. Ex-Governor Douglas has said he cannot run and we are proceeding accordingly."

George F. Williams was selected as the state's representative on the convention platform committee. The caucus was quite extended and there was some rather sharp talk, most of it being occasioned by the fact that no Boston man was elected on the various convention committees. The Boston men put the blame for this upon Williams' shoulders.

Humphrey O'Sullivan introduced in the caucus a resolution asking that a plank be inserted in the platform urging King Edward to use his good offices to bring about the legislative freedom of Ireland and a closer relation between all English-speaking people. After some discussion Williams was directed to present the resolution to the platform committee for its disposition.

For three hours the eight members of the Vermont delegation ballotted for national committeeman. The seventy-sixth ballot resulted in the selection of T. H. Brown.

Middleton and Geekie The Favorites Today

Again today the biggest gain in the Motor Boat contest was made by W. P. Middleton, a popular young man at Quincy Point.

W. G. Geekie of Atlantic has again moved up, passing Capt. Haskell of Houghs Neck.

Other gains were made by those below 100, but the list today includes only those with 100 or more. The complete list will be published when space admits.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

Frank Pray, Q. Y. C.	3600
"Bill" Field, W. Y. C., & S. Y. C.	3240
C. C. Foster, Q. Y. C., Board of Trade	2100
W. P. Middleton, Quincy Point	1730
E. F. Drew, S. Y. C. & W. Y. C.	739
Florence Matthews, Houghs Neck	715
W. G. Geekie, A. A. A.,	222
Capt. E. W. Haskell, Houghs Neck	200
Chas. W. Fosdick, Houghs Neck	118
Charles Howard, Makaria,	111
J. E. Johnson, Q. Y. C.	107
F. O. Clark, Q. Y. C.	103
Herbert Robbins, Q. Y. C.,	100
John Lofholm, Gay street	100

"Trial order" blanks for the Daily Ledger will be sent on application at the Ledger office. The paper will be delivered in any part of Quincy, and the subscriber may cast 100 votes for any candidate in the Motor Boat popularity contest.

Country's Conditions Sound

New York, July 7.—Chairman Gary of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, who sailed for Europe today, made a most optimistic statement on business conditions. "The basic conditions of the country are sound," he said. "Multitudes have been thoroughly converted to the doctrine of a 'square deal.' It would be useless for any of us to deny that we have been aroused to a keener appreciation of the old maxim that 'honesty is the best policy.' Full credit will be given to President Roosevelt for the efforts he has made in raising the standard of business conduct."

Boston Continues to Bake

Boston, July 7.—Two deaths and a score of prostrations was the tribute Boston yielded yesterday for its rank among the four hottest cities of the country. While the official thermometer in the comparatively cool heights on top of the federal building registered 91, street thermometers were far above that mark. Among the crowded tenements the suffering was terrible.

Duke Is Seriously Smitten

Naples, July 7.—The Duke of the Abruzzi, who is in command of the battleship Regina Elena, stationed off Gaeta, is in daily communication by means of the cable with Miss Katherine Elkins. The duke employs a motor boat of the battleship to carry his dispatches to land, and it has been making the trip as often as five or six times a day.

Ransom Demanded For Child

New York, July 7.—Every policeman in the greater city is searching for Frances Aligno, 3 years old, who, they believe, has been spirited away by Black Hand agents and is being held for ransom. The parents of the girl received a letter informing them that Frances would be restored to them upon payment of $400.

Farman Captures Æroplane Prize

Paris, July 7.—Henry Farman won the prize of $2000 for the first aeroplanist who remained in the air for fifteen minutes. Farman succeeded in remaining in the air for twenty minutes, twenty seconds, covering a distance of 18 kilometres in that time.

Funds to Entertain Athletes

London, July 7.—The efforts of The Daily Mail, directed towards raising a fund for the entertainment of the visiting athletes who are to take part in the Olympic games, have met with a large measure of success, $37,500 having been subscribed.

Bishop Potter May Recover

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 7.—Bishop Potter has continued to improve, notwithstanding the extreme heat, and confidence of his recovery from the present attack is growing. His son and son-in-law left for New York last night.

Hostilities Nipped In the Bud

Washington, July 7.—Senor Ugarte, the Honduran minister in Washington, has received advices which, to him, indicate that the projected hostilities against his country by Guatemala and Salvador have been prevented.

NEWS IN BRIEF

George Harrington, a stableman at the country residence of Alfred G. Vanderbilt at Portsmouth, R. I., was drowned while bathing at Sandy Point beach.

Postmaster General Meyer, who was made somewhat ill several days ago by eating unwholesome food, has entirely recovered.

The cotton mills of the Naushon company at Valley Falls, R. I., have shut down for two weeks. The mills employ 400 hands.

Minneapolis has been selected as the next meeting place of the National Young People's Christian Union of the Universalist church in 1909.

PROMISE OF PEARY

Will Go Further North Than Any Previous Explorer

MAY EVEN REACH THE POLE

Explorer and His Wife Lunch With President Roosevelt Prior to Departure For Sydney--Arctic Craft Is Given a Generous Send-Off

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 7.—With the Peary Arctic club pennant fluttering from her main truck and flying the Stars and Stripes at her mizzen, the Arctic exploration steamer Roosevelt left her pier at New York, carrying Commander Robert E. Peary, who is to head another expedition in quest of the North Pole.

The Roosevelt, accompanied by a government tug, proceeded to a point near City Island, where she anchored for the night to permit the adjustment of her compasses, and today the steamer came to Oyster Bay, where President Roosevelt boarded her to bid good bye to her commander and crew. The Roosevelt then headed for Sydney, C. B., where she will stop to take on coal.

Before the ship left New York Peary expressed the hope of reaching the northern goal before his return. "I have done too much work in the Arctic regions," he said, "to believe that I can make the pole without strenuous work. I am not foolish enough to say that I am going to do or die, but I am certainly going to put into this trip every bit of energy—mental, moral and physical—that I have, in order to succeed in my undertaking.

"I know my path will be hedged in by many trials and undoubtedly many disappointments, but I feel confident that if I do not reach the Pole itself, at least I will carry the American flag further north than it has been carried by any previous explorer. Unless unforeseen circumstances intervene within the next year, I hope to plant the Stars and Stripes at the Pole."

The Roosevelt swung out into the East river a few minutes after 1 o'clock. A crowd on the pier cheered good-bye while the whistles of the river craft joined in the farewell. All the way up East river and into the sound, the Roosevelt was greeted by salutes of steamers. The whistle of the president's yacht Mayflower, which was passed at anchor on the way up-sound, volumed forth a salute, while the jackies aboard lined the rails and cheered.

On board the Roosevelt, in addition to Peary and his wife and their children, Marie and Robert E., Jr., were a number of members of the Peary Arctic club. Peary did not remain with his ship last night, but went back on a private yacht to the city, while the majority of the party returned on the government tug.

Commander and Mrs. Peary lunched with President and Mrs. Roosevelt today at Oyster Bay. After the luncheon President Roosevelt went aboard the ship bearing his name to inspect her and to bid her commander and crew Godspeed on the journey. Peary returned to New York and will join his ship at Sydney.

Among those who will go as assistants to Peary are Donald McMillan of Maine, a graduate of Bowdoin college; George Borup of the Sheffield Scientific school; Dr. J. W. Kensall of New Kensington, Pa., the surgeon of the party, and Ross G. Marvin, a professor at Cornell university. Marvin was with Peary on his last expedition.

The crew was kept busy up to the hour of departure stowing away stores in the hold, including large quantities of books and magazines and a billiard table. Just before leaving twenty-one Bibles were received aboard, the gift of the New York Bible society.

The Daughters of the Revolution presented to Peary a peace flag, with the request that he carry it with him to the pole "as a shield and buckler against all disaster."

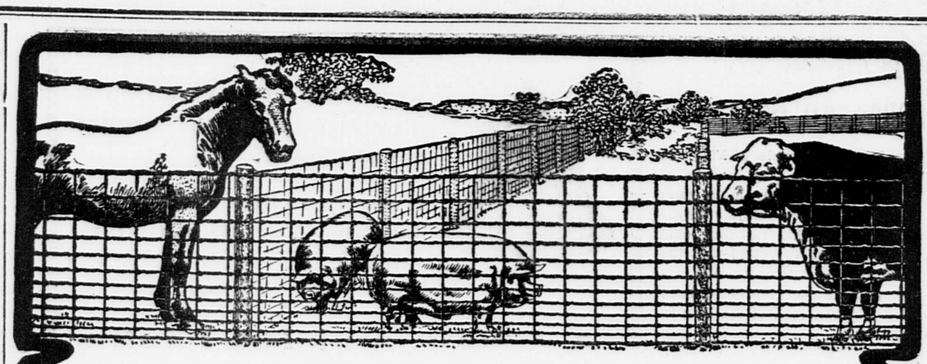

Captain Bartlett, Peary's sailing master, said that the Roosevelt would be at 80 degrees in August. "We will pick up our collier at Sydney and put on lifeboats and some extra rigging," he said. "From Sydney we go to Hawks Harbor and take on twenty-five tons of whalemeat and then cross Davis straits to Holstanberg, following up the coast to Cape York. At Etaw we pick up Eskimos and leave everything but the bare necessities. We are to leave the ship only when we are forced to leave her, probably at the north coast of Grant Land. From there sledges will carry us northward to the Pole."

Paraguay Settles Down

Montevideo, July 7.—A dispatch from Asuncion says that peace has been apparently restored in Paraguay. Emilio Neveiro, who was appointed president by the victorious revolutionary party, has assumed control of affairs and the representatives of the foreign powers have interceded successfully in behalf of the former ministers.

Sentenced For $75,000 Embezzlement

Port Huron, Mich., July 7.—William L. Wilson, who embezzled more than $75,000 of the funds of the United Home Protectors' Fraternity, with headquarters in this city, was sentenced to a term of not less than 2½ years nor more than five years. Wilson's shortage resulted in wrecking the fraternity.

DIED FOR HIS COMRADE

Eight-Year-Old Boy Drowned In Effort to Save Another

Middleboro, Mass., July 7.—In a vain attempt to rescue his chum, Kenneth Sturtevant, aged 7 years, from drowning in the Nemasket river, into which he had fallen while fishing from a rock, Albert Kelley, 8 years old, lost his own life. This is the conclusion the police and medical examiners reached when the bodies of the two boys were pulled out of the river with grappling irons.

The lads, who were inseparable companions, started off to fish yesterday afternoon after dinner, the last time they were seen alive. When suppertime came the fathers of both boys, becoming anxious over their long absence from home, organized a searching party to hunt for the boys. When it was learned that the lads had been seen fishing from the rock a general alarm was sent out, and just at sundown the body of Kelley was found, but the body of the other victim was not recovered until 10 o'clock last night. At the point where the bodies were recovered the water is only six feet deep.

Police May Have Blundered

Philadelphia, July 7.—Though the police pretend to believe that Frederick Gies, Jr., arrested as a suspect in the case, knows something about the murder of Dr. William H. Wilson of this city, who died after drinking a bottle of ale containing cyanide of potassium, developments tend to show that the authorities have blundered in the matter and that Gies finds himself in his embarrassing position as the result of his efforts to protect the name of his young wife.

Complaint of Sailormen

Washington, July 7.—A request from the commanding officer of the naval academy practice squadron was received at the navigation bureau, asking that the squadron's base be changed from New London to Newport, because of alleged discrimination against the sailormen of the vessels by certain amusement places at New London on account of their uniform. The request has been taken under consideration.

A Heat-Stricken City

New York, July 7.—Insofar as it was able, New York's tenement house population slept out of doors last night. After a day whose scorching heat had struck down fully four score of the greater city's dwellers and had directly or indirectly caused the death of twelve persons, the densely populated East Side sections, as night settled down oppressively, emptied themselves out into every space available.

Mounted Police After Fanatics

Winnipeg, Man., July 7.—A detachment of twenty royal northwest mounted police started for Pierson, Man., twenty-five miles north of the Dakota boundary line, where a large party of armed religious fanatics are camping. The leader says he is Jesus Christ and that his wife is the Virgin Mary. They are bound to join the Doukhobors in Saskatchewan.

Danish Diplomatic Change

Copenhagen, July 7.—Constantin Brun, the Danish minister to the United States, is to be transferred from Washington to London to succeed F. E. De Bille, who retires from the diplomatic service. Count Von Moltke, the minister to Italy, whose wife was a daughter of Nathaniel Thayer of Boston, will succeed Brun at Washington.

Reuf Furnishes $1,560,000 Bail

San Francisco, July 7.—Abram Reuf was released from the county jail last night on bonds aggregating $1,560,000. This sum is the aggregate bail on seventy-eight indictments charging Reuf with bribing the former board of supervisors in connection with the granting of franchises to public corporations.

Latonia Club Suspends Racing

Cincinnati, July 7.—The Latonia Jockey Club directors decided to end the spring meeting after today's performance. The club has been losing money since the start of the meeting and the officers deemed it unwise to run out the last ten days allotted them by the state racing commission.

Fair Play an Easy Winner

Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., July 7.—The spring meeting of the Coney Island Jockey club came to a close with the running of the Lawrence Realization stakes, worth $17,860 to the winner, which resulted in an easy victory for August Belmont's Fair Play.

De Sagan's Wedding Day

London, July 7.—Prince De Sagan announces that his marriage to Mme. Gould will take place today before a registrar and that the civil marriage will be followed by a religious ceremony in the Lutheran church.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Mrs. C. F. Derby, Carl R. Derby and Miss Belle Curtis are at Nantucket.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hopkins of Freeman street are at Halifax, Mass., for the summer.

Miss Nancy Fulton of Briggs street spent the week-end with friends in Harvard, Mass.

Miss Lydia Hennigar of Safford street has accepted a position with the Quincy Electric Light & Power Company.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Horton of Marlboro street, are in Greenbush, Mass., where they have taken a cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Tower of Cohasset were in Atlantic over the week end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Hall of Newbury avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook of Somerville were guests of Mrs. Cook's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hill of Walker street over the Fourth.

A new granite block crossing is being put in between Bethany church and Pettengill's jewelry store, to better accommodate Chestnut street people.

George W. Glover of Lincoln avenue has gone on a business trip through New York and Connecticut, Mrs. Glover and daughter Gladys accompanied him to New York, where they will visit Mrs. George A. Fisher of New Rochelle for two weeks.

The funeral services of Oscar A. Johnson, who was instantly killed at the quarry of Field & Wilde yesterday, will be held from his late residence 26 Deldorf street, on Wednesday afternoon at half past two.

The funeral of Myron Bean of Billings street, who accidentally shot himself July 4th, with a cannon of his own manufacture, will be held at his late residence, 140 Billings street this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

On each of the remaining days this week opportunities will be offered to secure a house lot at the Paul Wild terrace. Two cellars are now going on this property, which is delightfully situated off Washington street.

The Atlantic fleet is scheduled to sail today from San Francisco for Honolulu. The Vermont, built at Quincy, is in the first division, and the New Jersey and Rhode Island, built at Quincy, in the second division.

At 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, the temperature stayed at 92 degrees in Atlantic. This temperature was taken at three different points, all of which were shady, and varied between 91 and 93. This is the highest record of the summer.

Mrs. Henry Kolseth of Walker street, who intended to leave last week for Manchester, N. H., was prevailed upon by her friends to remain in Atlantic over the Fourth. She left Monday for Cambridge to make a short visit with relatives before her New Hampshire trip.

The house which Dr. Hunting is building on the south side of Whitney road, for Mr. and Mrs. Ela, is well along toward completion and this week ground was broken on the north side of Whitney road for another house which he will build for Mr. and Mrs. John D. Buckingham. There is considerable building this year through this section of the city from Russell park down through the Barker estate.

New Arrivals At Houghs Neck

The alarm from Box 19 at 11.29 this noon was for a slight fire in a house at Rock Island owned by a Mr. Glover. The fire was caused by an oil stove taking fire. The damage was slight.

Every cottage is let for the summer. The real estate agents say that they are getting more money for cottages then they received last year. There is a steady stream of furniture wagons every day on Sea street. The terrific heat of the city is driving the people to the beach.

Captain Joseph Kenny of the Boston fire department and family are at the Alberta cottage on Bird street for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson and family of Campello have leased the Aftercabin cottage on Centre road for the summer months.

The Alice Finch cottage is occupied by Olaf Nickerson and family for the summer months.

Walter Murphy and family are at the Prince Arthur cottage on Charles street.

Frank Clark and family are occupying the Merrimac cottage on Rogers street. Mr. Clark comes from Dorchester.

James Splaine and family of Boston are at the Sky-Lark cottage on Rogers street for the months of July and August.

Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Clark are at the Lombardy Inn on Turner street for a month.

Charles A. Lind and family are at the Fairmount cottage on Turner street for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Powers and family are at the Laura cottage on Turner street.

Frank O. Tapper and family of Brockton are at the Moffitt cottage on Darrow street for a few weeks.

Signor Omero Castellucci is playing a weeks' engagement at the Sea Street Dream. Signor Castellucci has a refined musical act. He is drawing a big house.

Class in ball-room dancing every Tuesday morning from ten to twelve, 12 lessons $4.00, this term only; also class in fancy dancing for the children, Friday morning, ten to twelve, admission 15 cents. At Pandora hall, J. A. Graham, manager. 6t

If you do not get your Daily Ledger regularly please notify your news agent. It is not an easy task to start 100 new subscribers in one week at Houghs

A. F. Baird says that he would refuse the nomination for the office of president of the Houghs Neck Associates if it was offered to him. This will be bad news to his many friends. He would make a fine head for the Associates, being honest, progressive and unselfish.

The Yannigans bowl the Night Owls in the Houghs Neck bowling league tonight at Brown's bowling alleys. This will be a hard fought match, both being near the head of the league.

Jerry Horrigan is a guest at the Pilot cottage on the water front. Mr. Horrigan is quite a fisherman, one day recently caught the largest cod that has ever been caught in Quincy bay. It took three men to land the fish into the boat after he had hooked it. When weighed the fish tipped the scales at forty-one pounds.

It was Frank Pray night at Brown's summer ball-room Monday evening. The children under the age of fifteen were allowed to dance on Ledger coupons instead of the regular dance tickets. A number of votes were taken in for the benifit of Mr. Pray.

A free ticket will be given to every one paying admission to the Sea street theatre Friday evening. The ticket will entitle the bearer to one free trip to Nantasket Point on the Houghs Neck steamer. The ticket will be good to use going or returning.

Friends of Frank Pray are working hard to win for him the launch offered by the Daily Ledger as a prize to the most popular yachtsman. To help Mr. Pray and also give the young people of Houghs Neck a lot of pleasure for very little work. Harry S. Brown of Brown's summer ball-room will accept Ledger votes in place of dance tickets from either boys or girls under the age of 15 years between eight and nine every Monday night, and during the entire session every Wednesday afternoon. Save your votes and give them to the children. This will not only give them lots of pleasure but will help Mr. Pray win the launch.

Several thermometers today registered over 100 degrees in the shade. It is the hottest day of the year, and the city is sweltering.

—Save the broken lens; we can match it. We grind them at 1473 Hancock st., Quincy. You may watch the operation. Williams Tel. 279-3.

Gypsy Moth Money All Gone

There is considerable kicking in various parts of the city because of the neglect of the gypsy moth gang during the past few days. Mayor Shea, when seen this morning, said that he very much regretted that the appropriation for this work was exhausted, and he had therefore been obliged to discharge all of the men in that department.

He further said that he had called the attention of the City Council to this matter three weeks ago, and again at its meeting this week in the following communication, but that body had taken no action.

Quincy, July 6, 1908.

Gentlemen of the Council:

I desire to call your attention to the fact that the appropriation for the suppression of the gypsy and brown tail moths is exhausted, and unless an additional appropriation is made this work must be immediately discontinued. This matter should receive your immediate attention.

Yours truly,
(Signed.) Wm. T. Shea, Mayor.

Continuing Mayor Shea said, that complaints were coming to him from all parts of the city, but he could do nothing. The appropriation had been used up and he had been obliged to discharge all men.

A Chain and Its Links

In telephoning there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service:" 1. The person calling. 2. The operator. 3. The person called.

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

If the person calling fails to consult the catalogue and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitably repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally "there is no one on the line."

Being human the operator—the third link—is liable to err occasionally, but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

If Link No. 1 Gives the Right Number and Calls Distinctly, and Link No. 3 Answers Promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy, or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one of 300 000 telephones in the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Even if he is not a subscriber, you can arrange to have the person desired called to a Pay Station to talk to you.

Fresh Air Camp.

This is the second of a series of articles on the Fresh Air Camp of Quincy and Weymouth. Yesterday we were told what the camp was for; today we are to answer the question—"Where is the Fresh Air Camp of Quincy and Weymouth?"

This Camp is located in North Weymouth on the easterly side of Fore river, where it flows into Quincy bay. From its sightly elevation, one may look up Town river and Fore river and out toward Germantown point, Hull point, Rock Island cove, Racoon island, the Quincy Yacht club, Quincy bay and Boston harbor.

The camp has about half a mile of shore privilege, with facilities for bathing, boating, base ball, claming, fishing, shade and shelter, rest and recreation.

The camp is open during July for clubs and organizations to use, sleeping in the tents, now up on the hillside. The camp is open each day during July for family parties, desirous of such privileges as it has to offer free of charge. Individuals and picnic parties coming for the day provide their own food usually bringing it with them. Competent and experienced individuals are at the camp day and night.

The camp is within a five-cent fare of all parts of Quincy and Weymouth. Parties coming by trolley get off at Bay View street, North, Weymouth and look for the big sign, indicating the direction of the camp.

Several family parties are daily visiting the camp, near Bay View street, North Weymouth, bringing their lunch and enjoying a restful day at the shore.

The campers there this week are as follows: Herbert L. Johnson of Quincy, Ralph and John Talbot of South Weymouth, A. R. Atwood, Stewart Foster, Fred Ward, Harold Hayden, Joseph Lincoln, Harold Neil, Irving Hayden, Charles French, James Waddell, Louie French, Charles Bailey, William French, and Samuel Melville of Quincy Point, John Wood of East Weymouth, the East Weymouth band and Mr. McLocke and family of Wollaston.

Monday evening the campers were entertained by musical selections from the French orchestra. All are enjoying the outing.

Grand Opera Free at Paragon.

At first glance this sounds preposterous for grand opera is usually considered an exceedingly expensive form of entertainment. Yet strange though it is, 'tis true, for at Paragon, the peerless "Park De Luxe" at Nantasket beach, Manager George A. Dodge is now providing his patrons with genuine grand opera given by an organization of recognized high standing—and what is still more interesting he is giving it as a free attraction.

The climax of enterprise in summer amusement was reached last Sunday night when Manager Dodge booked for a limited engagement at Paragon Park, beginning Monday, Floryn's Belgian Grand Opera Band of forty Musicians, under the leadership of the famous conductor, Roman F. Cras, and their company of grand opera stars, headed by the famous Belgian prima donna, Mme. Frery. The week previous this organization had been creating a veritable furor at the Majestic theatre, Boston, and it is easy to understand that the cost of securing such an organization for a summer park attraction has been simply enormous.

Abolition of Grade Crossings

Haven R. R. had no estimates of cost or damages for abolition by its plan.

Mr. McAnarney offered a profile plan of the railroad through Quincy, showing the present grade of railroad, also the proposed grade line under the city plan for abolition. The track depression now at Water street was three and eight-tenths feet. The grade of Water street by plan of city made practically a three per cent. grade on each side of the bridge. The expense for construction at Quincy Adams was $120,000.

Engineer Breed, the city expert, said Saville and Water streets were entirely separate. The land damage at Water street would be one of individual cases, raising places in some cases, moving them back in other cases and abolishing them all together in others.

Counsel Burdett for the street railway asked if the widening of Water street was a necessity or was in the nature of an improvement.

Mr. Breed replied it would be necessary in order that teams might turn.

Mr. Burdett—The widening is for the purpose of accommodating the heavy teaming.

Mr. Breed—More room was needed as there was a steeper grade.

Mr. Burdett—Is it not that the widening is a public improvement, and not because of abolishing grade.

Mr. Breed—In a nature it is. The abolishing of the grade is a public improvement.

Mr. Burdett—If Water street was left at present width, under your scheme of abolition, would it not be practical for use?

Mr. Breed—From information obtained from granite men it would be impossible to turn heavy teams unless street was widened.

The kind of traffic on Water street is peculiar. At times teams of twenty horses use it. The change of grade would necessitate raising buildings and the widening is but little more expense.

Mr. Burdett—Should not the widening be charged to public improvement.

Mr. Breed—I think widening absolutely necessary, and it would also be an improvement.

Mr. Allen asked as to the distance grade of Granite street would be raised under the bridge.

Mr. Breed—Under the railroad the grade would be raised 20 feet. Would be 3 1-2 per cent. grade to Hancock street.

E. J. Parker—Could not the bridge be paved?

Mr. Breed—Our idea is to make it asphalt. No one would think of putting paving on the bridge. The railroad maintain bridges over their crossings. The bridge could be designed to use pavings.

In reply to further questions, Mr. Breed said that he was not sure asphalt would be satisfactory. If not, brick or wooden blocks could be used.

G. B. Bates asked if he considered Water street at 45 feet insufficient for two tracks. Mr. Breed replied Yes. He also said the proposed bridge would be all right for two tracks.

Mr. McAnarney—I did not know that everybody was waiting for the city. Did not understand why it was so.

At this time the hearing was adjourned until Saturday, Sept. 26.

LOCAL AND LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE

Remember: One Fare for the Round Trip—for the message and the answer.

It may cost a little more—but so does the Twentieth Century Limited.

A Chain and Its Links

In telephoning there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service:" 1. The person calling. 2. The operator. 3. The person called.

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

If the person calling fails to consult the catalogue and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitably repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally "there is no one on the line."

Being human the operator—the third link—is liable to err occasionally, but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

If Link No. 1 Gives the Right Number and Calls Distinctly, and Link No. 3 Answers Promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy, or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one of 300 000 telephones in the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Even if he is not a subscriber, you can arrange to have the person desired called to a Pay Station to talk to you.

ANCIENT FAITH

Rev. Clattenburg Writes of the Pan Anglican Congress Doings

Paris, June 18, 1908.

Editors Daily Ledger:

I thought you might like to hear something about the Pan Anglican Congress from one who was a member of it, and perhaps would be glad to give your readers a bit of first hand news.

The great Congress of bishops, priests, laymen and laywomen of the branch of the Catholic Church designated by the name, The Anglican Communion, held its opening meeting in Westminister Abbey at 12 M. on Wednesday, June 15. The whole abbey was crowded to the doors by the delegates and members of the congress. In no church building in the United States can one feel the antiquity of our Faith as it felt under the roof of Westminster Abbey. Instead of worshipping in buildings built since Henry the VIII's day, as we must do in the United States, here we worship in churches built and consecrated to God's service long years before Henry the VIII lived. One feels that it is not necessary to pay homage to the Roman part of the church to belong to the One, Holy, Catholic and Apostolic church.

The opening service of the Congress was simple and highly impressive. Only those connected with the Abbey took part in it. It was a service of intercession. Prayers were made for every section of the Congress. That each group of laymen might find out the things that made for peace and harmony, and the welfare of God's Holy church. Everyone came out from that service with a determination to lose self in the desire to do all that could be done to fulfil the mission of the church.

The following morning saw each group of delegates and members facing the questions that had called them together. It was so arranged that seven different sections met at the same hour. The section that I was elected to attend gave up all of its time to the consideration of the Anglican Communion. The Bishop of Gibraltar was the permanent chairman of this section. He had previously writen a paper on the subject. The week's discusion was to follow the lines laid down in that. From the very start this section was interesting and instructive. All such questions as the union of all christians, the care of foreigners abroad, the care of foreigners at home, the racial bishopric in question, were considered.

The chairman, Bishop Collins, though the youngest bishop in the church of England, was the exponent of the highest purpose and the sanest judgment to be found on the floor of the Congress. His perfect knowledge of history made him competent to sum up the day's argument so ably that many of the oldest bishops of the church came to our section merely to hear his words. He made my heart glad when he told me that it was his purpose to come to the United States some time soon. He assured me that he would spend a part of his time in and near Boston.

It is certain that his personality made it more easy for the Holy Spirit of God to work in the hearts of every member of section F of the Congress. If the same spirit prevailed as surely in all the other sections of the Congress, we may look for definite and far reaching results from the Pan-Anglican Congress.

The grand closing service was held in St. Paul's Cathedral, Wednesday, June 24, at 12 M. Seats were provided for every delegate and regular member. The service was conducted by the Cathedral staff, but the procession was made imposing by the addition of the Lord Mayor of London with his suite, about 200 bishops of the church in their convocation robes, and ending with the Lord Bishop of London and chaplains, and the Archbishop of Canterbury with his chaplains. While the Litany was chanted by priests and choir this solemn procession filed to seats in the choir stalls. It was a grand sight. it also witnessed to the antiquity of our faith. The archbishop of Canterbury being a living thing from 597, when it was held by Augustine.

The music for this grand service was ably aided by an orchestra. The choir sang the Te Deum as though the notes were original to each singer. The same could be said of the anthem.

The address was delivered by the Archbishop of Canterbury. He himself said he was not going to preach a sermon. He in a few words, struck the keynote of the final service. It was one of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for all that He has allowed our branch of the church to do, and also for all that the Anglican Communion was to be permitted to do in the future. A thank offering was given from every diocese in communion with the Anglican church.

Those of us who were permitted to see the great gathering in St. Paul's regretted very much that the church in the United States could not take a greater share in the offering part of the service. May we in our respective places in this world, show forth our thankfulness to God by a life given up to His service. I am,

Faithfully Yours,
A. Edwin Clattenburg.

Swims Hull Gut.

A Boston daily reports that Willard E. Wilbur, an employe of the Nantasket Steamboat Company, working at Pemberton pier, accomplished the feat of swimming across Hull Gut on Tuesday. The distance is only about three-quarters of a mile, but it is one of the worst places in the harbor for swimmers on account of the currents. Wilbur crossed in 15 minutes and was pretty well exhausted at the end. He was followed across in a motor boat by Carl Jones and James Douglas.

—One of the Boston stores has decided to close all day Saturday during the summer instead of at noon as formerly. A movement especially appreciated by the employes this hot weather.

Another interesting letter from John Evans of Copeland street appears on one of the inside pages today. He finds it necessary to wear an overcoat in Scotland.

—We examine in our dark-room with modern instruments. If we find disease we send you to a reliable oculist. Williams 1473 Hancock street.

TIDE IS SWEEPING ON

A Seemingly Overwhelming Current Toward Bryan

GRAY FOR A RUNNING MATE

Reference to Bryan by Temporary Chairman Brings Forth a Great Demonstration--Cleveland Remembered In Resolutions--Turning Down of Guffey by Convention Officers May Supply Anti-Bryan Men With a Common Rallying Ground

Denver, July 8.—With cheers from ten thousand throats, with the swell of political oratory and the inspiring spectacle of a vast multitude of people, the Democratic national convention began its deliberations. The session, lasting a little over two hours, was notable for its impressive magnitude and spectacular effects rather than for the business accomplished.

It gave, however, the opportunity for the awakening echoes of convention enthusiasm, the keynote speech of the temporary presiding officer, Theodore A. Bell of California, a heated skirmish incidental to the contest in the Pennsylvania delegation, and finally a unanimous tribute of homage and respect to the memory of the late Grover Cleveland.

But the enthusiasm of the opening session was comparatively brief, intermittent and tempestuous, without that long sustained and frenzied clamor which is still reserved for the future.

The day was devoted chiefly to the primary formalities, and the committees appointed are now at work perfecting the permanent organization to be presented today. Meantime, the convention hosts chafe over the two days' delay which must intervene before their great purpose is accomplished—the nomination of a presidential candidate.

The tide of Bryan sentiment sweeps on, gathering force as it proceeds, and the chorus of "Bryan, Bryan," is well nigh universal. With it is a steadily swelling undercurrent for the nomination of George Gray of Delaware as vice president, and this movement, at first intangible, has now assumed a definiteness which promises to merge it soon with the seemingly overwhelming current moving toward Bryan.

The opponents of Bryan are still seeking to unite their strength against him, with the hope of ultimately accomplishing his defeat.

Convention Formally Opened

It was a stirring scene which spread before Chairman Taggart when, with uplifted gavel, he sought to bring order out of the confused babel of sound and motion. The splendid amphitheatre was packed to its utmost limits with a dense and seething mass of humanity. Below, in the central arena, sat the delegates, just two more than an even thousand, and back of them the one thousand alternates—these two thousand the real convention, with the destinies of the party in their hands. Flanking them and sweeping around the hall were the long lines of onlookers, rising tier on tier and gallery on gallery, solid masses, the brightness of the women in the gay costumes vieing with the splendors of Old Glory which hung at every hand.

The initial outburst of enthusiasm came just as the session was opening, when a silken banner bearing the portrait of Bryan was displayed. Immediately there was a storm of wild applause, which died away after half a minute of explosive demonstrations. The appearance of the temporary presiding officer, Mr. Bell, was another signal for an enthusiastic outburst. In strong, far-carrying voice and easy gesture, he delivered the opening address, with resounding passages on the righting of public wrongs, punctuated with yells as some phase tickled the fancy of the throngs. It was noticeable that great applause came from the delegates at Bell's impassioned declaration that the writ of injunction shall not be turned into an instrument of oppression. Again there was uproarious applause as he arraigned "Republican campaign contributions without a cash register."

After referring to Taft as a "bisected candidate" and demanding "but one man in the White House at a time," he adroitly turned his speech in a panegyric for Mr. Bryan, the reference to the Nebraska leader bringing forth a tumultuous demonstration.

Guffey Forces Wrathful

The appointment of committees was quickly disposed of. For a moment the Pennsylvania row threatened to throw the assembly into wild confusion. That state presented two sets of officers representing the two contesting factions. Ollie James of Kentucky, voicing the Bryan sentiment, endeavored to refer the fight to the credentials committee. Against this, Colonel Guffey and his lieutenants sought to interpose a protest. But it was of no avail. For a time pandemonium prevailed. And then the smooth running machinery consigned the question to the credentials committee, where Bryan's adherents are supreme, and the Guffey forces retired, full of wrath and disgust.

Resolutions on Cleveland

The presentation of resolutions of respect to the memory of Cleveland brought to the front two notable figures, Alton B. Parker of New York, the Democratic candidate of four years ago, and former Governor Francis of Missouri, one of the surviving members of the Cleveland cabinet. The resolutions as adopted emanated from Bryan's friends and were presented by I. J. Dunn of Nebraska, who will make the nominating speech for Bryan.

They were no sooner read than shouts of "Parker, Parker," showed the generous temper of the convention towards the former leader. Parker was prevailed upon to mount the platform, where, with resonant voice, he read his own resolutions of tribute to Cleveland, closing with a tactful concession to the Bryan forces by seconding the resolutions presented by them. Governor Francis' tribute to his former chief breathed the spirit of personal association and deep admiration. With the adoption of the resolutions the convention adjourned until noon today.

New York's Seventy-Eight Votes

The New York delegation will hold its third caucus of convention week this afternoon to reach a long-delayed decision as to which candidate for the presidential nomination shall receive the big block of seventy-eight votes from the Empire state. The caucus will be called by Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany Hall and chairman of the delegation.

CHARLES F. MURPHY.

The adherents of Bryan still claim that New York will vote for the Nebraskan, while the opposing forces are hopeful that the decision may help them in their effort to block a nomination on the first ballot. Murphy maintains the same sphinx-like silence which has characterized his attitude ever since his arrival in Denver. A spirit of conciliation, it is said, still pervades the Tammany delegation.

Test of Anti-Bryan Strength

The possibility of a revolt by delegates not in sympathy with the Bryan control of the Democratic national convention against the parliamentary practices employed by officers of the convention yesterday in sending the Pennsylvania controversy to the committee on credentials is the one hope left to the allied opposition to Bryan's nomination. This opposition is proceeding on the belief that the committee on credentials will report against the contested delegates from Philadelphia in favor of the election of Guffey for national committeeman, in which event a minority report will be made.

The first test of anti-Bryan strength, therefore, will occur over the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials and it promises to be the bitterest of the convention. Should it be decided against the Bryan men, some of whom have announced a purpose to "retaliate" the Pennsylvania leader out of the party in accordance with the expressed wish of the Nebraska candidate, unquestionably it will encourage the opposition to Bryan to renew efforts to defeat him for the presidential nomination.

Rallying Ground Supplied

No sooner had the convention adjourned yesterday than the anti-Bryan men began to gather to discuss the situation. At several of these informal conferences the consensus of opinion was that the Guffey-Bryan fight furnished an issue on which the anti-Bryan men could take their stand and supplied the rallying ground that has been needed in order to concentrate their forces. It was asserted by anti-Bryan men that the refusal of Temporary Chairman Bell to recognize the demand of Guffey men for a rollcall on the question of sending the Pennsylvania case to the credentials committee has brought to them many recruits, and that these, added to the force that has been against Bryan on all other points, promises victory for Guffey today. On the other hand, the Bryan men claim to have Guffey's scalp already dangling at the belt of their leader and declare that they are not worried in the least.

Much is being made by the Guffey men of the differences which Bryan has had with such men as Roger Sullivan of Illinois, John T. McGraw of West Virginia, certain of the Democratic leaders of Texas, Tennessee, Wisconsin and other states. They profess to believe that the delegations from these states are anxious to administer a rebuke to Bryan for his alleged interference with the state delegations in selecting their representatives in the convention after the states themselves had declared in favor of the Nebraskan.

Should the anti-Bryan men prove to be correct in their estimate of the situation, Bryan without doubt will be defeated in his attempt to overturn Guffey in Pennsylvania.

A Convention Issue

It is conceded that should Guffey be defeated, which would be the result of seating the anti-Guffey delegation from Philadelphia, that would end the opposition to Bryan and all of the fighting practically would be taken out of the anti-Bryan men. The Nebraskan's friends then will be given a clear road to the adoption of whatever character of platform they favor, and no showing whatever would be made against him for the nomination for first place on the ticket. Should the Bryan men be so disposed they could dictate also the nomination of the vice presidency.

Gossip over the candidates for the vice presidency has been completely overshadowed by other events and there is little change in the situation. There are nearly a hundred men in the field. Such leaders as find time to give attention to the vice presidential situation seem to think that the Bryan-Guffey issue having become a national convention issue that there is little hope left of the nomination of a conservative eastern Democrat on the ticket with Bryan. The feeling is that there is such grave danger of the alienation of the conservative wing of the party that no man representing that wing would consent to being named.

Hobson's "Inside Information"

Immediately after being called to order at 5:30 o'clock the platform committee of the convention proceeded to carry out the wishes of Bryan by electing Governor Haskell of Oklahoma as permanent chairman. The committee then decided to entrust the details of the preparation of the platform to a sub-committee of seventeen members to be appointed by the chair, but before these appointments were announced the full committee listened to arguments in support of various planks which will be offered for adoption.

The first of the hearings was on the subject of the improvement of the inland waterways, and on this subject arguments were made by Congressman Ramsdell of Louisiana, president of the recent national rivers and harbors congress; H. T. Clarke of Omaha and Governor Broward of Florida.

Congressman Hobson of Alabama presented a plea for the increase of the navy, and in doing so declared that this country is in imminent danger of war with Japan. He predicted that this war would take place during the next presidential administration and, believing that the Democratic party will then be in power, he said that if it did not make preparations by additions to the navy the party will be ground to powder. He declared that Japan is covetous, not of the Philippines alone, but of Hawaii and our own Pacific coast country. Regarding Japan as a great fighting machine, he said that it was absolutely necessary that proper preparations should be made to guard us against that power. Hobson said that he based his statements on inside information.

Shock Too Much For Him

Cincinnati, July 8.—Less than an hour after Fred Singleton was asked to sign an affidavit charging the man Evans, or West, arrested in Boston, with the murder of his father, Squire Fred Singleton of Newport, Ky., the young man was seized with convulsions and soon afterward died. It is believed that the shock caused by recalling to mind the fate of his father is the sole cause of the death.

Honduras Has a War

Washington, July 8.—Confirmatory news of the occupation of Gracias, Honduras, by a hostile force has come to the state department. It is believed that the movement is largely the work of bandits, which, unless it assumes more formidable proportions, will soon be put down. The Hondurans are somewhat concerned about the safety of Amapala, their only port on the Pacific coast.

Shamrock Wins Lipton Cup

New York, July 8.—Frederick W. Thompson's eighty-four-foot yacht Shamrock won the $1000 Lipton cup offered for the 325-mile race from New York to Cape May and return, and Captain Barr, her skipper, has added another victory to his string. The Shamrock beat her nearest competitor, the Tammany, by about five hours' elapsed time.

Potter on Road to Recovery

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 8.—Notwithstanding the intense heat, Bishop Potter, who is suffering from liver and stomach trouble, continues to improve and there is every reason to believe that he may recover, now that the crisis of his malady has passed. His physicians feel that he may be considered practically out of danger.

Hitchcock Will Be Chairman

Hot Springs, Va., July 8.—The executive committee of the Republican national committee will meet here today and from the present indications there will only be a brief session, at which Frank H. Hitchcock will be elected chairman and Representative McKinley of Illinois will be made treasurer of the national committee.

To Battle With Tuberculosis

Albany, July 8.—The campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis in this state, carried on during the winter and spring under the auspices of the state department of health, in co-operation with the State Charities Aid society, will be renewed next month, when tuberculosis exhibitions will be shown at county fairs.

Anna Gould Joined to De Sagan

London, July 8.—Mme. Anna Gould and Prince Helie de Sagan were married at a registry office in Henrietta street. A subsequent ceremony was conducted at the French Protestant church on Soho square. There was no secrecy about the wedding.

PRESIDENT PLEASED

With His Family He Inspects Peary's Arctic Steamer

CONFIDENCE IN EXPLORER

Thinks Purpose Will Be Accomplished This Time If It Is Possible to Do So and Wishes All Hands Good Luck In Their Hunt For Pole

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 8.—"My! My! What a fine ship!" remarked President Roosevelt as he approached in a launch the staunch Arctic steamer Roosevelt, lying at anchor near the president's yacht Sylph in Oyster Bay harbor yesterday afternoon. Commander Peary, U. S. N., the Arctic explorer, who was at his side, agreed with the president and thanked him for the compliment.

It was shortly after 3 o'clock when the Sylph's launch Gleam steamed to the Roosevelt. On board the little craft were President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Commander and Mrs. Peary, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Roosevelt, Quentin Roosevelt, several guests and Lieutenant Commander Williams of the Sylph. President Roosevelt was the first to scramble up the Roosevelt's ladder and over her side rail. Then came Commander Peary. They assisted the women aboard and the inspection of the exploring craft began. Captain Bartlett of the Roosevelt and Secretary Bridgman of the Peary Arctic club received them on board. In another launch came the president's other sons, Kermit and Archie, accompanied by several boys.

The Roosevelt had arrived in the harbor at 11 in the forenoon and Captain Bartlett immediately dressed the ship in honor of the visit of the president. Every available boat in the harbor was pressed into service by persons desiring to see the Roosevelt and when the president's party went aboard the water about the ship was crowded with pleasure craft.

Commander Peary introduced the president and others to the members of the expedition and to his daughter, Marie Peary, and his 4-year-old son, Robert E. Peary, Jr., both of whom will accompany the Roosevelt as far as Sydney, C. B.

Captain Bartlett made apologies to the president for the appearance of the Roosevelt, saying she did not quite come up to the standard of the United States navy. "Don't care what she looks like, captain," remarked Mr. Roosevelt, "it's what she does."

Commander Peary then escorted the party into the deckhouse and to his cabin. There they saw many books, a piano and mechanical player and a phonograph. The explorer told them that from these things the members of the expedition would derive great amusement during the trip, beside entertaining the natives of the far north with them. The visitors then inspected Bartlett's quarters. The president insisted upon going down the ladder into the engine room and seeing everything there was to be seen.

Climbing upon the forecastle deck, the president found the crew of the Roosevelt lined up. He was introduced to each individually. As he gripped successively the hands of the sailors, he said something different to each.

Commander Peary said his last good-bye to the president as he was about to go over the side to the Gleam. "Inasmuch as I cannot go along with you myself," said the president, "all I can do is to wish that all good luck may go with you. I feel confident that you will get there this time if it is possible to do so; if you don't, do the best you can. Good-bye."

Captain Bartlett, shaking hands with the president and bidding him farewell, said: "Its ninety or nothing—the North Pole or bust this time, Mr. President."

The president laughed and cried out to Bartlett and his men: "Good-bye, captain, good-bye boys; good luck to you all. I believe you'll get there this time."

When all of the president's party were safely in the launch it darted away to the Sagamore Hill pier. Commander Peary, accompanied by Mrs. Peary and Bridgman, took another launch to the town and boarded the train for New York.

While the party was walking from Sagamore Hill to the pier, Quentin Roosevelt picked up a four-leaf clover. He walked up to Peary and presented it to him, saying it would bring him good luck. The explorer carefully put the clover away in a memorandum book.

The Roosevelt weighed anchor at 5:30 p. m. and steamed out of the harbor. She will stop at New Bedford, Mass., and then proceed to Sydney, C. B., where Peary and several other members of the expedition will rejoin the ship.

CITY OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace Of Two Burial Place Of Two

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors. When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col. John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grandfather of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck, comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponsit river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural momuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb, reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7, 1744 and many other notable people.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Appropriation Long Delayed

The communication of Mayor Shea to the City Council, on school improvement work was timely. All such appropriation should be made before the summer vacation of the schools begin. The letter reads:

"I wish to call your attention to order 72, which calls for an appropriation for the improvement of the means of exit in case of fire in the public school buildings. I note that it was read on the 6th of April, but it has not yet been passed. It is important that this work should be done, and it can be done with greater despatch and economy during the vacation season.

"I respectfully ask that you make an appropriation for the above purpose at once."

TODAY'S COURT.

William H. White, James L. White, Hans O. Christianson, Henry O. Woods, Levi Johnson, Nils Nelson and Zadie D. Cutting were fined $10 each for digging clams in forbidden flats.

George L. Shirmer was fined $10 for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Milton.

Frank J. Novak was sent to the State farm for being a vagrant at Milton.

Abraham Ginsberg was arraigned for larceny at Quincy. Case continued until Friday.

Security For Your Live Stock

of every kind, and for your fields of growing crops, is what you want, and what you have a right to expect, when you buy fence. A fence that a bull can break through or break down is not worth paying good money for. You want weight in the fence you buy, weight enough to turn the heaviest Percheron or stop a "devil wagon." Now, it is a fact—and you should know it—that, per running rod, you obtain the most weight in wire that is given in any fence, in the celebrated

AMERICAN FENCE

It is made on purpose to be the heaviest, most durable and lasting of any fence at any price. It is made and sold in larger quantities than any other two fences in the world, solely on its merits.

The makers of AMERICAN FENCE own and operate their own iron mines and furnaces, their own wire mills and six immense fence factories. Their product is the acknowledged

Engagements At Fresh Air Camp

The Fresh Air Camp was officially opened July 1 when there was a flag-raising and when several tents, accommodating from four to fourteen persons each, were erected. These tents will be occupied during July, by boys' clubs from the various churches and organizations in and about Quincy and Weymouth somewhat as follows:

July 1-6—Visitors, friends and attendants.

July 6-12—Boys' clubs from Weymouth Heights, Quincy Point, South Weymouth, Quincy, etc.

July 13-18—Young men's organizations from Rockland.

July 20-30—Boys' organizations from Weymouth; Choir Boys, etc.

July 6, 13, 20 and 27—Grapaphone concerts and round table talks.

July 8-22—Children from Little Wanderers Home, Boston.

This program is subject to change. There is room for still other organizations and accommodations will be made for all who apply to G. W. Gragg, Quincy Point, secretary of the Fresh Air Camp Association.

Sub-Carriers Anxious.

The sub-carriers connected with the Newton post office are considerably wrought up over the change brought about by the consolidation of that office with the Boston office. The sub-carriers there claim that by the consolidation they are set back a hundred places in the line of promotion.

The same conditions that exists in Newton also exists in Quincy, but according to Supt. Hammond of the Quincy office, the sub-carriers are better off than before.

As it is now, under the consolidation, the sub-carriers of all the Boston offices are classed together. This means there are more opportunities for promotion, and instead of a man who is at the bottom of the list in Quincy having to wait at least five years for his promotion, the chances are that he will get a promotion in two years, thus saving at least two or three years.

When promoted he may be assigned to any of the offices in the Boston district.

Estimates Wanted.

But little progress was made at the grade crossing hearing before the special commission on Tuesday. A number of different plans have been presented to the commissioners by different individuals. Before the Commission will give them much consideration, however, they must file an estimate of cost of construction and for land damages.

None of these parties have done so as yet, although J. Q. A. Field told the commissioners at the hearing on Tuesday he would have his ready at the next hearing.

City Solicitor McAnarney told the commissioners that the city was hard at work getting the estimates of land damages by the city plans and he could not understand why everybody seemed to be waiting for the city.

Even the railroad has submitted no estimates as yet. It is pretty safe to say that the commissioners will not spend much time considering any plan where esimates of cost of construction and land damages do not accompany it.

New Fall River Steamship.

The size and magnificence of the new Commonwealth of the Fall River Line entitle this craft to be classed as a steamship instead of a steamboat. New York-bound passengers who take passage on this craft will be impressed with the good taste and luxury which are the dominating characteristics of the new vessel. Excess or garishness in adornment have been carefully avoided.

It is easy to believe that every detail of the decoration and furnishing of the Commonwealth has been conceived by an artist. The steamer is a striking example of what taste and money can accomplish. Take the grand saloon for instance. The decoration here is Venetian Gothic, and it is probably the finest example of decorative art ever placed in a steamboat interior. The Boston man who has travelled on Sound Line steamers has a real surprise in store for him when he views the magnificent apartment.

Hultman After Jenney's Place

Practical Politics says Representative Eugene C. Hultman of Quincy is an avowed candidate for Senator Charles F. Jenney's place in the upper branch. The learned and judicial member from Hyde Park has served the customary two terms, but is a candidate for a third term and the presidency of the senate.

Some senators become candidates for an extra term in the senate in order that they may have a try at the presidency, while others become candidates for the presidency in order that they may secure an extra term in the senate. Senator Jenney is credited with an honest belief that he has a chance of being elected president. Mr. Hultman frankly states that he would not oppose Jenney's candidacy for a third term did he believe that the Hyde Park man would stand the slightest chance of winning the presidency should he go back.

Two terms for a senator has been the invariable rule in the First Norfolk district, and it is upon the two-term issue that Representative Hultman is going to make his campaign. Albert A. Brackett of Milton was the last senator from the district who tried for a third nomination and he was beaten in the convention by Edward B. Nevin of Weymouth.

The Quincy man has become extremely popular during his three years in the house and the contest between he and Senator Jenney should be a warm one. The result may have an important bearing on the contest for president of the senate. The district is comprised of the city of Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Canton, Holbrook, Hyde Park, Milton, Randolph and Weymouth.

BELL BEGINS BATTLE

Speech of Temporary Chairman of Denver Convention.

SUMMARIZES CRITICAL ISSUES

Addressing Great Assemblage of Democratic Delegates, the Eloquent Californian Announces the Principles For Which the Democracy Will Fight.

Theodore A. Bell of California, temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention, addressing the delegates assembled at Denver, summed up the issues of the coming campaign as follows:

We have assembled at a time when the public conscience is demanding honesty of purpose in the men who undertake to direct the affairs of state. The public eye is keenly sensitive to every political movement, and our proceedings here will be approved according to the degree of sincerity appearing in the work of this convention. There is a widespread belief, founded upon evidence of a convincing character, that the party in power has not been true to its trust, that it has betrayed the common interest into the hands of the enemies of good government, thereby forfeiting its right and destroying its ability to rule in the name of the people.

Apparent to every one is the fact that way down deep in the heart of the Republican convention at Chicago there was a feeling of anger and resentment over the popular clamor for reforms, and it is equally apparent that there is no bona fide intention on the part of the Republican party of granting any reforms if the machinery of that party can be retained in present hands. Its paper platform, divided like ancient Gaul into three parts—barren promises, makeshifts and evasions—it is hoped will make a good campaign transparency, but no one seriously believes the Republican party indorses that neutral manuscript which held the convention together until it could ratify the nomination of a presidential candidate.

Duties of the Democracy.

There are three things that this convention should do. It ought to present in a plain and intelligible manner the serious industrial and present conditions that are disturbing the peace and happiness of our country. We should then proceed to a courageous exposure of the Republican policies that are co-operating with private greed in the general oppression of the people. Most important of all, we must exhibit a readiness and an ability to grasp the problems of the hour and to effect their solution in a manner that will satisfy the sober, common sense of the multitudes whose interests are at stake.

Among the great evils that afflict the country at the present time is the abuse of corporate power. At first the advancing aggressions of the corporations are not discernable to the common eye, for every move is carefully covered up until sufficient political strength is attained to defy the protests of the people. Thus the constant and insidious invasion of the people's rights finally results in a species of arrogance and defiance so formidable in its appearance that the body of the people, in fear of even worse aggressions, hesitate to exercise their rightful authority over these colossal enemies of the commonwealth. And so we behold a subversion of our free institutions, a government voluntarily subordinating itself to selfish, private ends, special privilege resorting to cunning, bribery and intimidation to maintain its unholy power, while the masses timidly hope that when avarice has at last reached the point of safety it will then benevolently permit the people to resume their rightful share in the government of themselves. Whenever the mutterings of the people become too threatening the cry of confiscation goes up, and appeals are frantically made to the sacred rights of property. This is intended to affright the ears of honest men in the enjoyment of the fruits of their industry and thrift and thus by playing upon their prejudices and fears to deter them from casting their influence on the side of wholesome reforms. The cry of confiscation is the historic defense of usurpation. Let the people take warning. Whenever the wrongs of today become the vested rights of tomorrow the nation is in deadly peril.

The Democratic party is not the enemy of property; but, to the contrary, it has always stood and will continue to stand firmly against every species of aggression that would destroy or weaken the right of any man to enjoy the rewards to which his patience, his skill, his industry and his economy entitle him. Our party approves that feeling of pride which always accompanies the possession of purity, and it commends an individual ownership in the soil that will bring to the homes of America more of the conveniences, comforts and luxuries of life. Against the evils of special privilege we urge the benefits of equal opportunity in order that there may be more land owners, more homes and more happiness among the masses.

Not Enemy of Corporations.

The Democratic party is not an enemy of all corporations. It recognizes their great value in the industrial world. Through the agency of incorporation scattered wealth is brought together and given a driving force that it would not otherwise possess. Great enterprises are thereby undertaken and the undeveloped resources of the country added to the wealth of the world.

No rational man can be opposed to corporations as such, and the assertion that the Democratic party is waging an indiscriminate war against this convenient form of transacting business has no foundation in fact. It is the abuse only of corporate power that we seek to eliminate.

Viewed in the light of a great moral institution, the control of corporations should remain a question of common concern rather than a political one, but the shameful and common practice of the Republican party in permitting its forces to be controlled and operated by the most offending corporations of the country throws the problem into the political arena and compels the public to choose between the Democratic party, that will, and the Republican party, that will not, place some restrictions on incorporated greed.

The Chicago Platform.

We are confronted with the inquiry, What assurance has the Republican party given that it will use the forces at its command to restore the people to their rights? In its Chicago platform it did not make even a decent pretense of championing the people's cause, and the proceedings of that convention are glaringly insincere. It was noted that two elements were present in that gathering, one with sufficient votes to adopt a platform and name its candidate for president, the other powerful enough to unwrite that platform and tie the hands of the nominee. The distinguishing feature of the Chicago platform is its oft repeated promise to do a lot of things that the Republican party has heretofore failed to do. That party went to Chicago fresh from the halls of congress, where an overwhelming Republican majority in both branches enabled it to propose and to adopt any legislation that it chose. Does the Republican party believe that it can be absolved from its dereliction of duty by an empty promise to do in the future what it has willfully failed to do in the past?

Republican Confession of Guilt.

Some one suggested that this convention should publish an indictment against the Republican party. We can probably expedite the proceedings by entering the plea of guilty that is contained in the Chicago platform, simply changing the words "we will" to the words "we did not" to conform to the admitted facts. We then have the following Republican confession of guilt:

"We did not revise the tariff."

"We did not amend the anti-trust laws to secure greater effectiveness in the prosecution of criminal monopolies."

"We did not add a single line to the interstate commerce law, giving the federal government supervision over the issues of stocks and bonds by interstate carriers."

"We did not enact a currency measure that would mitigate the evils of a financial panic such as has recently prostrated the country under a Republican administration."

"We did not limit the opportunities for abusing the writ of injunction."

"We did not establish postal savings banks."

"We did not establish a bureau of mines and mining."

"We did not admit into the Union the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states."

The last congress was in session during a financial crisis when innumerable banking institutions, preferring a holiday to a funeral, closed their doors and filled the minds of millions of depositors with anxiety and fear. The sentiment in favor of postal savings banks which had been steadily growing in this country became almost universal during the recent panic. So insistent became the voice of the people that the president sent a special message to congress urging the establishment of postal savings banks where the earnings of our people might be safely deposited under the direct control and responsibility of the federal government and where no peculating bank cashier or any member of the board of directors could eat up the savings of years.

The United States senate showed its hearty sympathy with this popular demand and its profound respect for the president by adjourning the senate while the message was being read, while over in the house of representatives they refused to suspend the roll call of the house to receive the communication which had been sent there from the White House.

The Chicago platform points with pride to the passage of a child labor law for the District of Columbia. Let the Republican party go further than the enactment of penal laws and in the name of humanity use its vast energies for the removal of the conditions that are forcing our children into the labor market.

Injunctions.

The most palpable instance of the insincerity of the Chicago platform is found in its declaration respecting the issuance of injunctions. It would have been entitled to more respect if it had omitted all mention of it. At session after session of congress labor has pleaded for relief from the abuses of injunctions, but its appeals have fallen on deaf ears, and there has been no indication that remedial legislation of any character would be enacted. The oligarchy in house and senate has decided that nothing shall be done to weaken any advantage that corporations have gained in labor disputes.

The fact is that all our citizens, without respect to station or occupation in life, have a genuine respect for the courts and desire to maintain their integrity.

The charge that the courts are being assailed is simply made for the purpose of diverting attention from the real issue. Heretofore it has not been considered treason or an unwarrantable attack upon the honor of the courts to define their jurisdiction, prescribe their procedure, restrict their processes and generally to fix the bounds within which judicial functions shall be exercised.

It makes no difference whether the courts are acting in excess of their jurisdiction or strictly within their delegated powers. In either case the people have a right to throw additional safeguards around human liberty. There can be no reflection upon the honesty of the courts in the passage of a measure that will confine the equity powers of the federal judiciary within such bounds as the people of the United States, through the legislative branches of their government, may determine. This Democratic convention must formally and unequivocally pledge itself to such legislation as will prevent the writ of injunction from being converted into an instrument of oppression.

Self Government Sacred.

We have something to do in this convention besides pointing out evils and taking the Republican party to task for the part it has played in creating and perpetuating abuses. Democracy is once more called to the front to battle for the sacred principles of self government. It must wage an uncompromising war for the return of the government to the hands of the people, and this means that the phalanx of special interests must be broken. The triumph of the people can come only through the Democratic party, for the life of its chief political opponent is so absorbed into the artificial life of the monopolies and trusts that it excludes the hope that the Republican party will ever be able or willing to regain a separate existence where it can honestly discharge its duty to the people.

With the power and opportunity to carry out Democratic principles, we will be called upon to revise our tariff laws in the interests of the whole people. This issue cannot be disposed of by the assertion that the Republican party also stands for tariff reform.

The Democratic idea is that where the tariff enables the trusts to maintain a system of extortion the duty should be removed from all trust made goods, so that competition from abroad may compel reasonable prices to our own people. There is a vast difference between the protection of American industries and the protection of criminal monopolies.

The expenses of our government, even when most economically administered, will always require substantial tariff rates, for the customs duties will always be our chief source of revenue. The amount and distribution of these rates must always be developed along equitable lines, keeping in view the greatest happiness to the greatest number and particularly withholding the shelter of the tariff from those who use it, not for legitimate self protection, but for the criminal purpose of extorting the last dollar from the American consumer.

Corrupt Use of Money.

The corrupt use of large sums of money in political campaigns is largely responsible for the subversion of the people's will at the polls. The masses are awakening to a realization of the great power of gold in contests that ought to be determined according to the character of nominees and the soundness and morality of political issues, and there is a general demand for publicity in the collection and use of campaign funds, so that our citizens may know whether a political party has purchased its way into office or has won its victories by honest means.

In the Chicago convention a minority report of the committee on resolutions containing a declaration in favor of publicity was overwhelmingly defeated upon a roll call of the convention, and the Republican party placed itself squarely upon record in favor of concealing the names of the contributors and the amounts of their subscriptions. By a vote of 52 to 1 in the committee and a vote of more than ten to one in the body of the convention they confessed their guilt. They thus admitted the charge so frequently made by our party that Republican success in the past has largely depended upon the vast sums of money collected from the great monopolies of the country and corruptly used in the conduct of its campaigns. Let the voters of this country seriously consider whether the refusal of the Republican party to disclose the sources and amounts of its election finances is not a confession of the debasing and corrupt use of money in its campaigns.

It is eminently proper that this convention should define the Democratic attitude toward the regulation of transportation companies and call the attention of the country to the indisputable fact that it was only after years of Democratic effort that an amendment was made to the interstate commerce law authorizing the commission to establish reasonable rates whenever it appeared that an existing schedule was unjust and unreasonable. The national platforms of the Republican party remained silent upon this great question for years, and the fact that the necessary change was advocated by a Republican president, who succeeded only through the aid of the Democrats in both branches of congress in placing the amendment upon our statute books, does not affect the credit to which our party is entitled for having worked persistently for such an enactment.

Railroad Reforms.

Further amendment to our laws giving the federal government supervision over the issuance of railroad stocks and bonds is demanded.

The fixing of transportation charges and the control of issuances of railroad securities are inseparably connected with the actual valuation of railroads. The Democratic party believes that the first thing to do is to secure a physical valuation of the roads—that is, a valuation of the solid rather than the liquid assets of railroad companies. While, on the other hand, the Republican party, on a roll call in the convention by an overwhelming vote, took an unequivocal stand in favor of a system of water rates without giving the people the benefit of a meter.

We search in vain for one syllable in the Chicago platform pledging the Republican party to retrenchment and reforms, and it is no mere coincidence that has given us a billion dollar session of congress on the eve of a national election and the possible revision of the tariff.

So long as we maintain the present method of electing United States senators we cannot hope that the upper chamber of congress will reflect the popular will.

On five different occasions the house of representatives has passed a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by the direct vote of the people, but these measures have been sandbagged in the senate by those who are determined the senate shall not become an integral part of our free representative institutions.

Direct Election of Senators.

The Democratic party will continue to labor for the direct election of United States senators, and it appeals to the voters of all America to elect members of the different state legislatures who will pledge themselves to vote for no candidate for the United States senate not in favor of this reform.

The affirmative position of the Democratic party upon these great questions will be made clear during the impending campaign, and, disdaining all subterfuges, it will speak in a language that cannot be misunderstood. Its voice will ring with a genuine love for humanity, and the charge of insincerity will never be brought to its doors. Let our party declaration in this convention present the strong contrast between that which we here propose and that which was declared at Chicago. Let any man take the temperature of the Chicago platform and discover, if he can, any sign of human warmth. Not a single sentiment is there to redeem it from the materialism permeating it through and through.

On the bosom of the Pacific will be enacted the great commercial struggles of the future, and the interests of American commerce in connection with the exposure of our western shores to any hostile attack will demand that the greater portion of the American navy shall be retained in the waters of the Pacific to preserve the peace of the world.

Asiatics Must Be Excluded.

This magnificent western country of ours has not only proved attractive to our own people and the other white nations of the earth, but it has likewise proved alluring to the brown and yellow races of the east. Some protection has been afforded by the exclusion of Chinese labor, but the evil is but half met if the immigration of Japanese, Koreans, Hindoos and other Asiatic people be not also excluded from our shores. Not only the white toilers of America, but all our people, without respect to class or residence, are vitally interested in this menace to our social and industrial life from Asiatic quarters, and if this is to remain a white man's country immediate steps should be taken to prevent Asiatic immigration of whatsoever character.

This national convention meets at a time when the angel of peace is hovering over the entire world, and the nations of the world each day are strengthening those ties of friendship and common interest that will render war less frequent and permit mankind to turn their hands to the peaceable pursuits of life rather than to the destruction of one another.

The Democratic party realizes the part that America must inevitably play in the affairs of the world and that we cannot escape participation in the settlement of every world problem that arises, but America's weight and influence must ever be on the side of peace, on the side of justice, on the side of the oppressed, and if the will of the people shall commit to our hands the scepter of power it will be used for the realization of the high American ideals that raise our own people to loftier and better things and through our precepts and examples contribute to the well being and happiness of all mankind.

BUNKED IN PUBLIC PARKS

Slight Relief For Bostonians After Day of Excessive Heat

Boston, July 8.—With thousands of her suffering citizens sleeping on the ground in the public parks and squares throughout the city by special permission of the mayor and park commissioners last night, Boston brought to a close the hottest day of the year, the eighth successive day of almost unbearable heat, the thermometer yesterday officially recording 94 degrees.

Suffering beyond endurance, one man committed suicide by shooting during the day, a woman became crazed and while confined in the city prison for safety attempted to end her life by hanging. A teamster fell from his truck and received a fractured skull and broken collarbone.

The number of prostrations recorded at the hospitals and relief stations about the city reached thirty at midnight and many more cases came to the attention of physicians about the city which went unrecorded.

The mercury reached the 100 mark in various parts of the city, while from Concord, N. H., the record of 104 degrees was reported and at Pawtucket, R. I., 114 degrees was vouched for.

The fire department last night flushed the streets in the crowded tenement house sections. An inert mass of humanity lay stretched like a carpet over Boston common, the public gardens, North End park and the other breathing places of the city.

Charged With Manslaughter

Leominster, Mass., July 8.—As a result of a Fourth of July tragedy, Amos L. Simmons, aged 17, and Lewis P. Nutting, aged 20, were arraigned before Judge Bascom, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Edward McLaughlin. Nutting was discharged and Simmons was held for the grand jury in $5000 bonds, which he was unable to furnish. McLaughlin was killed by a small steel ball bearing from a bicycle which was fired through the door of his house, striking him in the breast and causing his death.

Actor Takes a Bride

Boston, July 8.—A wedding which comes as a surprise to theatrical folk is that of Robert Edeson, widely known as a star, and Miss G. E. Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Porter of Brookline, which took place there at noon today, and which was an exceedingly quiet affair, with few other than relatives present. Rev. O. P. Gifford of the Brookline Baptist church officiated.

Won't Return to Congress

Houlton, Me., July 8.—Congressman Llewellyn Powers has tendered his resignation as a candidate for re-election to congress. It was given in a letter to Chairman Robinson of the Republican district committee. Powers will complete his present term, which expires in March. The reason given for the declination to serve further is ill-health during the past few months.

Fire Destroys Boys' Camp

Ossipee, N. H., July 8.—The main building of Camp Ossipee, located on Lake Ossipee, was destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $12,000. The camp, which was formerly conducted as a summer hotel, is now used as a boys' camp in the summer and a school in the winter. All the occupants escaped safely. The cause of the fire is unknown.

To Cut Off Strike Benefits

Hartford, July 8.—The printers' strike, inaugurated in the job offices in this city Sept. 14, 1905, is to end, word having come from the international union that after July 18 all strike benefits will cease. For a year married men received $11 a week and single men $9. Then the benefit was cut to $9 for married men and $6 for single men.

Poison In Drinking Water

Saigon, Cochin China, July 8.—Three Annamite officers have been condemned to death, having been found guilty of complicity in a plot to poison the members of the local garrison. Two hundred members of the local military force were recently taken violently sick and an examination of their drinking water showed that it had been poisoned.

Gies Is Not Implicated

Philadelphia, July 8.—With the elimination of Frederick Gies, Jr., from the case, the police of this city began tracing the movements of the supposed murderer of Dr. William H. Wilson toward Boston. Gies practically proved that he had nothing to do with the sending of the bottle of poisoned ale to Dr. Wilson on June 26.

Need Not Wait For Congress

Washington, July 8.—That the public printer has the right to pay machine operators, electrotypers and stereotypers a wage greater than 50 cents an hour, without waiting to appeal to congress to authorize an increase, is the decision announced by the comptroller of the treasury.

LONG JOURNEY BEGUN

Great Atlantic Fleet Leaves San Francisco Bay

SPERRY COMMANDS ARMADA

Sixteen Battleships on Longest Voyage Ever Undertaken by Such a Powerful Fleet--Great Entertainments For Officers and Men Before Returning Home In February

San Francisco, July 7.—A splendid picture of America's fighting strength on the sea was presented today when the sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet, led by the magnificent Connecticut, with Rear Admiral Sperry on the bridge, headed out of the Golden Gate and bathed their bows in the blue Pacific.

In imposing array they passed beyond the headlands, out of the view of the thousands of cheering watchers on shore and started fairly on the long voyage through five seas from San Francisco to Hampton Roads—a striking demonstration of the power and efficiency of the United States navy.

REAR ADMIRAL SPERRY.

Sixteen battleships were in line, divided into four divisions and two squadrons. In the first division of the first squadron were the flagship of Sperry, the Connecticut, and her sister ships, the Kansas, Minnesota and Vermont. This division, as well as the entire fleet, is under the immediate command of Sperry. The second division of the first squadron is commanded by Acting Rear Admiral Wainwright, and consists of the flagship Georgia and her sister ships, the Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island.

Rear Admiral Emery commands the second squadron and third division, and is aboard of the flagship Louisiana. The Virginia, Ohio and Missouri also are in this division. The fourth division, under the command of Acting Rear Admiral Schroeder, is made up of the flagship Wisconsin and the Illinois, Kearsarge and Kentucky. The Nebraska and Wisconsin, formerly of the Pacific fleet, have taken the places of the Maine and Alabama of the Atlantic fleet, which are en route to Hampton Roads as a special service squadron.

The fleet auxiliaries preceded the battleships by a week, and are now nearing Honolulu, where they will unload supplies and sail away for New Zealand before the arrival of the fleet at Honolulu. These auxiliaries are the Panther, repair ship; Glacier, refrigerator supply ship; Culgoa, supply ship; Ajax, collier; Relief, hospital ship, and Yankton, tender and dispatch boat.

The battleships which sailed today on the longest voyage ever undertaken by such a powerful fleet, during which they will completely encircle the world, from Hampton Roads to Hampton Roads, have a total tonnage of 196,100 tons. The fleet is capable of steaming on an average of ten knots an hour under any sea conditions, and is following an itinerary which will bring the ships to Manila on Oct. 1, 1908.

The complete route from Manila to Hampton Roads has not yet been definitely announced, but it is expected that the fleet will arrive at its ultimate destination during the latter part of February, 1909, when it will be joined at Hampton Roads by most of the other ships of the American navy then on the Atlantic coast and this great fleet of war vessels will again be reviewed by President Roosevelt just prior to his going out of office.

The fleet is scheduled to arrive at Honolulu July 16. Residents of that remote possession of the United States have prepared a magnificent and fitting reception to the officers and men, which will be in the nature of a reception and a belated Fourth of July celebration combined.

After a stay of one week in Honolulu, the fleet will proceed to Auckland, N. Z. It is by special invitation of the New Zealand government that the American ships go there, and at this port the "Yankee" sailors will receive their first greetings from a foreign people since leaving South America. This greeting will be particularly cordial and the entertainment arranged for officers and men promises to be magnificent. The fact that this greeting will come at the end of the longest leg of the voyage around the world will tend to make it all the more welcome.

Perhaps the greatest of all the entertainments to be given the men of the fleet in any foreign city, however, will be awaiting their arrival at Sidney, Australia, where the warships, after leaving Auckland on Aug. 15, will arrive on Aug. 20. Half a million dollars is the sum the government of Australia and the people of Sidney have appropriated for the entertainment of the American sailors. Varied and many are the pleasures the Australians have planned and placed in store for them during the nine days of their stay at that port.

Melbourne and Albany are two other ports of Australia where the fleet will stop, and where open-handed hospitality and lavish entertainment will be given the men. From the port of Albany the fleet will steam on Sept. 17 for Manila, and it will arrive in these American waters, the last home port until Hampton Roads, on Oct. 1.

The reception to be accorded the fleet in Manila will be a striking one, and the entertainment of the officers and men ashore will be as cordial and heartfelt, if not as elaborate, as the receptions at other places.

Great interest is felt in the fleet's visit to Japan. Proceeding to Yokohama from Manila, the fleet will arrive there on Oct. 17. Here, on Oct. 24, it will be divided, the first squadron returning Oct. 31 to Manila, while the second squadron will steam to Amoy, China, where it will arrive Oct. 29.

The promise is that the welcome to be given the Americans in Yokohama will not be second in graciousness at least, to anything met with at any port previously touched; for it is upon the special invitation of the Emperor of Japan that the fleet goes there.

At Amoy the reception will doubtless be the occasion of a great celebration characteristic of the Chinese. The two squadrons of the fleet will be brought together again at Manila on Nov. 7, and the departure thence for Aden and the passage of the Suez canal will take place within the following few days, the exact date not yet having been determined.

To Be Examined In America

Paris, July 8.—Glacia Calla, the American wife of Paul Roy, has refused to come to France, and as a result steps will be taken to have her examined in an American court on all the points made by her husband in his declarations taken here. Roy was charged by his wife with murdering her brother, George A. Carkins, at Newington, N. H., last January. He denied the charge, saying he had shot Carkins in self-defense. He came to France shortly after the shooting.

Launch Raced With Death

Boston, July 8.—A small gasolene launch had a race with death from Boston light to Dorchester bridge with Bernard Doherty, a dying sailor from the outgoing steamer Satelite, aboard. Upon its arrival at the bridge an ambulance was in waiting and the sailor, who was severely scalded, was rushed to a hospital. Doherty was working in the fire room when a steam pipe burst, showering him with scalding steam.

Wants Official Executioner

Minneapolis, July 8.—The Interstate Sheriffs' association, in session here with an attendance of sheriffs of twenty-two states, heard a plea from Superintendent Randall of the Minnesota reformatory for an official hangman. Randall does not believe in capital punishment, but argued that where such a law was enforced there should be an official executioner appointed to conduct the hangings.

Boni Asks For Custody of Children

Paris, July 8.—Count Boni de Castellane, accompanied by his counsel, went to the office of Judge Ditte, president of the tribunal of the first instance of the Seine, and applied to have the custody of his children restored to him on account of his divorced wife's marriage to Prince de Sagan. After hearing argument Ditte adjourned the case until the return of Princess de Sagan to Paris.

Arias Takes a Back Seat

Panama, July 8.—Ricardo Arias, who resigned yesterday as secretary of foreign relations, said: "The reasons for my resignation as secretary are the same as those which prompted my resignation as candidate for the presidency—a desire for the union of political parties, so that peace may prevail in the republic and intervention by the United States be avoided."

Big List of Heat Deaths

New York, July 8.—A smart southerly breeze that followed in the trail of a mild summer storm filtrated through New York's sun-baked streets last night and brought some relief from the tropical spell that has killed nearly two score of persons and prostrated hundreds. Fourteen persons died from the heat yesterday. Cooler weather arrived today.

NEWS IN BRIEF

John C. Curry, known all over the United States as a driver of trotting and pacing horses, died at Kansas City.

Losing his balance while watching some other boys swimming, Moses Bliss fell off the bank of a pond at Cranston, R. I., and was drowned.

Governor Magoon has issued a decree raising the duty on all cattle imported into Cuba, except for breeding purposes, $2.25 per 200 pounds.

By a decisive majority the Louisiana house killed the anti-cotton futures bill. A similar measure was recently defeated in the senate.

George Pappas, aged 28, was drowned at Marlboro, Mass., while swimming. Pappas was seized with cramps.

While bathing in the Kennebec river at Skowhegan, Me., Harry Maguire, aged 17, was drowned.

An English Turf Tragedy.

Half an hour before the race for the Two Thousand Guineas of 1883 Prince Batthyany, who bred St. Simon and who was one of the most popular racing men of any time, was talking with Lord Cadogan in the luncheon room of the Jockey club stand at Newmarket, when he suddenly reeled and fell.

He was carried to Weatherby's office, and doctors were summoned, but the prince was beyond all human aid, and just before the bell rang for the race for which his colt, Galliard, brother of St. Simon, was first favorite he breathed his last.

A few minutes later "the clear blue sky rang with cheers and shouts as the horses came thundering along, which rose into a roar as Galliard won by a head," while behind the drawn blinds of Weatherby's office Galliard's owner, who had been looking forward so eagerly to this moment, was lying dead. It was owing to the death of his owner that Galopin's great son could not run in the Derby of 1884, which he would almost certainly have won.—St. James' Gazette.

Curing Snake Bites.

Considerable difference of opinion exists with regard to a trustworthy remedy for snake bites. Dr. Lauder Brunton advocates the use of permanganate of potash applied immediately. Mr. Greengrass of North Arcot district, Madras, however, as the result of various experiments states that acetic acid, even in the diluted form of vinegar, is an important and effectual remedy, and it can be applied effectually as long as an hour or an hour and a half after the bite. Cases of recovery from snake bites have followed the application of vinegar after such intervals. An incision must be made over the bite, as much of the poison as possible squeezed out, and then vinegar is to be injected. If the bite is on a limb, a ligature must be placed above it. Mr. Greengrass records twenty-nine cases of recovery from cobra bites by such a use of vinegar. The one failure which occurred was due to the fact that no incision had been made over the bite. A similar treatment is recommended for the stings of scorpions.—London Standard.

Downing Street, London.

The greatest street in the world is one of the smallest. This is Downing street, a dark little alley in the west of London. Here is the real center of the British empire, for it is at 10 Downing street that the premier has his official residence. Ever since Robert Walpole was the prime minister, 200 years ago, the heads of the government have made their homes in this "alley." American tourists usually go out of their way to gaze upon the dingy, almost repellent exterior of this lodge of diplomacy and national ambition, because Sir George Downing, who laid out the street and built the house therein, was of American ancestry, his mother belonging to the Winthrops of Massachusetts Bay Colony, and stands as the second graduate on the roster of Harvard college. After getting an American education he went to England and, seizing opportunity when it offered, became Oliver Cromwell's ambassador at The Hague.—Exchange.

Feeding the Stock.

The victim of the following story, told in Mrs. Henry W. Cole's "A Lady's Tour Around Monte Rosa," was possessed of a keen sense of humor. Otherwise his dignity might have been ruffled by the unconscious revelation which came to his ears. In the course of Mrs. Cole's travels she met the Rev. Robert Montgomery, the poet, who told her an incident of his early career in the pulpit. When he was first admitted to holy orders he was appointed curate in a rural Scotch district and lodged in the house of a small tenant farmer. Notwithstanding his office of clergyman the family did not appear to hold their boarder in high veneration, for one day he heard the woman servant call out to her mistress:

"Missis, shall I feed the pigs first or gie the mon his dinner?"

An Erratic Echo.

The late Sir John Leng had traveled in most quarters of the globe. On one occasion when visiting Spain he was asked at a certain spot by a traveling companion to test the powers of what was declared to be a wonderful echo. Sir John, slowly and deliberately, in rounded tones uttered the words, "Dun-dee Ad-ver-ti-ser," the name of the paper he owned. "Dundee Courier and Argus," the name of the opposition paper, came back as the echo! Sir John's friends had played him a trick.

Tea Drinking.

Tea drinking was regarded as one of the feminine vices of a hundred years ago. The Female Spectator of that period observes: "The tea table costs more to support than would maintain two children at nurse. It is the utter destruction of all economy, the bane of good housewifery and the source of idleness."—London Mail.

Vanishing France.

Old France is slowly disappearing, and its local customs, picturesque costumes and the language peculiar to its ancient provinces will very soon become nothing more than precious souvenirs preserved in faithful memories or related in works of tradition, which will charm our descendants.—Petit Parisien.

A Slight Difference.

What is the difference between a jeweler and a jailer? One sells watches and the other watches cells.

It takes two to make a quarrel, but some folks don't have much trouble finding the other one.—Puck.

John Evans In An Overcoat

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

In our last letter you remember that we were taking our luncheon at the Balmoral hotel on Prince street on our arrival at Edinburgh, Scotland, The noon meal is universally called luncheon throughout the British Isles, dinner being served at six o'clock in the evening.

Now if you are already, we will start for the exhibition. Here is a Gorgie street car with a sign "To the Exhibition" on the front. This is also a double decker, the same as all the cars in the land. We'll get right in. There is lots of room, all right. Here we go.

Say, Mr. Conductor, what is the fare to the Exhibition?

Two pence each.

Very well, I will pay for this whole party.

Now we are at the gate. We ask this man in uniform, what is the price of admission.

Six pence, he says.

Some of you ask how much is that in our money. Only just twelve cents. As long as I invited you along I will also pay your way here.

First, we enter through the entrance and into the royal promenade. Everything of any consequence in this country is royal. The first building on the promenade is the Incubator, organized by the women to take care of prematurely born children. They claim that by this system they can save 78 per cent. of the children.

Next is an African village. The natives of Africa brought with them the bamboo and other materials that constitutes this village. This is what is called the Garden City.

Then comes the Winter garden, where there are fine art galleries made wholly of glass. Then we come to the Canadian section. It is provided by the Dominion government. They have in it the products of our brothers over the border. Cereals and root crops, flowers, fruits, woods, minerals, etc.

Now we are going through the industrial hall we have no time nor space to describe all this wonderful scenery. Women's section, Machinery hall, the Grand hall, Art gallery and thousands of other things we would like to tell you all about. Only we know that you are so well used to these things at home in America.

Oh! dear me, it starts to rain as usual. In fact it rains every day here. Besides it is cold. We wear our overcoats every day. We couldn't get along without them. Well, don't you think we better get back to the city. Did you bring your umbrellas with you, if not you better get some at once, for you will need one very often. Here is the electric car again. Say, we better crowd inside this time, for if we get on top we will get drenched to the skin. We are now back in—

Edina, Scotia's darling seat
All hail thy palaces and towers
Where once beneath a Monarch's feet
Sat Legislation's sovereign powers.

There is no city in Great Britain more attractive to visitors than Edinburgh. The capital of the north. The population has increased from 67,238 in 1801 to 316,479 in 1901. I would like to show you all the beauties of this ancient city, but I realize that you are getting tired, and it is getting rather late, so we better leave our day's trip right here, and go back to our hotel and take a little rest before our dinner. Tomorrow if a fine day, I will take you around the city; then back to Glasgow and on the trip down the Clyde river.

John Evans.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title ~ Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St. Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

A cool wave is predicted, and the mercury has dropped since noon.

Sergt. David J. Barry of the police department is having his annual vacation.

Mrs. W. G. Greenbaum of New York city is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Alfred H. Harris of Safford street.

Michael E. Cook and son Edward P. Cook, of 893 Hancock street have gone to Pittsfield, N. H., for a three weeks' outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson of Manchester, N. H., have returned from a visit with Mrs. Wilson's aunt, Mrs. John Galvin of Chestnut street.

Chief of Police Burrell requests that families who are going away notify him that the officers on duty may keep an eye on their premises.

It is too hot to work such days as these, but the newspaper men must keep busy, and get out a newsy paper every day. They say the Daily Ledger is newsier each day.

Evening should be a popular time for auctions this hot weather, but the hour will also allow many to be present to secure one of those attractive lots on the Paul Wild terrace tonight.

The pretty new house of J. A. S. Pierce on West Howard street at Newcomb square is approaching completion and has all the modern improvements for a cosy home, including plumbing, fire place, electric lights, piazza, bay window, cemented cellar, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Sodergren of Hunt street, Atlantic, have returned from their auto tour of New Hampshire. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McEwan of Wollaston and Mr. and Mrs. John Grace of South Boston. Many points of interest were visited.

Michael Monahan of Beach street, Wollaston, died Tuesday at Dorchester, aged 44 years. He was secretary and treasurer of the Bar Tenders' union of Boston, and also the Eagles. He leaves a widow and one child. He will be buried from the Sacred Heart church, Atlantic, Thursday.

The last of the series of whist parties held by the L. A. S. and friends was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Dexheimer's Tuesday evening. After prizes were distributed a collation was served, it being the third anniversary of their marriage. A great surprise took place when the party presented the couple with a handsome rocker showing the esteem held for both in the community.

There is a better air today, but continued hot weather, and very dry.

Miss Miriam Miller of Bigelow street left this week for Plymouth to visit Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Dornan.

One of the best ways to escape the heat is to take a trolley trip. It is particularly enjoyable in the evening.

The Board of Health gives notice that no privy vaults can hereafter be constructed on any premises that can be connected with city water.

New Arrivals At Houghs Neck

The terrific heat drove many to Houghs Neck on Tuesday. The day was the hottest on record. The themometer registered 99 at noon in front of Dunham's store. Great crowds went in bathing to escape the heat.

John McHugh and family of Milton are at the Isabelle cottage on Darrow street for the summer months.

B. F. Tierney and family arrived Saturday from Dorchester and are occupying the Vincent cottage on Bird street.

"Gus" Fredrickson and family of Brockton have leased the Lastella cottage on Centre road.

The Sunside Associates of Hyde Park are staying on Bird street.

Class in ball-room dancing every Tuesday morning from ten to twelve, 12 lessons $4.00, this term only; also class in fancy dancing for the children, Friday morning, ten to twelve, admission 15 cents. At Pandora hall, J. A. Graham, manager. 6t

Friends of Frank Pray are working hard to win for him the launch offered by the Daily Ledger as a prize to the most popular yachtsman. To help Mr. Pray and also give the young people of Houghs Neck a lot of pleasure for very little work. Harry S. Brown of Brown's summer ball-room will accept Ledger votes in place of dance tickets from either boys or girls under the age of 15 years between eight and nine every Monday night, and during the entire session every Wednesday afternoon. Save your votes and give them to the children. This will not only give them lots of pleasure but will help Mr. Pray win the launch.

Th ught He Had Killed Wife

New York, July 8.—Overcome by remorse because he accidentally wounded his bride of six months, James Murray, a saloonkeeper, shot himself and is dying. He was handling a revolver when it went off, the bullet striking his wife near the temple and inflicting a flesh wound. Murray believed he had killed her, so turned the weapon on himself.

Sleeper Arrives From Caracas

New York, July 8.—Jacob Sleeper, formerly charge d'affaires of the American legation at Caracas, whose departure from that post marked the end of the diplomatic relations between the United States and Venezuela, arrived here on the steamer Saratoga from Havana. Sleeper went to Washington today to call on the state department.

Troops Hot After Revolutionists

El Paso, Tex., July 8.—United States Marshal Nolte and United States District Attorney Boynton went to Del Rio, fearing that Mexican revolutionists opposite there, at Las Vecas, might attempt to cross into Texas. Mexican troops are scouring the mountains for them and have declared that they will show no quarter.

COUNTY BUILDING

Early Movement Probable For Erection of One in Quincy

The chances are that a movement will be started in Quincy at an early date for the erection of a county building. At the present time the county pays something like $2,000 per year in rent for its court room in this city, and even now the court quarters are not satisfactory.

The arrangements are very poor and then again there is considerable complaint on account of noise. Again it is almost impossible to hear witnesses and there has been more or less trouble with the heating apparatus.

Quincy is the only city in the county and should have a county building. With such a building, sessions of the Superior court would probably be held here. A very large part of the business of the Superior court comes from the east Norfolk district, and would be great convenience if sessions could be held in Quincy.

Quincy's Only Private Detective

One of the matters passed upon by the City Council at its meeting Monday evening was to grant a license to Alphonso G. Williams of Wollaston as a private detective.

There are many occasions when the services of a private detective are needed, but up to the present time no license as such has been issued in Quincy. Several years ago an application was made to the City Council for the granting of such a license, but as the laws at that time provided that no license could be issued in a city of less than 30,000 population it was refused.

Under the Revised laws, however, there is no mention made as to population, but it does provide that the party granted a license must give the city a bond of $3,000 for the faithful discharge of the duties the licensee may be called upon to perform. This bond Mr. Williams has filed, and as soon as Mayor Shea affixes his signature to the order Mr. Williams is in position to begin business. He is well known in Wollaston, where he has resided for a number of years. He was born in Boston, but came to Quincy in 1899, and has since made his home here. He has been a constable for several years, and is also a special police officer.

When war was declared with Spain he enlisted in the navy, and was first assigned to the dispatch boat Oneida and was afterward transferred to the collier Sterling. He received an honorable discharge at the close of the war.

Mr. Williams is perhaps best known in Wollaston where everyone has a good word to say for him as well as to wish him success in his new line of work.

Fresh Air Camp Items.

Wednesday was another enjoyable day at the grounds of the Fresh Air Camp. Beside the Quincy and Weymouth people present, there were twenty orphan children, with their attendents, from the Home of Little Wanderers, Boston. After enjoying the Camp and beach, a dinner was served to the children, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gragg. The dinner included ice cream and the day's outing was heartily enjoyed by all. Another delegation from the Home will come to the Camp in about two weeks.

Mr. and Miss Buzzell of Edison Park, Quincy, entertained the campers at the Fresh Air Camp on the evening of July 7, by a graphophone concert.

Down the Clyde With John Evans

Editors of Daily Ledger:

Now, for the excursion down the Clyde. We must be up early because the boat leaves the landing at 6 A. M. The only thing that starts early in the whole city. Every thing else is at a standstill till 8.30 or 9 A. M. We must carry our breakfast with us or take it on the boat. They serve all kind of luncheon on the boat. Come on now we are ready. Yes we must go down these steps from the street to the landing.

Now we are on board, a very fine and commodious steamer, about the size of our Nantasket boats, only the same as all the boats and trains in this land, divided into classes. But you must go over this gang plank to the first class. You needn't trouble about the fare I will settle that.

What did you say. O yes! it is fine, but not half as good as our Fall River boats in my estimation. We are now moving slowly, for they can't put on full steam going through all these docks among all kind of craft and only a comparatively narrow river.

See here, this is the Ruric the great Russian battleship that has just been completed on the Clyde. The English and Scotch declare that no Japanese navy can ever sink this, because it has been built by British workmen. The Czar's sailors are on board of it already. We are now passing a fleet of large ocean greyhounds, coming and going to all parts of the universe, for remember this is the third port in size of its shipping in the United Kingdom.

We are in luck that it is full tide, or the odors from the river would be very unpleasant on account of the sewage that runs into it. At present the city of Glasgow is spending millions trying to purify its waters.

We are now stopping. This is Gowan and this landing here is Patrick pier. After leaving this pier we have a splendid view of numerous large shipbuilding yards. This is the place where formerly the Canadian cattle was landed, when it was permissible to import store cattle from the Dominion into Scotland. Now they must be slaughtered where they are landed. The Clyde Trust are going to construct a large dock here.

Do you see this large ship yard on right? That is where the fast and powerful Lusitania was built. And here on the left, the Indefatigable was built. Look, there she is now, down the stream. She is the most powerful war vessel in the British navy. She beats the Dreadnought especially for speed. If she finds herself in a hole, she can run away from the fastest war vessel afloat. On her trial trip she made 28 3-4 knots an hour. That is going some isn't it?

Well, all right, if you are hungry, let us go to the dining room and get something to eat. All right it is the same old lunch, tea, tea, tea, everywhere tea! With the bread always buttered and cut very thin. Ham, yes we will try some ham with it. Indeed their ham here beats our all to holler. They have some way of curing their hams and bacon that makes them delicious. I have eaten more boiled ham since landing here than I ate in America in thirty-six years.

We are now approaching Bowling. These are the ruins of Douglass Castle. The high hill on the left is Dumback, and in front is Dumbarton Castle. Maybe we have gone far enough on this trip. We will try to finish it some other time, but I am in quite a hurry to take you with me to Belfast in Ireland and among the thatched roofed houses and donkey carts, etc., in the green Isle. I will give you a ride in one of the jaunting Irish cars, if you will be patient.

Mayor Shea Takes a Dip

Mayor Shea was among the many to enjoy the privileges of the city bath house at Ward Two on Wednesday afternoon. Jack Starr, who has charge of the bath house did the honors of the occasion, and extended the Mayor the same cordial greeting that he accords all visitors.

A hunt found a bathing suit large enough and a few minutes later the chief executive of the city was striking out to the raft.

After the swim and a shower bath, Jack showed the party through the bath house. Everything was found to be neat and clean and in perfect order.

Coming away the Mayor said that Starr was certainly a star, and the right man in the right place. The only thing he regretted was that the Electric Light Company could not be induced to run its wires to the bath house to make night bathing more popular.

The Mayor added the only thing he missed was a mirror for without one he could not comb his hair and that made him feel bad.

Buried With Soldiers' Honors

The last sad rites over the remains of Oscar A. Johnson were held from his late residence, 26 Deldorf street, on Wednesday afternoon. The house was filled to its utmost by relatives and friends who wished to show their respect and esteem to one whom all had loved while on earth.

The services were conducted by Rev. Cedarburg, and the Spanish War Veterans. A quartet comprising Fritz Swanson, Oscar Gustafson, and the Misses Edith and Olga Olsen feelingly rendered "When I shall see Him face to face," and "Nearer My God to Thee."

There was a profusion of flowers, forming a massive bank. Among the pieces were rock of ages, gates ajar, a broken column, scroll, and many wreaths.

A great many of his fellow workmen with whom he had been associated for years, followed the remains to its last resting place at Mt. Wollaston.

The clergyman offered prayer at the grave, and the Spanish War Veterans under command of John McGrath, held services ending with a volley over the grave and taps.

Mr. Johnson leaves a widow, three children, a mother, sister and three brothers.

For 35 Years Quarry Engineeer

The death of Benjamin F. Linton of Copeland street came suddenly to most people this morning, as he was at his work at the Hitchcock quarry on Monday. He was taken ill that evening and passed away from a weak heart today.

His parents were Massachusetts people, but he was born in Louisiana. He has been a machinist and engineer all his life. At one time he was on the steamboats between New Orleans and Havana, and also on the Mississippi river. Then he came to Boston, and about 1871 became a resident of Quincy.

For 35 years he has been the faithful engineer at the Hitchcock quarry, formerly Churchill & Hitchcock, and recently operated by the Quincy Quarry Company.

For 45 years he has been an Odd Fellow, being a member of Tremont lodge and Massasoit encampment of Boston. Since 1880 he has been a member of Rural lodge of Masons, and also joined St. Stephen's chapter, R. A. M., and South Shore Commandery, K. T.

He leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter.

Honest Man.

Fred Edwards, coachman for C. T. Hardwick, was fortunate enough to find a pocketbook Tuesday night containing $100 in money and a number of railroad tickets and papers. He had just alighted from a Houghs Neck car at the corner of Washington and Coddington street, when his foot hit some object.

Looking down to see what it was he found it to be a long pocket-book which upon being opened was found to contain a fat roll of bills, tickets and papers.

The owners name appeared among the papers and Mr. Edwards lost no time in sending the owner word that his pocket-book had been found.

It was fortunate for the owner that the finder was an honest man.

THE NEW BRIDGE

The Metropolitan District Should Contribute to The Expense

A matter of importance to the City of Quincy is the proposition to build a new bridge over the Neponset river. When the bill for such a bridge was before the legislature last winter the sentiment in Quincy was not very favorable to it.

First, it was looked upon as a land scheme, and then again, the bill as drawn put a good share of the burden of the cost on this city. Fortunately, the bill did not pass, but the desirability of such a bridge was referred to the Metropolitan Park Commission who are to consider it and report to the next session of the General Court.

It is with this in view that the Metropolitan Park Commission have given notice of a public hearing to be held Wednesday, July 15, on the matter.

Notice of this hearing has been advertised and an official notice was forwarded to the City Council at its meeting last Monday, and referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters.

That the hearing may not go by default as far as Quincy is concerned, Mayor Shea has sent invitations to the Board of Trade, Citizens' Association, Granite Manufacturers' Association and Central Labor Union asking them to send delegates for a conference to be held in regard to the matter next Tuesday evening.

The Mayor believes that if it is decided to build such a bridge that the expense should be spread over a large territory so that those who are to be benefited may pay their proportionate part of the expense.

The Mayor sites the matter of the bridge at Wellington from which the City of Quincy receives no benefit whatever, yet is obliged to pay its proportionate part of the cost, for the reason that the total expense is charged up to the Metropolitan district.

If such a bridge as that can be apportioned over the whole Metropolitan district there is no reason why the proposed Neponset bridge should not be paid for by the cities and towns of the Metropolitan district, as it will be a part of the Metropolitan park system.

City Receipts For Six Months

The July 1 figures of the City Auditor show increased receipts by the city from water and taxes, but less from sewer assements. A comparison for the first six months for three years follows:

Year	Water	Sewer	Taxes
1906	$47,319.83	$10,695.61	$113,416.98
1907	48,346.45	8,615.19	128,257.79
1908	49,816.34	5,904.50	131,223.04

No Funds Available.

Early in June the City Council appointed a special committee with the Mayor to confer with the Metropolitan Park Commissioners relative to building a bath house along the boulevard at the Atlantic beach. A conference was held with the Commissioners. This morning Mayor Shea received a letter from the Metropolitan Park Commissioners, which stated that while they considered a bath house at Atlantic beach very desirable the Commission regretted that it had no funds available for that purpose.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Makaria is putting up fast base ball, and the game between Braintree and Makaria will be well worth seeing.

Stetson Besse, of Rockland, Mass., has been the recent guest of his son, Mr. L. F. Besse, Kemper street.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Capron of Bass street spent the holidays in Worcester and Grafton, making the trip in their auto.

There was quite a crowd on Cranch and Presidents' hills last evening watching the fire in East Boston, which made a brilliant illumination after sunset.

Mrs. Emma L. Ela of Wollaston and Miss Bella W. DeForest of South Quincy are visiting relatives in New York and Connecticut for two weeks.

The Central station combination was called out on a still alarm at 6 o'clock Wednesday night for a fire on Presidents bridge, and many thought it had started for East Boston.

Follow the crowd Saturday to the Makaria—Braintree game at Merrymout park, and see base ball. The attendance at the last two Makaria games has been over 400 at each game.

A citation which has its first insertion in the Daily Ledger any day this week will be time for the last session of probate court before the August vacation. It will be held at Brookline.

The alarm from Box 612 at 3.52 Wednesday afternoon was for a fire in the peat bog in the rear of the Boston Gear Works at Wollaston. The Atlantic apparatus was at work on the fire when the alarm sounded having been called on a still alarm.

Master Clarence Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Ralph of Elm avenue met with a painful accident one day last week, sticking a needle in his foot which broke, leaving half of it in the heel. He was taken at once to the Children's Hospital, Boston, where it was successfully located and extracted. The little fellow was just recovering from a serious throat operation, so it seems as if he was having more than his share of trouble.

FIRE SWEEPS DOCKS

Causes Loss of About $1,500,000 at East Boston

MOST EXTENSIVE IN YEARS

Piers, Warehouses, Grain Elevator and Loaded Freight Cars Destroyed --Suburban Railroad Put Out of Commission For a Time

Boston, July 9.—Fanned by a brisk north wind, a fire, believed to have been caused by spntaneous combustion, swept nearly a quarter of a mile of the harbor front of East Boston, causing a property loss of $1,500,000.

The fire was the most extensive and destructive that has broken out along the harbor front for many years. In addition, the flames spread with almost unimaginable rapidity and by the time the first piece of fire fighting apparatus arrived on the scene the fire was beyond control and leaping from pier to pier. Within half an hour from the time the first burst of flame was discovered four piers, three warehouses, a grain elevator containing 30,000 bushels of grain and many loaded freight cars had been destroyed.

Several vessels and lighters narrowly escaped destruction. The big Leland line steamer Devonian, about half loaded with a miscellaneous cargo for export, was moored at one of the piers which was destroyed. The discipline on the liner was so excellent, however, that the big craft was warped out into the stream without even having a square inch of paint blistered.

Less fortunate were the British bark Belmont of Yarmouth, N. S. and the schooners Paul Palmer, a five-masted craft, and the O. H. Brown, a four-master.

So quickly did the flames work that it was impossible to slip the Belmont's steel cables from the mooring posts on the wharf, and it was necessary to resort to the tedious process of cutting a half dozen or more of the great wire ropes. By the time the Belmont was warped out into the stream the paint had been burned off her steel hull, her cabins had been practically destroyed, her lifeboats charred and ruined and her spars, sails and rigging so badly burned as to make a complete new equipment necessary.

The Palmer escaped with slight damage to her foretopsail and foreriging, while the rigging, sails and spars on the forward part of the Brown were badly charred. Several lighters were towed to places of safety before the flames could reach them.

The burned area includes piers 1 and 2 of the Grand Junction docks and the pier on which was the big grain elevator, all owned by the Boston and Albany Railroad company and used by the steamers of the Cunard line, and pier No. 6, owned by the Leyland line. This property extends to the wharf of the Massachusetts Coal Wharf company, which latter pier adjoins the East Boston ferry slip of the Boston, Revere Beach and Lynn railroad, commonly known as the "narrow gauge." This property also extends from the harbor front back to Marginal street. The piers destroyed were each about 800 feet long and from 200 to 300 feet wide. Piers 1, 2 and 6 were covered each by a large warehouse extending over the entire length and breadth of the wharves. Between pier 2 and pier 6 was the pier upon which the Grand Junction grain elevator stood.

The fire originated in the warehouse of pier 1, Grand Junction docks. In this warehouse was stored an immense quantity of combustible material, including wool, Egyptian cotton, grease and oil. It is believed that spontaneous combustion or a spark from a freight locomotive alongside the warehouse caused the fire. At the time the fire was discovered there were about 100 laborers at work on the pier, and with all of them it was a race for life. Later it developed that Daniel Sullivan, aged 70, a watchman, was missing. It is believed that he perished in the flames.

In each of the warehouses destroyed there were many cars loaded with freight for export. All of these cars and their contents were destroyed.

Between pier 6 and the next pier to the eastward, that of the Massachusetts Coal Wharf company, a wide stretch of water intervened and it was here that the fire was checked. Streams from the fireboats, harbor tugs and practically the entire strength of the Boston and Chelsea fire departments were concentrated. The coal wharf was in the direct path of the flames and several times the pier and the coal pockets were on fire, but each time the flames were extinguished and the property was saved.

Fortunately the wind was blowing off shore and the flames did not work back from the water front. Had the wind blown from almost any other quarter with the same intensity it is probable that East Boston would have suffered the fate which befell the adjoining city of Chelsea last April.

On account of the proximity of the fire to its East Boston ferry slips the ferryboats of the "narrow gauge" road suspended operations completely, making it impossible for thousands of suburbanites living in Winthrop, Revere and Lynn to reach their homes, while thousands of others who had been enjoying a day's outing at the beach resorts were unable to return to the city.

ALL QUIET IN MEXICO

Texas Authorities In No Way to Blame For Recent Raids

Washington, July 9.—Enrique Creel, ambassador from Mexico, has arrived in Washington from Chihuahua, Mex., having been directed to proceed to this city by his government in connection with questions growing out of the recent uprising in Mexico and alleged violations of the neutrality laws of this country. The ambassador expects to discuss the situation with the state department at an early day.

"Everything is quiet in Mexico now," said Creel, "and we do not expect further trouble. The Mexican government is thoroughly satisfied that the federal officials and those of Texas did all in their power to aid Mexico in restoring quiet along the border, as soon as the situation was brought to their attention. The Texas authorities could in no sense be held responsible for the raids which were organized in that state, as violation of neutrality laws and matters of extradition requisitions are for the federal authorities to handle."

Appreciates Support of the Press

New York, July 9.—Confident that his quest for the North Pole will be successful, Commander Peary left last night for Sydney, C. B., where he will join his Arctic steamer. Before his departure the Arctic explorer said: "I sincerely appreciate the interest and friendly attitude of the reputable press throughout the entire country. This moral support has distinctly helped in carrying me past the numerous dead centers of weariness and discouragement that have occurred in my efforts to secure the necessary funds for this expedition."

The Bailey's Great Treasure

Mobile, July 9.—More than $200,000 in gold was carried to Honduras by the Baileys of New York in their flight in the British steamer Goldsboro, now in the possession of the Honduran government without flag or country, and the valuable cargo of the treasure ship, estimated in value of an equal amount, is still in her hold. This was told by Neal Akman, third engineer of the Goldsboro, who has just reached Mobile. One of the Baileys, who escaped, took considerable money with him, according to Akman.

Sleeper to Have New Mission

Washington, July 9.—Jacob H. Sleeper, the secretary of the American legation at Venezuela, who was summoned home by the American government because of dissatisfaction with the actions of President Castro, talked over with acting Secretary of State Bacon the incidents connected with his departure. Sleeper left Washington today for a rest in Massachusetts. After a vacation the department contemplates assigning him to some other post.

Glass Cut Many Passengers

Boston, July 9.—As a train from Boston for South Acton was passing through Union square, Somerville, the locomotive struck a dumpcart. The horses were killed and the driver was severely injured. Two cars of the train were raked by the broken cart in such a manner that all the windows on one side of two cars were demolished. The coaches were crowded with passengers and twenty-two of them were cut about the face and hands.

Prediction of Famine In Russia

St. Petersburg, July 9.—The likelihood of another famine in Russia during the coming winter was admitted by a representative of the ministry of the interior in the duma, in answer to an interpellation regarding the present condition of Russian crops. Two-thirds of the winter wheat is a failure in eighteen provinces. Two and one-half million acres of land have not been seeded.

Toll to Torrid Blast

New York, July 9.—Although the backbone of the hot wave was broken by a cool northerly wind which brought relief to New York's suffering population, eight persons, weakened by the strain of the protracted hot wave, died yesterday as the result of heat exhaustion. Fifty-three persons died and over 300 were prostrated by the excessive torrid spell.

Indian Outbreak Threatened

Guthrie, Okla., July 9.—Adjutant General Canton, under direction of Acting Governor Bellamy, has left for Henrietta to investigate the threatened outbreak of the Snake Indians. He said that no action would be taken in the matter of calling out the state troops until the situation could be thoroughly looked into.

Balloon Made Good Time

North Adams, Mass., July 9.—Balloon Boston, with Alan R. Hawley as pilot and one passenger, had a rapid voyage eastward from North Adams, landing in Hubbardston, seventy miles as the crow flies, one hour and thirty-six minutes from the time of the ascent.

NEWS IN BRIEF

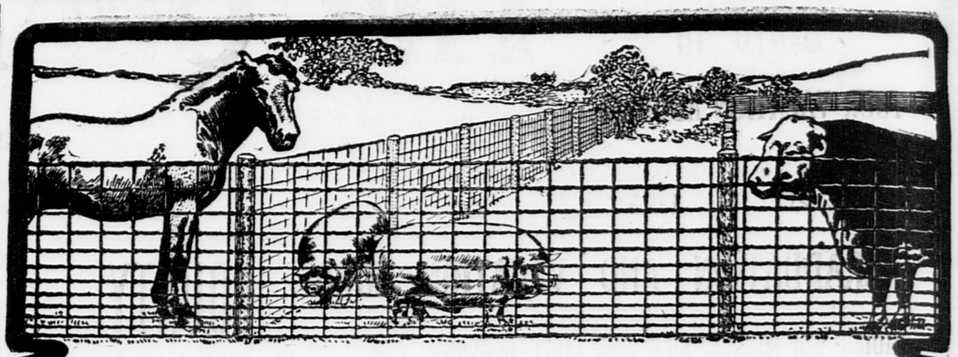

The Earl of Ciancarty, according to the London Daily Mail, is engaged to marry a wealthy New York widow.

General William L. Marshall has formally succeeded General Alexander Mackenzie as chief of engineers of the army.

A fire loss estimated at nearly $200,000 was suffered by College Point, L. I., in a blaze that destroyed Zehden's hotel and casino, Dondera's casino and a number of small adjoining buildings.

Percy Eldridge, aged 14, was drowned at Winthrop, Me. He made a dive from a boat and did not come up.

Francis Morarity, aged 12, was drowned at Pawtucket, R. I., while bathing in the Pawtucket river.

Metropolitan Park Commission.

Resolve to authorize and direct the Metropolitan Park Commission to investigate the desirability of constructing a new bridge across the Neponset River between the cities of Boston and Quincy, and of constructing a boulevard in the City of Boston from Columbia Road to Neponset River.

Resolved, that the metropolitan park commission is hereby authorized and directed to investigate the desirability of contsrutcing a new bridge across the Neponset river between the cities of Boston and Quincy at or near the location of the present bridge, and to report the result of the investigations to the next general court not later than the second Monday in January. Said commission shall consider the most suitable location of said bridge with reference to the various uses to which it may be put and also with reference to any existing or proposed boulevard in the vicinity of either approach to said bridge, and make estimates of the expense of said structure and approaches, including the draw required in said bridge; the commission shall also investigate and make a separate report upon the advisability and probable expense of taking and constructing a boulevard in that part of the city of Boston, formerly Dorchester, from Columbia road at a point east of the Plymouth division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to said Neponset river. There may be expended from the treasury of the commonwealth a sum not exceeding twenty-five hundred dollars for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this resolve. (Chap. 141 of Resolves of 1908.)

The Metropolitan Park Commission will hear all persons interested in the matters referred to in the above Resolve at its office in Boston, 14 Beacon Street, Room 507, on Wednesday, July 15, 1908, at 2 o'clock P. M.

Cavanagh, of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the eleventh day of January, 1908, at nine o'clock, fifteen minutes, A. M. being the time the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, to wit:—

A certain tract or parcel of land comprising upland and marsh with buildings thereon containing about 38 acres of land more or less, situated in that part of Quincy known as Houghs Neck and lying on the southerly side of the road from Quincy to Houghs Neck known as Sea street. Said parcel being more particularly described as follows:—

Beginning on Sea Street at the northeasterly corner of the premises thence running south about 229.5 feet; thence turning and running east about 168.9 feet; thence turning and running south about 948.9 feet; thence turning and running west about 175 feet to a ditch on the edge of the marsh, thence continuing west along the edge of the marsh about 107 feet to a ditch; thence south by said ditch about 525 feet to a small creek; thence westerly by said creek and a ditch about 980 feet to a creek sometimes called Rock Island Creek; thence a little northwest by said creek about 125 feet to a ditch; thence north by said ditch about 293 feet to the edge of the upland; thence east by the edge of the upland about 120 feet to a wall; thence turning and running north by said wall about 604 feet to Sea Street; thence turning and running east and northwest about 1430 feet by the southerly and southeasterly line of said Sea Street to the point of beginning.

Also four certain parcels of land with the buildings thereon situated in that part of said Quincy known as Houghs Neck being lots 21, 22, 23 and 24 in Section 2 as shown on a plan entitled "Plan of Sea Shore Lots at Houghs Neck, Quincy" drawn by H. T. Whitman, Surveyor, 1891, and recorded in Norfolk Deeds at the end of Book 668.

Lot 21 is bounded and described as follows:—Easterly on Sea Street as shown on said plan 52.92 feet; Southerly on lot 22 as shown on said plan, 87.87 feet; Westerly on lot 24 as shown on said plan 50 feet; Northerly on lot 20 as shown on said plan, 105.45 feet:

Lot 22 is bounded and described as follows: Easterly on Sea Street as shown on said plan 54.7 feet; Southerly by lot 23 as shown on said plan 115.97 feet; Westerly by lot 53 as shown on said plan 50 feet; Northerly by lots 21 and 24 as shown on said plan 137.87 feet.

Lot 23 is bounded and described as follows: Easterly by Sea Street as shown on said plan 55.2 feet; Southerly on Shennen Street as shown on said plan 92.25 feet; Westerly by lot 53 as shown on said plan 50 feet; Northerly by lot 22 as shown on said plan 115.97 feet.

Lot 24 is bounded and described as follows: Easterly by lots 20 and 21 as shown on said plan 100 feet; Southerly by lot 22 as shown on said plan 50 feet; Westerly by lot 25 as shown on said plan 100 feet; Northerly by Winthrop Street as shown on said plan 50 feet.

A Chain and Its Links

In telephoning there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service:" 1. The person calling. 2. The operator. 3. The person called.

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

If the person calling fails to consult the catalogue and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitably repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally "there is no one on the line."

Being human the operator—the third link—is liable to err occasionally, but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

If Link No. 1 Gives the Right Number and Calls Distinctly, and Link No. 3 Answers Promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy, or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one of 300 000 telephones in the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Even if he is not a subscriber, you can arrange to have the person desired called to a Pay Station to talk to you.

WILD BRYAN OVATION

Demonstration Surpassing That For Roosevelt at Chicago

BUT SIX STATES UNMOVED

Standard of All the Others Torn From Their Moorings and Borne to the Platform During Enthusiastic Tribute Lasting an Hour and Twenty-Six Minutes--Work of Convention Delayed by Platform Builders--Some of the Tentative Planks

Denver, July 9.—For one hour and twenty-six minutes 12,000 people united in a wild, overpowering, spontaneous storm of cheers for William J. Bryan. It was the greatest outburst of political enthusiasm that the American continent has ever seen.

Crashes of music from the bands, choruses of soul-stirring songs like "America" and "Dixie," sung by thousands of voices, added to the pandemonium of patriotism.

And the spark was set by Senator Gore, the blind statesman from Oklahoma, who merely uttered the magic word "Bryan" in the course of a very brief and partly impromptu speech. Then he leaned coolly back against a railing while the storm that he had loosened played all about him. He could not see the surging, shouting sea all around and above him, but a smile played over his sightless face as the billows of stentorian sound rolled over him again and again.

There was really little else for the big Democratic national convention to do but dispossess itself of some of its pent-up enthusiasm.

Started by Blind Senator

When Temporary Chairman Bell called the body to order, only one of the committees was ready to report, that on rules, and its duty was but perfunctory. There was a prayer by Rev. Dr. C. R. Reisner, and a few miscellaneous motions and orders which nobody paid much attention to amidst the deal of confusion. A motion to adjourn until evening had been voted down by an overwhelming voice vote.

Then there came cries of "Gore, Gore," begun by the constituents of the Oklahoma senator, and caught up all over the hall. Bell pounded for order.

"Gore, Gore," called the delegates.

"We will hear from Senator Gore," finally announced Bell, amid great cheers.

The delegates of Oklahoma yelled in delight as the blind senator from the newest state was led to the platform. His first utterances were happy, and he caught the convention immediately. Loud cheers greeted his declaration that Oklahoma is the most Democratic state in the Union. The cheers were repeated later when he said:

"The President of the United States has said that his opinion of our constitution is unfit for publication. That is true of many of the opinions of the President of the United States.

A Wonderful Tribute

"Fellow Democrats, the great secretary of war came to Oklahoma and waged war against our constitution," continued Senator Gore. "He asked us to give up our right of liberty and self-government. But by a vote of thousands upon thousands we rejected the advice of Taft and accepted the advice of Bryan."

The mention of the name brought the convention to its feet in the first real Bryan demonstration. Delegates from nearly every state jumped to their chairs and yelled.

The enthusiastic tribute lasted one hour and nineteen minutes, with seven minutes more of the expiring echoes of clamor, establishing the convention record or an hour and twenty-six minutes, or full thirty-nine minutes in excess of Roosevelt's demonstration at Chicago, which held the record until yesterday.

It was a decisive exhibition of the overmastering strength of the Bryan column and one of the most dramatic convention pictures ever presented as the standards of the states were torn from their moorings and borne through the hall until they stood together on the platform, like an army of banners, proclaiming their united allegiance to Bryan.

Amid this storm of Bryan demonstration the six standards of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Georgia, Minnesota and Connecticut stood rooted in their places, the rallying points of little groups unmoved by the frenzied scenes about them. Throughout the hour and nineteen minutes the deafening uproar continued, ebbing and flowing in enthusiasm, women joining with the men in bearing the Bryan standards aloft, while the whole assemblage of 12,000 people joined in the tumultuous demonstration.

Tariff Committee Reports

After being in session most of Tuesday night, the working sub-committee of the committee on resolutions resumed its sittings at an early hour yesterday. The sub-committee spent the first half of the day in discussing suggestions of Bryan and others relative to planks in the platform, but shortly after noon decided that in order to make progress it would be necessary to divide the work. Consequently sub-committees of the sub-committee were appointed on various subjects, including injunctions, trusts, railroads, resources of the country, tariff, etc.

These minor sub-committees consisted in all cases of three members, and the remainder of the day was spent largely by them in consultations over the various subjects. There were, however, some questions upon which the full sub-committee found it possible to pass, and these included the publicity of campaign contributions, relative to which a strong plank was adopted.

The committee heard various suggestions, among them being planks demanding the enactment of an income tax law, providing for the restriction of Oriental immigration, denouncing what the committee termed President Roosevelt's "perpetuation of his dynasty," etc.

Injunction Plank

The injunction sub-committee consisted of Messrs. Williams of Massachusetts, Parker of New York and Sullivan of Iowa. Its deliberations were based upon a draft of the proposed plank made by Williams which, while found to be generally acceptable, was very closely scrutinized not only by the conservative members of the committee, including Alton Parker, but by the labor leaders as well.

The committee last night reported through Chairman Williams that the three members had reached a complete agreement. It was also announced that the plank had been scrutinized by the officers of the Federation of Labor and was acceptable to them. The plank as thus recommended takes a position favorable to the placing of labor disputes on a level with other disputes, and against the courts regarding laborers differently from other classes of citizens. There is no requirement for notice previous to an injunction proceeding, because Mr. Gompers had said that none would be demanded providing there could be a cessation of discriminations against the labor element.

Along Nebraskan Lines

A number of planks from the Nebraska state platform were accepted practically as they appeared in the document. Among them were those embodying approval of the anti-pass and anti-rebate laws; prohibiting corporations from making campaign contributions; the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people; recommending a constitutional amendment permitting an income tax; the enlargement of the powers of railroad commissions, state and national; favoring postal savings banks; the eight-hour day; the adjustment of disputes between labor and capital; urging an employers' liability bill applicable to both public and private employers, and recommending the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as separate states.

Attitude as to Tariff

Folowing is the text of the sub-committee's tariff recommendation, which was adopted by the full sub-committee:

"We welcome the belated promise of tariff reform, now offered by the Republican party, as a tardy recognition of the righteousness of the Democratic position on this question, but the people cannot safely entrust the execution of this important work to a party which is so obligated to the highly protective interests that it postpones relief until after the election. And we call attention to the significant fact that the promise now made is wholly vitiated by the use of the qualifying words under which the present tariff iniquities have been fostered and developed.

"We favor an immediate revision of the tariff by the reduction of import duties. Articles entering into competition with articles controlled by trusts should be placed upon the free list. Material reductions should be made in the tariff upon the necessities of life, and especially on articles competing with such American manufactures as are sold abroad cheaper than at home, and graduated reductions should be made in such other schedules as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis.

"Every consideration of public policy suggests the conservation of our wood lands and the removal of these import duties which put a premium upon the destruction of our forests. Existing duties have given to paper manufacturers a shelter behind which they have organized combinations to raise the price of pulp and of paper and to impose a tax upon knowledge.

"We therefore demand the immediate repeal of the tariff on wood pulp, print paper, lumber, logs, wood and timber, placing the same on the free list."

Preamble to Platform

The full sub-committee gave considerable attention to the subject of a preamble for the platform and there was for a time a good deal of rivalry between the preamble of the New York platform and that of the Nebraska platform, the former being championed by Judge Parker and the latter by former Senator Pettigrew and others. Ultimately the Nebraska language was accepted because of its brevity. It reads as follows:

"We, the representatives of the Democracy of the United States in national convention assembled, reaffirm our faith in and pledge our loyalty to the principles of our party.

"We rejoice at the increasing signs of an awakening throughout the country. The various investigations have traced graft and political corruption to the representatives of predatory wealth and laid bare the unscrupulous methods by which they have debauched elections and preyed upon the defenseless public through the subservient officials whom they have raised to place and power.

"The conscience of the nation is now aroused and must be appealed to to free the government from the grip of those who have made it a business asset of the favor-seeking corporations; it must become again a people's government and be administered in all its departments according to the Jeffersonian maxim: 'Equal rights to all and special privileges to none.'

"Shall the people rule? This is the overshadowing issue at this time; it manifests itself in all questions now under discussion and demands immediate consideration."

Among the other questions discussed at length during the day were those relative to the writ of injunction, the expression of confidence in the courts, the physical value of railroads and the guarantee of bank deposits. There was a sharp division of sentiment upon many of these, but as the day wore on it became evident that a large majority of the full sub-committee was completely committed to all of Bryan's policies.

Committed to Bryan's Policies

The committee reached the conclusion that it would not insert any declaration on the question of rights of negroes. Bryan had made a tentative suggestion against discrimination on account of race, but the southern members of the sub-committee expressed the opinion that the declaration of principles would be more acceptable in the southern states if there should be no intimation of the party's attitude on this subject. During the discussion some of the members of the committee said there would be no objection to Bryan's announcing his personal views on this subject in his letter of acceptance, in case he should be nominated.

Probably the nearest approach to a clash during the day was on the subject of the courts, when Parker and Pettigrew expressed in sharp language diametrically opposite opinions. Parker presented a plank announcing the party's confidence in the federal courts, in support of which he made a strong plea. He had no sooner taken his seat than Pettigrew took the floor in opposition to the plank. He said that for himself he had little or no confidence in the federal courts, but he was willing to compromise by leaving the subject entirely untouched, and the sub-committee decided to follow this course.

A conclusion to ignore the question of women's suffrage was arrived at early in the day.

Guffey Faction Beaten

At the night session of the convention, after an hour of speechmaking, the committee on credentials reported on the Pennsylvania and other contested cases. A minority report on the Pennsylvania case resulted in an hour's acrimonious debate, after which the convention rejected the minority report, favorable to the Guffey faction, by the decisive vote of 615 to 387.

The convention adjourned until 11 o'clock today.

Bryan Affected by Demonstration

Lincoln, Neb., July 9.—"The Democrats have been very good to me and I can find no words to express my deep appreciation of the confidence and good will which the demonstration indicates."

It was with these words that W. J. Bryan, speaking to a number of newspaper men, acknowledged the remarkable demonstration given him by delegates to the Democratic national convention.

That Bryan was deeply affected by the outburst was apparent in the gravity with which he uttered the sentiment quoted. The delirious homage of one hour and twenty-six minutes was pictured in crisp telegrams received at Fairview and the thrill of it showed in flashes of the eyes of the man to whom it was paid.

When the demonstration began Bryan, a dozen newspaper men, Robert F. Rose, Bryan's secretary, and the telegrapher on the bulletin wire occupied the sun-room, as the glass-enclosed porch is called. Five minutes, ten minutes passed with the wire clicking off details of the scene. The candidate, in an alpaca office coat and vestless, smiled at the news, but left comments to his visitors.

In his office in another part of the house a second wire, removed from public gaze, transacted such business as Bryan had with the delegates. This wire occupied much of his attention and during most of the period of the demonstration he spent his time there with Mrs. Bryan and his daughter, Grace, both of whom followed the rapidly arriving bulletins with keen interest and quick sympathy.

Gray's Position Unchanged

Wilmington, Del., July 9.—Judge George Gray, unmoved by the efforts of his friends at Denver to have him nominated for president or of Bryan's friends to have him nominated for vice president, is quietly attending to business at his office in the federal building. He is not in communication with Denver. He has made no public declaration since his message last week in relation to the vice presidency in which he said that he "would under no circumstances accept such a nomination if it should be made."

The closing date of the Motor Boat contest will be announced on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baker will spend much of the summer on trolley trips through New England. They report them very interesting.

Thomas DeWolfe and family have taken possession of their new house on Walker street, formerly owned by Mrs. Henry Kolseth.

The editor of the daily Ledger accompanied a party of newspaper men to Fall River today to inspect the new steamship Commonwealth of the Fall River line.

According to Boston papers Anderson C. Rhodes of Wollaston was relieved of $130 in cash which he had in his clothes on Wednesday. He accuses a Somerville woman who was with him.

Mrs. A. L. Baker and Miss Louise Bates are spending a few weeks with Lowell M. Baker at his home at Orange, N. J. They will later take a trip to New Hampshire and return to Wollaston accompanied by Lowell on his vacation.

A young deer, said by those who have seen him to be about the size of a calf, has been feeding on the gardens between Wollaston and Norfolk Downs stations for a month. He chooses the finest vegetables, beans, beats, etc., and has nearly spoiled several gardens.

The Atlantic beach has presented a spectacle very much like Revere every afternoon and visiting traffic following the boulevard has seemed inclined to pause near this spot where bathers disported, to watch the ever changing picture of the swimmers.

The appointments of Gov. Guild this week included: Charles W. Hastings of Weymouth, as commissioner of State aid and pensions; Charles Warren of Dedham as civil service commissioner and George H. Garfield of Brockton, as fish and game commissioner.

It was noticed by a man who knows whats what in farm life, that the corn in Atlantic which had made a surprisingly good headway, was a bit curly along the edges and had what farmers would call a "wilted" look. This is a bad sign. Unless the corn stiffens out pretty soon, vegetarians will have to content themselves with husks.

No Change Today Among Leaders

All the gains for candidates in the Motor Boat contest today are among those having less than 100 votes. Several make gains of eight, ten, fifteen or twenty.

The closing date of the contest will be officially announced on Saturday.

1200 Orangemen Expected Saturday

Saturday will be a gala day for the Orangemen of Massachusetts, who will come to Quincy and parade and then hold their annual picnic and games at New Downer Landing.

In the parade will be lodges from Boston, Somerville, Cambridge, Arlington, Chelsea, Woburn, Malden, Medford, Lynn, Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Worcester, Clinton, Quincy and Providence, R. I. The lodge from Providence will be special guests. Some of the lodges will be accompanied by bands.

The Orangemen will arrive in Quincy by special train about 10.30 A. M., and there will be a short parade through the main streets. Cars will then be taken to the grove. About fifteen special cars will be necessary to convey the party as fully 1200 are expected.

Good prizes are offered for open and closed sports. There will be dancing, music and other attractions.

Accident.

Mr. Blakeslee Estabrooks of Wollaston with the firm of F. T. Fuller, 36 South street, Boston, has met with a serious accident which will confine him to his home for some time, having the forawrd wheel of a heavily laden dray pass over his foot, crushing it severely. He was sent to the Emergency hospital for treatment.

Not on Bryan Band Wagon

New York, July 9.—Melvin G. Palmizer, a member of the executive committee of the Independence party, and considered one of the spokesmen for William R. Hearst, says that it is not likely the convention of the Independence party, to be held in Chicago the latter part of the month, will endorse Bryan.

Hitchcock to Manage Campaign

Hot Springs, Va., July 9.—Frank H. Hitchcock of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, and manager of the national campaign; George A. Sheldon of New York, treasurer of the national committee; Arthur I. Vorys of Ohio, member of the national committee in charge of the Ohio Republican headquarters, which are to be in Cincinnati.

This was the result of the meeting of the executive committee of the Republican national committee here. All of the eight members of the executive committee were present and their report was unanimous. The entire action of the committee was an approval of the recommendations of Mr. Taft, who presided at the meeting.

Won't Run For President

New York, July 9.—Martin R. Preston, who was nominated for president of the United States by the Socialist Labor party, while he was serving a twenty-five-year term in prison for murder, has declined to accept the nomination. "I leave it to the generous men who nominated me to understand my reasons for declining," Preston telegraphed from his cell. It was announced that the national committee would nominate another candidate within a few days.

Triumph of Paraguayan Rebels

Washington, July 9.—Minister O'Brien reports that the revolution which began in the streets of Asuncion July 2 was followed by a continuous bombardment of two days. The minister of war was taken prisoner and while the revolutionists attacked the barracks with artillery the police and marines supported the government. On July 4 it appeared that the revolutionary forces were triumphant. President Freira resigned and Vice President Havero, who was in sympathy with the revolutionary party, assumed the presidential office. O'Brien's dispatch is dated July 7, when the city of Asuncion was reported tranquil.

Against Removal of Deuel

New York, July 9.—The appellate division of the supreme court unanimously affirmed the report and opinion of Referee Stover in the application of R. J. Collier, District Attorney Jerome and E. M. Shepard, for the removal of Joseph M. Deuel, justice of the court of special sessions, and dismissed the application. The petition for Deuel's removal followed the attacks of Collier's Weekly upon Deuel, the publication Town Topics and its proprietor, Colonel Mann, in 1905-6.

CONSTIPATION

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascarets, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets I suffered untold misery with internal piles. Thanks to you I am free from all that this morning. You can use this in behalf of suffering humanity."

Friends of Frank Pray are working hard to win for him the launch offered by the Daily Ledger as a prize to the most popular yachtsman. To help Mr. Pray and also give the young people of Houghs Neck a lot of pleasure for very little work. Harry S. Brown of Brown's summer ball-room will accept Ledger votes in place of dance tickets from either boys or girls under the age of 15 years between eight and nine every Monday night, and during the entire session every Wednesday afternoon. Save your votes and give them to the children. This will not only give them lots of pleasure but will help Mr. Pray win the launch.

Hundreds watched the big fire at the East Boston docks last night from the top of Great hill. A splendid view of the blaze could be obtained up to a late hour in the night.

The Bay Views bowl the River Roads in the Houghs Neck bowling league at Brown's bowling alleys tonight. Both teams are fighting for last place.

Mrs. N. Max of Charles street won a silk parasol that was offered by one of the moving picture houses to the most popular lady at the beach.

William Galvin of Bell street leaves Houghs Neck for Portland, August 30. He will ge given a try-out for the position of second base on the Portland team of the Maine State league. Galvin is a very well known ball player, having pitched two years for the Dorchester Heights, and one year for the Waltham A. C. Mr. Mr. Galvin's many friends wish him the best of success in his undertaking. Galvin is only nineteen.

It is understood that a special meeting of the Houghs Neck Associates will be called to adopt resolutions condeming Councilman Moir for his statements made relative to Houghs Neck in the last meeting of the Council.

of every kind, and for your fields of growing crops, is what you want, and what you have a right to expect, when you buy fence. A fence that a bull can break through or break down is not worth paying good money for. You want weight in the fence you buy, weight enough to turn the heaviest Percheron or stop a "devil wagon." Now, it is a fact—and you should know it—that, per running rod, you obtain the most weight in wire that is given in any fence, in the celebrated

AMERICAN FENCE

It is made on purpose to be the heaviest, most durable and lasting of any fence at any price. It is made and sold in larger quantities than any other two fences in the world, solely on its merits.

The makers of AMERICAN FENCE own and operate their own iron mines and furnaces, their own wire mills and six immense fence factories. Their product is the acknowledged

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

We can show you this fence in our stock and explain its merits and superiority, not only in the roll but in the field. Come and see us and get our prices.

Moonlight Sail Of the W. Y. C.

The first moonlight sail under the auspices of the Wollaston Yacht club was held Thursday evening. There was a delightful westerly sailing breeze.

The fleet, headed by the flagship Stranger, Commodore F. E. Dawes, got away at 8 o'clock, and for two hours cruised about the bay, going as far as Long island.

The return to the club house was made at 10 o'clock, when refreshments were served, and there was dancing.

The yachts to participate in the sail were:

Busy Bee,—Capt. W. J. Coombs.
Claytonia,—Capt. C. F. Pinkham.
Comus,—Capt. C. F. Austin.
Harolde,—Capt. A. B. Robbins.
Leisure,—Capt. W. F. Reynolds.
Iris,—Capt. W. F. Crowell.
Whisper,—Capt. A. Hendrickson.
Creole,—Capt. George Elmer.
Ursula,—Capt. J. Frank Merrill.

Republican Barbecue.

At the time of the selection of July 16 as the day of the barbecue, it was believed that the presidential candidate of the Republican party would have been notified of his nomination and that his letter of acceptance would have been issued to the country. This letter would have outlined the policies of the campaign and the barbecue would have been a fitting opening of the Republican canvass here in New England.

As this notification has not taken place and the expected letter of acceptance has not been issued, the Republican national committee does not deem it wise to have Mr. Taft appearing in a public address at so early a date.

It is expected that the new date of the barbecue will be announced in a few days as soon as the national committee is heard from.

BOSTON AND MAINE SHARES SOLD

The Boston & Maine railroad is no longer controlled by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company. Shares of the Boston & Maine to the number of about 110,000, owned by corporations controlled by the New York, New Haven & Hartford, have been sold to John L. Billard of Meriden, Conn. The sale took place June 30, and the transfers were effected July 1. Mr. Billard is president of the Meriden savings bank, a director of the Second national bank of New Haven and an extensive dealer in coal and lumber.

New Battleship Plans.

An important conference is being held at the naval war college at Newport today, when leading line officers of the navy who have been summoned from various quarters, will confer with staff officers concerning plans for the new battleship.

QUEEN OF FLEET

Commonwealth Of Fall River Line Rich in All Its Appointments

A representative of the Daily Ledger, in company with some 2000 others, was the guest on Thursday of the new steamship Commonwealth of the Fall River line. A special train of ten vestibule cars conveyed the Boston party which included newspaper men, State and city officials, railroad and steamboat men, and ladies. There was another train from Providence and one from New Bedford.

From 3 until 5 every part of the mammoth boat was open for inspection, and every courtesy was extended. Lunch was also served.

For the construction and equipment and decoration of the Commonwealth, the New England Navigation Company expended $2,000,000. The Commonwealth has the double distinction of being the largest and costliest steamer in American waters.

Stepping aboard the steamer, you enter the quarter-deck. This corresponds to the lobby in a theatre. Here are the purser's office, barber shop, cafe and parcel room. Leather upholstered seats offer the traveler an inviting resting place. The style of this room is modern English, the woodwork being oak.

Abaft the lobby is the social hall and library. It is a saloon of the period of Louis XVI. The wood trim and ceiling are panelled in tones of old ivory. The mouldings and cornices are embellished with papier-mache ornamentations. The bookcases, tables and chairs are of mahogany. A deep rose red carpet completes the sumptuous furnishing of this room. From the lobby an imposing staircase leads to the saloon deck.

Going forward from this saloon you reach the grand saloon, which extends up through two decks and is the main assembly room of the steamer. The second or gallery deck of the steamer form a balcony around this saloon. There is also a mezzanine gallery where the orchestra holds forth. Under the mezzanine gallery are two electroliers of pure Venetian design. Over the musicans' gallery is an allegorical painting typifying the commonwealth. Government, Industry and Commerce are represented by three female figures.

You go from the grand saloon through a passageway finished in soft tones of French gray to the Empire saloon. The wood trim here is of Honduras mahogany with carved ornamentation in gold, toned to produce an antique effect. The carpet and draperies of the saloon are of gold brocade.

Ascending a broad stairway from the Empire saloon, you step foot into a saloon of the period of Louis XVI. You are now on the gallery deck and there is still another deck—the dome deck. Forward on the gallery deck are the writing room and the news stand. The decoration of this apartment is in the same tone of French gray as the Louis XVI saloon. All the wood work here is mahogany. The writing desks have glass tops and softly shaded reading lamps. The writing paper bears the Commonwealth's crest, which is the combined coats-of-arms of the States of New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts worked into a shield. Here are the telephone central exchange and the station of the wireless telegraph service with which all steamers of the Fall River Line are equipped. Every statroom has a telephone, enabling the passenger to speak with the purser or steward or with a friend occupying another stateroom.

Strolling aft through a passageway decorated in the period of Louis XV, you come to the Venetian Gothic saloon, another exquisite instance of this beautiful style of decoration. Perhaps you thought that the artist had exhausted the possibilities of this style in his treatment of the grand saloon, but you are pleasantly disappointed.

Aft of the Venetian Gothic saloon on the gallery deck, you enter the Adams saloon, which is finished in prima vera, stained to give the effect of old satinwood. Opening off the Adams saloon are parlor suites, richly decorated and furnished in the Louis XV and Louis XVI periods and having private baths attached.

There are staircases on the port and starboard sides, finished the same as the woodwork of the Adams saloon, that lead from this saloon to the dome deck. Here, fifty feet above the water, are the dining room, men's cafe and the kitchens. Most noteworthy of the many innovations on the Commonwealth is the placing of the dining room on the upper deck. The broad windows of this room affords a superb outlook over the waters as the steamer speeds on her way. The decorative scheme here is of the period of Louis XVI. The ceiling is divided into three domes which, at night, are brilliantly illumined with electric lights, skillfully concealed. The hangings and furniture coverings are red. Like the table linen and silverware, they were specially designed for the Commonwealth. Mirrors completely cover the forward and aft ends of this room.

Opening aft from the dining room is the men's cafe, another innovation on a Sound steamer.

It was a busy day for both the marine and railroad divisions. But A B. Smith, the general passenger agent (a native of Quincy) and Press Agent Ellis had carefully arranged all details and must have been pleased that they were so well carried out. The day and the temperature were perfect, and it was an outing long to be remembered.

Newsy Budget From Houghs Neck

The Bay Views trimmed the River Roads two out of three at Brown's bowling alleys Thursday evening. The game was very exciting up to the minute, but a spare by the Bay Views settled the odd game. Galvin of the River Roads was the star bowler of the night getting some impossible spares.

The announcement today of the boat to City Point was received with joy at Houghs Neck. The boat makes eight trips each way on week days and six trips each way on Sundays and holidays.

A big pool tournament has been scheduled to start next week. Some very crack players have already entered for some pretty prizes.

Class in ball-room dancing every Tuesday morning from ten to twelve, 12 lessons $4.00, this term only; also class in fancy dancing for the children, Friday morning, ten to twelve, admission 15 cents. At Pandora hall, J. A. Graham, manager. 6t

If you do not get your Daily Ledger regularly please notify your news agent. It is not an easy task to start 100 new subscribers in one week at Houghs

Friends of Frank Pray are working hard to win for him the launch offered by the Daily Ledger as a prize to the most popular yachtsman. To help Mr. Pray and also give the young people of Houghs Neck a lot of pleasure for very little work. Harry S. Brown of Brown's summer ball-room will accept Ledger votes in place of dance tickets from either boys or girls under the age of 15 years between eight and nine every Monday night, and during the entire session every Wednesday afternoon. Save your votes and give them to the children. This will not only give them lots of pleasure but will help Mr. Pray win the launch.

Gifts for the Cruiser Salem

The sub-committee of citizens of Salem who are preparing a gift for the new scout cruiser Salem built at Quincy recommends the purchase of the following, says the Herald: A reproduction of the city seal in bronze with suitable inscription to go on the mainmast of the cruiser; a phonograph or graphophone with records at an estimated expenditure of $150 for the crew's entertainment; a silver service combination, consisting of a silver salver, combination fruit and candelabra centerpiece, coffee urn, sugar bowl and cream pitcher and a dozen cups with silver holders.

It is estimated that the expense of this combination will be about $2,000. The total subscriptions to date are $1,300.

First Anniversary.

Dorothy Q lodge of Odd Ladies celebrated their first anniversary at Odd Fellows Hall in Wollaston last Monday evening. There were present as invited guests the Supreme Lady Fanny Jones, R. W. L. G., Sister Roberts and other government officers, besides delegations from Onward lodge of Somerville, and Blue Hill lodge of Dorchester.

A fine entertainment was provided by members of Dorothy Q lodge which was greatly enjoyed; after which a bountiful collation was served.

Since the lodge was instituted a year ago the membership has doubled, and the interest taken in the organization has been widespread. The social as well as the benevolent element finds a hearty response.

Conference.

The second Sagamore Beach Institute of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Union will commence next Saturday and close Monday, July 19. The East Norfolk Union of this district will be officially represented at this conference by Miss Ida L. Thomas of Quincy and Miss Elsie M. Jones of Somerville, formerly of Quincy, who will accompany Miss Thomas. The Norfolk County Union will be represented by Fred Barnard of the Point.

Reception to Pastor and Bride

Rev. G. W. Palmgren, pastor of the Swedish Congregational church, and his bride, were given a reception Thursday evening at the church parlors by the parishioners. The hours were from 7.45 until 10 o'clock, and during that time the rooms were thronged, and Rev. Palmgren and his bride showered with good wishes.

Alfred Vidden presided, and made an address of welcome. This was followed by devotional exercises which were conducted by Charles Leander. Brief addresses of a congratulatory nature followed by Rev. J. L. Lilleback, Rev. A. P. Hanson, Neils Anderson, Jacob Davidson, John Anderson, Claus Blomquist and Peter Gustafson.

During these addresses there was singing by the male choir of the church, and a banjo duet by J. F. Erickson and Carl Brogren. The exercises were brought to a close by Gustave Sandelias who in behalf of the parishioners of the church presented the pastor and his bride with a purse of gold.

A social hour followed during which refreshments were served.

Ginsburg Held For Grand Jury

A hearing was held before Judge Pratt in the district court this morning, in the case of Abram Ginsburg of Quincy, for the larceny of $50 from Simon George.

George runs a grocery store on Main street, and it is alleged that Ginsburg entered the store while it was in charge of a young boy last Tuesday morning. To the boy, Ginsburg is alleged to have said, that he intended to erect a building like that in which the store was located. For this reason he wanted to take some measurements.

This he proceeded to do. In one of the two rooms was a coat belonging to Mr. George, in the pocket of which was a pocket book containing a fifty dollar bill.

When George returned home at noon he found that the money was gone. According to the boy in charge, Ginsburg was the only person who had been into the store. He was held in $500 for the grand jury.

—The wedding of a well-known Bath couple scheduled for last week was postponed several hours on account of the rain. Neither the bride or the groom would consent to being united until the sunshine broke through the clouds and consequently the parson who was to tie the knot was kept waiting until late in the afternoon.

ON THE FIRST BALLOT

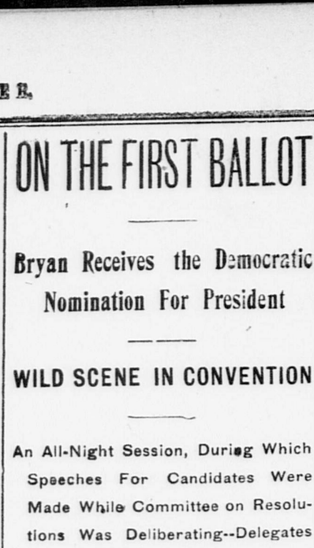

Bryan Receives the Democratic Nomination For President

WILD SCENE IN CONVENTION

An All-Night Session, During Which Speeches For Candidates Were Made While Committee on Resolutions Was Deliberating--Delegates Carried Off Their Feet at Mention of Name and View of Immense Oil Painting of Nebraskan--Nomination Held Up Until This Morning--Platform Adopted Just as Presented

Denver, July 10.—William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska was nominated for President of the United States on the first ballot shortly after 3 o'clock this morning by the National Democratic convention.

The speech placing Bryan in nomination awakened a demonstration rivalling in intensity the record-breaking tribute of Wednesday.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

The names of George Gray and Delaware and Governor Johnson of Minnesota were also placed in nomination, with demonstrations of approval from their limited followings. The tide of sentiment was unmistakably and overwhelmingly in favor of the Nebraska candidate.

The platform committee was not ready to report when the evening session began, and after listening to political oratory the rules of procedure were suspended and the convention proceeded with the speeches placing the candidates for president in nomination, with the understanding that the usual vote would be deferred until the platform had been adopted. The speech placing Bryan in nomination was made by Ignatius J. Dunn of Nebraska, a youthful orator of fire and eloquence, whose closing phrase stirred the huge assemblage to a wild uproar.

"I nominate," he exclaimed, "as the standard-bearer of our party, the man who in the thrilling days of '96 and 1900 bore the battle-scarred banner of Democracy with fame as untarnished as the crusaders of old—America's greatest commoner, Nebraska's gifted son, William J. Bryan."

Instantly there was a pandemonium of sound and motion as delegations and spectators rose en masse and joined in the reverberating chorus of praise to the Nebraska candidate. The standards of the states were wrenched from their places and borne through the hall to the platform, while banners bearing the portrait of Bryan were waved aloft. At times the intensity of the demonstration threatened a panic.

Mr. Dunn brought out the name of "William Jennings Bryan" with much dramatic force and the response from the great throng was electric. The delegates sprang up, the galleries followed suit, and the demonstration was quickly under way. A few minutes after the cheering began an immense oil painting of Bryan was lowered from behind a monster American shield which had reposed over the chairman's desk ever since the convention began. The appearance of the picture raised the outburst.

When the noise had continued for just fifty-five minutes, the sergeants-at-arms began their first efforts to still the uproar and to clear the aisles. The word was given to messengers that it was desired that the paraders should cease. A message was sent to the band in the gallery to cease playing and it willingly obeyed the injunction, the players being almost exhausted by their severe work in the torrid gallery near the roof.

These measures had some effect, but it was impossible for such an uproar to die away in an instant. The states' standards in large measure were returned to their places and one hour after its commencement the excitement and noise were subsiding. One hour and five minutes after Dunn had spoken his last words the hall was rapidly quieting down and the mass of delegates and spectators was seated.

Johnson and Gray Speeches

The opportunity of the Johnson supporters came when the rollcall reached Connecticut and that state gave way to Minnesota. Winfield S. Hammond took the stand, amid a considerable volume of applause, to place in nomination John A. Johnson of Minnesota.

When Hammond concluded, the loyal sons of the North Star state responded with a cheer and a number of delegates in Massachusetts and Oklahoma's seats joined. Considerable applause came from the galleries, but the noise was but a whisper compared with the terrific roar of the Bryan demonstration.

While the cheers for Johnson were slowly dying out and the chairman was struggling with the obstreperous galleries, L. I. Handy of Delaware was waiting on the rostrum to nominate George J. Gray of his state. When he was given an opportunity and had spoken for a few minutes he was interrupted by the appearance of the long-awaited committee on resolutions.

The seats reserved for the committee on the platform had long before been filled, and there was a considerable delay and much confusion before the spectators could vacate the chairs and surrender them to the committee.

After the committee had been provided with seats, Handy proceeded with his speech. Some cheering was heard when Handy had concluded, but there was no attempt at a Gray demonstration.

"Gentlemen of the convention," said the chairman, "I now have the pleasure of presenting to you the chairman of the committee on resolutions, Governor Haskell of Oklahoma."

The governor called forth loud cheers from the convention when he announced that there was no division among the members of the committee, and that he represented them all in presenting the report. He then read the platform, which was as follows:

THE PLATFORM

We, the representatives of the Democrats of the United States, in national convention assembled, re-affirm our belief in, and pledge our loyalty to the principles of the party.

We rejoice at the increasing signs of an awakening throughout the country. The various investigations have traced graft and political corruption to the representatives of predatory wealth, and laid bare the unscrupulous methods by which they have debauched elections and preyed upon a defenceless public through the subservient officials whom they have raised to place and power.

The conscience of the nation is now aroused to free the government from the grip of those who have made it a business asset of the favor-seeking corporations; it must become again a people's government, and be administered in all its departments according to the Jeffersonian maxim of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

"Shall the people rule?" is the overshadowing issue which manifests itself in all the questions now under discussion.

Economy in Administration.

The Republican congress in session just ended had made appropriations amounting to 1,008,000,000, exceeding the total expenditure of the past fiscal year by $90,000,000, and leaving a deficit of more than $60,000,000 for the fiscal year. We denounce the needless waste of the people's money which has resulted in this appalling increase as a shameful violation of all prudent conditions of government; as no less than a crime against the millions of workingmen and women from whose earnings the great proportion of these collossal sums must be extorted through excessive tariff exactions and other indirect methods. It is not surprising that, in the face of this shocking record, the Republican platform contains no reference to economical administration or promise thereof in the future. We demand that a stop be put to this frightful extravagance and insist upon the strictest economy in every department compatible with frugal and efficient administration.

Arbitrary Power of Speaker.

The house of representatives was designated by the fathers of the constitution to be the popular branch of our government responsive to the public will.

The house of representatives, as controlled in recent years by the Republican party, has ceased to be a deliberative and legislative body, responsive to the will of a majority of its members, but has come under the absolute domination of the speaker, who has entire control of its deliberations and powers of legislation.

We have observed with amazement the popular branch of our federal government helpless to obtain either the consideration or enactment of measures desired by a majority of its members. Legislative government becomes a failure when one member in the person of the speaker is more powerful than the entire body.

We demand that the house of representatives shall again become a deliberative body, controlled by a majority of the people's representatives and not by the speaker and we pledge ourselves to adopt such rules and regulations to govern the house of representatives as will enable a majority of its members to direct its deliberations and control legislation.

Misuse of Patronage.

We condemn as violation of spirit of our institutions the action of the present chief executive in using the patronage of his high office to secure the nomination of one of his cabinet officers. A forced succession in the presidency is scarcely less repugnant to public sentiment than is life tenure in that office. No good intention on the part of the executive and no virtue in the one selected can justify the establishment of a dynasty. The right of the people to freely select their officials is inalienable and cannot be delegated.

Publicity of Campaign Contributions.

We demand federal legislation forever terminating the partnership which has existed between corporations of the country and the Republican party under the expressed or implied agreement that in return for the construction of great sums of money wherewith to purchase elections they should be allowed to continue substantially unmolested in their efforts to encroach upon the rights of the people.

A reasonable doubt as to the existence of this relation has been forever dispelled by the sworn testimony of witnesses examined in the insurance investigation in New York, and the open admission, unchallenged by the Republican national committee, of a single individual that he himself at the personal request of the Republican candidate for the presidency raised over a quarter of a million dollars to be used in a single state during the closing hours of the last campaign. In order that this practice shall be stopped for all time, we demand the passage of a statute punishing with imprisonment any officer of a corporation who shall either contribute on behalf of, or consent to the contribution by a corporation, of any money or thing of value to be used in furthering the election of a president or vice president of the United States or of any member of congress thereof.

We denounce the action of the Republican party having complete control of the federal government, for its failure to pass the bill, introduced in the last congress, to compel the publication of the names of contributors and the amounts contributed towards congress fund. As a further evidence of their intention to conduct their campaign in the coming contest with vast sums of money wrested from favor-seeking corporations, we call attention to the fact that the recent Republican national convention at Chicago refused, when the plank was presented to it, to declare against such practices.

We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law preventing any corporation contributing to a campaign fund and individual from contributing an amount above a reasonable minimum and providing for the publication before election of all such contributions.

The Rights of States.

Believing, with Jefferson, in the support of the state governments in all their rights as the most competent administration for our domestic concerns and the surest bulwark against anti-Republican tendencies and in "the preservation of the general government in its whole constitutional vigor, as the sheet anchor of our peace at home and the safety abroad," we are opposed to the centralization implied in these suggestions, now frequently made, that the powers of the general government should be extended by judicial construction. There is no twilight zone between the nation and the state in which exploiting interests can take refuge from both, and it is as necessary that the federal government shall exercise the powers delegated to it as it is that the state government shall use the authority reserved but we insist that federal remedies for the regulation of inter-state commerce and for the prevention of private monopoly shall be added to, not substituted for, state remedies.

The Tariff.

We welcome the belated promise of tariff reform now affected by the Republican party, its tardy recognition of the righteousness of the Democratic position on this question; but the people cannot safely entrust the execution of this important work to a party which is so deeply obligated to the highly protected interests as is the Republican party.

We favor immediate revision of the tariff by the reduction of import duties. Articles entering into competition with trust controlled products should be placed upon the free list; and material reductions should be made in the tariff upon the necessaries of life, especially upon articles competing with such American manufactures as are sold abroad more cheaply than at home, and graduate reductions should be made in such other schedules as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis.

Existing duties have given to the manufacturers of paper a shelter behind which they have organized combinations to raise the price of pulp and of paper thus imposing a tax upon the spread of knowledge. We demand the immediate repeal of the tariff on pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs and that these articles be placed upon the free list.

Trusts.

A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. We therefore favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law against guilty trust magnates and officials and demand the enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to make it impossible for a private monopoly to exist in the United States. Among the additional remedies we specify three:

First—A law preventing a duplication of directors among competing corporations.

Second—A license system which will, without abridging the right of each state to create corporations or its right to regulate as it will foreign corporations doing business within its limits, make it necessary for a manufacturing or trading corporation engaged in interstate commerce to take out a federal license before it shall be permitted to control as much as 25 per cent. of the product in which it deals, the license to protect the public from watered stock and to prohibit the control by such corporation or more than 50 per cent. of the total amount of any product consumed in the United States.

Third—A law compelling such licensed corporations to sell to all purchasers in all parts of the country on the same terms, after making due allowance for cost and transportation.

The Democratic party stands for Democracy; the Republican has drawn to itself all that is aristocratic and plutocratic.

Railroad Regulation

We assert the right of congress to exercise complete control over interstate commerce and the right of each state to exercise like control over commerce within its borders.

We demand such enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission as may be necessary to compel railroads to perform their duties as common carriers and prevent discrimination and extortion.

We favor the efficient supervision and rate regulation of railroads engaged in interstate commerce, and to this end we recommend the valuation of railroads by the interstate commerce commission, such valuation to take into consideration the physical value of the property, the original cost of reproduction, and all elements of value that will render the valuation made fair and just.

We favor such legislation as will prohibit the railroads from engaging in business which brings them into competition with their shippers, also legislation which will assure such reduction in transportation rates as conditions will permit, care being taken to avoid reductions that would compel a reduction of wages, prevent adequate service or do injustice to legitimate investments. We heartily approve the laws prohibiting the pass and the rebate, and we favor any further necessary legislation to restrain, control and prevent such abuses.

We favor such legislation as will increase the power of the interstate commerce commission, giving it the initiative with reference to rates and transportation charges put into effect by the railroad companies, and permitting the interstate commerce commission on its own initiative to declare a rate illegal and as being more than should be charged for such service. That the present law relating thereto is inadequate by reason of the fact that the interstate commerce commission is without power to fix or investigate a rate until complaint has been made to it by the shipper.

We further declare that all agreements of traffic or other associations of railway agents affecting interstate rates, service or classification, shall be unlawful unless filed with and approved by the interstate commerce commission.

We favor the enactment of a law giving to the interstate commerce commission the power to inspect proposed railroad tariff rates or schedules before they shall take effect and if they be found to be unreasonable, to initiate an adjustment thereof.

Banking.

The panic of 1907, coming without any legitimate excuse, when the Republican party had for a decade been in complete control of the federal government, furnishes additional proof that it is either unwilling or incompetent to protect the interests of the general public. It has so linked the country to Wall Street that the sins of the speculators are visited upon the whole people. While refusing to rescue wealth producers from spoliation at the hands of the stock gamblers and speculators in farm products, it has deposited treasury funds, without interest and without competition, in favorite banks. It has used an emergency for which it is largely responsible to force through Congress a bill changing the basis of bank currency and inviting market manipulation and has failed to give to the 15,000,000 depositors of the country protection in their savings.

We believe that in so far as the needs of commerce require an emergency currency, such currency should be issued, controlled by the federal government and loaned on adequate security to national and state banks. We pledge ourselves to legislation under which the national banks shall be required to establish a guarantee fund for the prompt payment of the depositors of any insolvent national bank under an equitable system which shall be available to all State banking institutions wishing to use it.

We favor a postal savings bank if the guaranteed bank cannot be secured and that it be constituted so as to keep the deposited money in the communities where it is established.

Income Tax.

We favor an income tax as part of our revenue system, and we urge the submission of a constitutional amendment specifically authorizing congress to levy and collect a tax upon individual and corporate incomes to the end that wealth may bear its proportionate share of the burdens of the federal government.

Labor and Injunctions.

The courts of justice are the bulwarks of our liberties, and we yield to none in our purpose to maintain their dignity. We resent the attempt of the Republican party to raise false issues respecting the judiciary. It is an unjust reflection upon a great body of our citizens to assume that they lack respect for the courts.

It is the function of the courts to interpret the laws which the people create and if the laws appear to work economic, social or political injustice, it is our duty to change them. Experience has proven the necessity of a modification of the present law relating to injunctions, and we reiterate the pledge in favor of the measure relating to contempts in federal courts and providing for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt.

"Questions of judicial practice have arisen, especially in connection with indus-

It may cost a little more—but so does the Twentieth Century Limited.

A Chain and Its Links

In telephoning there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service:" 1. The person calling. 2. The operator. 3. The person called.

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

If the person calling fails to consult the catalogue and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitably repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally "there is no one on the line."

Being human the operator—the third link—is liable to err occasionally, but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

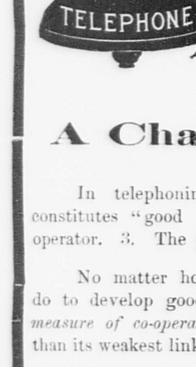

If Link No. 1 Gives the Right Number and Calls Distinctly, and Link No. 3 Answers Promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy, or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one of 300,000 telephones in the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Even if he is not a subscriber, you can arrange to have the person desired called to a Pay Station to talk to you.

CHARGE IS RECALLED

Closing of the Venezuelan Legation at Washington

RESULT OF A LONG STRAIN

Complete Severance of Diplomatic Relations Does Not Indicate Slightest Danger of War In the Immediate Future

Washington, July 9.—The diplomatic relations between America and Venezuela, that have existed uninterruptedly for more than half a century, though in recent years severely strained, have been completely severed. At 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Senor Velose, the Venezuelan charge d'affaires, called at the state department by appointment to present to Acting Secretary Bacon notice from his government that he was to quit his post here, close up the Venezuelan legation in Washington and repair forthwith to Venezuela.

The charge executed his commission punctiliously. In five minutes' time he had explained to the secretary that the action of the state department in withdrawing Jacob Sleeper, the American charge, from Caracas, and in closing up its legation there, made it necessary for his government to take similar action in the case of its own legation in Washington. Therefore, he was leaving the capital at the earliest possible moment. He will arrange his domestic affairs today and will proceed directly to New York, there to take passage for Venezuela on Saturday.

Just what took place between Bacon and Velose cannot be known beyond the fact that the latter presented his letters of recall. He made no demand for his passports nor could he do so consistently in view of the fact that Foreign Minister Paul had declined to issue such passports to Sleeper when he withdrew from Caracas, on the ground that there was no necessity for passports, the country being in profound peace and his person not being threatened in any way.

Senor Velose did communicated to Bacon the fact that the files and papers of the Venezuelan legation would be placed in the custody of Jacobo Pimental, the Venezuelan consul general in New York. This statement is regarded as an indication that the Venezuelan government will follow the precedent established by the United States in refraining from interfering with trade by closing the consulates, notwithstanding the breach in diplomatic relations. No arrangement has been made for the transaction of any diplomatic business which Venezuela might find it absolutely necessary to transact, through some unforeseen contingency.

Taking leave of Bacon and accepting the suggestion that he communicate in writing to Secretary Root the direction of his government in this matter, Velose paid hasty calls upon other officials of the state department whom he has long and intimately known. Velose has come to be very highly regarded in the diplomatic circles.

As to the future it is pointed out by officials that there is not the slightest danger of war in the immediate future, or indeed at all. Rather will the situation resemble that following the ruptpre of diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela, for instance. Legations were closed on both sides and all official relations were terminated, while trade between the two countries continued and Frenchmen came to Venezuela and rich Venezuelans made their annual trips to Paris as if nothing had occurred.

Mr. Velose's withdrawal follows that of Minister Russell as diplomatic representative of the United States to Venezuela about two months ago, and that of Mr. Sleeper, the secretary of legation, and Lieutenant Ruggles, the military attache, about two weeks since. The reason for the withdrawal of the American legation at Caracas arose from the persistent refusal of Venezuela to give redress for the governmental action by which all American interests in Venezuela were either destroyed or confiscated or to submit the claims of American citizens to arbitration.

There were five of these claims in all. For a long time past the American government has been making efforts to secure a settlement of these claims, various unsuccessful attempts having been made by preceding administrations.

The state department is watching with no little interest the outcome of the diplomatic relations between Holland and Venezuela, now believed to be near the breaking point. Such information as may be in the department is being withheld, but it is understood to be in keeping with the news from Caracas and indicates that the relations between the two countries have reached an acute stage.

trial disputes. We deem that the parties to all judicial proceedings should be treated with rigid impartiality, and that injunctions should not be issued in any cases in which injunctions would not issue if no industrial dispute were not involved.

The expanding organization of industry makes it essential that there should not be abridgement of the right of wage earners, producers to organize for the protection of wages and the improvement of labor conditions to the end that such labor organizations and their members should not be regarded as illegal combinations in restraint of trade.

We favor the eight-hour day on all Government work.

We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law by congress, as far as the federal jurisdiction extends, for a general employers' liability act, covering injury to body or loss of life of employees.

We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law creating a department represented separately in the President's cabinet, which department shall include the subject of mines and mining.

The Navy.

The Constitutional provision that a navy shall be provided and maintained means an adequate navy, and we believe that the interests of this country would be best served by having a navy sufficient to defend the coasts of this country, and protect American citizens wherever their rights may be in jepody.

Protection of American Citizens.

We pledge our services to insist upon the just and lawful protection of our citizens at home and abroad, and to use all proper methods to secure for them, whether native born or naturalized, and without distinction of race or creed, the equal protection of law and the enjoyment of all rights and privileges open to them under our treaties. We demand that all over the world a duly authoritated passport issued by the government of the United States to an American citizen shall be proof of the fact that he is an American citizen, and shall entitle him to the treatment due him as such.

Civil Service.

The laws pertaining to the Civil Service should be honestly and rigidly enforced to the end that merit and ability shall be the standard of appointment and promotion rather than services rendered to a political party.

Pensions.

We favor a generous pension policy, both as a matter of justice to the surviving veterans and their dependents and because it tends to relieve the country of the necessity of maintaining a large standing army.

Popular Election of Senators.

We favor the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people. We regard this reform as the gateway to other national reforms.

Waterways.

Water furnishes the cheapest means of transportation, and the national government, having the control of navigable waters, should improve them to their fullest capacity.

We earnestly favor the immediate adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for improving every water course in the union which is justified by the needs of commerce, and to secure that end we favor when practicable, the connection of the Great Lakes with the navigable rivers and with the gulf through the Mississippi river, and the navigable rivers with each other, and the rivers, bays and sounds of our coasts with each other by artificial canals, with a view to perfecting a system of inland waterways, to be navigated by vessels of standard draught.

Telegraph and Telephone.

We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law to regulate the rates and services of telegraph and telephone companies engaged in the transmission of messages between the states, under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission.

Natural Resources.

We repeat the demand for internal development and for the conservation of our natural resources, contained in previous platforms, the enforcement of which Mr. Roosevelt has vainly sought from a reluctant party, and to that end we insist upon the preservation, protection and replacement of needed forests, the preservation of the public domain for homeseekers, the protection of the national resources in timber, coal, iron and oil against monopolistic control, the development of our waterways for navigation and every other useful purpose, including the irrigation of arid lands, the reclamation of swamp lands, the clarification of streams, the development of the water power, and the preservation of electric power generated by this natural force from the control of monopoly; and, to such end, we urge the exercise of all powers, national, state and municipal, both separately and in co-operation. We insist upon a policy of administration of our forest reserve which shall relieve it of the abuses which have arisen thereunder.

Hawaii.

We favor the application of principles of the land laws of the United States to our newly acquired territory, Hawaii, to the end that the public lands of that territory may be held and utilized for the benefit of bona fide homesteaders.

Philippines.

We condemn the experiment in imperialism as an inexcusable blunder, which has involved us in an enormous expense, brought us weakness instead of strength, and laid our nation open to the charge of abandoning a fundamental doctrine of self-government. We favor an immediate declaration of the nation's purpose to recognize the independence of the Philippine Islands as soon as stable government can be established, such independence to be guaranteed by us as we guarantee the independence of Cuba, until the neutralization of the islands can be secured by treaty with other powers. In recognizing the independence of the Philippines our government should retain such land as may be necessary for coaling stations and naval bases.

Pan-American Relations.

The Democratic party recognizes the importance and advantage of developing closer ties of Pan-American friendship and commerce between the United States and her sister nations of Latin-America and favors the taking of such steps, consistent with Democratic policies, for better acquaintance, greater mutual confidence, and larger exchange of trade as will bring lasting benefit not only to the United States, but to this group of American republics having constitutional forms of government, ambitious and interests akin to our own.

Asiatic Immigration

We favor full protection, by both national and state governments within their respective spheres, of all foreigners residing in the United States under treaty, but we are opposed to the admission of Asiatic immigrants who cannot be amalgamated with our population, or whose presence among us would raise a race issue and involve us in diplomatic controversies with oriental powers.

The Democratic Stand.

The Democratic party is the champion of civil rights and opportunities to all; the Republican party is the party of privilege and private monopoly. The Democratic party listens to the voice of the whole people and guages progress by the prosperity and advancement of the average man; the Republican party is subservient to the comparatively few who are the beneficiaries of governmental favoritism. We invite the co-operation of all, regardless of previous political affiliations or past differences, who desire to preserve a government of the people, by the people and for the people who favor such an administration of the government as will insure, as far as human wisdom can, that every citizen shall draw from society a reward commensurate with his contribution to the welfare of society.

The reading of the platform was concluded at 12:56 o'clock this morning, Chairman Haskell having read for a few minutes less than an hour. "Mr. Chairman, I move the adoption of the report," said Haskell, turning to the chairman. The motion was adopted amid great cheering.

Bryan at the Telephone

Lincoln, Neb., July 10.—W. J. Bryan, with his family and one or two close friends, listened last night by telephone to the wild demonstration which interrupted the speech of I. J. Dunn, nominating him as the candidate for president. He heard the voice of Sergeant-at-Arms Martin, the music of bands and voices raised in song.

Watson Notified of Nomination

Atlanta, July 10.—Thomas E. Watson, candidate of the People's party for President of the United States, was formally informed last night of his nomination by the committee appointed by the St. Louis national convention, at a meeting of the Populists in that city. The notification speech was delivered by Judge Forrest of Albany, chairman of the committee. In accepting the nomination, Watson made a lengthy address.

Taft's Speech of Acceptance

Hot Springs, Va., July 10.—W. H. Taft has planned to devote next week to writing his speech of acceptance of the Republican nomination for the presidency. During that time he will try to make his seclusion in the Virginia mountains as complete as possible. His speech is to be delivered in Cincinnati on July 28. Before it is made public he will submit it to a number of leaders of the party to get their views upon it.

Fires Result From Drought

Portland, Me., July 10.—Fanned into renewed vigor by a strong west wind, fires which have been smouldering for days in various districts of drought-stricken Maine got beyond control yesterday and threatened to sweep several villages. The greatest damage is feared on Georgetown Island, where the flames from a forest fire are working rapidly toward Riggsville and Georgetown Center. The cutting off of telephonic communication prevented definite news of the progress of the blaze.

Conference of Naval Officers

Newport, R. I., July 10.—An important conference is being held at the naval war college here today between leading line officers of the navy who were summoned from various quarters. They will report upon plans for the new battleships and discuss the necessity for any modification in the ships now being constructed or designed in order to make them more formidable and of the highest state of fighting efficiency.

The Honduran Revolution

Washington, July 10.—All the Central American diplomats in Washington, except Ugarte of Honduras and Creel of Mexico, discussed the situation incident to the revolutionary outbreak in Honduras at the state department yesterday. Both the United States and Mexico are pressing upon the Central American countries the necessity of absolute neutrality in the matter of the trouble in Honduras.

Indians Not Troublesome

Muskogee, Okla., July 10.—Word received from the Hickory camp grounds says that Crazy Snake and his followers are perfectly quiet and that there is absolutely no trouble that would warrant the state authorities in calling troops to the scene. The Snake band of the Creek Indians and negroes are holding their annual green corn dance, and Indian Agent Kelcey says there is no cause for alarm.

Three Men Hurt on Monitor

Washington, July 10.—A report received at the navy department from the commander of the naval training squadron at New London, Conn., says that the accidental blowing out of a defective lantern in the boiler tube on the monitor Nevada was attended by no very serious results. One man was slightly scalded, another was painfully burned and a third was rather badly scalded.

Newspaper Sued by Jurymen

Paris, July 10.—The jurymen in the Humbert libel case against The Matin are now suing that journal for $20,000 damages on account of the article printed the day after the trial, in which their verdict was criticised. Senator Humbert sued The Matin for connecting his name with swindling operations and was awarded damages in the sum of $10,000.

Expert Horsewoman Killed

Lincoln, Mass., July 10.—Miss Elsie Snow, aged 19, was killed by being thrown from a horse which her uncle had just purchased and which she was riding for the first time. No one saw the accident. Her body was found lying by the roadside by an expressman, life being extinct. Miss Snow was an expert horsewoman.

Strike of Five Hundred Girls

Passaic, N. J., July 10.—Five hundred girls who hem handkerchiefs at a handkerchief company's plant here quit work because a demand they made for increased wages has not been granted. The workers had their wages cut several weeks ago, and hoped to bring the scale back to its former standing.

Broker Killed by a Fall

New York, July 10.—Having fallen from a train, Henry J. Faulkner, a member of the New York Stock Exchange since 1888, was removed to a hospital with a fractured skull. He died there later. Faulkner had offices in Wall street.

Steamer Pounded to Pieces

St. Johns, July 10.—Steamer Regulus, coal-laden, from Philadelphia for this port, went ashore at Petty Harbor and quickly pounded to pieces on the ledges. Her crew took to the boats and landed safely, after a desperate struggle.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, July 11.

Sun rises—4:18; sets—7:22.

Moon sets—1:56 a. m.

High water—9 a. m.; 9:15 p. m.

A warm wave will set in over New England. It will be of two to three days' duration and will end with rains.

Bill Field Moves Up Closer Says He Will Keep Them Guessing

Only 240 votes separate the leaders in the Motor Boat contest today, a friend of Mr. Field having sent in a trial order which gave him 100 votes.

James F. Parker, the popular clerk of the street railway has taken his place among those with over 100 votes, having moved up three places. Less than forty trial orders would place him in the lead in the contest.

A new candidate enters the arena today, Miss Marion L. Touey of South Weymouth. Her start is only 34, but her friends say there are "more to follow."

T. J. Larkins, Dr. Ash, Albert C. Bruff, Joseph Upling and others also make gains.

The dates for the closing of the contest will be announced tomorrow.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

Didn't Give Him a Chance.

"Say, ma," piped up little Johnny after the minister had finished his call and taken his departure, "when Mr. Meeker was here every time you stopped talkin' a minute he would start in to say somethin' an' git as fur every time as 'I dare say,' an' then you would start goin' ag'in an' talk a lot more, an' that is the way it kept on right along, an' the only thing he said all the time he was here was 'I dare say,' 'I dare say,' every few minutes."

"Well, what of it? I am not to blame for Mr. Meeker's paucity of ideas, am I?" demanded Johnny's mother, somewhat impatiently.

"I dunno 'bout that," said Johnny doubtfully, as if not exactly sure what was meant by paucity of ideas, "but anyhow, ma, you orter give him a chanst. When he started in with 'I dare say,' why didn't you keep quiet jest once, ma, an' let him go ahead an' say what he was goin' to an' have it over with?"—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Tribute to Late F. A. Claflin

Editors of Daily Ledger:

The recent references in the Patriot to the faithful services of the Librarian and others who have contributed so essentially to make the Crane Memorial Library a benefaction to the people of Quincy, affords an opening to remind them of yet another person who wrought unselfishly for it. Mr. Frederick Allan Claflin, who was for years one of the Trustees of the Library, labored assiduously to direct the flow of the best literature to its shelves. To him was committed the task of selecting and purchasing books.

Earlier in the history of the library Mrs. J. P. Quincy exercised her fine taste and judgment in sifting the really meritorious productions from the mass of print which poured from the speeded presses. This was the duty which fell to Mr. Claflin soon after his appointment as trustee. His genuine love of books, his scholarship, his wide sympathies all disposed him to enter upon the work with devotion, and most generously did he give of his time and his abilities.

Personally I can render this testimony to his services for I was intimate with him and not infrequently saw the stacks of books which he inspected. His coadjutors in the library, however, are most competent to estimate the scope and value of his labors, and they speak most heartily in praise of them.

It is now four months since Mr. Claflin's swift passing away, (the day was March 14,) and this word of public appreciation may seem to many people belated. Doubtless at the time there were those among his friends who were moved to record in print their thought of the important part which he played in furthering the welfare of the community, but who postponed their tribute from day to day till it was swept away finally by the streaming distractions of a busy life.

They would have commended his public spirit, they would have shown how careful he was to fulfil his whole duty as a citizen, they would have recalled to mind his participation in the debates and researches of that group of our leading citizens who aimed to secure for the new city of Quincy an ideal and up-to-date charter. Indeed, during his long residence in this community there was hardly a single meeting or movement having for its end the improvement of social conditions that lacked his presence and enlightening word. He was an irrepressible reformer.

The born Yankee is naturally this, and Mr. Claflin first saw the light in Sandwich in 1848, the issue of a long line of Colonial ancestry which in its sturdy generations numbered a Minute-man at the battle of Lexington, and Col. Wadsworth of Charter Oak fame. The push of such an inheritance led to independent thinking, clarified patriotic sentiments, and the unhesitating challenge of all customs and institutions in the interests of justice and truth.

However busy he might be in his daily employment he seldom resisted the sway of this inborn tendency. Generously he gave of himself,—his strength, his time, his means,—to civic improvement, to the cause of industrial justice, to the purification of the ballot, to tariff reform, to equal suffrage for women, to education.

He might have contented himself with the study of literature and science in which he took more than ordinary delight, but by every truth acquired and ideal stimulated he was impelled the more to live with, and work for, his fellow-men.

His trustworthiness as a business man is evidenced by the fact that for thirty-three years he was connected with the Bank of Redemption of Boston; and the esteem in which he was held by his associates in banking circles was pleasantly affirmed by his election as one of the vice presidents of the Bank Officers Association. Since 1897 he filled the position of treasurer of the Avery Chemical Company. Kind-hearted, sympathetic and friendly he is missed by a large circle in business and social life.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued cases of Albert Starite, Angelo Starite, Antonio Ragazzi and Joseph LaRusso, for assault at Braintree were heard. Albert Slarite was fined $15; Angelo Starite, $10; Ragazzi and LaRusso, $5 each. All paid but Angelo Starite, who appealed.

The continued case of Abram Ginsburg, for larceny at Quincy, was heard, and he was held in $500 for the grand jury.

Five Hundred Acres Burned Over

Brunswick, Me., July 9.—Five hundred acres of land, including a considerable quantity of standing timber, was burned over last night. A large crew of men, assisted by some hand tubs from this village, fought the flames, and saved a number of houses in their path, so that the loss will probably not exceed $5000. The burned area is about 2½ miles outside the village of Brunswick.

Gould Case Stricken From Docket

New York, July 9.—Reports that Frank J. Gould and his wife have become reconciled were circulated here, following the striking from the court calendar of an action entitled "Gould versus Gould." This was said to be the action for divorce brought by Mrs. Gould about a week ago. Counsel for both Gould and his wife decline to make any statement concerning the case.

Russia's Hand In Persia

Berlin, July 9.—A dispatch from Teheran says: The new machine guns have not yet been delivered to the Cossack brigade because the shah fears to increase the bitter feelings of the people at the rapid manner in which he has been turning everything into Russian hands. It is stated that it is the intention to purchase forty-eight of them in all.

Prosperous, but Unhappy

Wallingford, Conn., July 9.—Walter Overa was found dead in a cemetery here with a self-inflicted bullet wound in his head. Letters found in his pockets are said to indicate that he had meditated suicide. He leaves a widow in Brooklyn. Overa was a prosperous designer and was well educated, speaking five languages.

Poisoners' Heads Lopped Off

Saigon, Cochin China, July 9.—The three Annamite officers, condemned to death for complicity in a plot to poison the members of the garrison, have been beheaded at Hanoi. Two hundred members of the garrison were taken ill recently and an examination of their drinking water showed the presence of poison.

Defrauded the Government

Chicago, July 9.—Daniel F. Keller, formerly a captain in the United States army, was sentenced by Judge Landis to serve two years at hard labor in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth for defrauding the government through the use of stolen quartermasters' checks to the extent of $7000.

A Chapel on a Bridge.

At St. Ives, the little old Huntingdonshire town in which Oliver Cromwell lived for several years, there is a bridge spanning the lazily flowing Ouse, and on this bridge is a quaint building which at one time did duty as a chapel. The structure has been in existence for something like 500 years and was, according to local historians, originally employed as a beacon lighthouse. After that it was turned for a time into a hostel and eventually became an ordinary dwelling house Some of the rooms in this curious building are below the level of the water in the river.

His Sorrow.

"You know that box of cigars you gave me on my birthday, dear?" said a man to his wife.

"Yes."

"Well, I took them down to the office, and some one stole them."

"I'm awfully sorry."

"So am I—for the thief!" was the cruel remark.

An Outsider.

Suitor—Your daughter, sir—well, er—that is—she told me to come to you—she says you— Pater—Quite so—I understand. Let's see, are you Mr. Bronson or Mr. Wibbles? Suitor—Why, I'm Mr. Hotchkiss!—Cleveland Leader.

A Chain and Its Links

In telephoning there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service:" 1. The person calling. 2. The operator. 3. The person called.

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

If the person calling fails to consult the catalogue and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitably repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally "there is no one on the line."

Being human the operator—the third link—is liable to err occasionally, but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

If Link No. 1 Gives the Right Number and Calls Distinctly, and Link No. 3 Answers Promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy, or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one of 300,000 telephones in the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Even if he is not a subscriber, you can arrange to have the person desired called to a Pay Station to talk to you.

FR. ROCHE TRANSFERRED.

Will Go to the Large Parish at Watertown.

The parishioners of St. Mary's church will be greatly surprised, as well as sorry, to learn that they are to lose their beloved pastor, Rev. Ambrose F. Roche, as he has been transferred to Watertown.

The announcement of the change was made this noon. The parish to which Fr. Roche has been assigned is a much larger than St. Mary's and the transfer is in the line of a promotion. The parish is the one presided over by Rev. Fr. Cullen who recently passed away.

It is expected that Fr. Roche will assume his new charge Sunday, July 19.

With the ennouncement of the new assignment of Fr. Roche comes the announcement that Rev. Henry T. Grady of Charlestown has been assigned as pastor of St. Mary's parish.

Fr. Roche has long been identified with all public matters in Quincy and has taken an active and lively interest in all matters tending to the welfare of the city particularly the temperance movement.

Fr. Roche came to Quincy as curate at St. John's church, immediately after leaving college. One of his first acts was to organize the young men of the parish under the name of the St. John's T. A. S. He labored in Quincy for a number of years.

He then received an appointment as pastor of the church at Hingham. He remained there until after the death of Rev. F. A. Friguglietti, when the parish of St. John's was divided. This division made St. Mary's a parish by itself, and Rev. Fr. Roche was assigned as its pastor.

He immediately saw that the church home at West Quincy was not in keeping with the growing parish, and he immediately began active work toward the erection of a new church.

His parish worked with him, and it was not long before work was commenced. Fr. Roche did not believe in going ahead too fast, and for this reason the basement only was built. This, however, is a handsome church in itself, and a good foundation.

Services were held in the new church for the first time Christmas day 1900.

Socially Fr. Roche is a very pleasant man to meet. He always had a kind word for all callers and withall he has been a hard worker for the welfare of West Quincy.

To the newspaper men whom he often met he was very kind assisting them in every way that they might get the information desired and get it correct.

He will leave Quincy with the best wishes of all for his future success.

ADDRESS OF CLAYTON

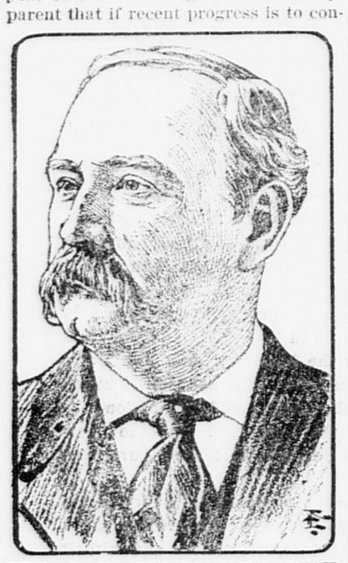

Campaign Issues Outlined by the Permanent Chairman.

DEMOCRATIC IDEAS POPULAR

They Have Even Been Adopted by the Republicans, the Chairman Declares. What Grover Cleveland Did For Labor—Federal Usurpation of Power.

Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention, delivered the following address:

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow Democrats—Let me thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me. This is a Democratic year, and Democratic ideas are now popular. Doctrines always taught by our party and scoffed at by our opponents are now urged as a gospel of their own. Measures and policies of Democrat origin are now advocated by the leaders of the Republican party. It is no longer anarchistic to declare private monopoly to be indefensible or that the great transportation companies should be regulated and controlled by public law. A demand for the revision of the tariff is no longer a threat to destroy our industrial system. Trusts are not to be tolerated even by the Republican party. We need not now enlarge on the list of Republican admissions and promises for election purposes only. The Republican party has made marked progress in promises to the people and much greater progress in aiding selfish interests and special privileges. That party, guided by expediency and campaign necessity, would camp this year on Democratic grounds. It is apparent that if recent progress is to continue it does not require a very great sweep of the imagination to see written into a Republican platform four years hence those immortal words of Thomas Jefferson, 'Equal rights to all, special privileges to none.'

HENRY D. CLAYTON, PERMANENT CHAIRMAN.

Republican Responsibility.

The Republican party, having had full control of the federal government for more than a decade, must give an account of its stewardship. Its pretentious claims, largely without foundation and largely exaggerated, will not suffice. Let honest investigation reveal the bad and defective laws passed by that party, vicious policies maintained, reforms rejected, the recent panic and its consequence, promises broken, dissimulation practiced, incompetency confessed by its failure to meet urgent public needs, and exhibiting this incompetency by the appointment of junketing commissions for the alleged purpose of advising that party so long in control and of such boasted legislative wisdom what legislation is required by the country. Against the Republican party, so degenerate and crafty, is a capable, determined, honest Democracy, in sympathy with all just public demands, and confidently asking in its behalf the candid public judgment. To that judgment the issue must be committed, and we unhesitatingly submit our cause to that fine and true sense for the right that we know distinguishes the American people.

"My Policies."

In this quadrennial contest Mr. Roosevelt has identified himself with Mr. Taft. Mr. Taft has identified himself with Mr. Roosevelt. The Republican party has inseparably identified the two together. To praise one you must praise the other; to criticise one is to criticise his pursuing shadow. And so, I must say, if it should appear to any one that in noting and denouncing abuses and failures on the part of the present administration any license is assumed. I urge the impossibility of separating the present occupant of the White House from his own anointed one.

"It has been made evident in the pending campaign that the Republicans will seek to conjure with the name of Roosevelt and will rely upon the president's policies as a prized asset. The president has advertised himself and his policies with a frequency and ability that surpasses the best efforts of the shrewdest press agent. A distinguished Republican, a former cabinet officer, once publicly proclaimed the president to be the greatest exponent of the art of advertising the world has known. The country has been told and not allowed to forget that, in his opinion, his energies have been devoted to the accomplishment of many high purposes and that if his work is yet incomplete it is so only because his undertakings were too vast to be carried to success during his term of office. 'My policies' must continue. The purpose is that the fight must go on under the leader designated by him until the last foe shall have surrendered or lies inglorious in the dust. The nomination of his would be successor was largely accomplished by the use of official patronage and coarse machine methods and has delighted the chief apostle of strenuosity, and at the same time has not perturbed the conscience of the one time civil service reformer, now the boss; an adept in the bestowal of advice to the public and forgetful of all his resounding moral commonplaces. No fair minded American could read the daily acts of the recent political doings at Chicago without feeling mortification and regret; mortification that the president should have so abused his power in dictating to a great party his choice of a successor and regret that the party should have submitted so cowardly to a humiliation that was as manifest as it was degrading."

Campaign Contributions.

Mr. Clayton called attention to the failure of the Republican convention to insert a plank forbidding campaign contributions and quoted President Roosevelt's condemnation of the practice in his message of December, 1906. Injunctions and contempts of court were treated vigorously and several quotations from the message of President Roosevelt were given to show that the president had abandoned at the Chicago convention the policies he had vigorously urged in his message, adding:

"It is important to note that the act of June 2, 1886, was passed at the first session of the first congress that met under the first Democratic administration after the civil war, and there labor received its first recognition from the government. One Republican administration has succeeded another for twenty-four years and not an act was passed in the interest of labor or in acknowledgment of its right to fair and equal treatment.' The Republicans enacted a tariff which enhanced the price of products that labor had made and capital owned, and they pretended to do this with a view of securing for labor higher wages. What they gave, however, was to the capitalist, and they trusted him to divide. That the increased profits of protected employers have made them able to pay the laboring man higher wages no one can doubt, but it remains for the saving grace of Almighty God so to touch their hearts as to make them willing to pay the fair wages.

"Among the contributions that went to make up the monument that this great man Grover Cleveland builded in the respect and affection of his countrymen few are more striking than his almost instant recognition, as evidenced by this act of 1886, of the sane and just demands of labor on the lawmaking power. Under him Democracy blazed the way and remains the unflinching champion of every sound reform in this direction.

"The president and his party declare that 'a pre-election revision of the tariff would be unwise.' This assertion has been read in advance of every election since the enactment of the Dingley law, and surely the country will not again be deceived by Republican promises to revise the tariff after the election. Their appeal to the people is this: 'Give us another chance to make you a promise.'

What Does Protectionism Mean?

"Under the Republican policy of protection the people, the consumers, while paying a little over $300,000,000 per year into the treasury through import duties of foreign goods, pay between $1,250,000,000 and $1,500,000,000 a year in the enhanced price of home produced goods. Our domestic manufactures exceed our total imports by ten to one, and they are nearly all protected. It is safe to say that the people pay at least five dollars to the already wealthy beneficiaries of protectionism for every dollar that is paid into the treasury. Behind the wall of high protection, which in some cases is altogether prohibitive, the trusts levy enormous tribute on the people. This amounted to not less than $10,000,000,000 in the last decade, not counting the amount paid to support the government. This money has come from the pockets of the farmer, mechanic, merchant, professional man and the laborer, and has been poured into the coffers of the protected classes. More than two-thirds of the capital that derives benefit from protectionism belongs to the trusts. The Democrats will revise the tariff downward and in the interest of the taxpayers, who are always forgotten by the Republican party. There must be a revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of tariff reduction for the common good and not by the beneficiaries of its abuses, who justify use of the impost taxing power for the chief purpose of conferring privilege and profit upon the few at the expense of the many.

Trusts.

"It is the shortest of steps from the tariff to the trusts. Let it be denied. If they care to deny it, that the tariff is the real mother of the trusts. The president has made great pretense of destroying trusts. Let him tell of the result. In a message delivered to congress he said: 'The department of justice has for the last four years devoted more attention to the enforcement of anti-trust legislation than anything else. Much has been accomplished; particularly marked has been the moral effect of the prosecutions, but it is increasingly evident that there will be a very insufficiently beneficial result in the way of the economic changes. The successful prosecution of one device to evade the law immediately develops another device to accomplish the same purpose. What is needed is not sweeping prohibition every arrangement, good or bad, which might tend to restrict competition, but such supervision and regulation as will prevent other abuses, in no way connected with restriction of competition.'

"This is an admission of failure, and one does not need to dwell on this admission further than to say that the imprisonment of those who violated the law would have had a more salutary effect than all that has been done or might have been done in this direction during his entire administration.

"The Democratic party will strike down special privileges, whether granted through a high protective tariff or granted to chartered corporations by permission of law. All trusts owe their birth and their ability to continue in existence to one or the other of these two forms of special privilege. No private monopoly, no business approximating private monopoly, in methods or in magnitude, can endure without one or the other."

The recent panic and the causes which led to the Aldrich bill were treated exhaustively and a review given of the failure of congress to pass many important measures which were recommended by the president. Regarding the president's failure to call an extra session, Mr. Clayton pointed out that the Democratic leader of the house, authorized by all his party associates, repeatedly offered to support the measures, but that Republican support was not forthcoming and that it was simply a play for Republican votes.

Federal Usurpation.

Federal usurpation of power was severely scored in the following language:

"The president is upon an eminence. If he violates the law, men everywhere know it. If he does not himself respect it to the full extent, he robs it of the reverence that might be willingly bestowed by others. In this same overbearing spirit he has placed and kept in office men who were not appointed by and with the advice and consent of the senate. He has influenced or attempted to influence courts and juries in the administration of public justice, not only by deciding who should and who should not be prosecuted, but by making known his personal feelings or sympathies between the prosecution and the accused. He has scolded judges for their interpretations of the laws.

"It was therefore timely and appropriate that the Republican party at Chicago should have declared that it 'will uphold at all times the authority and integrity of the courts.' He has constantly cried out for more power on the part of the federal government at the expense of the powers reserved to the states. In this speech at Harrisburg in October, 1906, he told of easy methods for increasing the power of the federal government. The method provided in the constitution was too cumbersome, slow and uncertain for him. There he lets the country into the secret of his short cut to increasing the federal power in these words: 'We need through executive action, through legislation and through judicial interpretation and construction to increase the power of the federal government.'

Rights of the States.

"Mr. Root, whom the president is said to have called 'My secretary,' followed this Harrisburg expression by a speech in New York in which he said 'Sooner or later construction will be found to vest power where it will be exercised by the national government.

"Of course many people are not surprised at any opinion the president utters; he has so many of them and has expressed them on so many conceivable and nonconceivable occasions.

"Now, Secretary Root is an able lawyer and a man of trained and deliberate habits of thought. Nothing shows more plainly the demoralization wrought by the president than the fact that this trained lawyer, in the very front rank of his great profession should advocate changing the organic law of the Union by construction to 'be found,' and to 'be found' by whom? By the very men who are to exercise the power. The insidious proposition of Mr. Root, following up the suggestion of his chief, is that where authority is not granted which in the opinion of the executive ought to have been granted this authority is none the less to be exercised, and if no other basis for it can be had it is to be based upon construction to 'be found.' In other words, if the constitution has not conferred the power upon the executive then the power is to be vested in him by construction to 'be found' in a way not provided for by the organic law of the Union.

"Representative institutions must be preserved, our federal government of delegated and limited powers must be maintained in all its constitutional vigor, and each state must be preserved with all of its reserve powers and in its integrity and autonomy forever.

"Therein is the safety of the Union and the states, one indissoluble and the other indestructible. Let us confidently hope that the time will be never ripe for the change of the constitution by executive action and by judicial interpretations. If such a time should come, then a government of law will perish from the earth and a government of caprice will be created on the ruins of one established by a written constitution.

Democratic Duty.

"We know there is a brighter prospect, if the love of country and liberty is still strong in the hearts of the American people; if an oath to support the constitution is now considered by them as binding; if the people are in earnest in their protests against the rule of insolent wealth, the unauthorized and baleful influence of corporations and the exactions of the trusts; if the manliness of the fathers has been transmitted to the sons. And the 4th of next March will mark the advent of the gladsome light of Democracy and the beginning of the return to constitutional government honestly and economically administered. To the banner we raise here we invite all citizens of our common country who revere the nobler traditions of the past and who deplore the grave aberrations of the present. Let us see to it that this standard shall once again float over a government resting on lasting foundations. Mr. Chairman, delegates and fellow countrymen, the time and the occasion in our national affairs impose a duty we cannot, if we would, evade. We must go out from this hall with one heart and a determination to put our loved ship of state on an even keel. That keel has been too long beating the air. We must bring it down into the deep and abiding waters of the constitution."

GROVER CLEVELAND'S WILL

Written by Himself and Does Not Disclose Extent of His Wealth

Trenton, July 11.—The will of former President Grover Cleveland was probated at the home of Mrs. Cleveland in Princeton, Surrogate Cornell going there for that purpose out of consideration for Mrs. Cleveland, who did not care to come to the courthouse at Trenton. Mrs. Cleveland arrived in Princeton from New Hampshire yesterday.

The will is in Cleveland's own handwriting and makes no disclosures as to the extent of his wealth. After some minor bequests and the creation of a fund of $10,000 for each of the four children, the remainder of the estate is left to Mrs. Cleveland. In his will Cleveland expressed the desire to be buried in the place where he died and that the body should not be removed unless it should be absolutely necessary in order to have it repose by the side of his wife.

Witnesses to the will are Professor A. F. West of Princeton and Professor J. S. Finley, New York city, who were at Princeton and who acknowledged to the surrogate that they had witnessed Cleveland's signature to the document. Mrs. Cleveland is made executrix and Frank S. Hanstings executor under the will.

Light Campaign Funds Expected

Hot Springs, Va., July 11.—That the publicity of campaign funds is to be made a feature of the coming campaign has been made very clear here. Mr. Taft had extended talks with Chairman Hitchcock and with Treasurer Sheldon of the national committee. The necessity for the strictest possible compliance with the New York law in relation to the publicity of campaign funds of the national committee was the chief topic. Sheldon said he believed money for campaign purposes would be very "light" this year, but he did not believe the publicity of campaign funds would lessen the amount contributed.

Suit Against Labor Leaders

Denver, July 11.—While Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, J. S. Lennon, F. K. Morrison, Joseph Valentine, James Duncan and Max Morris were holding a conference on labor matters here, they were served with papers to appear as defendants in a suit brought by the W. R. Thompson Marble company against them, as leading officers of the American Federation of Labor, for $50,000 for alleged damages to its business by a strike and boycott. These officers will have to appear here on July 17 to give testimony. The trial has been set for Aug. 4.

Some Louisiana Laws

Baton Rouge, La., July 11.—The Louisiana assembly has adjourned after passing more than 300 new statutes. The abolishment of race track gambling and the defeat of state wide prohibition were the two big battles of the session. High license, with many reforms in the conduct of saloons, was substituted for prohibition. A child labor law was enacted, prohibiting girls between 14 and 18 and boys between 14 and 16 years of age from working except between the hours of 6 a. m. and 7 p. m. Children under 14 cannot work at all.

Letter Mislaid For Eighteen Years

Columbus, O., July 11.—Eighteen years after George Swanson completed his one-year sentence in the penitentiary for violating the United States pension laws, a full and complete pardon arrived at the institution yesterday, signed by Benjamin Harrison, then President of the United States. The original letter containing the pardon is dated at Washington, Sept. 3, 1890. It was stamped at Columbus Sept. 4 in the evening. It is probable that the letter has been lying in some postoffice for years.

Chimes High Up In Air

New York, July 11.—A group of four large bells will be placed on the forty-sixth story of the new tower of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's building. The bells will be placed nearly twice as high as any in the world. The largest will weigh 7000 pounds and the smallest 1500, and are said to be the largest bells ever assembled in a group. They will strike the quarters of each hour in chime, and in the night may be heard at a great distance.

Alleged Counterfeiter Held

Danville, Ills., July 11.—Charles E. Brown, 35 years of age, a prominent attorney, was arrested by secret service agents on the charge of counterfeiting. Brown was held in bonds of $5000. In a secret desk and in the cellar of Brown's home the government agents found what they say is a complete counterfeiting outfit for the manufacture of $5 gold pieces, silver half dollars, quarters, dimes and nickels.

Train and Automobile Met

New York, July 11.—A big automobile, carrying W. R. Hutchings of Brooklyn, his wife and daughter and a chauffeur, was run down by a fast express at Center Moriches, L. I. Mrs. Hutchings was dead when found and her husband died later of his injuries. The daughter was seriously injured, while the chauffeur was unhurt. The machine was running at high speed when the train struck it.

Victory For Honduran Rebels

Washington, July 11.—Confirmation of the dispatch that the Honduran revolutionists have captured the fortified town of Choluteca was brought to the state department by Mr. Ugarte, the minister from Honduras. This distinct victory of the revolutionists is a disappointment to the American and Mexican governments, whose officials had hoped the revolutionary movement would soon spend itself.

IN CONSTANT TOUCH

Bryan Had Much to Do With Guiding the Convention

HE HAD NO IDLE MOMENTS

Averaged but Three Hours Sleep Out of Twenty-Four During Trying Days--Congratulations of Fellow Townsmen Stir His Emotions

Lincoln, Neb., July 11.—William Jennings Bryan, after four days and nights of strenuous endeavor, which have brought him a running mate and a platform over both of which he is enthusiastic, retired last night to dream of Democratic success next November. That is, his dreams will be thus, if they follow his belief.

Since Tuesday, when the convention opened in Denver, Bryan has been probably busier than any man in Denver. It is doubtful if, in the four days, he averaged more than three hours' sleep in twenty-four. He has been in constant touch by telegraph with the convention, and with great frequency has been called on to give instant decisions in affairs of great party importance, having constantly been asked by them for guidance.

Through it all Bryan has maintained a cheerful equanimity, a clearness of mind and vigor of action which gained the admiration of those who were associated with him throughout the trying period. An all-night session was held at Fairview Thursday night by Bryan, a few personal friends and a number of newspaper men.

During the long hours, while waiting for the reading of the platform, and the speeches preceding the balloting on the nomination for president, Bryan, throwing off the accumulated fatigue of the three previous days, held all listeners in close attention by the repetition of story after story suggested by the news from the auditorium at Denver. It was full daylight when, after receiving the communications of those present, he retired to snatch a few hours' rest.

At 7 o'clock he was up and about, for the straggling advance guard of enthusiastic Lincoln citizens, calling to pay respects, was already arriving. At 10 o'clock, by trolley, by automobile, by wagon and on foot, the crowd arrived, the Lincoln Bryan club among them, and headed by a brass band. It was a wild and enthusiastic crowd, reflecting in no small degree the delirious enthusiasm of the convention. When the band played "A Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight" many of the 2000 visitors took up the chorus.

"La Paloma," which is one of Bryan's favorite pieces, was played as Bryan appeared. The crowd surged up against the front steps, eager to shake Bryan's hand and to offer him congratulations. They were Bryan's fellow townsmen and a great many of them he knew by their first names.

"Hello, Buck, how are you; glad to see you, Doc," said Bryan as he grasped first one hand and then another. Mrs. Bryan also greeted many of her friends. The homage of the people he had known for so many years, many of them opposed to him in politics, affected Bryan to a degree which he did not show even at receiving news of the record-breaking demonstration made by the delegates in the Colorado capital. From the doorsteps he addressed them with great feeling, his emotions so stirred that his voice trembled and the moisture came to Mrs. Bryan's eyes. It was not a political speech. Bryan was talking from his heart to his friends. At 8 o'clock last evening Bryan retired to a much-needed rest.

It is not probable now that Bryan will go to Denver. Yesterday afternoon he telegraphed to Judge Hall, the new national committeeman for Nebraska, and invited the national committee to visit Fairview on returning from the convention, offering, if that were inconvient, to go to Denver himself. Information is that the national committee will come here.

Most Acceptable to Bryan

Lincoln, Neb., July 11.—When he received the news of the nomination of John W. Kern for vice president, Mr. Bryan said that his views on the nomination could best be expressed in the telegram which he sent to Kern. He is not only pleased with the nomination, but pleased that it was made with such unanimity. There were a number of persons whom he counted as available, and Kern was always included in this list. Kern and Bryan have been political and personal friends for many years. The following is the telegram:

"Accept my warmest congratulations. Your nomination gratifies me very much. We have a splendid platform and I am glad to have a running mate in such complete harmony with the platform. Stop off and see us on your way east."

Won Fame In War Time

Halifax, July 11.—"Jock" Flemming, who won renown by taking the Confederate cruiser Tallahassee out through the eastern passage in 1864, eluding the northern fleet that was lying in wait for the commerce destroyer off the mouth of the harbor, died at Ketch Harbor last night. He was 98 years old. On his ninety-seventh birthday Flemming accomplished the feat of rowing from his home to Halifax and back, twenty-four miles.

WORLD'S BIGGEST CLOCK.

Huge Timepiece In Jersey City That Weighs Nearly Six Tons.

Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn of Jersey City pressed an electric button at 3 o'clock the other afternoon and set in motion the biggest clock in the world. The huge timepiece is on the top of a well known factory in Jersey City and is visible for many miles.

Heretofore the Westminster dials on the parliament buildings in London held the record abroad, with the diameter of 22½ feet and an area of 398 square feet, and in the United States the dials on the Philadelphia city hall were the largest, measuring 25 feet across and having an area of 490 square feet. The great clock has an area of more than twice of either of these, the dial being 38 feet across and its area 1,134 square feet. The minute hand is 20 feet long and, with counterpoise, weighs nearly one-third of a ton, while the ponderous weight that moves the mechanism weighs just 2,000 pounds and the whole clock, approximately six tons.

Across the dial of this clock twenty men of average size could stand shoulder to shoulder. Instead of the usual transparent dial, lighted from behind at night, the hands are outlined with incandescent lights. Brilliant red lights mark each numeral and an incandescent lamp each minute mark. These are twenty-four inches apart. Thus the tip end of the hour hand travels twenty-four inches every minute, or more than half a mile a day.

AERIAL TRIPS FOR HEALTH.

Maryland Editor Predicts Age of Mid-air Therapeutics.

Aerial voyages for the cure of human ills are among the fancies of the editor of the Maryland Medical Journal. In the June number he indulges in speculations as to the part the airships will play in the future practice of medicine, as follows:

"What place the air voyage is to play in the therapy of the future, how soon it is destined to obtain consideration in the text book of final practice—these are to most minds idle speculations. Yet the era of aerial travel seems to impend. Its problems of how to ascend and how to fly swiftly seem to have found solution.

"When the preliminary era of aerial racing ships shall have worn itself out and the plain people get their innings will come the age of aerial therapeutics. Then each farmhouse will be on the seashore and each city a seaport. Not far above each dwelling lie wastes of upper air, dust free, germless, ozonized, ever cool and refreshing."

WILLING TO BE WOOED.

Canadian Seeks Leap Year Proposals From Trenton, N. J.

James D. Knott of 133 Shuter street, Toronto, has written to Mayor Madden of Trenton, N. J., that he will esteem it a favor to receive genuine leap year proposals from wealthy women in Trenton and has asked the mayor to make public his desires. It is supposed that the fame of Trenton's womankind must have reached Toronto.

Mr. Knott says his character will stand investigation and gives as a reference Ambassador Bryce at Washington. Knott's picture, which he inclosed, shows him to be apparently about thirty years old and good looking. The picture shows a man in regimental uniform.

Applications are to be addressed to "Suitor, care of Mayor Madden," and Mr. Knott asks the mayor to forward any proposals made to him.

Man With Pulseless Arms.

Without a pulse beating in either arm, P. J. Donovan, who is in charge of the construction of the new postoffice in Watertown, N. Y., lays claim to being the only man alive with such a condition. When Mr. Donovan is ill physicians cannot at his wrist count the heart beats. Other means have to be substituted. The peculiarity of Mr. Donovan's condition came about some time ago and was the result of heavy work in lifting and similar labors in connection with his business as a contractor. There were two operations at the hands of Dr. McDill of Ogdensburg. The arteries below the breast were cut and tied, and hence no pulse beats in his arm.

Pet Pony as a Life Saver.

Edwin Emery, a nine-year-old boy of Taunton, Mass., was nearly drowned when his pet bulldog, with which he was playing, caught him by his coat and dragged him from the bank into a pond twenty feet deep. Edwin's pet Shetland pony, grazing near by, heard his cries for aid and came galloping to the pond, plunged into the water and pulled the boy out by his teeth. Then the pony turned on the dog, shaking himself near by, and kicked him to death.

June Days.

No other days are like the days of June.
They stand upon the summit of the year,
Filled up with sweet remembrance of the tune
That wooed the fresh spring fields. They have a tear
For violets dead. They will engird full soon
The sweet, full breasts of summer drawing near.

Each matchless morning marches from the east
In tints inimitable and divine.
Each perfect noon sustains the endless feast
In which the wedded charms of life combine.
Sweet evening waits till golden day, released,
Shall lead her, blushing, down the world's decline.

—Robert Burns Wilson in Metropolitan Magazine.

FOREIGN OLYMPIANS.

Feats of Some Men Against Whom Yankees Will Compete.

SWEDES ARE DANGEROUS.

May Capture Many Running Events With Lindborg, Svenberg and Lundberg—France Has Some Good Distance Men—Jarvinen, Finland's Star.

Now that the three tryouts are over and the committee has selected the American team which is to battle for Old Glory in the London Olympiad something about the men of other nations who are going to compete in the big games will make interesting reading for athletic fans. Uncle Sam will be represented by the biggest and best team that ever carried the athletic war across the big pond. Collectively the men form the greatest galaxy of stars that ever was gathered together under one emblem. There's not a weak link in the chain, but there are a few places where the team might be strengthened.

Sport followers are wondering why Joe Forshaw was placed on the first team and Alexander Thibeaux, who has whipped Forshaw four times and who won the middle west Marathon, received a berth on the supplemental list; why Frank Riley was omitted from the first team after having run 1,500 meters in faster time than either of the western events was won in; why Jacobs was chosen as a pole vaulter when there are a dozen men in the country who have better records than he has; why Narganes, the wrestler, got a place on the team, and why Harvey Cohn, who has shown himself to be one of the greatest distance men in the country, and George Cameron, the king of the amateur cyclists, were placed on the second team.

There are men on the second team who have a mighty good chance of scoring for Uncle Sam. When the committee wakes up and gives Thibeaux, Riley, Cohn, Cameron and others what is due them, the old fellow with the goatee, whether he twists the lion's tail or whether his own whiskers be pulled, will know that there was put into the field the strongest team that America could get together.

England, Germany, Canada and Finland are the only other countries which have had their tryouts. The English tryouts were held in the stadium at Sheppard's Bush, where the Olympic games are to be decided, on May 30. With the exception of two events, the results were not gratifying to the Britishers and certainly not worthy of throwing a scare into the Yankees. England's best men did not compete in the tryouts. One will have to wait till the northern counties, midland counties and British national championships are heard from before a good line can be had on John Bull's form. England has few men in the field events who class with the cracks on this side of the pond. In Con Leahy Ireland has a dangerous man in the jumps, and Nicholson of Scotland has a chance for fourth in the hammer throw.

The German tryouts which were held in Leipzig a few weeks ago, while resulting in the smashing of four German records, produced nothing which should cause the Yankee athletes any worry.

Johannes Runge, who represented Germany at the Olympic games in St. Louis in 1904 and at Athens in 1906 and who till recently was undefeated in his own country, was beaten by Braun in both the 800 and 1,500 meter events, the records going in both instances.

The Canadian tryouts were held on June 6, some of the events being held in Montreal and the others in Toronto. The boys across the border hung up some great performances. Galbraith won the five mile in faster time than did Bellars at Philadelphia. The pole vault was won at 12 feet 5 inches, the 1,500 meter in 4 minutes 5 seconds and the quarter mile in 49 4-5 seconds. Con Walsh, erstwhile member of the Irish-American A. C. of New York, threw the hammer 161 feet 5 inches, and Bobby Kerr won both the dashes in good time. Bricker of Toronto captured the running broad jump with a leap of 23 feet 2½ inches. On such performances the Canucks will take a lot of beating at London.

Sweden and France will be the hardest competitors of the United States and Great Britain. Sweden has been in the throes of an athletic fever for the last two years, and her men are showing such form as to warrant their being dangerous antagonists.

In the 100 meter event Sweden has Knut Lindborg, a consistent ten second 100 yarder, who has two victories over J. W. Morton, the English champion, to his credit. Lindborg may cause a surprise in the sprints. In the distances above a mile Sweden will depend on John Svanberg, who is capable of giving any man in the world a race for five miles. Svanberg and Ivan Lundberg will carry Sweden's hopes in the Marathon race. Neither one of them will be far behind when the winner crosses the line.

Though few sport followers in this country are aware of it, France has some of the greatest distance runners in the world. Ragueneau is the star. The little Lyonnese loper has trimmed the cream of the Britishers time and again. Only once was he beaten on English soil. That was last year in the international cross country.

The star of the Finnish tryouts was Jarvinen. The giant Finn captured all the weight events. He is said to have thrown the discus 143 feet 4 inches, but the mark is not credited in this country.

ButterNut

If every year were Leap Year
It might reverse the whole social system.
Well, this would have some good features.
For instance—
We'll guarantee the man wouldn't spend a third of their time over the cook stove.
Life is too short.
Sooner or later they'd buy
BUTTERNUT BREAD.
And for obvious reasons.
It is better bread, healthier and more economical than half the bread
baked in homes today.
Quality makes it sell.
Be kind to your stomach—buy BUTTERNUT.
Five cents.

EDITORIAL.

The Hyde Park Gazette and other suburban papers are commenting on the gigantic scheme to have an inland sea off Houghs Neck with high water at all times. It will be an expensive undertaking, but would be of great value to the Massachusetts coast. With high water at all times it would become a grand harbor for shipping and yachting.

It was a good move on the part of the Board of Health prohibiting the building of outside waterclosets on premises abutting streets which have the sewer, but they should go further and order the existing ones discontinued as they are the ones which are a menace because the ground has become saturated and emits strong odors, as well as being unpleasant to look at. Ward one has a good many which need attention.

There is considerable complaint because of the overcrowding of the Houghs Neck cars; that is making one car do when two are almost a necessity. It is no pleasure to go to the beach where the seats are crowded and also both running boards so that one cannot enjoy the cool breeze or scenery. To get a seat at all one has to go early and sit in the car ten to fifteen minutes for the sake of a fifteen minute ride which proves anything but a pleasure. More cars and a more frequent service is what is wanted.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Charles B. Edwards of the Fore River Engine Co., now before the public in regard to the new Turbine wheel, has been entertaining the distinguished author and preacher, the Rev. Dr. Thomas Alexander Hyde, of New York city. After dinner Mr. Edwards and the preacher had a pleasant ride in his automobile to the vicinity of the fire in East Boston. The Rev. Dr. Hyde will preach for his brother the Rev. William Hyde in the Episcopal church, Weymouth, Sunday next, July 12. The Rev. Dr. Hyde has built up a strong influential church which is largely attended by prominent people of America.

Field Day of Eagles.

The fifth annual field day of the New England Field Day Association of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will be held in Fall River next week, and the executive committee of the aerie of that city, backed by the almost 600 members, has gotten up a program that it is believed will surpass those of the four other field days that the order has carried out—in Springfield, Worcester, Providence and New Haven. The grand worthy president of the organization, Former Congressman Theodore A. Bell of California, has written that he will be present and the occasion is to be honored by the attendance of other dignitaries of the state and the fraternity.

The state convention, Martin F. Carney of Waltham president, will meet in Eagle's hall, Columbian building, at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

At 6.30 that evening there will be a degree team contest in McKinley hall.

After the degree work there will be a banquet in Anawan hall for men and women, seats being limited to 400 at $2 a plate.

Wednesday morning the parade is be started at 11o'clock, this hour being set so as to give the many special trains from distant points time to land their passengers and get the visiting aerie into line.

GENERAL SHAKE-UP

None of the First Four Retain Their Old Positions

Over 1000 votes were cast in Motor Boat popularity contest today, and none of the first four candidates hold the same positions they did yesterday.

Capt. Field has jumped ahead of Capt. Pray and regained his old place as leader. He tells the Contest Editor that Frank Pray is a nice fellow, but the members of the Wollaston and Squantum Yacht Clubs have decided that no Quincy Yacht member can win; that the boat has got to come to Wollaston.

Capt Foster also receives a shock from his neighbor Capt. Middleton, who makes the largest gain of the day. His 634 addition puts him number three, and Capt. Foster fourth.

The Motor Boat is not out of reach of any of the other candidates, who many have something up their sleeves. Several make small gains today.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

WEDDING RECEPTION.

The beautiful estate of Mrs. Emma Lark at Brewer's corner, was made doubly attractive on Thursday evening, when Japanese lanterns and the brilliantly lighted rooms, combined with nature's illumination (the rising moon) made a scene that caused passers-by to stop and gaze in admiration.

The occasion was a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. William D. Clements, in honor of the recent marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Malcolm of Quincy. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm had been invited to call and spend a quiet evening, but great was their surprise as they were ascending the broad stone steps, leading to the house, to be completely enveloped by a shower of rice and confetti, thrown by friends and relatives who seemed to spring up around them as if by magic. After rallying from the bombardment, they were ushered into the parlor and presented with several beautiful gifts.

From that time on, it was one grand merry-making for all. Music was one of the features of the evening, the guests rendering cornet, vocal and piano solos with Mrs. Frederick Waite of Wollaston, as accompanist. Ice cream and refreshments were served.

Of course "Vic" and his bride were compelled to make speeches under penalty of another bombardment. After thanking Mr. and Mrs. Clements for a most enjoyable evening, and extending wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life to newly wedded couple the guests departed at a late hour.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. James Malcolm (groom's parents), Mr. Samuel Cummings (bride's father), Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Malcolm, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Waite, Mrs. Emma Lark, Mr. and Mrs. Luther W. Nason, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Garmory, Mr. and Mrs. George Wentworth, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clements, Mrs. Sarah Spargo, Miss Edith Spargo, Miss J. F. Lyons, Herbert Stillings and Arthur Allen.

CLEVELAND'S TALE OF WOE.

Manager Lajoie's Naps Have Largest Hospital List of Any Team.

The Cleveland American league team still holds the record as a hard luck club. Right now at least six men are on the hospital list. Yet Cleveland is striving along at or near the top and within striking distance of the leaders all the time. If the Naps ever all get well at once, watch their smoke. The list is as follows:

Elmer Flick, nervous breakdown, bad stomach, has no strength, out all season, may be back July 4.

Terrence Turner, strained arm, cannot use it to throw, out of game several weeks, arm not much better, will not return till middle of July.

GEORGE STOVALL, FIRST BASEMAN OF THE CLEVELAND NAPS.

George Stovall, damaged right thumb, all swelled up, very sore, but has to remain in the game.

"Nig" Clarke, strained side, stiff and sore, wears big plasters on left arm, still in the game.

Harry Bemis, left ankle sprained several times, runs with difficulty, has to catch because Clarke is worse off, wears brace on and off the field.

Charles Hickman, suffers from injured side, stretches for wide throw with difficulty, trying to reduce weight and increase speed, but makes little progress because of pain from side.

Joe Birmingham, feet sore and toes giving him trouble, has to wear cotton and liniment between them to make running possible.

Heinie Berger, right side swathed in sticking plasters to reduce strain, left wrist hit by batted ball, all swelled up and very sore.

Napoleon Lajoie, hips and knees skinned from sliding, hurts himself every time he hits the dirt, stiff and sore and unable to run bases as he might if in better repair.

Adrian Joss, pitching arm stiff and sore, able to pitch, but not so effective as if arm was free from kinks.

Pretty near everybody "cauliflowers" on hips and knees from sliding. Nearly every member of squad skinned up from taking chances on the bases.

Houghs Neck Resents Criticism

Councilman Joseph L. Whiton has been at Houghs Neck for the last two days trying to find some of the "joints" Councilman Moir spoke of at the last meeting of the Council. Mr. Whiton says that he has looked in vain but found everything very orderly. In fact says that Houghs Neck is by far a great deal quieter after midnight than any other section of the city.

An officer of the Houghs Neck Associates said, if Moir had made these statements three years ago there would be some truth to them, but such are not the facts now.

Comparing the number of arrests made in each section of the city in one year, the police record will show that Houghs Neck has the least number. Houghs Neck never had one of its residents go to court and plead guilty to keeping and maintaining a common gaming house, Wollaston has had that experience.

Houghs Neck has never before been so well policed as it has this year. We have a night and day officer and both do their duty honestly and fearlessly at all times, and have the clubs well in hand. It was nothing more than a political move with some one higher up using Mr. Moir.

Tenth Anniversary.

The tenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henderson was celebrated Monday evening, July 6, at the home of Mr. Benjamin R. Williams 427 Granite street. It was a surprise party given by Mrs. Jennie McKay, Mrs. Alex Scarborough and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Williams, and it was certainly a great surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Henderson. Mr. Williams' lawn was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and benches and chair were placed under the trees. Many games were played by the younger people. Tonic was passed around in the early part of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson received many handsome presents, among which were a silver tray and a beautiful reed rocker, all of which were presented by Henry T. Prairio. After the presentation of the gifts, ice cream was served while songs were played on a phonograph.

Squantum Club Moonlight Sail

The first moonlight sail of the Squantum Yacht club was held last evening. There was a good south westerly sailing breeze when the fleet got away at 8 o'clock, which held throughout the evening. The fleet sailed about the harbor and went as far as Houghs Neck.

Upon the return at 10 o'clock the moon was up, and it was delightful on the water. At the clubhouse refreshments were served and there was dancing.

The event was in charge of Commodore Bryant and Benjamin Sargent, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The yachts to participate in the sail were:

The other attractions were a series of field sports for which valuable prizes will be given; also dancing, boating and bathing.

WALES—SCARRITT.

There was a very pretty wedding Monday afternoon, July 6th, at Bridgewater, at the little Episcopal church, when Miss Enid Mannis Scarritt, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William R. Scarritt, was united in marriage to Mr. Nathaniel Brackett Wales of Braintree.

In spite of the hot weather the church was well filled. Dean Hodges of Cambridge performed the ceremony. The best man was Mr. Alva Morrison of Braintree, and the ushers were Mr. Carroll Bill of Braintree, Mr. Tron Peterson of New York, Mr. William Scarritt of Bridgewater, Mr. J. V. Dignowity, Jr., of Boston and Mr. Foss of Winchester.

It was a pink wedding, the decorations consisting of ropes of laurel studded with pink roses. The bride wore a white satin princess gown with old point lace, and a tulle veil. The matron of honor, Mrs. Ferrall of St. Louis, a sister of the bride, was in pink silk, and carried a shower bouquet of pink sweet peas. Twin sisters of the bride, the Misses Gwendoline and Linda Scarritt, acted as bridesmaids, and were in pink liberty with pink sweet peas.

The little flower girl, Miss Barbara Butts, of Northampton, a niece of the bridgegroom, wore white embroidered muslin trimmed with valenciennes lace.

The bridal party was preceded by a gowned choir singing Mendelssohn's wedding march set to words.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the rectory for the immediate families and a few friends.

BRAINTREE.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shay of Central street were the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Crowley of Quincy Point.

Dr. William Gallagher and family of Washington street are spending the summer at Chocorua lake, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Thayer of Washington street together with Mrs. Fred Leonard and Mrs. Susan Wilde are enjoying a two weeks' visit with relatives at Nantasket.

Mrs. R. F. Burleigh of Washington street has been entertaining her nephew, Nathaniel Burleigh of Franklin, N. H.

John Conneil, superintendent of the Rice & Hutchins' shoe factory spent his vacation in the Pine Tree state.

Miss Georgia Ricker, of New York, formerly of Braintree, spent a few days this week with relatives on Hollis avenue.

There has been a change of hours at the post office as follows: week days, 6.30 A. M. to 7.30 P. M.; Sundays, 9 to 10 A. M.; holidays, 6.30 to 10 A. M.

Mrs. C. F. Hill Crathern and children left on Thursday for Mason, N. H., here they are to spend the summer with her mother, Mrs. Charles Tarbell.

The St. Marys of West Quincy will cross bats with the White Sox on French's common this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

Miss Tarbox who teaches at the Noah Torrey school is spending the summer at her home in Marlboro, N. H.

Samuel H. Ross, government inspector of pure food, who has been employed the past year in Savannah, Ga., and Washington, D. C., is spending his vacation with his parents on Franklin street.

Mrs. Abbie Wade, who for some years has kept a home for aged people and invalids in the old Bates house, Middle street, has moved with her patients, her daughter Miss Edith Crafts and Miss Daisy Balch ,to her other home in East Braintree.

Shelley A. Neale, manager of the local New York & Boston express has moved from Weymouth into the house he has purchased of Horace L. French, 555 Washington street. Mr. French and family are enjoying a vacation at Brant Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Hubbard and daughter Doris, returned Monday after a two weeks' visit at Townsend and Ashby. Master Raymond will make an extended visit with his grandparents at Ashby.

Members of the local fire department have been spraying the elm trees upon the highways, from the hydrants, under the direction of Mr. E. E. Abercrombie, tree warden.

Raymond H. Pierce of Dorchester is spending a part of his vacation with his friend, Lucius Qualey. After a few weeks' rest, he will again resume his labors in the Mission of the Master whose call he has heard and to whose service, he so zealously gives his time and his talents.

Wilson N. Ford passed away this morning at his home, 35 Hunt avenue, after a few months illness. With his wife and son Myron he came to Braintree from Lynn about two years ago and has made a large circle of friends, especially in All Souls church, the Men's club, and the Penniman School association. The early days of his life were spent in Abington.

Many of the elm trees in South Braintree, valued for their beauty, shade and age, are being killed by elm leaf beetles. There should be strenuous efforts made to exterminate the pests and save the trees. Dedham and other towns, noted for their aged elm trees, are spraying with good success while Braintree's elms are becoming leafless and lifeless.

Cuff's band will give a concert in South Braintree square this evening and the weather premitting there will be a large attendance. Several of the local store-keepers are contributing towards the expenses and the public should not forget to help by buying tickets. While in the square do not forget to patronize home trade and thus continue the series of concerts.

Andrew Savol killed a rattle snake this week in Fred Thayer's yard, near the bulk head door.

A number of the members of Sons of Veterans are attending the grand field day, which is in progress today on King Oak hill, North Weymouth. The affair is given to boom S. of V. Camp 36 and the order.

Harlow and Wilburt Welch of Cleveland avenue made the voyage in their new motor boat to Ocean Point, Maine, 120 or more miles in nine hours. Some of their friends have received from them souvenir postal cards announcing their safe arrival.

Mr. William Waters arrived Friday from California to visit his sister Mrs. Curtis mother of Mrs. Storrs of Maple street. Mr. Waters is a veteran of the Civil war and will attend the national convention to be held at Toledo, Ohio, in September.

Mr. F. R. Smith of Hayward street, is having a summer cottage built at Kennebunkport, Maine. It is of the bungalow type with many new ideas in its construction which interests the public. Mr. Smith and family will occupy the cottage soon.

WEYMOUTH.

John Herman Loud, organist at the First Baptist church, Newton Centre, formerly of Weymouth, is to give two organ recitals in the great auditoriam at Ocean Grove, N. J., later in the season.

Captain Harry Hathaway, U. S. A., is visiting his father, Dr. W. F. Hathaway of Washington street. Captain Hathaway has been stationed at the Philippines for two years and having reported at Washington, D. C., to the government authorities of the Army he visited New York, and is now resting and recuperating. Captain Hathaway will soon resume his official duties at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

An illustrated lecture upon "The Hampton Institute" will be given at the Universalist church, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, by Miss M. O. Nash, sister of Rev. M. S. Nash.

Miss Mattie Deland of Broad street has returned from a week's visit with relatives in Everett.

Charles Crocker and Arthur LaPlant are rusticating in New Hampshire.

Shelley Neal and family have moved from their recent home on Washington street to Braintree. It is said that our popular pharmacist, Dr. George Perkins will rent the above house.

Master Fred W. Harris of Harrison square went on Monday to Camp Medowmac to enjoy a two months' outing.

Miss Elizabeth M. Lane of Baker avenue is being entertained by friends at Egypt.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lund of Commercial street are receiving the congratulations of their many friends upon the arrival Friday of a son.

Kern of Indiana Nominated For the Vice Presidency

ALL OTHERS DROPPED OUT

Realized That Their Chances Had Been Extinguished and Nomination Is Made by Acclamation--The Nominee Long Prominent In Politics

Denver, July 11.—The Democratic national convention concluded its labors late Friday afternoon by the nomination of John Worth Kern of Indiana for vice president, completing the ticket on which William Jennings Bryan was made the nominee for president during the early hours of the morning.

The nomination of Kern was made by acclamation, amid the resounding cheers of delegates and spectators. No ballot was necessary, as the tide of sentiment had set irresistibly toward the Indiana candidate, state after state registering their delegations in his favor, and all other candidates withdrawing before the universal demand for his nomination.

JOHN W. KERN.

The convention, after adjourning at daylight with the nomination of Bryan, resumed its session at 1 p. m., with a powerful undercurrent already in motion toward the nomination of Kern for second place. On the call of states Indiana presented the name of Kern; Colorado, through former Governor Thomas, placed in nomination Charles A. Towne of New York; Connecticut presented Archibald McNeill, and Georgia named Clark Howell.

The names of Judge Gray of Delaware and John Mitchell of Illinois were not presented, owing to the explicit requests of these men not to have their names go before the convention.

For a time it looked as though a ballot would be required. But the steady line of states which joined in seconding Kern's nomination soon made it apparent that the chances of all other candidates had been extinguished.

Towne Fersonally Withdraws

Mr. Towne, in person, was the first candidate to recognize the decisive nature of the Kern movement, and, in a ringing speech, he withdrew his name from consideration and pledged his support to the ticket of Bryan and Kern. Withdrawals quickly followed from the supporters of Howell and McNeill, leaving the Indiana candidate alone in the field. The withdrawal of the Connecticut candidate was accompanied by a motion that the nomination of Kern be made by acclamation. The motion was carried with a deafening shout, and the great assemblage broke into clamorous demonstration on the accomplishment of its work and the completion of the Democratic national ticket.

The nomination was made at 4:23 o'clock and the convention thereupon adjourned without day. The Democratic national committee will assemble today to complete its new organization and to select the chairman who will be the commander-in-chief of the Democratic forces in the campaign. The throngs of delegates and spectators are scattering for their homes and every train is bearing away thousands from the eventful scenes of the Denver convention.

Kern Absent When Nominated

Mr. Kern received the news of the action of the convention in his apartments in the Albany hotel. When, early in the day, matters began to shape themselves in his direction and his selection became almost a certainty, Kern determined that he would remain away from yesterday's session and, accordingly, his seat was occupied by an alternate.

"I am profoundly appreciative of the honor which has been conferred upon me," said Kern, when seen shortly after the convention adjourned. "I regard the honor all the greater because I did not seek the place, nor did any delegation."

On the floor below the rooms occupied by Kern the Indiana delegation headquarters were thronged with persons from all parts of the country, who called to congratulate Indiana's representative on the choice of the convention. Kern visited his headquarters and was given an ovation. Tonight the vice presidential nominee will leave for Lincoln, where he will see Bryan and discuss the forthcoming campaign.

Kern a Native of Indiana

John W. Kern was born Dec. 20, 1849, at the village of Alto, Howard county, Indiana. His father, Dr. Jacob W. Kern, was a Virginian by birth, who removed to Shelby county, Ind., in 1836, and lived there until 1846, when he moved into the new northern county.

John Kern's mother was Nancy Liggett and she and Dr. Kern were married in Ohio in 1854. When John was 5 years old the family removed to Warren county, Ia. From the time he went to Iowa until he was 15 years old he did not see a railroad train. The family moved back to Howard county in 1864. In the 60's, while still in Iowa, Mrs. Kern died. Two children were left, John and his sister, who is now Mrs. Isaac Engel of Danville, Va.

John was educated in the district schools and he continued his education by attending the Indiana normal school of Kokomo, Ind., riding horseback ten miles each way every day. Later he taught school near Alto. He earned money to enter Ann Arbor, graduating from the law department of Michigan university in 1869. He immediately began practicing in Kokomo, Ind.

He was "drafted" when he was 21 years old to make the race for the legislature in the Republican county of Howard, but was defeated. He was chosen city attorney of Kokomo for six terms over Republican aspirants. In 1884 he was elected reporter of the supreme court. Since then Indianapolis has been his home, where he has practced law.

He has worked in every campaign, served the county in the legislature and was the leader of his party in the state senate. He was city attorney under the last two administrations of Mayor Thomas Taggart, from October, 1897, to October, 1901. In 1900 he was nominated for governor, but was defeated. Before the St. Louis convention of four years ago Kern's name had been prominently mentioned among the vice presidential possibilities.

Mr. Kern has been president of the Commercial club and has always been conspicuous in all state and civic movements. He is prominent in all the social and literary affairs of the city. Miss Julia Kern, his daughter, is well known socially. There are two other children—John W. Kern, Jr., aged 9, and William H. Kern, who is now 5 years old.

Kern's Wife Not Pleased

Indianapolis, July 11.—Mrs. John W. Kern, wife of the nominee for vice president, was notified by The Associated Press of the nomination of her husband at Denver. She was at her home in this city with her children.

"I had hoped," she said, "you would give me the good news that Mr. Kern had not been nominated. I appreciate the honor conferred upon Mr. Kern, but I cannot understand what conditions at Denver have arisen that would cause him to have accepted the nomination. Mr. Kern has injured his health in past campaigns by his activity, and as this means vastly more to me than any political honors, I am sincerely sorry, although I suppose I should not say so."

London Sizes Up Candidates

London, July 11.—The London newspapers anticipate an interesting contest for the Presidency of the United States. This, they think, will arise not so much from the difference in the platforms of the opposing parties as from the striking personalities of their candidates. Bryan, having dropped the free silver and other "extreme planks," is regarded as an acceptable candidate, but is likely to stand little chance against "Roosevelt's nominee."

The Daily Chronicle regards Bryan's policy the same as that of Roosevelt, and says that it is only a question to which of the candidates shall its execution be entrusted. Whoever is the victor, The Chronicle says, he will be a man of high character, marked ability and distinction.

The Daily Graphic refers to a recent speech of Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador, in which he said that the United States had had thirty elections and each time the result had come out all right and that it would do so in the coming presidential election, even if his own preference were not gratified. "This," says The Daily Graphic, "gives us the measure of Bryan's sober evolution. It will be exclusively a question of persons."

The Saturday Review thinks that Bryan has an advantage in being more prominent than Taft, and suggests that the Nebraskan may obtain strong support from the Pacific slope by the adoption of Hobson's naval views.

The Outlook thinks the odds against Bryan are so enormous that only a landslide, of which at present there is no sign, can wipe them out.

Many of the London newspapers print the proceedings of the convention at Denver and the nominations of the candidates for the presidency and vice presidency without comment.

As Viewed In Berlin

Berlin, July 11.—All the papers this morning print the news of the nomination of Bryan for the presidency of the United States, but most of them without comment. The Boursen Zeitung says:

"Mr. Bryan, upon the whole, is a very sympathetic personality. His great eloquence is due to his speaking his convictions. He is a man of weight and a magnificent agitator, but hardly a statesman."

The Weather Forecast

TEAMS IN WEST BEST

Two Intersectional Series Prove Them to Be Stronger.

EASTERNERS ARE LAMENTING

Many Former Members of Clubs In That Section Have Handed Out Defeats to Their Old Team Mates With Great Regularity.

On the results of the first two clashes between the eastern and western teams of the major leagues thus far fans of the east are inclined to the belief that the balance of power in the baseball world lies in the region beyond the Alleghenies. The American league's eastern representatives did very poorly on their recent tour of the land of the setting sun, and the western Nationalists cut quite a wide swath in their journey around the eastern end of the Pulliam circuit.

In the National league conditions are exasperating to the expectant eastern enthusiast. He sees the pace being set at the top by the chesty Chicago Cubs, the rampant Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburg's perennial pennant pursuing Pirates. Taking a peek at the cellar end of the standing, he observes with keen woe and anguish the frantic efforts of the Brooklyns to rob the St. Louis Cardinals of their familiar tail end honors and the strenuous activities of the New York Giants, the Phillies and the Bostons to keep at or near the .500 mark.

Disappointment with a large and double decked D is written all over the careers of each club representing the eastern district in major league ball. New York is no worse off than Philadelphia in having its various diamond representatives fail to perform according to specifications in the off season, for William Murray's Quakers were by general consent acclaimed the dark horses of the National league running. The Philadelphia Americans did get into first place for a brief stay through some great box work by Victor Schlitzer, Eddie Plank and Rube Vickers and by the usurpation of the Chicago White Stockings' tactics of making a number of runs on a scarcity of hits, but once their pitchers started to lose effectiveness down went Connie Mack's tribe just like back number McGinty.

The Boston National league team was built up around one man, Frank Bowerman, whose address used to be the Polo grounds, New York, and when the Romeo receiver entered the hospital ward the Doves lost their chief asset and a lot of games besides. In the Boston American camp things are a trifle more cheery, for the Red Sox were not expected to do much, and they have done better than expected. Winter critics, well posted ones at that, assigned last place to the Taylorites, who are proving a pleasant surprise, even if the larruping Lajoieites did happen to score ten runs in one inning against them.

The Washingtons were the choice of many for lower eight, and on the road their efforts to win were a series of jokes. Brooklyn fans know full well the spirit of sadness that envelops Charles H. Ebbets' recently improved ball yard. If the Brooklyn team has any idea of forsaking last place they must quickly adopt the "do it now" plan.

What pains the loyal and lamenting eastern enthusiast as he scans the public prints and reads such headlines as "The Reds Make a Clean Sweep In Brooklyn" or "Pirates Take Three Out of Four From the Giants" is that ungracious western combinations have been in large measure recruited from this end of the line. For instance, take the Comiskey Chicago comebacks. Their boss is Fielder Jones, whose home is in New York state and who was a member of the Brooklyn team once upon a time. Detroit's manager, Hugh Jennings, was by turns with the Baltimore, Brooklyn and Philadelphia clubs, and Leader Lajoie of the Cleveland Naps was so long a Quaker that his appearance in Cleveland garb often looks unfamiliar. McAleer is a westerner, and so are three of the four National league commanders of the western outfits. John Ganzel, the courageous commander of the remarkable Reds, was by turns both a New York Giant and Yankee. So much for the Chicago teams. The privates now doing their best to again have the world's series played in the west are many and apparently unforgiving for their shifts to foreign soil. At least twenty-five former easterners are now members of western teams in the American and about sixteen in the National league.

There is consolation in the fact that with the intersectional trips over the western teams can get together and proceed to cut one another's throats. Then an eastern team may get the chance to sneak into the lead again and lend a silver lining to the present dark cloud extending from Boston to Washington.

Naps Sell Exploded Wonder.

Bill Lattimore, the young twirler who was expected to be a wonder in the American league this season, has been sold by the Cleveland management to the Toledo club in the American association. Jack Sheridan, the umpire, picked Lattimore to be the most sensational southpaw of the year last spring, but he failed to come up to expectations.

BILLARD'S PURCHASE

Paid Over $16,000,000 For Boston and Maine Stock

FAVORABLY VIEWS A MERGER

"Silent Railroad King" Owns Much Stock of New Haven Road, From Which He Got Holdings After Long Conferences

Boston, July 11.—This morning's Post has the following dispatch from Meriden, Conn:

John Billard, the silent railroad king, whose financial power is an unknown quantity to the public, and who has purchased the 110,000 shares of Boston and Maine railroad stock formerly owned by the New Haven railroad, talked with a Post reporter in his little coal office here. Billard declared that it would be for the best interests of the Boston and Maine railroad, and also of the business men of Boston and New England, if there was a consolidation of the two roads.

This statement shows the position of the man who, at the head of a syndicate of men prominent in the financial world, is reported to have paid over $16,000,000 for all the shares of the Boston and Maine road that were formerly owned by the New Haven road.

Mr. Billard acknowledged that he owned many hundreds of shares of the New York New Haven and Hartford stock, and that he also had considerable business with and friendship for President Mellen.

In his interview this quiet, unassuming man said that the New York, New Haven and Hartford had received entire payment for all the stock; that it had no strings on him, and that he would do all in his power to further the best interests of the Boston and Maine railroad.

"The people do not want to have the two roads merged because they fear they will have to pay more. That is not so. The larger the business of a corporation the lower it can sell its goods, and that would be the situation if the two roads should combine," said Billard.

"I do not say that the two roads will be merged; that is not for me to say, and I would like to wait until later before defining my position," continued Billard.

When asked how the "deal" came about Billard said that there had been conferences for over a month previous to the sale and transfer of stock. He said he would not like to give the details at this time.

It is understood, however, that in the conferences between the officials of the road and Billard there were also present several men, some of whom are affiliated with Billard in his pool to buy the 110,000 shares of Boston and Maine stock.

The new purchaser is very close to the New Haven road. He said that his father, who died a short time ago, bequeathed a large amount of railroad stock to him, including many shares of the New Haven stock. He also said that he had made his first investment by purchasing New York New Haven and Hartford stock.

Mr. Billard has an extensive coal and lumber business. This man, who has an interest in nearly every big business enterprise in Connecticut and also in the railroads of the country, has had extensive business connections with J. P. Morgan and Magnates Mellen and Harriman.

Always in the background, and never publicly prominent in a large financial deal, Billard and his personal power have nevertheless proven a very important factor. He has never mixed in public life, being perfectly content to remain in the background.

Attorney General Not Satisfied

Boston, July 11.—Attorney General Malone, when asked about the sale of Boston and Maine stock, said: "I know nothing about this matter, except what I see in the newspapers. I have no means of information as to what has been done, and I shall proceed in the same manner until I am satisfied that there has been a real change in the ownership of the stock."

Jay De Castellane With Grandma

Paris, July 11.—Judge Ditte has appointed a medical expert to make a physical examination of Jay De Castellane, youngest son of Count Boni de Castellane and his divorced wife, and decide when the condition of the boy will permit of his removal from the home of his grandmother, Marquise de Castellane. Count Boni, in the absence of the boy's mother, took Jay, who was ill, from Versailles to the home of the marquise.

Favorable Trade Reports

New York, July 11.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that further small net gains are recorded in commercial progress, favorable reports predominating, although the tendency is by no means definite. In many lines of trade the dullness of midsummer is unusually intense, but each week brings increased activity.

Paris Contractors Vote a Lockout

Paris, July 11.—At a meeting of the Association of Contractors a general lockout was voted. This situation has been brought about by the workmen's campaign of partial strikes, boycotts, etc.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

Woman Sues Her Cousin and Seeks $10,000 Heart Balm

Boston, July 11.—All that Martha Berk wants from Louis Greenberg is $10,000. She claims this is due her on account of alleged breach of promise to marry her.

In order that she might have some chance of getting the $10,000, or at least a part of it, Miss Berk yesterday filed an application in the superior court asking that Greenberg be restrained from drawing any of the proceeds from the Scenic Temple, Revere, until her suit has been settled.

Greenberg is a Boston lawyer and real estate man. Miss Berk is his cousin. The girl alleges that over a year ago, while she was in Poland, Greenberg wrote to her and offered to marry her, and that when she came to this country he refused to keep his part of the contract.

In the petition Miss Berk sets out that her cousin seemed willing to marry her until Jan. 1 of the present year, when he refused to carry out his part of the contract.

Greenberg owns considerable real estate and is one of the owners and proprietors of the Scenic Temple at Revere. He is 28 years old.

Miss Berk resides with relatives in Dorchester, and is well known in that section of the city. She is 25 years old and is employed in a down town office.

Wanted to Get Rid of Wife

Boston, July 11.—Claiming that his second wife wrote love letters to him during his first marriage and thereby caused the death of his first wife, and that he did not intend she should break any more hearts, Andrew Anderson, aged 64, shot and probably fatally injured his second wife, Sarah, aged 48. When arrested, Anderson said he expected to die soon anyway and that he didn't intend to leave his wife behind to cause more trouble.

Traction Company In Debt

Danbury, Conn., July 11.—Application has been made in the superior court at Bridgeport for foreclosure of the Danbury and Harlem Traction company's property. The application is made by the Knickerbocker Trust company of New York. It is alleged that the company has defaulted payment of interest on the $360,000 of its bonds that have been issued.

World's Champion Trotter

Readville, Mass., July 11.—Sweet Marie won the free-for-all race at the New England Breeders track park here for the trotting championship of the world, capturing the first and third heats and losing the second to Major Delmar. Wilkes Heart was a poor third. The best time was made in the first heat, 2:06½.

Held on Arson Charge

Boston, July 11.—Peter Ruma and Pasquale Armenta were held in $5000 bonds each for a hearing next week on charges of arson. Both were interested financially in a fruit store where an explosion and fire occurred.

Shah Will Make Apologies

London, July 11.—The Times correspondent at Teheran says that two of the shah's ministers tomorrow will go to the British legation formally to apologize for the disrespect shown the British flag during the recent trouble. The correspondent adds that the shah has issued a fresh rescript, promising to rule justly and to establish courts of justice.

The Irrepressible Castro

Willemstad, July 11.—The Dutch steamer William II has arrived here from Guana, Venezuela. Her captain reports that he discharged his cargo, destined for Puerto Cabello and La Guayra, at Guanta by permission of the custom house officials there, but that afterward, by order of President Castro, he was compelled to reload it.

Horsewhipped Young Son

Chicago, July 11.—Samuel A. Kimberly was fined $50 in a police court here after he had pleaded guilty to horsewhipping his 10-year-old son. The boy's mother told the court that her husband had been living in idleness since he received a legacy of $400,000 from the estate of his uncle, Peter Kimberly.

Hapgood and Kilby Discharged

New York, July 11.—Herbert J. Hapgood, president of Hapgoods, Incorporated, and his secretary, Ralph L. Kilby, were discharged for lack of evidence in the case in which they were arrested, charged with obtaining stock subscriptions to the Hapgood Sales company through misrepresentation.

Potter Still Dangerously Sick

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 11.—There is little change in the condition of Bishop Potter. He has recovered slightly from the weakness that caused alarm Thursday, but the improvement is not so great as to allay the fears of his family and physicians.

The Road to Happiness.

By TEMPLE BAILEY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Margaret, with her eyes on the heavy sky that hung over the stubbly fields, sang softly:

"Falling leaf and fading tree,
Lines of white on a sullen sea."

She stopped and turned to Meredith with an impulsive gesture.

"This is the end," she said.

His somber eyes met hers.

"I can't see it," he stormed. "We love each other. Why shouldn't we be happy?"

"Ah, but there is the other girl!" she reminded him.

"Yes, the other girl," he said, and for a long time after that they were silent.

In front of them stretched the long brown road. The goldenrod flamed on both sides of it now, but when these two had first met there had been sweetbrier and other delicate flowers of the early summer.

Margaret had worn a bunch of wild pink roses that first morning when she had come to the big gate to get her mail, and to Meredith, there on the same errand, she had seemed as fresh and perfect as the flowers she wore. Since then they had waited every morning on the old rustic bench under the oaks, and life in that time had taken on new meaning.

"Think of it," Margaret said at last—"tomorrow the little postman will come here and there will be no one to see him and nothing will be changed, but you and I will be far away—you in the west and I in the east."

After another silence he asked. "What are you going to do with your life?"

"I?" she hesitated. "Oh, go in for something, I suppose—settlement work or society or literature. Perhaps I'll write a novel."

"And you think that any of those things will make you happy?"

She stretched out her hands to him. "Ah, happiness"— she began, and her voice broke.

"Come with me," he whispered as he bent over her. "It must be you and I for all the future, Margaret."

She drew away from him. "No, no," she told him; "I shall get along. A woman can find so many interests in these days, and in using my brain I shall forget that I have a heart. And you—you will marry the other girl, and this summer, this little time that we have had together, will seem to you like a dream or a strain of music that heard once you can never forget."

His eyes followed her as she rose and walked to the gate. She wore a loose tan coat and tan shoes, and her brown hair was waved and puffed into a shining coiffure.

"Oh, you beauty," he whispered, "you beauty!"

"Hush!" she warned, and they heard the beat of a horse's hoofs.

The mail wagon of the rural delivery carrier was protected from sun and rain by a white umbrella, under which the little man sat like a frog under a toadstool.

"You all goin' tomorrow?" he asked as Meredith gave him directions for forwarding the mail. Then he gave a chuckling laugh. "I reckon if you all come next summer your mail will come to the same name."

Margaret had a half dozen letters and a paper. Meredith's mail was all business matter except one square white envelope addressed in delicate feminine script.

"Look here," the little postman said to Margaret facetiously as he handed the letter to Meredith; "I'd be jealous of that letter if I were you. He gets one every day."

A wave of scarlet swept over the girl's face. "Jealous!" she stammered. "Oh, no!"

But when the little man had gone she broke down and sobbed.

"I am jealous," she told Meredith. "I am dreadfully, dreadfully jealous."

"And yet you won't marry me."

"No."

"You want me to marry a woman I don't care for, to whom I am engaged simply because I had known her all my life and had drifted into it, and you want to make me miserable and to make her miserable just because you are afraid it will be dishonorable for me to go back on my word?"

"But she loves you, and she isn't strong."

His face softened.

"No; she isn't strong, and she has a sweet nature. If I had never met you I should have jogged along with her and there would have been no heights of happiness. I should have dwelt always in the plain.

He stopped abruptly. "But what is the use of thinking about that? It's our last day together, Margaret. Let us forget everything but that we are together."

"Then we'll ride," she said. "I'll go back to the house and get my habit, and we will go over the hills and far away."

He stuffed his letters into his pocket. "You haven't read—hers," Margaret reminded him.

"Another time," he said briefly, and they went to get ready.

Their ride that day was a thing to live in a man's memory. The hillsides were glowing in russet and orange and green. The lake as they passed it was as blue as a sapphire, and the blackbirds were flocking in the golden fields.

They talked little, but they lived intensely in those few hours. Now and then she ventured a little plan for his future or for hers. But he would stop her always, and then he would urge their horses on and on until they went like the wind.

At last twilight came, and they stopped at a wayside inn for supper. They ate little.

"I can't," Margaret whispered when he insisted. "I am thinking of tomorrow."

When the waiter came with their bill Meredith, reaching for his pocketbook, brought out with it the unopened letter of the morning. As it lay on the table Margaret studied the postmark.

"How does it happen," she asked suddenly, "that she is in New York? I thought you were to meet her in Denver."

He caught the letter out of her hand. "New York?" he repeated and tore it open.

As he read his face changed, whitened and was suddenly illumined.

"Margaret," he said, with a quick intake of breath, "Margaret!"

"What is it?" she asked, startled.

"Helen is married—to some one she met this summer."

Across the table they stared at each other, stunned by this sudden fulfillment of their hearts' desire. Meredith, catching curious eyes upon them, rose.

"Come," he said abruptly; "we must go."

The stars were out as they mounted their horses, and the road lay like a silver path before them. In the darkness Meredith leaned over and drew to him the lady of his heart.

"Dear," he whispered tensely, "it is the road to happiness."

Check Your Passion.

An old man was once walking with a little boy. They came across four shrubs. The old man said to his youthful companion:

"Pull up the least one."

He obeyed with ease.

"Now the next."

He obeyed, but it did not come so easily.

"And the third."

It took all his strength to move its roots, but he succeeded.

"Now the fourth."

In vain the lad put forth all his strength. He only made the leaves tremble. He could not move the roots. They had gone strongly into the earth, and no effort could dislodge them.

Then the wise old man said to the ardent youth:

"This, my son, is just what happens with our passions. When they are young and weak one may by a little watchfulness over self and the help of a little self denial easily tear them up, but if we let them cast their roots deep into our souls there is no human power can uproot them. For this reason, my child, watch well over the first movements of your soul and study by acts of virtue to keep your passions well in check."

Reading In Bed.

Reading in bed, like most luxuries, can be overdone. In fact, there seems to be only one excuse for this fascinating way of ending the day. Certain people find that their worries accumulate in their brains after bedtime. Their nerves are at high tension, and their minds are actively at work trying to solve problems that should have been left behind in the city.

Going to bed with the brain in such a state means that with nothing to distract the thoughts, hearing nothing and seeing nothing in the darkness, imagination has full sway and hours of wakefulness may be the result. Such a man, we think, will find half an hour's reading in bed a great help.

With careful attention paid to the quality and position of the light so that without flickering it shines over the shoulder and directly on to the page the much maligned habit of reading in bed has sometimes a very beneficial effect on a tired and overwakeful brain.—Family Doctor.

A Considerate Bride.

"The most considerate girl I ever knew got married yesterday," said the man. "She showed her thoughtfulness in a most unusual way. The day before the wedding she called the attention of the rest of the family to a row of old shoes standing in a downstairs closet.

"'I want you to throw these after the carriage,' she said. 'They are all mates. I collected them to throw away. I learned some time ago that certain poor souls who have hard work to get clothes of any description keep a lookout for big weddings. They hang around the house at going away time and pick up the good luck shoes. Maybe they get a fit, and maybe they don't. Anyway, I've done all I could to accommodate them.

"'Here are six pairs of decent shoes to be fired after me. If somebody doesn't get fitted in that collection it isn't my fault.'"—New York Times.

Met Their Match.

Three students at one of the leading colleges determined to play a trick on one of the professors.

For a week they collected all kinds of bugs and finally had gathered a large number of them. Selecting a half dozen of the most uniformly sized, they took them apart; then they glued a leg of one, a head of another, a body of a third, etc., until they had a perfectly made body of a bug, and a very funny one.

Next day when the bug was dry they took it to the professor.

"We found it an hour ago," said the spokesman, "in the back field. It is very queer, and we thought you could tell us the name of it."

"So I can," said the professor after he had looked at it. "It is a species of humbug."—Philadelphia Ledger.

OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)
The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.
Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.
The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL
(Legal Title City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889
The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.
Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.
The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

The Hancock street bridge over the railroad, near the Atlantic depot, is being replanked.

No amount of sprinkling seems adequate to prevent the lawns and gardens from drying up.

Rev. W. W. Fenn will preach at King's chapel, Boston, on Sunday morning at half past ten.

Miss Emma Biganess of the Brockton Daily Enterprise is spending her vacation at Sebago Lake, Maine.

F. M. Brauer and family of Brighton are stopping at William Norteman's for the balance of the season.

G. B. Bates promises a letter for Daily Ledger readers on Monday on the grade crossing appropriation.

William Richards recently at the Quincy depot is in charge of the wireless telegraph on the steamer Commonwealth of the Fall River line.

The new timetable of the street railway revised to date appears in this issue. The Nantasket and Hingham routes are included.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council will be held Monday evening. A second meeting will probably be necessary next week to complete the business before adjourning for the summer.

The Sunday school of the Water Street Presbyterian church is holding its annual picnic today at Nantasket beach. The school made the trip in special electric cars of which four were required.

Capt. Condon, the goverment inspector of buildings, is in town in connection with the erection of the goverment building on Washington street. Capt. Condon, whose headquarters are at Springfield, will remain in town several days.

TAHHANANITISKI.

MILTON SURPRISE

The Highest Tax Rate In the History Of the Town

The bank and corporation dividend of $83,762.73 which the town of Milton receives from the State, is sufficient to pay all the State tax, all the county tax, all the Metropolitan sewer tax, and a portion of the Metropolitan park tax, yet the town laments a tax rate of $13.20, which is an increase of $2 over 1907.

The Milton Record says: "All the calculations of the Assessors were upset when it came to the final figuring of the valuations and the other items that enter into the determination of the annual tax levy and the rate for the year. Instead of a comparatively small increase and a rate of $12 or less, they found that despite an increase of nearly $1,000,000 in valuation, it would be necessary in order to meet the requirments of the town. State, county and Metropolitan district to jump the rate $2, making the rate for 1908 $13.20 per $1000 valuation. This is the highest tax rate in the history of the town, the highest previous rate being $13 in 1903. There has not been an increase so large since 1899 when the rate was put up from $9 to $11.

"The Assessors had based their expectation of a rate of $12 or less upon figures for certain items which proved to be wrong, when the final computations were made. Thus they had expected to find the sum of about $6,000 in the town treasury; instead they found nothing. On the other hand, they had estimated the increase in the requirements for town expenses at $14,000, while the actual increase was $5000 more or approximately $19,000 all. This change of $11,000 accounts for a considerable part of the unexpected and large increase in the rate.

"The valuation of real estate is $11,641,525, a gain of $333,100, which is not quite as large as last year. The value of buildings has increased $171,150 and the value of land has increased $161,950. There has been less new building in Milton this year than for some years past, but in the opinion of the assessors the land in certain sections has appreciated in value, the gain on land nearly offsetting the decrease in valuation of buildings. Last year the total gain in valuation was only $547,060, but as there was no great jump in the expenses the assessors were able to make a reduction.

"The amount to be raised by taxation this year amounts to $313,385.52 and the assessors have provided for an overlay of $298.88, making the total levy $313,684.40. Of this levy the personal property pays $160,016.27 and the real estate $153,668.13.

G. Melville Holmes, a pupil of the Farm and Trades school on Thompson's island, is on a short visit to his mother.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

Penn Street Man Victim Of Unknown Assailant

Angelo Locicaro, aged 40 years, was shot in the stomach at his home, 40 Penn street, at 11 o'clock last night by some person unknown.

According to the story that Locicaro tells the police, he went to the sink to get a drink of water before going to bed. While there a bullet came crashing through the window. The bullet entered his stomach inflicting a dangerous wound. The injured man was attended by Dr. Reardon and Dr. McCausland, and he was removed to the City Hospital.

Neighbors report seeing a man running away from Locicaro's house. He is described as about 5 feet 8 inches tall, 180 pounds. He wore a straw hat and blue coat.

This morning Officer Boutin met a man answering the description of the man seen running away from Locicaro's house. It was 3.30 o'clock this morning as the officer stood at the box at the corner of Edison and Sumner streets. He started toward the man to see who he was and shouted to him to stop. Instead of doing so the man threw off his coat and ran for dear life. Officer Boutin fired two shots in hopes, to halt the fleeing man, but he got away.

In the pocket of the coat which the man threw off was a 38 calibre revolver with one chamber empty.

The bullet with which Locicaro was struck was of a 38 calibre, and it is thought the man Officer Boutin met, and the man who did the shooting were one and the same. Officer Boutin had not been informed of the shooting at the time this affair took place.

An Opium Farm.

Not far from Macao, at the mouth of the Canton river, China, is an opium "farm." Standing in a courtyard is the great wooden building devoted to opium manufactures, and in its vestibules are heaps of brown balls, not unlike cocoanuts. Two coolies, seated, cut them open and remove the black, jamlike substance they contain—the compressed poppy. The outer covering is a thick layer of dried leaves. Inside the building the whole place is full of smoke, arising from a hundred charcoal fires in open earthenware "chattis," placed in a row around the walls. Over each fire rests a shallow brass pan in which bubbles a mixture of poppy and water. This mixture is strained through paper and passes on to be more carefully boiled in the next room, where the process is exactly similar. From there it goes to another room, where the sirup is reduced to the consistency of treacle over slow fires. In another building the opium is packed in tiny cans and placed in cases and sealed with the government seal.

A Banker's Generosity.

One day Humboldt was dining with Mendelssohn, the banker, and, an unusual thing for him, was very silent. His host, remarking it, observed to Humboldt that he was sure he must be ill.

"No," said Humboldt, "but I am in great trouble. Only ten minutes before leaving my apartment to come here I received from my landlord a note informing me that he had sold the house in which I reside and that I must move. The very thought drives me to despair. I really cannot bear to move again."

Mendelssohn gradually led Humboldt into conversation, during which he found time to write a note and receive an answer to it. He then took Humboldt aside and said: "By this note I learn that I am now the owner of the house in which you reside. The condition, however, upon which I have become its possessor is that you continue to occupy your apartment in it as long as you live."

Wanted a Bargain.

One day a small Cincinnati boy came to a halt before a sign over a desk in the office of the express company. It gave the rate for money orders, and after studying it for a few minutes he walked up to the cashier and said boldly:

"I want a money order."

"How large a one, my boy?" the clerk inquired benignantly.

"Well, let's see," pondered the little fellow. "The rate for a ten dollar order is 8 cents, isn't it?"

"Yes; that's right."

"Well, I want a drum and pair of roller skates and a new straw hat and some candy. Ten dollars will be enough."

Then he fished through his pockets and triumphantly placed a nickel and three coppers before the astonished clerk. It took ten minutes to convince the youngster that nothing less than $10.08 could buy a money order for $10.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Boston Theatre.

For the second week of vaudeville on a large scale, inaugurated at the Boston Theatre by Mr. B. F. Keith, grand opera will be presented on a scale hitherto believed impossible in vaudeville, and it should prove even more attractive than the mammoth programme presented the previous week, which included besides a long list of star vaudeville acts, an entire play. For this week the Romany Opera Company, presenting Gounod's "Faust" will be the attraction. It will be presented during the week by two sets of principals—on Monday, Wednesday and Friday matinees and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, the principals will be Mary Obey as "Marguerite," George Natanson as "Valentine," and Marcello Resemini as "Faust."

FR. ROCHE.

Rev. Ambrose F. Roche who has long been identified with the Catholic churches of Quincy, and who was Saturday transferred to the parish at Watertown, said good-bye to the parishioners of St. Mary's church on Sunday morning.

The parting words came at the 8.45 mass, and it was a particularly sad one, as the news that he was to leave had come as a shock to the members of the parish.

Twice during the ceremony Fr. Roche broke down and tears filled the eyes of hundreds of the worshippers.

After the reading of the gospel Rev. Fr. Roche made the usual announcements for the week and then started to say goodbye. After referring to his appointment to his new pastorate in Watertown Rev. Fr. Roche said he was leaving St. Mary's parish in good condition. He said he had always tried to do his duty as he saw it, and in doing this always had before him the words of Christ: "Go forth and teach."

Rev. Fr. Roche said that if at any time he had, by word or act, offended anybody he asked forgiveness, as he freely gave to those who might have offended him. At this point Fr. Roche broke down and was unable to continue for some moments.

After composing his feelings, Fr. Roche said he was glad to know that he was to be followed by a successor of the type of Rev. Fr. Grady, who was an ideal priest. He also spoke feelingly of his curate, Rev. William J. Duffy, and hoped that all of Rev. Fr. Duffy's friends, as well as his own, would give to the new pastor all the help and encouragement that had been shown to himself and Fr. Duffy, who, he said, was a splendid young man and a fine curate. He also spoke of the loyalty and hard work given the church by the faithful sexton, John C. Ballou, who had officiated as such for eight years past without ever a thought of financial remuneration, and who had given the cornerstone to the church and the stone with which the new cemetery wall was constructed.

At this point Rev. Fr. Roche was again affected so that he was unable to continue his address, and with tear-filled eyes was obliged to go on with the celebration of the mass. His parishioners were visibly affected, and many men and women cried outright.

After the mass and throughout the day Rev. Fr. Roche was called upon personally by his parishioners, who extended to him heartfelt good wishes on his promotion, though every one expressed regrets that he was going to leave West Quincy.

DELICIOUS BANANA CREAM.

This recipe is highly recommended by one of our correspondents; try it for desert tomorrow.

Peel five large bananas, rub smooth with five teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add one teacup sweet cream beaten to a stiff froth, then add one 10c. package of Lemon JELL-O dissolved in 1 1-2 teacups boiling water. Pour into mold and when cold garnish with candied cherries. Serve with whipped cream, or any good pudding sauce. JELL-O is sold by all Grocers at 10c. per package.

Buried With Masonic Honors

The funeral of Benjamin F. Linton, one of the oldest engineers in Quincy was held Sunday afternoon from his late residence 54 Copeland street and was very largely attended.

Among the many present were delegates from Rural lodge St. Stephens Chapter and South Shore commandery of Masons, Mt. Wollaston and Tremont lodges and Manet and Massasoit encampments of Odd Fellows.

There was also a delegation from local 79 of the steam engineers union.

Each of these organizations sent floral pieces and there was also many flowers from neighbors and personal friends outside of the immediate family.

Rev. Dr. E. N. Hardy conducted the services after which the Odd Fellow burial service was conducted by the officers of Mt. Wollaston lodge for Tremont lodge of which Mr. Linton was a member.

During these services a quartette sang "Rock of Ages," "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Farewell, My Brother Farewell."

South Shore Commandery then took a special street car to Mt. Wollaston cemetery where it performed its burial service at the grave.

A Terrific Storm.

A severe wind and rain storm passed over Chelsea, Everett and East Boston, Sunday afternoon. It seems as if the clouds had burst and allowed all the rain in the heavens to fall at once.

Added to this a strong southwest wind came up which swept everything in its path, particularly in the ruins of the great Chelsea fire, so that for many minutes the city from one end to the other was filled with dirt and dust of all kinds. The greatest of excitement prevailed during the storm.

In the burned district one house in course of erection was blown down and three other houses were lifted from their foundations and moved a distance of three feet.

Billboards were blown down, trees were uprooted, limbs of trees were torn off, windows were smashed into the smallest of fragments in various parts of the city, and so forcible was the wind that a pile of dirt collected on Washington avenue which held up a street car until the debris was cleared away.

Yacht Capsized.

The yacht Clio of South Boston with five men on board, was capsized off Houghs Neck Sunday afternoon during the squall.

The five men were thrown into the water and were saved from drowning by the prompt work of David Labadie, who put out from Germantown in the motor boat Lusitania.

The rescued men were Capt. Rich, Thomas Rexford, John Jackson, W. J. Sullivan and J. T. Stratford.

The Clio was off Sheep island when the squall came down upon them and the yacht was capsized.

The thirty-foot boat Lusitania was bound up the river and seeing the plight of the sail boat made for her with all speed.

By careful work Capt. Labadie was able to get the five men on board.

He took them to Germantown where they dried their clothing and then started for Boston on the electric cars.

Busy Bee The Winner

Several class D boats of the Quincy Yacht club participated in the open race under the auspices of the Columbia Yacht club off City Point, Saturday. There was a rattling southwest breeze and it was a pretty race.

The Busy Bee finished first in this class with the Almira second and Iris third, and corrected time did not change their relative position. Other boats in this class were Stridaway, Saltair, Josephine and Gleamer.

ASSAULT.

Hjalmar Johnson of School street was arrested on Sunday by Inspector Goodhue on a warrant charging him with mayhem.

Johnson attended a Swedish picnic at Faxon park, Saturday, and got into a row with Victor Seaberg.

During the fracas it is alleged that Johnson bit a piece out of the face of Seaberg.

Friends took Seaberg to Dr. McLellan, who dressed the wound.

The police were notified and Inspector Goodhue was sent out to search for Johnson, who did not return to his boarding house Saturday night, but Inspector Goodhue found him Sunday morning at a Finnish boarding house on Garfield street.

Johnson was arraigned in court this morning and Seaberg was there to testify, but could hardly speak, as the wound was on his right cheek, near the mouth. He was held in $2000 for the grand jury.

Mad Dogs.

Mad dogs are becoming quite numerous. Saturday while Mr. Sweetland, a clerk at Johnson Bros'. was at work in front of the store, a dog rushed up and bit him in the leg. The animal then ran down Chestnut street and disappeared.

Saturday afternoon a dog belonging to a driver of Coleman Bros., at Atlantic, went mad and snapped at several people and animals. He then ran into the stable of C. P. Gardner, where he was shot by G. W. Cole.

Sunday morning a dog without any collar was running about City Square frothing at the mouth. Officer Murray caught the animal and taking him off the main street shot him.

Fell from Tree.

John N. Fox was badly shaken up and bruised Saturday afternoon by falling from a tree at his home on Franklin street. Fortunately no bones were broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hendrie of Marlboro street and Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Coe of Marion street took an automobile trip down to Onset, Mass., over the week end.

Pickpockets Reap Harvest

According to reports from the picnic if the Orangemen at New Downer Landing, Weymouth, on Saturday, pickpockets reaped a rich harvest.

It is believed that a gang of half a dozen mingled with the crowd boarding the special train in Boston and came to Quincy and worked the crowd as they were entering the grove.

A number of persons were relieved of various sums by the light fingered gentry and before the police could get onto them they had gone.

Among those to be relieved of their cash was Alexander Duncan of Quincy who lost $12.

Others to lose their pocket books were John H. Keene of Somerville of $10; Peter F. McElevey of Providence, R. I. a specially invited guest, who lost $30 and a $25 watch; Angus McKinnon of Norwood, who lost $12; David Horrigan of Charlestown, $34; William H. Bradley, $16; William Donnolfy of Bridgewater, $30; P. H. Graham, $20 and a $10 stickpin; Edward McGloan, who had his pockets nearly torn away, and who is the loser of $12, and George E. McCard, who says he was robbed of between $12 and $16.

The thieves began their work as the party were boarding the special train in Boston where two of the officers of the order had a tussle with men who tried to get their bags away from them.

Several Weymouth officers and two state officers were on duty at the grove but the pickpockets got in their work outside of the gate.

When the lodges arrived at the grove after the parade in Quincy they were received by Thomas Milliken, Past Supreme Grand Master, who made an address of welcome and warned the picnickers that pickpockets were about.

The result of the field sports during the day were as follows:

200-yard swimming race—Won by Hugh Garrity, P. H. Graham second, E. D. McGloin, third.

Half-mile double scull race—Won by John McGee and James Martin of the Garfield lodge, Frank Parker and Frank Curley of the Cambridge True Blue second, William Troy and John Tupper of the Cameron lodge third.

Half-mile foot race—Won by J. W. Silliker, Joseph Stewart second, William Martin third, Pole vault—Won by Richard Jermain, William Martin second, Joseph Silliker third.

100-yard dash—Won by Joseph Stewart, William Martin second, Thomas Milliken third.

Three-legged race—Won by John Williams, Joseph Stewart second, Thomas Milliken Jr., third.

Putting 16-lb shot—Won by Joseph Durb, William Martin second, Henry Tangney third.

Hop, step and jump—Won by William Martin, Joseph Stewart second, Thomas Milliken, Jr., third.

150-yard race for girls—Won by Martha Coulter, Ethel Coulter second, Mary McMasters third.

One-mile run—Won by John Webster, James Lamont second, Thomas Hicks third.

Sack race—Won by William H. Holden, Patrick Tivan second, Patrick Mullaney third.

THE MICMAC.

Mr. Charles Laing entertained a party of friends on board his new power boat, the Micmac. A pleasant sail to Marblehead and return by moonlight was enjoyed by all. Aboard were: Miss Elsie Kirby, Miss Ethel Powell, Miss Ella Packard, Miss Elizabeth Laing, Miss Delia Jones, Miss Jennie Laing, Miss Maria Morrison and Miss Isabell Laing, Mr. Albert Wall, Mr. William Beach, Mr. William Laing, Mr. William Tarbox, Mr. John Laing, Mr. James Morrison, Mr. Julius Muir.

TODAY'S COURT.

John M. Connell was arraigned for attempting to break and enter at Weymouth and was held in $1000 for the grand jury.

Hjalmer Johnson was held in $2000 for the grand jury for mayhem at Quincy.

Stephen Lennon and Charles Stewart were arraigned for breaking and entering a freight car at Braintree and was held in $1000 each for the grand jury.

Alex Fryer was arraigned for assault on Eva Fryer at Quincy. Case continued until July 27.

Jury Disagreed

A case in which many residents of City Square were interested was heard before Judge Pratt and a special jury of six men Saturday afternoon at the district court room. The hearing was to inquire into the mental condition of Walter T. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock was cited into court last week upon papers sworn out by Mrs. Babcack who alleged he was insane. When the hearing came up Mr. Babcock, through his attorney John D. McKay, demanded a hearing before a jury as provided by law. This jury consisted of six men, three of whom were residents of Quincy and three from Weymouth.

When the hearing was called on Saturday one of the Quincy men on the jury was challenged as he was a relative of Babcock and another man summoned.

The report of Dr. Jelly of Boston and Dr. Ellsworth of Quincy, who examined Mr. Babcock as to his mental condition, was read and a number of witnesses were heard.

The jury retired about 5 o'clock and after being out two hours reported to Judge Pratt that they were unable to agree.

It is understood that the jury stood two for not insane and four that he was insane. They were then dismissed. It is probable that another jury will be asked for.

The jury Saturday consisted of Joseph H. Vogel, foreman, Eben W. Sheppard and Benjamin F. Macomber of Quincy; Minot P. Garey, Albert Wilder and William H. Pratt of Weymouth.

Mrs. Josette Reed.

The funeral service of Mrs. Josette Reed was held in St. Mary's church, West Quincy, on Saturday morning. Rev. Father Duffy officiated. Burial was at St. Mary's cemetery. The pall bearer were Nelson Reed, Peter Reed, Napoleon Reed, Joseph Reed, Theophie Cote and Michael Lavoie.

Mrs. Reed died in her 82d year. She had always been very active till last January, when she was taken sick with the grip from which she never recovered. Her hearing was very good, she never wore glasses, and was very fond of reading, which she kept up to the end. She leaves twelve children: Joseph Reed of Maskigon, Mich., Nelson Reed of West Quincy, Mary Reed of Quincy, Mrs. Marguerite Savoie of South Quincy, Mrs. Adeline Cote of Haverhill, Mass., Adolphe Reed of East Taunton, Mass., George Reed of Bellington, Washington, Mrs. Josephine Lavoie of West Quincy, Alfred Reed of Califonia, Peter Reed of South Quincy, Napoleon Reed, of the firm Reed & Vendret, South Quincy, and Mrs. Ella Bertrand of West Quincy, with whom she resided. She leaves 33 grand children and 18 great-grand children.

AN EXPENSIVE BUNCH

The Delai Lama and Retinue Journeying Toward Pekin

IS "BUDDHA'S VICE REGENT"

Costs $5000 a Day to Every City In Which He Elects to Stop--Chinese Throne Will Endeavor to Persuade Him to Return to Tibet

Pekin, July 13.—In the spring of 1904 Colonel Younghusband of the British army led a British column over the mountain passes of the Himalayas and fought his way into the holy city of Lhassa.

In the eyes of all true Buddhists this was desecration and ever since then the Dalai Lama, the religious head of the Buddhist faith and ruler of Tibet, has been a wanderer over northern China. He would not stay in his city after the feet of infidels had trodden its sacred streets. Consequently, accompanied by a numerous retinue, he started on his wanderings through China and Mongolia, an expensive and unwelcome guest at the various cities where he elected to stop.

Now the Lama is coming to Pekin, where, as a matter of fact, he will be no more welcome than he was at other cities in the empire. Political expedient, however, will make it necessary for the Chinese authorities to receive him with a show of great courtesy, but they will do their utmost to persuade him to return to Lhassa, and if they can once get him to start for home they will send along a numerous force of troops to see that he reaches there without stopping unduly on the way.

The Lama in his travels has had with him a retinue variously estimated at from 500 to 1000 men. This pomp is perhaps fitting for the head of all the Buddhists, but to entertain such a host in the luxurious manner they expect has been both expensive and troublesome for the Chinese officials upon whom the Lama has descended and demanded hospitality in the name of his high office.

The position of the Dalai Lama in the Buddhist church resembles that of the pope in the Christian world. He is believed to be Buddha's vice-regent incarnate on earth. He never dies. But at certain times, displeased with the sinfulness of the world, he retires to the paradise of Gadan, leaving his mortal body on earth. When at home in Lhassa the Dalai Lama is held in such veneration that his people get on their knees when the cattle that supply him with milk are driven past them down the highroad. These sacred cattle, together with the Lama's golden cooking utensils, have been brought along on the wanderings.

The Lama travels with dignity and seclusion, but in order to shed spiritual benefit upon the multitude it is his custom to walk along the roads swinging two silken sashes, with which he strikes the pilgrims lined up by the wayside, thus imparting to them his high blessing.

Ever since the Dalai Lama started on his travels the Chinese throne has tried to break up his caravan and send him back to Lhassa, but without success. The Chinese government desires to reorganize the administration of Tibet, but it can do nothing without the Lama's co-operation. The throne is, therefore, now resorting to blandishments to bring him to Pekin, even though he is not really wanted here, in the ultimate hope that it can persuade him to go back home.

The present Dalai Lama is more important politically than has been the ruler of Tibet at any time since the country was annexed to China in 1720. He is thought to distrust China deeply on account of her inability in 1904-05 to protect Tibet from British-India and herself from Japan and Russia, and he is accused of intriguing with Russia on this account.

No Dalai Lama has ever before left the region of Lhassa, and with one exception no grand Lama, of whom there are three, has ever visited Pekin. This exception was in 1779, and the visitor died of smallpox immediately after his arrival.

The Dalai Lama is 32 years old, and is the thirteenth ruler of the Buddhist church. His personality is shrouded in mystery, and not even his name is known. He is said to be obstinate, and the throne does not expect an easy time in getting him to do what it wants. He has been seen by very few foreigners.

After his flight from the potala, his sacred castle in Lhassa, the Dalai Lama wandered about from monastery to monastery in the high altitudes of northern Tibet and central Mongolia until he finally was not less than 3000 miles from his starting point. His retinue consists of priests, personal servitors, high officials of the church, and a motley crowd of doubtful-looking soldiers, armed with rifles. One of these men declared to a Chinese commissioner that he was a Russian. The officials of the large cities which the Lama has visited say it takes about $5000 to retain him and his retainers for a single day.

Half a Dozen Prohibition Candidates For President

Columbus, O., July 13.—Delegates have begun to arrive for the Prohibition national convention, which will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, and for the state Prohibition convention, which will open today. Delegations to the national convention will be escorted from the Union station to their hotels by a brass band seated on a big water sprinkler. Beginning tonight there will be mass meetings every night at Memorial hall, where the delegates will assemble, addressed by leading prohibition orators.

Indications now point to an open fight for the nomination for president. There is on foot a movement among some of the leaders of the party to place a southern Democrat and northern Republican on the ticket.

Among the candidates for president who have been prominently mentioned are Fred F. Wheelock, Los Angeles, Cal.; Daniel P. Sheen, Peoria, Ills.; Joseph P. Tracey, Detroit; Rev. W. P. Palmer, editor St. Louis Christian Advocate; Alfred L. Mannierre, New York, and Dr. J. B. Cranfiel, Dallas, a former candidate for vice president.

Whales Raced With Steamer

New York, July 13.—Steamship St. Louis was proceeding on her course from Europe in a smooth sea on last Thursday evening, when a school of whales appeared on the port bow of the liner. For over half an hour the school of whales raced along with the steamship on even terms and the race would have probably gone on until long after nightfall had not the sixty-foot leader of the school left his companions and tried to cross the bow of the ship. There was a perceptible jar as the steel prow struck the whale, cutting it in two. The other whales soon disappeared.

Obaldia Unanimously Elected

Panama, July 13.—The presidential election throughout the Isthmus of Panama passed off without disturbance. J. D. Obaldia, formerly minister to the United States, was elected president. Ricardo Arias recently withdrew his candidacy and there was no opponent to Obaldia placed in nomination. There appeared to be an absolute lack of ill-feeling between the former supporters of Arias and the adherents of Obaldia.

Thaw's Fight For Liberty

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 13.—Harry K. Thaw's fight for liberty will be renewed today before Supreme Court Justice Mills at White Plains. His new counsel, Charles Morschauser of Poughkeepsie, will submit affidavits and arguments to Justice Mills in support of his application for a jury trial as to Thaw's mental condition. District Attorney Jerome will oppose the application for a jury trial.

Money Awaiting a Claimant

Washington, July 13.—The state department is anxious to find out if there are any relatives in this country of Frank Bates, an American citizen, who died Nov. 8, 1906, at Mendoza, Argentine Republic. He was buried at that place. There is a credit of about $950 in one of the Argentine banks in Bates' name which will eschew to the Argentine government unless some one turns up to claim it.

No Light on Wilson Murder

Philadelphia, July 13.—No clue has yet been found to the murderer of Dr. W. H. Wilson, who died on June 26 after sipping from the bottle of ale which had been sent him by express. A theory that has been advanced by the police officials is that Wilson may have been murdered by a woman who had been one of his patients.

Baseball Man's Sudden Death

Columbus, O., July 13.—Thomas J. Bryce, president of the Columbus American Association Baseball company, died suddenly Sunday of heart disease in the grand stand at Neil park, where he had gone to witness the game between Columbus and Toledo. He died before he could be removed from the stand.

Captured by Vanderbilt Colt

Paris, July 13.—W. K. Vanderbilt added another classic stake to his long list of victories when his bay colt Seasick II won the prize of the President of the Republic, valued at $20,000. The race was at one mile, four and a half furlongs.

Lightning Kills Bathers

East Brady, Pa., July 13.—J. A. Lindsay, aged 23, and James Quenn, 16, were killed by lightning which struck a pipe line near where, wishing to experience the novelty of being in the water during a storm, they had gone in swimming.

Elks In Convention

Dallas, July 13.—Ten thousand Elks are in Dallas for the convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The program opened today with a dinner of 1500 plates. The convention ceremonies proper will open tonight.

Moroccan Sultans Dodging About

Rabat, July 13.—Sultan Abd-el-Aziz has left Rabat for Morocco City.

Fez, July 13.—It is rumored that Mulai Hafid, the usurping sultan, will depart from Fez shortly for Morocco City or Rabat.

MAINE FOREST FIRES

They Continue to Spread With Alarming Rapidity

LOSS IS ALREADY $300,000

A Thousand Men Fighting the Flames Under Great Difficulty--More Than Thirty Square Miles Burned In York County Alone

Portland, Me., July 13.—With a series of dangerous forest fires scattered all along the Maine coast from the York river to the Penobscot, and raging also at various inland points, after a week of the most strenuous efforts to place them under control, the situation is regarded as almost desperate.

Under the scorching heat of the last two weeks, the undergrowth in the Maine forests has become dry as tinder, and sparks from locomotives or from matches carelessly dropped by campers have quickly started fires which, in many instances, have taken on the proportions of a conflagration.

Thousands of acres of wild land have been burned over, and thousands of dollars' worth of timber destroyed. The loss of timber in the Kineo region alone is estimated at over $100,000, and the fires in that district are still uncontrollable. Trains on the Somerset railroad have been held up by the flames. The work of the fire fighters has been most exhausting, and in the high temperature, with the added heat of the great fires, there are many cases of prostration.

Bangor is fairly encircled by fires in the woods of neighboring towns. No towns are considered in any immediate danger, but vast tracts of woodland are being licked up. From the top of Saunders' mountain in Dedham, not far from Bangor, no less than thirteen fires can be counted in the vicinity of Mt. Katahdin. It is estimated that a thousand men are fighting forest fires within a radius of thirty-five miles of Bangor.

Brunswick is another center of forest destruction, though in the region about there the timber is for the most part of comparatively small growth. Fires have been burning for a week along the Harpswell road and have burned over several square miles of territory. Though they were apparently under control Saturday, they broke out in new places yesterday.

Along the New Meadows river a blaze, which is still unsubdued, put a stop to traffic over the Lewiston, Augusta and Waterville street railway, burning poles and damaging ties and rails. No houses were burned, but the flames seem to be pushing irresistibly toward a number of valuable estates.

Along the York county shore smoke from four forest fires in York, Wells and Kennebunk cloud the atmosphere of scores of summer resorts. At Ogunquit, in Wells, and at Parson's beach, an exclusive summer settlement of wealthy New Yorkers in Kennebunk, the flames came uncomfortably close, so that it was necessary to protect the roofs of buildings from sparks and to organize volunteer parties to assist the Boston and Maine railroad workmen and others in holding back the flames.

More than thirty square miles of land has been burned over in York county during the past week.

The total damage thus far by the various fires in the state is difficult to estimate, but probably $300,000 is not too high a figure of the damage.

A Sagamore Hill Conference

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 13.—President Roosevelt held a Sunday conference with Secretary of State Root and Assistant and Acting Secretary of State Bacon. The three conferred at Sagamore Hill for almost four hours. While the exact nature of their deliberations could not be learned, it is thought likely that the foremost subject of the long conference related to the strained situation at present existing between the United States and Venezuela. Root on Saturday completed a course at Muldoon's farm at White Plains, N. Y.

Alia to Die This Week

Denver, July 13.—Guiseppe Alia, who murdered Father Heinrichs at the altar of St. Elizabeth's church while receiving the sacrament, will be hanged some time this week, but the day and hour is known only to prison officials. Colorado courts designate the week when persons sentenced to death shall expiate their crime, leaving it to prison officers to select the moment when the sentence shall be carried into effect.

Outbreak of Haitians Feared

Paris, July 13.—Official advices from Port au Prince state that the situation there is becoming more and more disquieting. An outbreak is feared among the Haitians, who are showing great hostility to foreigners. A French cruiser is the only warship in the harbor.

Victim of Lamp Explosion

Boston, July 13.—Mary Burns, aged 55, was fatally burned by the explosion of a lamp in her room at 51 Winchester street, dying on the way to the City hospital. The woman hired the room a week ago and nothing is known of her home and relatives.

Hope For Potter's Recovery

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 13.—Bishop Potter passed a good day and night, and a degree of hopefulness is expressed for his recovery.

ARMY OF ATHLETES

Olympic Games to Be Conducted on Gigantic Scale

FRICTION OVER THE RULES

Adverse Decision on Protests Entered by Americans--Sports to Continue a Fortnight--American Team Is Attracting the Greatest Attention

London, July 13.—Athletes from twenty countries are gathered in and near London for the Olympic games which opened today and which, it is believed, will prove the greatest games of modern times.

The competitors constitute a small army in themselves, almost every country having entered in the various events the full quota of men allowed by the rules, in most cases a round dozen. As there are twenty-five events on the program, the number of athletes taking part will total nearly 2000, many of the men, of course, representing their respective countries in more than one event.

The original idea was to devote today entirely to the formal ceremonies, but the committee in charge of the games decided to run off some of the preliminaries and the heat of the 1500-metre race will be started as soon as possible after formalities are ended.

The parade of athletes is to be the feature of the ceremonies. The representatives of the various countries will form into groups, divided according to the sports in which they are competing, and will carry their national banners. The preparations are on a gigantic scale. The stadium will seat 68,000 and there is room for 23,000 more, but no seats. By making use of a strip surrounding the stadium, standing room also can be found for 50,000 additional, but this probably will not be necessary.

As was to be expected, some little friction has arisen over the rules governing some of the contests. The Americans have put in a claim that they ought to be permitted the privilege of digging a hole for the pole in the vaulting competition, but the Amateur Athletic association, the rules of which will govern the meeting, has decided against this. To be compelled at the last moment to adopt a new method of vaulting probably will go hard against Gilbert, the American vaulter, who holds the world's championship, and who recently made a vault of thirteen feet in practice.

The association also has decided against the American protest in the question of heat drawings. The American committee pointed out that by the method to be adopted it might happen that all the athletes of one country would be drawn for the same heat, which would be manifestly unfair, but the association held that the possibility of this was so remote that it need not be taken into consideration. Slips, therefore, bearing the names of the various contestants, will be drawn from a hat, with the object of selecting the competitors in each heat.

The sports are to continue for a fortnight and will occupy the morning and afternoon of each day. During the first days of the meeting there will be a number of events going on simultaneously, but as the unsuccessful are weeded out and the interest grows only one event of importance will be contested at a time.

The prices of seats have been fixed by experts selected from athletic associations in consultation with two committees. They range from 25 cents to $5 for the afternoon performances, and practically about half that amount for the morning.

The American team is attracting by far the greatest attention. It is realized that it is the Americans that the Englishmen have to fear more than any other team, and experts have already practically conceded them the shorter runs, the weight putting and some of the jumping events. The Americans have been putting the finishing touches to their training at Brighton, and will come to London only as the events in which they are entered call them in.

Jealous Man Runs Amuck

Cleveland, July 13.—Anthony Hassler, 28 years old, shot and wounded his wife, fatally wounded her sister, caused his mother-in-law to be injured, shot at hs father-in-law and two unknown men, and then shot himself and is not expected to live. Hassler and his wife were separated and he became inflamed with jealousy over a report that his wife was about to seek a divorce.

Auto Owner Crushed to Death

New York, July 13.—Driven at high speed in an impromptu road race along the Jericho, L. I., turnpike, a big touring car carrying Daniani H. Liberani, Frederick Donnelly and Liberani's chauffeur, Frederick Holt, was thrown into a ditch when a rear tire of the machine burst. Liberani was crushed to death. The other two occupants of the machine were seriously injured

River Steamboats Tied Up

Paris, July 13.—Large numbers of excursionists, among whom are many American visitors, have been greatly inconvenienced by the withdrawal of all steamboats on the River Seine, owing to a general strike of the steamboat employes for shorter hours and pensions.

MOTOR BOAT BLOWS UP!

Four Prominent Men Lose Their Lives by Gasolene Explosion

Marion, Mass., July 13.—By the explosion of a gasolene tank in the forty-five-foot motor launch Dolphin off here, Saturday night, four prominent summer residents of this town and Falmouth were lost. Two others were picked up in the water Sunday morning, after battling with the waves for twelve hours after the boat had blown up.

Nearly all those concerned in the catastrophe are prominent in the social and financial world of Boston. Those either killed or drowned are Roland Worthington, one of the most prominent clubmen and real estate operators of Boston; John T. Trull of Woburn, retired business man; Joseph S. Beal, engaged in the Sears building at Boston, and George Savory of Marblehead.

The two picked up in the water and saved are A. P. Tarbell of Boston, retired business man, and Edward E. Pecker of Boston, member of the Boston banking firm of E. H. Rollins & Son.

How the accident happened is an enigma. The party, as guests of Tarbell, had started out from Falmouth for an outing.

Boston Continues to Swelter

Boston, July 13.—One death and half a dozen prostrations marked another exceedingly hot day in Boston, during which the temperature averaged 84 for the day. According to the official reports, Boston was the hottest city in the country, exceeding any other city by nine degrees. The fact that the extreme heat came on Sunday, which allowed of relaxation on the part of those in the crowded sections, doubtless saved many from prostration. During the hottest part of the day the thermometer in Copley square recorded 108 degrees.

Established Many Churches

Boston, July 13.—Rev. Hugh P. Smyth, styled by the late Pope Leo XIII as "the church builder of America" for his activity in the Boston archbiocese in raising new churches, died last night. He was born in Ireland sixty-nine years ago. Fifty-seven years ago he came to Boston. During his twenty-five years' service in and about Boston Smyth built twenty churches, schools and convents. When his new parishes became well established he invariably made way for others and sought a new field.

Soldier, Minister and Author

Boston, July 13.—General Erastus Blakeslee, soldier, minister and prominent as the author, editor and publisher of graded Sunday school lessons, died at his home in Brookline after a brief illness. He was many times commended for his bravery during the Civil war and his promotion to brevet brigadier general was rapid. Turning to the ministry after the war, he won wide notice for his work in improving the study of the Bible. He was born at Plymouth, Conn., in 1838.

Two Boys and a Girl Drowned

Danforth, Me., July 13.—Three children were drowned by the capsizing of a rowboat and three were rescued with great difficulty by Charles Blackmore, the father of five of them. Blackmore took the six children out on Holbrook lake. In pulling up the anchor to prepare to start home the boat was upset. The victims were two boys, aged 8 and 10, and one girl, aged 12.

Billard Makes a Denial

Meriden, Conn., July 13.—Rumors to the effect that John S. Billard's purchase of the Boston and Maine stock was for the purpose of avoiding the litigation over the merger proposed by the New Haven road, and that for the same purpose he will take over the electric holdings of the company in Massachusetts, are denied by Billard.

Held Up by Highwayman

Medford, Mass., July 13.—Two highwaymen with black masks and a revolver held up and robbed Henry S. Perrin, aged 21, as Perrin, accompanied by a young woman, was returning from a canoeing trip on the Mystic lakes late at night. The highwaymen, grabbing a watch, a ring and $12 from Perrin, escaped.

Good News For Mill Operatives

Augusta, Me., July 13.—The Edwards cotton mills in this city will resume full time on July 20 in all departments, with full pay, notices being posted in the mills today to this effect. The mills have been running on half time since the first of March. The mills employ about 1200 hands.

Rear Admiral Thomas' Funeral

Newport, R. I., July 13.—Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas, who died at Delmonte, Cal., July 3, was buried at Middleton with full military honors. The funeral was one of the largest and most impressive of its kind ever held here. The services were held in Trinity church.

Condensed Milk Plant Burned

Whitefield, N. H., July 13.—The main building of the Borden Condensed Milk company here was burned, causing a loss of $50,000. The building was a three-story brick structure and none of the valuable machinery in it was saved. The cause of the fire is not known.

France to Protect Turks

Paris, July 13.—M. Constant, the French ambassador to Turkey, discredits the report that Germany will assume the protection of Turkish subjects in China. Heretofore France has assumed the protectorate, and, according to the ambassador, he has not received the slightest intimation that such a step was to be taken.

PROPOSALS—Sale of U. S. vessels St. Mary's and Shearwater. Sealed proposals will be received at the Navy Department until noon on the 5th day of August, 1908, at which time and place they will be opened, for the purchase of the U. S. S. vessels St. Mary's and Shearwater, appraised values $4,000 and $1,200, respectively. They will be sold for cash to the person or persons or to the corporation or corporations offering the highest price therefor. A separate proposal for each vessel bid upon must be submitted in a sealed envelope addressed to the Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C., endorsed "Proposals for the purchase of the U. S. S.....," (naming the vessel for which offer is made), and each proposal must be accompanied by a satisfactory certified check for not less than 10 per cent of the amount of the offer. On application to the Navy Department, forms of bids and bonds, together with the terms and conditions of sale, also a printed list giving general information concerning these vessels, will be furnished. The vessels can be examined at any time after this date by applying to the Commandants of the navy yards, New York, N. Y., and Philadelphia, Pa., respectively, where they now lie. They must be removed from the limits of said yards within such reasonable time as may be fixed by the Department. The Department reserves the right to withdraw either or both of the above-named vessels from sale and to reject any or all bids. TRUMAN H. A Violation of Contract

New York, July 13.—Grave charges are made against officials of the New York fire department and against the Windsor Appliance company, which made and sold to the city fire hose found to be defective, in a report just made to Mayor McClellan. The report declares that the Windsor hose came nowhere near the specifications furnished when bids were called for; that the company, though repeatedly called upon to do so, never replaced any defective hose under its guarantee, and that President Loughman of the Windsor company was for a number of years, and is at present, an intimate friend of E. F. Croker, now chief of the fire department.

Two Thousand Boys In Relay Race

New York, July 13.—Over a course nearly 1000 miles long, 2000 boy athletes, members of the Young Men's Christian association, will race against time this week in an effort to break all records between New York and Chicago. The boys are to carry a message from the mayor of New York to the mayor of Chicago. Each of the runners will carry the message half a mile in the relay race and the average time for each half mile will be about 2 minutes, thirty-eight seconds, according to the tests that have been made. At 10 a. m. next Wednesday the first boy will be sent away from the starting point at the city hall here.

Revolutionists Seek Amnesty

London, July 13.—A dispatch from Teheran says Rachin Khan, who, in command of a large force, including several batteries of quick-firers, entered Tabriz on July 8, is now bombarding the revolutionists. The latter, the dispatch says, have telegraphed to the shah, begging that amnesty be granted.

Five Deaths In Storm

Baltimore, July 13.—Five men are known to have been drowned and three women are believed to have met a like fate when a heavy wind and rainstorm passed over the harbor of this city. Reports from various points in Maryland show damage by lightning and rain during the storm.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A large wooden building at Bucksport, Me., with outbuildings, known as the Hersey retreat, was burned, with a loss of $5000. Cause unknown. The place was given to the Universalist parish of Bangor by the late General Hersey.

Walking into Lake Maranacook fully clothed, even to his hat, a man supposed to have been Charles H. Annis of Somersworth, N. H., was drowned.

After lying in an unconscious condition nearly four days after sending two bullets into his head because of grief over the death two years ago of his wife, Richard Alexander, a New York broker, aged 50, died at Dover, Me.

While swimming in a mill pond at Warren, R. I., a Polish mill operative, Michael Donorowick, 22 years old, was drowned.

Accepting the dare of a playmate to wade into deep water, Napoleon Le Blanc, aged 9, got beyond his depth in the Merrimack river at Lawrence, Mass., and was drowned.

A young man, aged about 19, supposed to be George E. Leonard of Boston, was drowned at Portland, Me., while swimming.

Kurt Weise, aged 23, a Boston hotel waiter, was drowned while swimming at Cambridge, Mass.

Speaking literally, the ends of the earth are to be represented at the international congress on tuberculosis, to be held in Washington Sept. 21 to Oct. 21.

Ernest Philibert, 8, was drowned in a small brook which empties into the Merrimack river at Goffs Falls, N. H. He was playing with two younger companions when he slipped in.

SEVERAL MAKE GOOD GAINS

Position of Four Leaders Remains Unchanged

Several candidates in the Motor Boat popularity contest have made material gains today although the relative position of the four leaders has not been changed.

The largest gain of the day was made by Capt. Foster but it was not quite enough to pass his neighbor, Capt. Middleton.

It is reported that the leaders are accumulating a reserve vote and that during the last few days of the contest the editor will be swamped with votes.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M. Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

"Bill" Field, W.Y.C., & S.Y.C.	3740
Frank Pray, Q. Y. C.	3600
W. P. Middleton, Quincy Point	2364

Engineers Win.

There was an interesting game of ball Saturday between the engineering drafting and Hull departments of the Fore River. The former team won by a score of 7 to 5.

Sixty Million Dollars.

We are now at the close of the fiscal year, and it is not encouraging to note that the excess of expenditures over receipts for the year will approximate $60,000,000, a sum which has been exceeded but twice since the Civil war. Disbursements for the fiscal year just closed are shown to be $80,000,000 more than for the preceding year, and $54,000,000 more than for any other fiscal year since 1865, not excepting the Spanish war period. The Panama Canal during the closing year will have cost the government $38,000,000 or just about $11,000,000 more than for the year 1907. Deficiency in the postal revenues for the present year will reach about $13,000,000 or $6,000,000 more than in 1907. This is the largest postal deficiency in the history of the government. There has been a postal deficiency every year, but these have recently been very large. The expense of the rural free mail delivery has been nearly $25,000,000.

But One Drink.

An innovation in the methods of conducting the liquor business in Fitchburg and some vicinity towns is attracting some attention and the results will be watched with much interest. By an agreement entered into by the brewers, saloon keepers and police, only one drink will be served to a person, and that only for purposes of refreshment, and not for intoxication. The action is taken in an effort to effect a radical reform in the conduct of the saloons, and all the parties to the agreement are said to be working in earnest co-operation for the success of the movement. In every saloon is posted a list of those persons convicted of intoxication since May 1, and it is optional with the dispenser of liquids to refuse any persons who, to his knowledge, are addicted to the use of drink or have ever been arrested for drunkenness. Patrons must first tell their name before being served, and the bartender gives him the desired drink after an examination of the list, but one to a person is the limit. It is expected that the new plan, if faithfully carried out, will materially reduce the amount of intoxication, and to that extent operate to the benefit of the community.—Milford Gazette.

Hottest of The Season

Yesterday was the hottest day of this season; the thermometer ranged from 97 to 100. There was a continual rush all day for the beaches. A throng of two hundred thousand visited Revere; and the steamboats, cars, automobiles and teams went loaded to Nantasket. The cars to Houghs Neck were loaded; three cars to each trip nearly the whole day long. It was very hot at the seashore, the southerly breezes from the land did not cool the air; but at Nantasket thousands found good shady seats under the verandas, and were quite comfortable. It was very low tide during the afternoon which made it more unpleasant. But the visitors mostly appeared pleasant and happy.

GRADE CROSSINGS.

Members of the City Council,

Gentlemen:—The Mayor has petitioned to your honorable body for an appropriation of $1,000 for defraying expenses of expert engineers, plans, etc., pertaining to Grade Crossing problems. As a citizen and a taxpayer, being one of those who helps pay this appropriation if it is granted, I thought I would not be intruding if I publicly expressed to you my position in the matter, having opposed publicly the Mayor's first petition on the grounds that I thought it too excessive and ill-timed, as at that time, the city did not know what it wanted.

Now that the city through the Mayor and his advisory board consisting of representatives of some of our leading organizations of the city, have obtained a complete solution of the problem of separating the grade crossings at Saville street and Water street by depressing the railroad tracks, I do think and believe it incumbent upon the Council at this time to vote for and grant the Mayor's petition, as the request is a modest one and needed.

It is very important that the city get the best solution of this serious problem. The Mayor has very wisely employed the services of a very able railroad engineering expert, Prof. Breed, of the Institute of Technology. Although laboring with extravagant ideas and estimates, so far, I have asked the expert one question which reduced his approximate estimate one hundred and twenty-five-thousand dollars and I have more to follow:

The time is at hand when the Mayor should have funds to carry out the city's plans and to protect the best and much needed interests of our crossing in our city, for, if we are not prepared to meet the aggressive fight which is being waged by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. and the Old Colony Street Railway Co, we will find that Water street, Saville street and School street will be closed, and closed forever; and Granite street will continue to remain in its present condition which is a miserable apology for a public thoroughfare in the very heart of our city, which has been an eyesore and a disgrace to our city ever since the railroad has been built, sixty-three years ago.

I am, so far, forced to believe and have confidence, that the Mayor means business on the Grade Crossing question. That his solicitor is fully capable of coping with and combating the attacks of the high salaried attorneys of the railroads. No one questions but it will be a hard fight. If he fights we will win; if he lays down we lose. At the last meeting of the special commission he informed me that if he is given the opportunity, he will make the fight of his life. Let us all assist him by pulling together and in the same direction.

G. B. Bates.

Lost Child.

The lost child call, followed by one round from Box 53, was sounded at 7.45 Saturday night to summons assistance to search for the two-and-one-half year old son of Mrs. E. H. Smith of 67 Winthrop avenue, Wollaston. The boy had been missing for over an hour. He was found safe and sound on Safford street, shortly after the alarm.

Houghs Neck By the Seaside

Sunday was by far the hottest day of the season. The crowd was large all day. Councilman Gilson and Carey were at the Neck nearly all the day but could not find a thing that was objectionable. The state inspectors arrived in the afternoon looking after the moving picture houses. The police reported everything orderly. No arrests were made.

The watering car jumped the track on the hill near Peterson's, causing considerable delay.

Miss Corrinne LaBrecque will hold a whist party at the Great Hill house tonight.

Mayor Shea was a visitor at the Neck Saturday and Sunday evenings.

TWO VETOES

City Council May Request But Cannot Order Officials

An adjourned meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening. The feature of the meeting was the veto by the Mayor of the two orders requiring the Chief of Police to furnish certain information as to the places licensed as Common Victuallers at Houghs Neck, and to the places open on Sundays contrary to law.

The debate of the evening was on the order making an appropriation to grade the Quincy school lot at Atlantic. This debate was a spirited one and lasted for an hour.

Every member of the Council was present.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was received from the Mayor inclosing a petition of John Neagle, administrator of the estate of Catherine Neagle, asking for a refund of taxes with interest amounting to $78.87, paid in the years 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906 and 1907, on land which she did not own. Referred to Finance Committee.

A communication was received signed by representatives of the Citizens' Association, the Granite Manufacturers' Association, the Board of Trade and the Central Labor Union, asking the Council to appropriate a sum of money to be placed in the hands of the Mayor to enable him to protect the city in the abolition of grade crossings. Referred to Finance Committee.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Metropolitan Park Commission stating that it had no funds to build bath houses along the boulevard at Wollaston beach. Placed on file.

The Mayor returned without his approved the orders requiring the Chief of Police to furnish certain information as to Houghs Neck. His reasons for the return of the orders were as follows:

I return herewith Orders 198 and 199 without my approval for the following reasons, viz:

Sec. 26, title 4, of the City Charter provides that the executive powers of the city shall be vested solely in the Mayor and may be exercised by him either personaly or through the several officers and boards of the city in their departments under his general supervision and control.

Sec. 2, title 1 of said charter provides that the executive department shall never exercise any legislative power and the legislative department shall never exercise any executive power. The legislative functions of our city government vests solely in the City Council. The City Council has no power under the laws of this Commonwealth to direct the Chief of Police of this city, as to how and when he shall discharge any particular function or functions of his office such as requiring him to investigate on a given day any alleged violation of the law.

The enforcement of the criminal laws of this Commonwealth applicable to the City of Quincy constitute an executive function and in no sense can it be considered legislative and the Council has nothing to do with the enforcement of such laws. Neither can it be held to be within the proper exercise of the legislative functions of our city government for the Chief of Police to be required by the Council to cause an investigation to be made as to the matter referred to in said order 198.

As in each of these instances the City Council has undertaken to exercise executive power I deem it my duty to veto each of said orders.

As Mayor I shall be very glad any time when properly requested to do so to furnish the Council with any information it may desire concerning any administrative department but I do not recognize any right upon the part of the Council to undertake to order or direct the heads of administrative departments with reference to the discharge of the duties of the several departments.

PETITIONS.

On motion of Councilman Moir the veto was laid on the table.

A petition was received asking that Michael Catler be granted a license to collect junk. Laid on the table until later when Councilman Ferguson offered an order granting the license.

After hearing from the Chief of Police that the applicant had been mixed up in shady transactions, Councilman Ferguson withdrew his order and the petition was referred to the License Committee.

Applications from several persons for minor licenses were received and referred.

Applications from persons who had been turned down at previous meetings were received but the chair ruled they could not be acted upon.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

The Finance Committee reported an amendment to the order appropriating $50 for a fire alarm box on the corner of Intervale street and Brooks avenue. The amendment charged the amount to the Excess and Deficiency Fund. Adopted.

The Finance Committee reported ought to pass on the order transferring $500 from Salary of City Engineer to Miscellaneous City Expenses. Passed. Councilman Broughton voting no.

The Finance Committee reported an amendment to the order appropriating $1260 for improving the exits to the school buildings. The amendment added the borrowing clause. Passed.

The Finance Committee reported an amendment to the order appropriating $1200 for grading the Atlantic school lot making the amount $700.

Councilman Cherrington moved to amend by making the amount $900. Matter laid on the table until later.

The Finance Committee reported an order appropriating $3300 of which $800 was for the purchase of a sprinkler for gypsy moths and $2,500 for the suppression of gypsy moth. Ordered to a second reading.

MOTIONS.

Councilman Gelotte offered an order for a fire alarm box on the corner of Adams and Whitwell streets. Referred to Committee on Fire Department.

Upon motion of Councilman Moir it was voted when the Council adjourn it be until Thursday evening.

Councilman Bryant offered an order revoking the junk license granted Sim Silverman.

His reason was that the order became a law without the Mayor's signature and that the man's name was Sam and not Sim. Order adopted.

CALENDAR.

The orders granting the Telephone Company and Electric Light Companies location for poles took their second reading and were passed under suspension of the rules.

ATLANTIC DEBATE.

Upon motion of Councilman Cherrington the order appropriating money to grade the Atlantic school lot was taken from the table.

In reply to a question by Councilman Whiton the Commissioner said that the estimate of $900 was as little as he could get along with and do a good job.

This included curbing on the inside edge of the sidewalk. If no curbing was put in it would cost $200 less. It would be better with curbing as it would hold the banking.

In reply to Councilman Gelotte the Commissioner said the plan was to put in granolithic walks at two of the entrances.

He did not think $700 would grade it as well as the High school lot.

Councilman Curtis understood the balance of the original appropriation had been expended since the last meeting.

Commissioner Bainbridge replied the balance was still on hand.

Councilman Bryant said the balance of $175, added to the $700, should be near enough to the amount $900.

Councilman Cherrington asked of the Commissioner if the $875 would put a curbing on the inside to which the Commissioner replied he could not do it for that amount.

Councilman Cherrington did not like the idea of a cheap job for a cheap school. If we have a cheap school at least give us a good job here.

In reply to Councilman Walsh the Commissioner said $900 in addition to the balance would be necessary.

Councilman Whiton said it was a question of beautifying the lot. He knew of no school building that had granolithic walks.

Councilman Moir—He has a balance of $175 and wants $900 more. The curbing was a necessity.

Councilman Hogan would take the Committee's statement. He believed the $700 and balance sufficient.

Councilman Whiton was called to the chair.

President Hobbs taking the floor said the joint committee reported in favor of $1200. Now all we ask is $900. It has been a question of lopping off something from Ward Six all the time.

The Commissioner told the committee he needed $900 in addition to the balance. For a year the children have had to walk in the mud. There is no place for them to play. We simply want a decent job. If you can not give us that the residents had rather you keep your money.

Councilman Walsh—The Commissioner told the committee he could do a good job for $700.

President Hobbs—He wants $900., in addition to the balance.

Councilman Gilson was willing to take the committees report. Let him do as much as he can with the $700.

In reply to Councilman Teasdale the Commissioner said he could not put in the granolithic walks and curbing for the $700.

Councilman Curtis—The Finance Committee went into this matter thoroughly and it was understood the cost would be $900, but nothing was said about the balance.

The motion to make the amount $900 was lost by a vote of 7 in favor and 13 against.

Councilman Hobbs moved to lay the order on the table.

Motion lost 9 voting yes and 12 no.

The order then took its second reading.

A motion to adjourn was lost.

A motion to suspend the rules that the order might pass was lost by a vote of 15 yes and 7 no.

The regular weekly hop will be held at the Quincy Yacht club tonight.

The rain of this morning was welcomed by the residents of the Neck.

A big pool tournament will start Wednesday at Carmen's pool parlors.

All good Elks should be at the Palms tonight or tomorrow night. A very funny reproduction of an Elks initiation will be shown.

Councilman Moir admits now that he went a little too far at the meeting of the Council July 6.

A swimming race from in front of steam boat wharf at Houghs Neck to Peddocks Island took place between Theodore Hermanson and B. Golbranson on Sunday, Hermanson finishing first; time thirty-one minutes; Golbranson, thirty-four. Distance about two miles. A hard swim, owing to fast current and water being very cold. Both were in good condition when finishing. Launch Battler followed them over the course in charge of O. S. Sandberg, George Walker, William Galvin and Edward Galvin.

Personal.

Rev. Merrill C. Ward of Southbridge, formerly of Quincy, has accepted a call to become pastor of the Universalist church at Norway, Maine and will begin his labors there Sept. 1st. The last of July Mr. Ward will finish his services at Southbridge where he has been for four and a half years. Mr. and Mrs. Ward will spend August at Buxton, Maine.

Alden Reunion.

The annual meeting of the Alden Kindred of America for the election of officers, and for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before the meeting will be held at the Old Alden homestead, Duxbury, Wednesday morning August 5.

Two large tents are to be secured —one for the exercises of the day, and the other for the serving of the dinner. Those who attended either of the two reunions that were held at this place will recall the very pleasant time they experienced.

The literary exercises are to be brief this year. After listening to the annual reports of the officers, and the election of officers for the ensuing year., there will be a brief literary program.

A special train will leave the South station, Boston, for the reunion at 8.35 A. M. This train will leave Braintree at 8.55; and arrive at Duxbury at 9.45 A. M. Returning, train will leave Duxbury at 5.05 P. M., reaching Braintree at 6.00 and Boston at 6.20. Fare for the round trip from Boston or Braintree, $1.00. Tickets will be on sale at South station, Boston, or can be secured on train at Braintree, for the accommodation of those taking train at that point. As a guarantee in regard to number patronizing this train had to made by the society, it is hoped that as many as possible will go on the "Alden special."

It being at a very inconvenient place to serve a dinner, it is necessary that dinner tickets be purchased before the time mentioned above. No tickets can be guaranteed after Aug. 1st. At previous meetings held at the old homestead, quite a number have taken chances on getting their dinner tickets at the reunion, and been disappointed. With no restaurant within a mile of the place, the importance of knowing in advance how many are to be served with a dinner is apparent.

MISS RUTH T. BRADY.

The wealthiest person on the floor of the Democratic convention last week, as well as the best looking page, was 12-year-old Ruth Tate Brady, daughter of National Committeeman Tate Brady of Ollahoma.

Young, prettty and dainty, little Miss Brady is the possessor in her own right of an income of $146,000 a year or a rising $400 a day.

And when she comes of age she will come into property amounting to many millions.

Not only is she so wealthy, but she has another most interesting quality; she is of Indian descent. Her mother was a half-blooded Cherokee Indian, and in the allotment of lands some time ago, by the Cherokee nation, Miss Brady received as her share some 300 acres of land lying two and one-half miles north of Tulsa, Okla. It was not long after that oil was struck there and Miss Brady's lands were producing some 3,800 barrels of oil per day.—Boston Post.

—Advice, like an old coat, is sometimes given away because the man doesn't care to use it himself. He doesn't like the fit of it, but thinks it ought to fit the other man. Hence a lot of what passes for sound advice gets very little wear.—American Cultivator.

WILL SUPPORT BRYAN

Gompers Says Republicans Ignored Demands of Labor

WILL NOT TAKE THE STUMP

Vice Presidential Candidate and Labor Leader Arrive at Fairview Together --National Chairmanship Narrows Down to Campau and James

Lincoln, Neb., July 14.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor will support W. J. Bryan in the coming presidential campaign. In political circles this announcement has overshadowed all others, even the arrival of John W. Kern, the vice presidential nominee.

While Gompers' support was promised to the ticket, he specifically denied any present intention of taking the stump in the coming campaign. He left Fairview after fifteen minutes' interview with Bryan. At present it is believed there will be no need for Gompers' services in an oratorical sense, and Gompers does not expect to be called on to speak publicly in the campaign.

The Republican convention, Gompers asserts, ignored the demands of labor, while the Democrats acknowledged them in their platform. His course, he says, is clear, and he will do what is demanded of him in the interests of labor as best impressed in the platform adopted at Denver. As the situation is at present, Gompers' efforts can be better expended elsewhere than on the rostrum. In his interview with Bryan Gompers was attended by Secretary Morrison of the Federation and James Duncan, also a labor leader.

The representatives of organized labor and the vice presidential nominee, John W. Kern, and party, reached "Bryan "Station" by trolley car. Bryan went out to greet them. "Ah, there is the vice president," observed the leader of the ticket, extending his hand. What Kern said in reply was lost in the confusion, but his smile was reassuring as he shook hands with the standard-bearer of his party.

The presidential and the vice presidential nominees led the way to the Bryan home, followed by Abram Simmons, delegate-at-large to the convention; J. E. Osborne, member of the state central committee of Indiana, and Chairman Jackson of that committee. Jackson, after talking with Bryan, declared that Indiana would go for Bryan by 10,000 votes.

Mr. Bryan told his visitors that it had been reported he would make a front porch campaign. He was by no means certain of this, but admitted that he had promised to make a speech in Chicago on Labor day.

Interest centers in the visit today of members of the new national committee. Dr. Hall, national committeeman from Nebraska, yesterday stated that the chairmanship of the committee lay between James of Kentucky, Campau of Michigan, Lamb of Indiana and Atwood of Kansas. Speculation on the subject has now narrowed down to Campau and James, to the latter largely because Bryan has expressed admiration for his political and intellectual qualities, and to Campau because of his admitted business ability.

Drafting Speech of Acceptance

Hot Springs, Va., July 14.—Beginning the work of writing his speech of acceptance of the presidential nomination, to be delivered in Cincinnati on July 28, William H. Taft is making a careful study and comparison of the Democratic and Republican platforms adopted by the recent conventions. He has at his command copies of speeches of acceptance of candidates of both parties of recent years and within a day or two he will receive copies of the platforms of both parties for many years. Taft is looking through all the documents bearing on the subject and before concluding his work he will have the views of many leaders of the party on the draft of the document.

New Presidential Candidate

Columbus, O., July 14.—With but few of the delegates to the national Prohibition convention on the ground, the contest for the nomination for president presents no definite aspect. Many of the leaders are here, but the state delegations will not begin to arrive until this afternoon. A vigorous movement in behalf of Charles S. Scanlon of Pittsburg for the presidential nomination is the latest development. Scanlon is the field representative of the Temperance society of the Presbyterian church.

Hitchcock Selects Headquarters

New York, July 14.—Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national committee has selected quarters for the committee in this city in the Metropolitan Life building. Treasurer Sheldon of the committee aided in the selection of the new headquarters. Hitchcock left here this morning for Utica to confer with Mr. Sherman. The active presidential campaign will be inaugurated on Aug. 1.

Guffey Men Reach Home

Philadelphia, July 14.—Followers of the Democratic organization of this city and the delegates elected by the Guffey faction of the party reached this city last night from Denver. They expressed indignation at the treatment accorded them at the convention, but all expressed loyalty to Bryan and Kern.

BULLET IN HIS LIVER

Dentist Shot by Mother-In-Law, Whom He Had Made a Widow

Northport, L. I., July 14.—Standing within a few feet of the spot where a little more than two years ago he shot and killed his aged father-in-law, Dr. James W. Simpson, a dentist, was shot and perhaps mortally wounded by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bartley T. Horner, the woman he made a widow. Simpson's wife, from whom he has been estranged for many months, was near when the shot was fired, but she did not witness the shooting. She refused to go near Simpson, and he had to crawl to a house 200 feet away to have his wound attended to.

Mrs. Horner was arrested and held in $5000 bail, while Simpson, with the assistance of two friends, made his way to a hospital in New York. The bullet lodged in his liver and an immediate operation was performed to take the bullet out. The doctors say that Simpson has only a small chance of recovery.

Statements from Simpson and from Mrs. Horner as to the circumstances attending the shooting disagree. This second tragedy at the Horner homestead is only another chapter in a series of unhappy domestic events of the last few years. The shooting of Horner by Simpson aroused the countryside in December, 1905, and when the dentist was put on trial his wife turned against him and went so far as to take the witness stand against him. Mrs. Horner also gave damaging testimony against her son-in-law. Simpson was going through the manual of arms with a shotgun when he accidentally shot his father-in-law.

After the verdict of acquittal Simpson resumed the practice of destistry. He opened a suite of offices in New York, but he had lost many of his clients and of late, it is said, he has sought financial aid. Simpson's wife left him after the trial and came here to live with her mother.

Mrs. Gunness Considered Dead

Laporte, Ind., July 14.—According to information received by Sheriff Smutzer, Mrs. Belle Gunness was discovered yesterday in Portland, Me., and Rockford, Mich. The county commissioners declined to authorize the expenditure of any more money for running down worthless clews. The commissioners have about reached the conclusion that Mrs. Gunness lost her life in the fire which destroyed her house on April 28 and that her body lies buried in Forest Home cemetery.

A Curb on "Patriotism"

Cleveland, July 14.—By a vote of 21 to 7, the city council passed an ordinance decreeing that henceforth no private celebration of the Fourth of July by the use of firearms or fireworks shall occur. The council, however, reserved the right to permit the city to give an "official display" in the public parks if it so desires. The ordinance was the result of the deaths of ten persons in this year's Independence day observance.

Leading Lawyer a Suicide

Mount Vernon, N. Y., July 14.—Charles H. Ostrander, for twenty-five years counsel for the Westchester Fire Insurance company, committed suicide by inhaling gas at his home in Chesterhill. Ostrander, who was a leading member of the bar, was executor of many large estates. He was reputed to be very wealthy. Recently his health was bad and at times he became melancholy.

Slayer Pleads Self Defense

Kansas City, July 14.—F. L. Mackay, manager of the Western Commission company, a brokerage firm here, was stabbed and killed by James H. Chandler after a quarrel in Mackay's office. Chandler says he went to Mackay's office to talk about the financial affairs of the commission company, in which he claims to have invested, and that Mackay struck and kicked him.

Shriners Gather at St. Paul

St. Paul, July 14.—The streets of this city are crowded with thousands of visitors who have come to attend the thirty-fourth annual conclave of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine. Approximately 15,000 Shriners are in the city and 10,000 more are expected to arrive today. The formal opening of the conclave will take place this afternoon.

Stabbed In Political Row

Santiago, Cuba, July 14.—General Tamayo, the campaign manager of the provincial independent party in Oriente province, was stabbed in the breast by Augustin Agulera, brother of the Miguelist candidate for mayor of Mayari, after a political meeting in that city. Tamayo's condition is considered very grave.

Woman Shoots Her Father

Belmont, N. J., July 14.—Enraged by family troubles, Amos Polhamus attempted to murder his wife and four children, but was himself probably fatally shot by his eldest daughter, Helen, postmistress of this place.

Important Measures Shelved

Paris, July 14.—The French parliament adjourned yesterday, thereby postponing the consideration of the income tax, old age pensions and restoration of the death penalty bills until the autumn session.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, July 15.
Sun rises—4:21; sets—7:19.
Moon rises—9:07 p. m.

INFLUENCE LIMITED

President Is Powerless to Legislate Individually

IS HEDGED BY RESTRICTIONS

Only Ambition Should Be to Prove Worthy of Confidence of Countrymen--Bryan's Conception of the World's Highest Office

New York, July 14.—William J. Bryan has written an article entitled "My Conception of the Presidency," for the July 18 issue of Collier's Weekly. Mr. Bryan says:

The president's power for good or for harm is often overestimated. Our government is a government of checks and balances; power is distributed among different departments, and each official works in co-operation with others;

In the making of laws, for instance, the president joins with the senate and house; he may recommend, but he is powerless to legislate, except as a majority of the senate and the house concur with him. The senate and the house are also independent of each other, each having a veto over the other, and the president has a veto over both, except that the senate and house can, by a two-thirds vote, override the president's veto. The influence of the president over legislation, is therefore, limited; he shares responsibility with a large number of the people s representatives.

Even in the enforcement of the law he is hedged about by restrictions. He acts through an attorney general (whose appointment must be approved by the senate) and offenders against the law must be prosecuted in the courts, so that here again the responsibility is divided. In the making of important appointments, too, he must consult the senate, and is, of necessity, compelled to exercise care and discretion.

The most important requisite in a president, as in other officials, is that his sympathy shall be with the whole people rather than with any fraction of the population. He is constantly called upon to act in the capacity of a judge—deciding between the opportunities of those who seek favors and the rights and interests of the public. Unless his sympathies are right the few are sure to have an advantage over the many, for the masses have no one to present their claims. They act only at elections, and must trust to their representatives to protect them from all their foes.

Second, the president must have a knowledge of public questions and the ability to discern between the true and the false; he must be able to analyze the conditions and to detect the sophistries that are always employed by those who seek unfair advantages. He must possess the moral courage to stand against the influences that are brought to bear in favor of special interests. In fact, the quality of moral courage is as essential in a public official as either right sympathies or a trained mind.

A president must have counselors, and, to make wise use of counselors, he must be open to convictions. The president is committed by his platform to certain policies, and the platform is binding; he is also committed to certain principles of government, and these he is duty bound to apply in all matters that come before him. But there is a wide zone in which he must act upon his own judgment, and here he ought to have the aid of intelligent, conscientious and faithful advisers.

The law provides these, to a certain extent, in giving him a cabinet, and the vice president ought to be made a member of the cabinet ex-officio in order, first, that the president may have the benefit of his wisdom and knowledge of affairs, and, second, that the vice president may be better prepared to take up the work of the president in case of a vacancy in the presidential office.

There ought to be cordial relations also between the president and those who occupy positions of influence in the co-ordinate branches of the government, for our government is not a one-man government, but a government in which the chosen representatives of the people labor together to give expression to the will of the voters.

But the presidency is the highest position in the world, and its occupant is an important factor in all national matters. If he is a devout believer in our theory of government, recognizes the constitutional distribution of powers, trusts thoroughly in the people and fully sympathizes with them in their aspirations and hopes, he has an opportunity to do a splendid work; he occupies a vantage ground from which he can exert a wholesome influence in favor of each forward movement.

The responsibilities of the office are so great that the occupant ought to be relieved of every personal ambition, save the ambition to prove worthy of the confidence of his countrymen. For this reason, he ought to enter the position without thought or prospect of a second term.

Bank Cashier In Jail

Pensacola, Fla., July 14.—G. C. Scudamore, former cashier of the Pensacola Bank and Trust company, charged with embezzlement of a large sum of money from that institution, was brought here and placed in the county jail, having been arrested as he was leaving the Florida insane asylum.

DAMAGE IS PILING UP

Forest Fires Raging In Five New England States

PLYMOUTH GETS A SCARE

Flames So Close That Sparks Fell Into Main Streets--No Improvement In Situation In Maine--But Few Buildings Burned

Boston, July 14.—The fires which have been burning for days in the Maine forests and stripped lands continue in many districts of that state, while similar fires in New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Massachusetts have increased by thousands of dollars the figures of the total damages.

Historic Plymouth in this state was endangered severely by a woods fire which ran close to the outskirts of the town, sparks from the burning territory dropping thickly into the main streets. The entire fire fighting force of the town was kept busy all day yesterday protecting residences and pushing back the flames. Last night the fire was held in check, but the firemen remained on duty to guard against danger from the smouldering embers.

With the exception of one hose reel left to guard the center of the town, the entire Plymouth fire department was hurried to the outskirts, where they saved outlying buildings only after heroic work. Almost a panic was felt in the town as all the available apparatus was called to the danger zone, one by one, and many of the inhabitants were obliged to wet down the roofs of their houses. The fire wardens and deputies worked side by side with the fire department. Men with hand extinguishers and shovels were distributed along the skirmish lines, while behind them were massed the engines and chemicals.

Near the village of Washington, R. I., a large acreage of timber and small growth was burned over and a sawmill and farm home destroyed by the most extensive forest blaze that state has known in years.

Various fires are reported also in New Hampshire and Vermont wild land sections, but most of them are apparently well in hand, though none will be extinguished completely until a heavy rain sets in.

The situation in Maine shows no improvement. In scores of towns the glare of the burning forests is plainly visible and the atmosphere is clouded densely with smoke. Many new fires broke out during yesterday in various districts of the state, and many more which have been in progress for days, in spite of the efforts of big gangs of men, continue with unabated violence.

Thus far very few homes or other buildings have been burned in any part of Maine, but railroad traffic has been seriously interfered with in some sections and telephone and telegraph circuits interrupted.

Detachments from the Manchester, N. H., fire department, numbering about fifty men, aided by numerous citizens, are fighting a forest fire which has been raging since Sunday morning in the wide stretch of scrub oak land extending along the southern border of Merrimack county, in South Hooksett, and on the northeasterly border of Manchester. The oppressive heat has caused the fire fighters much suffering and some of the workers were prostrated from exhaustion.

Stockholders Want Their Money

Philadelphia, July 14.—True bills of indictment charging conspiracy in making, printing and circulating false financial statements of the Standard Title and Trust company of this city were returned by the grand jury here against Homer L. Castle of Pittsburg and his associates in the promotion of the trust company which never opened for business. It is claimed by stockholders of the trust company that about $20,000 is due them for money paid in.

High Price For Hogs

Chicago, July 14.—The hog market has climbed to the high mark of the year, prime animals selling at $7.50 a hundred pounds. Scarcity of corn, resulting in a corresponding scarcity of hogs, is given as the reason for the advance which has carried the price up from $4 a hundred early in the year.

Many Fishermen Drowned

Santander, Spain, July 14.—Heavy gales have caused havoc among the fishing fleet along the coast. Three fishing vessels were wrecked and more than thirty of the men drowned. No word has been received of a number of boats that have been out for a considerable length of time.

Conspiracy Case Goes Over

New York, July 14.—Adjournment for one week was taken in the case of the prisoners of the steamer Goldsboro expedition to Honduras, Bailey, Meyer and Oxley, on application of their counsel. Bailey and Meyer were held on charges of conspiracy and Oxley on a charge of perjury.

Potter Removed From Bed

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 14.—Bishop Potter's condition shows a marked degree of improvement. He was able to be removed from his bed and sit up in a reclining chair for a brief time yesterday.

SKULL WAS FRACTURED

Doctor Dies From Injuries Received In a Barroom Fracas

Concord, N. H., July 14.—As a result of injuries received by being forcibly removed from a saloon in Hooksett about two weeks ago, Dr. Alpheus Baker Morrill, a prominent young physician, died at the Margaret Pillsbury hospital yesterday. Morrill while in Hooksett entered a saloon and it is alleged that he got into an altercation with someone and was thrown out. He fell to the ground and his head struck on the sidewalk, causing a fracture of the skull. He was removed to the hospital and remained unconscious until his death.

Dr. Morrill was a member of a family of physicians known throughout New Hampshire. Both his father, Dr. Ezekiel Morrill, and his uncle Dr. Shadrach Morrill, were for many years among the best known doctors in the state.

Dr. Morrill also was a relative of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, and was one of those who accompanied her when she removed her residence from Concord to Chestnut Hill, Mass. He was not married.

Rear Admiral For Short Time

Newport, R. I., July 14.—Rear Admiral Cowles hoisted his flag for the first time on the battleship New Hampshire this morning and later sailed for Quebec, to represent the United States navy in the tercentennary celebration of the founding of that city. This is the first and only opportunity he has to display his flag of the rear admiralty, as he will be retired next month.

Roosevelt Will Attend Conference

Newport, R. I., July 14.—President Roosevelt will come to Newport to attend the final discussion at the naval conference now being held at the war college, probably arriving on July 22. The object of the conference, which is made up of the highest officers and officials in the department, is to formulate plans regarding the construction of the new battleships.

Lived Away Beyond Century

New London, Conn., July 14.—Peter Hull, an ex-slave, who was born at St. John, Fla., March 23, 1799, died at his home here at the age of 109 years. He came to this city with his parents and brothers and sisters about sixty-five years ago, after their freedom had been purchased by their own industry.

The Poor Suffer From Heat

Boston, July 14.—A dozen prostrations were reported as a result of the unbroken heat yesterday. Suffering among infants and in the crowded tenement districts was intense, and charitable organizations had great difficulty in relieving the widespread misery among the poorer classes.

Running Record Broken

London, July 14.—Rain interfered with the opening of the fourth international Olympiad by King Edward at Shepherds Bush and although it cleared off before the hour set for the formal ceremony the attendance fell far short of expectations. The seating capacity of the stadium is upwards of 70,000. In the 1500 metres race, in which the greatest interest centered, Melvin W. Sheppard of New York ran the distance in 4:05, 2-5 of a second faster than the record. The best performance of the day, however, was that of M. F. Hallows, an Oxford Blue, who cut a full two seconds off the record.

Will Not Be Prosecuted

Berlin, July 14.—Siegmund Friedberg, formerly a private banker and owner of a financial newspaper, who disappeared from Berlin early last February, leaving liabilities of $1,000,000 and assets of only $2750, has been located in New York. Friedberg cannot be extradited for the offenses charged against him, but it is said that he has agreed to return to Berlin and assist in the investigation of his tangled affairs under guarantees made by the prosecution that he will not be detained against his will.

Few Desertions From Fleet

Washington, July 14.—After the Atlantic fleet, now en route to the Orient, sailed from the west coast, a wireless message gave the number of men absent from each vessel without leave. The total number of absentees from the fleet is only 129 out of the nearly 13,000 men on the fleet. It was predicted that on the arrival of the fleet at San Francisco there would be many desertions.

Badly Used by Moros

San Francisco, July 14.—A. L. Gard, district governor of Mindanao, P. I., who suffered serious wounds in an engagement with Moros, arrived on the transport Sheridan. Gard occupied a cot in the hospital ward of the Sheridan on the voyage from Manila. He was carried from the ship on a stretcher and placed aboard a train for New York where he will enter a hospital.

Peary Starts For His Ship

Halifax, July 14.—Commander Peary, who spent the last few days before his trip to the North Pole at his summer home on Eagle island, Me., arrived here this morning on his way to Cape Breton, where he will join his ship. Mrs. Peary will go with her husband as far as Sydney and return with their children, who are making the trip to Cape Breton on the Roosevelt.

Not Needed In Panama

Washington, July 14.—General Elliott, commander of the marine corps, at a conference with Secretary of War Wright, urged that the marines now in Panama be brought back to this country as soon as possible, on account of the climatic conditions on the isthmus.

Elks at Southern Dinner

Dallas, July 14.—The annual convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks began formally last night. Yesterday afternoon nearly a thousand persons sat down to a typical southern dinner given to members of the grand lodge and their families. The dinner was typical both in the viands served and in the manner of service. The waitresses passed the steaming dishes about to allow each guest to help himself. The waitresses were old "nigger mammies," with bandana turbans on their heads, the sleeves of their freshly starched print dresses rolled high above their elbows.

Death Viewed With Suspicion

Paterson, N. J., July 14.—The body of Mrs. Fannie Tapack, which was buried within a few hours of her death on last Friday, was disinterred by county officials yesterday and an autopsy performed to determine the exact cause of death. The attending physician declared that death was due to acute inflammation of the intestinal tract. Insurance policies amounting to $6000 give the age of Mrs. Tapack as 55 years. The officials attending the autopsy will make no statement pending a chemical examination of the internal organs to ascertain if they contain poison. Mrs. Tapack left two sons.

Signs of Better Times

Cleveland, July 14.—Indications are multiplying in all branches of trade that a return of normal business conditions is rapidly approaching. Railroad managers, especially, report a decided improvement and a sharp demand for cars for the transportation of all classes of freight, with the possible exception of steel and iron. Repair shop forces have been put on full time on practically all of the railroads and many engineers who have been idle are now returning to work.

Settlement Affects 10,000 Men

Youngstown, O., July 14.—A settlement affecting 10,000 men in the middle states has been reached between the Western Bar Iron association and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, and the wage scale signed for the year ending June 30, 1909. By its terms the puddlers are given a cut of about 8 percent in wages and the finishers an average reduction of about 2 percent. Work will be resumed at once.

Old Reporter's Sudden Death

Chicago, July 14.—Gustavus P. English, aged 63, news editor of The Associated Press in Chicago, died of heart disease a short time after reaching his home here from Denver last evening. English had assisted in reporting the Democratic national convention and when he arrived home he complained of feeling fatigued. An hour later he was dead. English was especially well known as an expert on convention work.

Thaw Hearing Postponed

White Plains, N. Y., July 14.—Proceedings in Harry K. Thaw's application for a jury trial to determine his mental condition were adjourned until the September term of the supreme court of Westchester county. In the meantime Thaw will remain in the custody of Sheriff Chanler of Dutchess county and will stay in the jail at Poughkeepsie.

Great Flight Planned For Today

Freidrichshafen, July 14.—Everything is in readiness for Count Zeppelin's twenty-four-hour overland endurance flight in his mammoth airship, which is to be attempted today. The operation of filling the balloon with 500,000 cubic feet of gas was carried out most successfully.

NEWS IN BRIEF

With a view to increasing the efficiency of the naval militia of the states bordering on the Atlantic coast, arrangements have been perfected by the navy department for combined maneuvers.

Mother Edith, the mother superior general of the Sisters of St. Mary, in charge of Kemper hall at Kenosha, Wis., was baptized into the Roman Catholic faith at Philadelphia.

Rudolph Lazhmuth of Lawrence, Mass., aged 22, was drowned in the Sticket river at Salem, N. H. He was unable to swim and got beyond his depth while bathing.

Colonel G. B. Sanford, U. S. A., retired, died at New York after a long illness. Sanford was born in New Haven in 1842.

Senator Federico Varela, a noted philanthropist and one of the richest men in Chile, died at Santiago. He leaves the bulk of his great fortune to charity.

Dog Notice

EDITORIAL.

If the political history of the United States is short, the geological history of America is long enough. Four expeditions are to go out from the American Museum of Natural History in New York this summer to explore the remains of various geologic ages in Nebraska, Montana and Texas, the most recent of which ended about a million years ago, and the most ancient probably not less than 11,000,000 years earlier.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

St. Swithin's day tomorrow.

The days have decreased 17 minutes —some at both ends.

Dog days begin July 25 says the Old Farmer's Almanac.

There was a very high tide last night at 11 o'clock.

The Knockers club are planning for an outing Wednesday afternoon at Squantum.

The sprinkle this morning was very welcome. Some say we need a three-days easy rain.

Mrs. Osborne Rogers of Hancock street and her mother, Mrs. Spinney, are at Kittery, Maine.

The peat in the marsh between the Tubular Rivet works and the Boston Gear works is still burning.

Miss Margaret Slattery is one of the popular teachers at the Northfield conference this month.

Owing to some trouble with the water mains the water pressure was rather low in Quincy for a time Monday evening.

The Wollaston Golf team of six was defeated by the Brockton Country team on Monday 4 to 2 at the Brockton links.

Thorpe Babcock arrived in Quincy, Monday evening from Seattle, Washington, leaving that city last Wednesday night on the Great Northern Limited.

A meeting of the Mayor's committee has been called for tonight to discuss the proposition of building a new bridge over the Neponset river.

Miss Minnie Giles of Trafford street, South Quincy, is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. A. E. Wynot, of Stedman avenue, Braintree.

The Fore River men, who are about to sail for Japan to set up the turbine engines, are to be tendered a dinner at the Squantum Inn on Wedensday evening by their fellow employes.

The alarm from Box 49 at 2.31 Monday afternoon was for a grass fire on Furnace avenue. As the recall for Box 612 had not sounded when 49 came in the latter acted as a second alarm.

A morning paper reports the sale of a seven-room house with all modern improvements and 7,000 feet of land on Shelton road has been sold to Alice M. Coleman of Charlestown for $2,700 and taxes for 1908.

The Sunday hours at the Quincy Post office since the consolidation with the Boston office have been changed. The office is only open on Sundays now between the hours of 9 and 10.30 A. M.

Mr. Thorpe Babcock, son of Walter T. Babcock, came from Seattle, Washington, yesterday, and had the affairs of his father fixed up, and will take him to a farm in the country where he can recuperate. It is a kind and dutiful act of the son, and the many friends of the family will be pleased to know the matter has been thus pleasantly settled.

—But 129 men out of 13,000 deserted the Atlantic fleet of battleships at San Francisco.

ANOTHER SPURT

Puts Middleton Almost Up to Captain Pray In the Contest

Capt. Middleton has opened up today the gap between himself and he has nearly overtaken Capt. Pray. Capt. Foster and at the same time Capt. Field holds the lead by a narrow margin.

Capt. Larkin has today passed the 100 mark and has moved up from No. 16 to No. 14. Several below 100 also make gains.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

John Evans Tells Of Trip in Ireland

Liverpool, June 27, 1908.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

I promised in my last letter to take my dear friends in Quincy on a trip from Glasgow to Ireland, and through a good part of the beautiful Isle of Erin. If I take you on a rather quick and flying trip I hope you will forgive me, because I am in quite a hurry to get to Wales, to attend the great preaching conventions that are held there this time of the year.

Just a word before we leave Glasgow. Some of my Scotch friends, would like to hear about the condition of labor and business in Scotland about this time. Well I must say that it is deplorable. Thousands of idle men walking the streets unemployed. More than half the ship yards idle or doing next to nothing. Indeed that is the condition throughout Great Britain. We complain in Quincy but if you saw what I saw this side of the pond, we would feel thankful after all.

All right, come on, we leave the land of the Scots. First we take a first class train carriage for Androssan. Then first cabin in the fast day boat to Belfast. Let us visit the cabin; it is all right. Here is a table where you can write a letter home. Oh yes, there is plenty of paper and envelopes and stamps. After you are through there is a post office in the vestibule. I wrote three letters on that boat.

Now we are half way to Belfast. See this is a flying trip. We are just passing Alsic Crag or as some call it "Paddy's Rock." It is an island and it is round. There are lots of quarries on it; all good solid granite. There is not much work there at present. Little while ago the powder magazine exploded which caused the loss of many lives.

Well here is Belfast. Here is a man in livery coming after us. He sees at once that we are Americans by our independent looks. He invites us to his carriage. Of course we go, although we know we have got to foot the bills. He orders the coachman to drive us to the Grand Central hotel. We go in; register; get our afternoon tea; a fellow in red uniform shows us our room, and of course we tip him, for you must be ready with a sixpence or a shilling every time any one touches your valise.

Now come out to see the city. Oh dear me, see the rain, it simply pours. That is the style here; now the sun shines; and in less time than you can tell, it rains. But this don't seem to clear. Never mind, we'll venture anyway, rain or shine. Say old man how much do you want to take this crowd in those jaunting cars for an hour. He looks at us, sizes us up, and he says one and sixpence each and take the lot. Well, all right, bring your cars and off we go.

Did you ever see such a thing before? Women bare-footed, ragged cold and hungry in the very heart of the city, asking for a half penny. Boys without number in the same condition. Donkeys, small ones too, drawing big loads of cabbage, potatoes, etc., and women driving them. Our driver shows us where the Mauritania was built, and the skeleton of two others that are much larger. Well the hour is up, and we are wet to the skin. It is good we have a change of clothing with us.

Did you say you were tired! Well, then, let us retire. It is 10 P. M., but as light as day. We might as well sleep it out. In the morning there is nothing going on in Ireland either before 9 o'clock.

Sorry, sorry, rain again today, let us take the train to the country. See those pretty cottages all or many of them with thatched roofs. What pretty fields and gardens. The people seem to be as happy as clams at high water, even if they are poor; there is very little of the land cultivated. It is nearly all grass land. The people raise cattle, sheep, swine, hens and chickens, eggs, etc., for the English market. Then they pay the money to the landlords who live in England. Oh, what a pity.

Well, what do you think if we go back to our hotel, as long as it is so rainy and cold, and I think I will take you across to Holyhead to show you the greatest breakwater in the world, also the fastest mail boats afloat, and I will give you a glimpse of the old city of Chester, etc.

We will come back to the green isle when they have better weather.

Your old friend,
John Evans.

Mayor Acts Relative to Dogs

Mayor Shea has issued orders that no dogs shall be allowed to run at large for a period of ninety days beginning July 20.

All dogs running at large during this period will be taken to the pound. If not claimed within three days and all charges paid, the dog will be killed. All unlicensed dogs taken will be killed at once.

There have been many complaints during the recent hot spell of the number of dogs running at large, some of which are of a vicious disposition. Several persons have been bitten by these dogs and some animals have been killed. Dr. Abele disposed of one Saturday that had the rabbies, and on Sunday Officer Murray shot another that was frothing at the mouth.

For several days City Square has been overrun with strange dogs and the Mayor will be commended for the step he has taken.

Dog owners should read the notice published in today's issue of the Daily Ledger.

Good Summer's Work.

James Watson, the secretary of Granite Cutters' National Union of Quincy, reports yards are running more men than the average number, which makes things look extra well for a good summer's work.

TODAY'S COURT.

John Field, who was fined $35 for assault at Quincy and appealed, came into court and retracted his appeal and paid his fine.

Metropolitan Park Commission.

Resolve to authorize and direct the Metropolitan Park Commission to investigate the desirability of constructing a new bridge across the Neponset River between the cities of Boston and Quincy, and of constructing a boulevard in the City of Boston from Columbia Road to Neponset River.

Resolved, that the metropolitan park commission is hereby authorized and directed to investigate the desirability of contsrutcing a new bridge across the Neponset river between the cities of Boston and Quincy at or near the location of the present bridge, and to report the result of the investigations to the next general court not later than the second Monday in January. Said commission shall consider the most suitable location of said bridge with reference to the various uses to which it may be put and also with reference to any existing or proposed boulevard in the vicinity of either approach to said bridge, and make estimates of the expense of said structure and approaches, including the draw required in said bridge; the commission shall also investigate and make a separate report upon the advisability and probable expense of taking and constructing a boulevard in that part of the city of Boston, formerly Dorchester, from Columbia road at a point east of the Plymouth division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to said Neponset river. There may be expended from the treasury of the commonwealth a sum not exceeding twenty-five hundred dollars for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this resolve. (Chap. 141 of Resolves of 1908.)

The Metropolitan Park Commission will hear all persons interested in the matters referred to in the above Resolve at its office in Boston, 14 Beacon Street, Room 507, on Wednesday, July 15, 1908, at 2 o'clock P. M.

By order of the Commission,
JOHN WOODBURY,
Secretary.

Autos Crash At North Weymouth

Two automobiles came together with a crash Monday night at North Weymouth.

A car said to be owned by Charles W. Joy of 323 Washington street, Quincy, had stopped for repairs, and Mr. Joy had put out a red lantern some distance ahead as a signal of danger to any approaching car.

A big touring car driven by Miss Ethel M. Evans came along. Miss Evans misjudged the signal and before she could stop her car she ran into the motionless car of Mr. Joy.

The Joy car was badly damaged, although a 12-year old daughter who was in the tonneau escaped uninjured.

In the Evans car were William A. Evans, Arthur Evans and Herman Lardoner. The latter jumped just before the crash and was badly hurt, having his shoulder broken. None of the others were injured.

Both cars were badly smashed, the Evans car being almost a total wreck.

Police Officer Loses License

A Boston paper reports that Vincen R. Fowler a police officer of Hull, who is a special officer at Peddocks island was in the Hingham court on Monday, charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace on Sunday, July 12. Witnesses testified to the condition of officer Fowler and told of being obliged to overpower him and take from him, at different times, two loaded revolvers and a rifle and then bind him hand and foot with a rope after he had threatened to shoot anybody who interfered with him. To the charge of drunkenness officer Fowler pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $15. On the charge of disturbing the peace he pleaded not guilty but was found guilty and sent to the house of correction for two months. His license as a police officer has been revoked.

The committee who were in charge of the Fourth of July celebration at Atlantic have formed a permanent organization.

Many Odd Fellows from Quincy will attend the grand picnic of the order tomorrow at Canobie lake. A grand good time is anticipated.

Large Increase In Consumption Of Metropolitan Water in June

That the month of June was hot and dry is shown by the figures of the Metropolitan Water Board for the month of June. The consumption in June this year in the district was 134,291,500 gallons per day, which was 13,088,900 gallons per day more than in June 1907.

The increase in Quincy was from 3,140,600 gallons per day to 3,485,100.

Of the total increase of 13,088,900 in the district the bulk was in Boston, 10,047,900 gallons per day.

The per capita increase in the district was from 130 in June, 1907, to 141 in June 1908, or 11 more than a year ago.

In Boston every person used 13 gallons more, an increase from 152 to 165.

In Quincy the increase per capita was but 8 gallons per day, the same as Everett and Medford, while Nahant increased 41 per capita; Swampscott, 36; Lexington and Arlington, 27 each; Belmont, 20, Winthrop, 14; Revere 13; Stoneham, 10; Somerville, 7; Malden, 6; Watertown, 5; and Milton, 4. In Chelsea there was a decrease of 8 gallons per capita, and in Melrose 10 gallons.

The places using more gallons per capita than Quincy were Boston, Winthrop, Arlington, and Medford.

The total consumption per day in June, 1907, and June, 1908, is shown in the summary below, nearly 80 per cent being in Boston alone:

	June 1907	June 1908
Boston	92,655,300	102,703,200
Somerville	6,756,200	7,289,900
Malden	6,756,200	2,318,100
Chelsea	3,390,600	3,150,500
Everett	2,495,400	2,851,000
Quincy	3,140,600	3,485,100
Medford	2,283,200	2,522,200
Melrose	1,794,900	1,674,200
Revere	1,307,200	1,555,500
Watertown	866,600	952,200
Arlington	1,007,700	1,315,700
Milton	408,500	450,500
Winthrop	951,700	1,093,700
Stoneham	5771,200	650,000
Belmont	427,100	531,500
Lexington	359,900	504,500
Nahant	173,500	292,600
Swampscott	566.900	851,100

One Hundred Dollar Blaze At Houghs Neck

Boys playing with matches was the cause of a lively blaze in the rear of Peterson's bake shop about five o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The fire started in a barrel of papers that was standing against the back of Peterson's house. The blaze quickly caught the side house, and before it was discovered it had started on the building. A line of hose was laid and the fire was out before the department arrived in answer to the alarm that was pulled from box 17. The fire at one time threatened Brown's summer ball room. The damage amounted to over a hundred dollars which was covered by insurance.

Peter Ryan, the popular manager of Tessier's drug store, and his bride, have settled in a cottage on Winthrop street. Mr. Ryan has been married for only three weeks. His marriage coming as a great surprise to his many friends.

A large number of Elks attended the Elks night at the "Palms" Tuesday night. A very funny reproduction of an Elks initiation was shown bringing back to many Elks present the fun they had when they went through the mill.

The rain of Tuesday afternoon was received gladly, it was about time for the rain to visit Houghs Neck.

The Great Hill house was the scene of a very pretty party Monday night. Miss Corinne LaBrecque held a heart party. About fifty of the young people of the beach were present. Cards were enjoyed until ten, when a collation was served. The broad verandas were prettily decorated for the occasion. The prizes for ladies were won by Miss Margaret Connors of Great hill and Mrs. John McGuners of Bell street. Norman Goodale of Bell street and H. G. Golden of Rogers street were the winners of the gentlemen's prizes. A whist party will be held next Monday night.

Miss Corinne LaBrecque of the Great Hill house leaves for Maine tonight to visit friends for a week.

The Night Owls lost three games by default Tuesday night in the Houghs Neck bowling league. None of the Night Owls showed up to bowl the games scheduled with the River Roads. According to the rules of the league the River Roads had to bowl three strings to get their percentage. Their scores were:

RIVER ROADS.

J. Galvin	68	77	57
Sandberg	87	73	67
Goldbrenson	69	81	88
F. Galvin	70	77	74
T. Hermanson	78	90	81
	372	418	367

The league standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Yannigans	8	1
Bay Views	4	5
Night Owls	5	7
River Roads	4	8

Metropolitan Bridge Over Neponset River

In response to an invitation sent out by Mayor Shea representatives of the Board of Trade, the Citizens' Association, the Granite Manufacturers' Association and Central Labor Union met him at City Hall on Tuesday evening to discuss the matter of the proposed new bridge over the Neponset river, a public hearing on which will be held by the Metropolitan Park Commissioners in Boston this afternoon.

The idea of the conference was to outline the plan of the city at the hearing. Under the plans submitted it is proposed to connect the bridge on the Boston side with the Columbia road parkway along the east side of the railroad, and on Quincy side with the Quincy Bay parkway partly constructed.

Under the original bill the cost of the bridge was to be paid for jointly by the city of Boston and the City of Quincy. Mayor Shea and the citizens of Quincy believe this proposition unfair. As the proposed bridge is a link in the park system of the Metropolitan district, Mayor Shea and the citizens of Quincy believe that the cost of the bridge, if built, should be proportioned over the whole district as was the bridge at Wellington.

Mayor Shea told the representatives present at the meeting Tuesday evening that the Metropolitan Park Commission had no plans of its own but was waiting for the city of Boston or the City of Quincy to express their opinion before them at the hearing.

As a rule the project does not meet with much favor in Quincy, and the position the city will take at today's hearing was outlined at the meeting.

Annual Outing Of Quincy Elks

The first annual outing of Quincy lodge of Elks will be held next Wednesday, July 22, at Peddock's island. The outing will be for Elks only, but a large party is expected.

The steamer Houghs Neck has been chartered for the day, and will make three trips in the morning to the island. The first boat will leave Houghs Neck at 9 A. M. and others at 10.30 and 12 noon. There will be a series of field and water sports and a shore dinner at the new hotel, and other attractions.

The Bird Club Have a Feast

The "Bird Club" held its annual outing Tuesday afternoon. Starting from Town river at 10 o'clock in launch Firefly, Capt. T. L. Williams, and launch Bell, Capt. C. C. Foster, the party composed of the officers of the Quincy Board of Trade and one or two of their friends, proceeded to the fishing grounds, off Toddy Rocks, where they caught a good fare of fish.

Ed. Sandberg the "original Bird" and T. L. Williams were the only unsuccessful ones. I believe Ed. did catch a sculpin, but he promptly threw it overboard, because, he said, it had too much mouth. He was afraid it would get at the sandwiches.

Piper and Pratt evidently expected to be hungry before dinner time, and stopped their fishing operation to feast on something they brought with them. Ed. monopolized the sardines, because Pratt told him they were a Norwegian brand, which came pretty close to being Swedish.

At 3 o'clock the party camped on Princess Head, Peddock's Island and it was there that Capt. Foster showed his hand as Chef. How he managed to do it I don't know, but inside of an hour he had a feast laid out that would turn the Knocker's Club green with envy. Three kinds of fish, steamed clams, boiled potatoes, hot coffee and a lot of other things went to make up the menu.

Jack Richards, Ed. Sandberg, T. L. Williams and W. S. Quigley of the Folsom Tea Co., indulged in trials of strength. Honors appeared to be even, when difference in weight of contestants was considered.

Seeing a storm brewing the party left, and when a third of the way home was overtaken by the heavy shower. It poured down a perfect torrent. The Firefly dropped her wings and cuddled her passengers dry and comfortable. Thirty feet away on the starboard side Capt. Foster and his mate Quigley both dressed in oilskins were driving through the storm.

Sandberg made Lester M. Pratt promise that the next time he came on such a trip he would bring a larger amount of sardines (Swedish if he could get them.)

The Bird Club thinks that after Capt. Foster's performance as Chef, "Bill" Field will have to "Pray" for more help, for he certainly made votes for himself on Tuesday.

The editor of the Daily Ledger was invited, but thought he could not let the readers of the Ledger suffer, so reluctantly gave up the trip. Awful sorry for Frank.

Hope next year to have a still better time. Bird.

CHALLENGE GAME

Mayor Shea Will Umpire Contest of Elks And Knights

Lovers of the national game of base ball will miss the greatest game of the season, if they fail to witness the match to be played on the lower field of Merrymount park Saturday afternoon between the Elks and Knights of Columbus.

The Knights have a ball nine that they believe alone have the right to wear the championship belt. The Elks have their doubts about it. The result was a challenge to the Elks by the Knights.

Mayor Shea who is a member of both orders has agreed to umpire the game, and Ed. Murphy, the famous coach, who is also a member of both orders, has agreed not to say a word of encouragement for either team.

Exalter Ruler Thomas, however, being a member of the Elks, can talk all he wants to.

The ambulances of the city will be on hand to remove the dead and wounded, and Hearn will send down a case of liniment.

Quincy Principal Married in Worcester

A Worcester dispatch to the Boston Globe reports that Harry Brooks, principal of the Adams and Cranch schools in Quincy, and Miss Rebecca Bloch, one of the leading young women of Worcester's Hebrew colony, were married Tuesday afternoon in the Sharai Thorah synagogue by Rabbi Barritza of Boston, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives from Worcester, Boston, Quincy and Westerly.

Robert Pike of Boston was best man. Miss Rose Bloch was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were: Miss Lillian Bloch of New York, Miss Ida Brooks and Miss Sarah Brooks of Boston and Miss Clara Horowitz of Worcester. David B. Isenberg and Jack Shulinski of Worcester were ushers. The wedding ceremony was followed by a big reception and banquet in Terpsichorean hall.

After their wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks will make their home in Roxbury.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Miss Maude Bartlett of Rawson road spent the week end at Avon.

Miss Susie Atwood of Rawson road spent the week end at Gloucester.

Charles Gutterson of West Elm avenue is visiting his mother at Weymouth.

Harry Wung of Willow street has joined his sister at Andover for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Frank Mitchell and family are camping on Weymouth Fore River.

A new bungalow is being erected on Tyler street by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Treadway.

The hop at the Quincy Yacht club house Tuesday evening was well attended although stormy.

The chimneys and ventilating stacks of the new Coddington schoolhouse are towering above the roof.

Captain Clement Harding of New York was the guest of Mrs. A E. Linnell of Davis street the first of this week.

The travelling crane at South Quincy continues to do good work and teamsters are experiencing little or no delay.

Mrs. Fred Wallace and Mrs. George Wentworth of Reading were entertained by friends at Wollaston Park the first of the week.

The alarm from Box 17 at 4.47 Tuesday afternoon was for a fire in a barrel of old rubbish near Dunhams store at Houghs Neck.

There was a heavy down-pour of rain early last evening, and the ground received a good soaking. Two days rain like that would have done an immense amount of good.

Mrs. Charles Gutterson of West Elm avenue left Monday evening for her former home at Ogdensburg, N. Y., to spend the summer. Mr. Gutterson will join her in a few weeks.

Maurice E. Kilpatrick is building a house on Henry street for Alfred Burr of Webster street. It is expected that Mr. and Mrs. Burr will reside in their new quarters as soon as the house is completed and rent their house on Webster street.

The Shakespeare club were entertained last week by Mrs. E. S. Tenney, at her summer home at Situate. Each member voluntarily carried some delicacy so that an elaborate feast was spread after the arrival by the hostess and guests. A pleasant afternoon was spent on the beach and the day was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Seventeen Prohibitionists Aspire to the Presidency

OLD PARTIES RAKED OVER

Temporary Chairman Says Nothing Can Be Expected of Them In Behalf of Prohibition--Suggestion Anent Roosevelt Policies

Columbus, O., July 15.—The Prohibition national convention opened at 10 o'clock this morning in Memorial hall. Charles F. Jones of Chicago, chairman of the national committee, called the convention to order, and Robert H. Patton of Illinois, as temporary chairman, delivered the keynote speech.

There will be three sessions today, and if the present plans carry the platform will be adopted at the third, leaving only the nomination of the ticket for the session tomorrow.

With seventeen names in the list of candidates, the contest for the nomination for president takes on an interesting aspect. Charles Scanlon of Pittsburg and Joseph P. Tracey of Detroit appear to have an advantage over the field. Other states will push a favorite son, among the leaders being Fred W. Wheeler of California, who also has a following among New England delegates, Daniel R. Sheen of Illinois and Alfred L. Mannierre of New York.

Temporary Chairman Patton shot the "rum demon" full of holes, mercilessly jumped upon the old political parties, criticised "a public press almost universally against us," and declared that "in spite of the fixed habits of appetite, greed or lust, we have, by the help of God and the power of the right, conquered over all, and are met here with the shouts of victory upon our lips. We are face to face with the hour that gives assurance of complete triumph."

Mr. Patton put the Democratic and Republican parties on the grill. He said the plank in the Republican national platform "reaffirming our adherence to every Republican doctrine proclaimed since the birth of the party" was a direct reaffirmation of a plank in the Republican platform of 1872, which declared against interfering with the rights of the people.

The temporary chairman read a letter from Attorney General Ellis of Ohio, who formed this year's Republican platform, in which Ellis declared he could find nothing in the platform of 1872 inconsistent with good Republican doctrine.

Mr. Patton denounced W. H. Taft's friendliness and co-operation with the "brewer-boss politician of Cincinnati—Boss Cox."

The speaker decried the alliance of the Democratic party with the saloon element and asked W. J. Bryan to explain this plank in the Democratic platform: "We reaffirm our faith in and pledge our loyalty to the principles of our party," which principles, declared Patton, included the famous anti-sumptuary plank in the Democratic platform of 1876. He continued:

"From the fact that Mr. Bryan recently in a public interview confessed to voting and making speeches to defeat constitutional prohibition in his own state, from the fact that in his campaign speeches in Oklahoma he spoke for all of their constitution but the prohibition part, from the fact that he has recently in an interview tried to make this appear a mere local issue and not a national one, what hope have we that he and the Democratic party will give any aid to this cause?"

He advised the organization of the party on practical political lines and declared that the time had now come when the movement must go forward or backward—there is no middle ground.

The following is the draft of the platform submitted to the resolutions committee today by Wilbur F. Crafts of the International Reform bureau, Washington, and which will probably be adopted:

"We appeal to the sovereign people against the Republican congress that has year after year refused to withdraw the federal shield of interstate commerce from 'speak-easies,' and against the Republican party that at its recent convention refused to promise this reasonable reform; and against the Democratic party because it failed to make any clear declaration at its national convention on any moral issue.

"We believe the selection of a successor by a president is a dangerous precedent, and that at most he should have intimated that he would oppose the nomination of any man liable to reverse the Roosevelt 'policies,' which we heartily endorse. We believe that these policies, which, in their attacks on trusts, have not prevented the raising of prices, should be supplemented by such gradual tariff reform as will make private monopolies impossible. We favor a constitutional convention to amend the constitution so as to provide for the election of senators by the people; for federal control of marriage, including divorce and polygamy; for national prohibition of the importation, manufacture or sale of intoxicating beverages.

"Meanwhile we propose, as the largest measure of prohibition now possible, to dam liquor traffic at every state line by forbidding all interstate commerce in intoxicating liquors. We invite intelligent Christian voters in Republican and Democratic parties, never so numerous as now, who have been turned down hard by the refusal of platform makers of both parties to recognize that nations do not die of free trade or free silver, but of free love; not of currency or conquest, but of cancer—to join us in electing by an issue, namely, national prohibition by constitutional amendment and prohibition by congress in the District of Columbia and territories and wherever the national government has jurisdiction, including interstate commerce, and in electing officers in sympathy with such legislation to enforce it. And we make this paragraph our only test of party fealty.

"We favor conditionary suffrage not on sex, but on intelligence, with compulsory voting or public record of reasons for not voting. We favor protection of labor by immigration restrictions fairly corresponding to protection of capital by tariff. We desire to suppress traffic in girls, gambling abuse of Sunday, and the chief root of them all—the saloon."

Woman Suffrage Not Endorsed

Columbus, O., July 15.—The state Prohibition convention yesterday adopted a platform and nominated a full state ticket. Woman suffrage was sidetracked by an overwhelming vote. Temporary Chairman Peeke was defeated as a candidate for member of the national committee, mainly by his criticism of the churches for alleged lack of interest in prohibition.

Alleged Bomb Fiend Caught

New York, July 15.—Fifty or more persons asleep in a tenement house in East Eleventh street, shortly before midnight, were saved from probable death when detectives caught an alleged member of the Black Hand putting a lighted match to a dynamite bomb in the hallway of the building. The prisoner said he was Pinzols Bonaventura and the house at the address he gave is known as the "house of three deuces" and it was here that nineteen persons were burned to death in an alleged incendiary fire a year ago. The police are elated over their capture.

Forest Named After Cleveland

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 15.—President Roosevelt has written a letter to Mrs. Grover Cleveland informing her of a proclamation he has signed changing the name of the San Jacinto national forest to the Cleveland national forest in honor of the late former president. The president says it gives him very great pleasure to take that action—"a pleasure mingled with a keen sense of the loss to our country and to our citizens in the death of President Cleveland."

New York Gets Relief

New York, July 15.—The tropical heat spell which has enveloped New York for nearly three weeks, killing over three score persons and prostrating hundreds, was broken yesterday when a severe electrical storm, accompanied by hail and rain, swept over the city. Four persons died yesterday as a result of the heat before the storm came. The temperature dropped twenty degrees within a few minutes after the storm broke, touching 71 degrees.

Senator Platt's Seventy-Fifth

New York, July 15.—Senator Thomas C. Platt is celebrating his seventy-fifth birthday today at a cottage at Woodmere, L. I., where he is living with Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Abel. There will be an informal little dinner party for him this evening without invitations to any outsiders. The veteran politician looks well and cheerful. His mind seems as keen and clear as in the days when he dominated politics in this state.

Lightning Destroys Costly Home

Philadelphia, July 15.—During an electrical storm which passed over Ogontz, a suburb, last night, the beautiful country residence of George W. Elkins was struck by lightning and in the fire which ensued was totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at $200,000. Elkins and his wife are cruising on board their yacht in New England waters.

Dozen Rich Men Start For Europe

New York, July 15.—When steamer Adriatic sailed for Europe today she carried with her probably one of the richest aggregations of representative financiers that ever crossed the Atlantic or any other ocean on a single steamship. Together the twelve men represent many hundreds of millions of dollars of American capital.

Marines Leaving Panama

Washington, July 15.—The additional United States marines recently sent to the Isthmus of Panama to guard against trouble at the Panama elections have begun their return movement to this country. About 400 marines will remain at Camp Elliott, on the isthmus.

Fatal Result of Card Game

Providence, July 15.—As a result of a stab wound in the head received during a quarrel over a card game on July 5, Dennis Pimenpel died last evening. Angelo Diminico and Squizzera Pita are charged with having committed the assault.

Blackmailers Heavily Punished

New Brunswick, N. J., July 15.—A sentence of twelve years each in state prison was given to three men here, convicted of sending a Black Hand letter demanding $5000 to Rev. Augustine Bassori of Franklin Park.

The Weather Forecast

STRICKEN IN SUBWAY

Death of Thomas D. Jordan Under Tragic Circumstances

PROMINENT IN WALL STREET

Figured With Alexander as Borrower of $685,000 In "Yellow Dog" Fund--Was to Be Tried on Charge of Forgery and Perjury

New York, July 15.—Thomas D. Jordan, formerly comptroller of the Equitable Life Assurance society, dropped dead of heart disease late yesterday afternoon in the Wall street station of the subway. Scores of persons saw him fall, among them Dr. Wells, a friend of the Jordan family. Wells hurried to the side of his stricken friend, but he saw immediately that Jordan was dead.

Jordan had parted from his son, Frank B. Jordan, only a moment before and a messenger overtook the young man on the street and informed him of his father's death. The son was overcome with grief.

Jordan was well known in Wall street, as he was a director and officer in many large corporations. It was in the course of the Armstrong committee insurance investigation that his name came prominently before the public. It was brought out that Comptroller Jordan had secured loans aggregating $685,000 for himself and James W. Alexander, former president of the Equitable, from the Mercantile Trust company, and that these loans had been covered up on the books of the company. This $685,000 came to be known as the "yellow dog" fund.

A desire was expressed by the Armstrong committee that Jordan appear before the committee and explain his financial management of the Equitable, but the process servers were unable to locate Jordan. Jordan's son, who was called before the committee and asked to tell where his father was, said he did not know, and when further questioned said he did not know whether his father was dead or alive.

When the Armstrong committee investigation had come to a close Jordan put in an appearance, and it was then learned that he had been in Europe. As a result of the disclosures made before the Armstrong committee the grand jury found eighteen indictments for forgery and one for perjury against Jordan.

Only recently Jordan appeared before Justice Goff, in the criminal branch of the supreme court, and pleaded not guilty to the indictments. His trial was set for the fall term of the criminal branch. Since his indictment Jordan had remained before the public eye as little as possible. While he was active in financial circles, his name seldom appeared in print.

As soon as Jordan's son had been summoned the body was taken to the police station. There it was viewed by Coroner's Physician Weston, who said that death was due to heart failure or apoplexy and that an autopsy was not necessary. He gave permission for the removal of the body, and Frank Jordan quickly secured the services of an undertaker and had the body of his father taken to his home in Englewood.

Jordan leaves a widow, his son, Frank, and a daughter, Mrs. Edward D. O'Brien, who married the son of Judge Dennis O'Brien, recently of the court of appeals.

Great Celebration In France

Paris, July 15.—The French national fete was celebrated throughout the country in the traditional manner. The review of 100,000 troops at Longchamps was a brilliant success. All the theatres of Paris gave free performances, the city was illuminated and there were elaborate fireworks from the bridges over the Seine, followed by the customary street balls and other merrymaking.

Officers of Elks' Grand Lodge

Dallas, July 15.—The grand lodge of Elks elected Rush L. Holland of Colorado Springs grand exalted ruler without opposition. John J. Shea of Hartford was chosen grand esteemed leading knight. Fred E. Robinson, Dubuque, Ia., was re-elected secretary, and Edward Leach, New York, was re-elected treasurer. Los Angeles was chosen as the next meeting place.

Pork Prices Go Tobogganing

Chicago, July 15.—Provisions, particularly pork, took a long backward leap yesterday, scoring losses all along the line ranging from 27½ to 87½@90 cents. The market was demoralized. September pork, from 16.72½ Monday night, went off to 15.82½@15.85, other deliveries making almost as great losses.

PLANS OF DEMOCRATS

Outlined at Meeting of National Committeemen at Fairview

SELECTION OF A CHAIRMAN

Task Committed to Sub-Committee, Which Will Probably Choose Atwood of Kansas--Bryan to Get Official Notification In Home Town

Lincoln, Neb., July 15.—The appointment of a sub-committee of eleven to meet at Chicago on July 25 to name a chairman of the Democratic national committee and the adoption of a resolution providing for making public campaign contributions were the principal accomplishments of the national committee meeting with W. J. Bryan and J. W. Kern at "Fairview." Democrats the country over were called upon to form clubs immediately to aid the campaign work.

It may be stated on authority that had the whole committee acted, National Committeeman Atwood of Leavenworth, Kan., in all probability would be made campaign manager. Sentiment in that direction formed quite generally among the committeemen during the trip here from Denver. Atwood is a lawyer and business man of good standing, and he wants the position. He was not at Fairview, a fact which is attributed to his belief that the chairmanship would be tendered him.

That action was not taken was due to Bryan, who suggested the appointment of the sub-committee and declared that upon it there should be no man who was either a candidate himself or had a candidate for the campaign leadership.

This being put in the form of a motion, Chairman Taggart appointed the following, his own membership being provided for in the resolution: Taggart, Indiana, (chairman); Hall, Nebraska; Mack, New York; Osborne, Wyoming; Greene, Rhode Island; Ryan, Wisconsin; Daniels, North Carolina; Wade, Iowa; Tomlinson, Alabama; Cole, California; Brady, Oklahoma. Daniels was made secretary.

The presence on the sub-committee of Ryan is an assurance that he is no longer considered a candidate. D. J. Campau of Michigan is no longer being considered, Tom L. Johnson won't have it, Urey Woodson would prefer not to be considered, and Ollie James believes his greatest usefulness is on the stump.

This situation, for the present at least, leaves the sub-committee with only Atwood to consider. The only whisper heard against Atwood was the fact that his eminence in the legal profession may have brought him into closer connection with corporations than would be consistent in a campaign against corporate greed and predatory wealth.

Lincoln is happy because the formal notification of her foremost citizen that he has been chosen as the Democratic standard-bearer will take place in his home town. Some members believed there would be great political advantage in having the notification take place in New York, while Woodson was among those who favored Chicago. But there was no opposition to Bryan's wish to have the scene laid in his home city. The date was set for Aug. 12, and as this is two weeks after the date appointed for a similar function at Cincinnati for Taft, Bryan will have ample opportunity to prepare an answer to any statements the Republican nominee may make.

Independence League Candidates

New York, July 15.—Local leaders of the Independence party announce that the national convention of the party in Chicago will complete its business in two days. Four candidates for president are now in the field. Thomas L. Hisgen of Massachusetts has already been endorsed by several states and his friends in New England will conduct an active contest for his nomination. H. S. Taylor of Illinois, N. W. Howard of Alabama and C. A. Walsh of Iowa are candidates also.

Looking Over Old Speeches

Hot Springs, Va., July 15.—William H. Taft has progressed sufficiently with the task of preparing his letter of acceptance to be delivered at Cincinnati on July 28 to make plain the necessity of devoting more time to a study of various platforms of the Republican and Democatic parties and speeches and letters of acceptance, covering a good many years, before he undertakes the work of putting his ideas in definite form.

Hitchcock Calls on Sherman

Utica, N. Y., July 15.—Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national campaign committee and Francis Curtis, literary editor of the congressional campaign committee, came to Utica to confer with James S. Sherman and spent some time discussing plans for the campaign. Hitchcock returned to New York last night. Before his departure he said there was nothing to announce as to campaign arrangements.

Balloon Badly Bumped

Hamburg, July 15.—The balloon Hamburg of the Hamburg Aeronautical society met with an accident while trying to effect a landing at Lubeck. The car of the balloon violently collided with the cable-house, severely injuring Baron Pohl and one of the passengers.

WORLD'S OLYMPIC MARKS

Sheppard and Flanagan Bring New Honors to America

London, July 15.—America and Great Britain captured most of the laurels yesterday in the first real business day of the Olympic sports. Twice the Stars and Stripes fluttered to the top of the staff in the center of the arena. The honors were nearly even, for of the four events finished the United States and the United Kingdom each won two gold medals. Great Britain, however, took three silver medals, while America got only one. Canada, Australia, Great Britain and Belgium each obtained a bronze medal.

The Yankees had the hammer-throw to themselves, and the performance of John J. Flanagan in breaking the Olympic record with the hammer and the almost equally good record made by M. J. McGrath were eye-openers to the foreigners. M. W. Sheppard, however, did more spectacular work and aroused a greater degree of enthusiasm by crossing the tape ahead of his English rivals in a dashing finish to the 1500-metre run. This the Englishmen had counted on for Wilson and Hallows, no prophets conceding America better than third place. To add to the satisfaction of the Americans the judges announced that George W. Galdzik of Chicago had done the best work in the fancy diving.

Sheppard's time in the 1500-metre run (1639.5 yards) was 4m. 3 2-5s.

In throwing the 16-pound hammer Flanagan's throw was 170 ft. 4½ in.

No Light on Drew Mystery

Troy, N. Y., July 15.—Out of a maze of theories which confront the authorities who are trying to lift the cloud of mystery surrounding the death of 19-year-old Hazel I. Drew, whose body was found in an old millpond last Saturday, nothing tangible has developed that points to the murderer or the motive for the crime. That the girl was assaulted before she was murdered and thrown into the pond is the generally accepted theory, but the body was in such a state of decomposition when found as to make it practically impossible to determine that fact.

Bullet Still In Simpson's Liver

New York, July 15.—When Mrs. Ella Horner was arraigned in court at Northport, L. I., this morning and charged with the shooting of Dr. James W. Simpson, her son-in-law, the victim of her act was not present to press the charge against her. Surgeons who have made two unsuccessful efforts to remove the bullet from his liver say that the patient will be fortunate if he recovers from the wound. Justice Hawkins adjourned the hearing. Mrs. Horner has been released on $5000 bail, which was furnished by the wife of the wounded dentist.

St. John Exports Falling Off

St. John, July 15.—A statement issued by American Consul Wilrich shows a big falling off in exports through St. John to the United States. In the year ended June 30, 1907, the exports totalled $2,845,327, while for the year ended last month the amount was $347,492 less. For the quarter ended June 30, 1908, the exports to the United States fell off $132,890 as compared with the June quarter last year.

Plotters Seek Czar's Life

Berlin, July 15.—A news bureau has received a private dispatch from Sosnowice, Russian Poland, stating that a plot against the life of Emperor Nicholas has been discovered there. The conspiracy was well planned and had many ramifications. More than a hundred men and women were arrested at Sosnowice, charged with being implicated in the plot, and other arrests are pending.

The Roosevelt at Sydney

Sydney, N. S., July 15.—The Peary expedition steamer Roosevelt arrived here after a passage of eight days from Oyster Bay. After taking coal and other supplies the Roosevelt, accompanied by the supply steamer Eric, which has been taking on coal and other supplies here, will proceed north. The Eric will go as far as Etah, where the expedition expects to arrive the latter part of July.

Russian Railroads Raise Rates

St. Petersburg, July 15.—The new passenger tariff on Russian railways, which goes into effect today, makes railroad travel in this country very much more expensive. The increase in the price of first-class tickets is 30 percent, in second-class 20 percent, and in third-class tickets 10 percent.

General Disturbance Predicted

Guatemala City, July 15.—While few details have been received here of the progress of the revolution in Honduras, the general opinion among the diplomats here is that the disturbance is the prelude to a movement which is likely to sweep throughout Central America.

Boy Pays Death Penalty

Newcastle, Pa., July 15.—Rosario Serge, 18 years old, was hanged here for the murder of Antonio Bonti at Hillsville. Serge maintained until the last that he had killed Bonti in self-defense.

THE

Young Men's Christian Association

OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams Street, Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

GARDNER FOR GOVERNOR

Maine Democrats Want the Sturgis Liquor Law Repealed

Bangor, Me., July 15.—The Democrats of Maine assembled in city hall today for the purpose of nominating candidates for governor, state auditor and six electors of president and vice president of the United States.

Obadiah Gardner of Rockland, who last winter retired from the position of state master of the state grange, Patrons of Husbandry, after a continuous service of ten years, was nominated by acclamation. His name was presented by Charles F. Johnson. Gardner was present and made a speech of acceptance.

Chairman Jones of the state committee called the convention to order and George M. Hanson of Calais is the presiding officer.

The stand of the party in favor of the resubmission of the prohibitory liquor law is as firm as ever, and the platform asks for the immediate repeal of the Sturgis liquor law enforcement statute. Reforms in the method of taxation and in state expenditures figure prominently in the resolutions.

Boston's Generous Aldermen

Boston, July 15.—That the next legislature will be appealed to for a statute compelling corporations using the highways to assume a proportionate share of the expense of construction and maintenance is the outcome promised from the controversy over the permission recently voted by the Boston board of aldermen to allow the Union Freight Railroad company to operate on the newly elected Northern avenue bridge. Mayor Hibbard vetoed the aldermanic order, after a long conference with leading business men of the city.

Rain Cordially Welcomed

Boston, July 15.—The four weeks of extreme heat, which has resulted in fourteen deaths, scores of prostrations and great suffering to Bostonians, was effectively broken late yesterday when the high humidity and uncomfortable heat turned into a heavy rainstorm which brought the temperature down, while a twenty-four miles an hour wind started up from the west. The rainfall ended a drought of six weeks, during which great damage had been done to crops.

Pulp Deposit a Nuisance

Montpelier, Vt., July 15.—Governor Proctor has received a letter from Edward Hatch, Jr., of New York, declaring, on his own behalf and that of many other riparian owners, that the refuse of the pulp mills in New York state is deposited by the waters of Lake Champlain on the shores of their property in quantities that make it an intolerable nuisance. Hatch says his appeals to the governor of New York have thus far been in vain.

Danger In Eating Lobster

Gloucester, Mass., July 15.—John H. Hammond, the mining expert, prominently mentioned before the Republican national convention as a candidate for the vice presidential omination, is recovering from a serious illness, caused by eating lobster. Hammond was poisoned the day after his return from the funeral of the late Grover Cleveland, his condition for ten days being most serious.

Icebergs From the Arctic

Boston, July 15.—Steamship Consul General Pallisen, from Fowey, Eng., reports sighting several large icebergs lying in the path of the ocean liners and which are a menace to navigation. The two larger bergs were estimated to be 300 feet long and 100 feet high. They presented a beautiful sight as rivers of water cascaded down their sides and leaped into the sea.

Despondent Widow Kills Self

Westport, Mass., July 15.—Mrs. Hannah E. Mosher, a widow, aged 49, committed suicide, being despondent over ill-health. A note sent to a neighbor, enclosed a large sum of money and requested the neighbor to care for Mrs. Mosher's only son. She took a dose of aconite and tied a handkerchief, saturated with chloroform, over her mouth.

Lightning Caused Fires

Worcester, Mass., July 15.—A heavy electric storm swept over Worcester county late yesterday, lightning striking in several towns, prostrating several persons and causing from $5000 to $6000 damage by fire. In Worcester the rain was accompanied by hail and a strong wind, but so far as known no damage was done by the lightning.

Waves Give Up Trull's Body

Cataumet, Mass., July 15.—The body of one of the four victims of the explosion on the launch Dolphin in Buzzards bay was washed up on Scraggy neck and was identified as that of John P. Trull of Woburn. Trull's body is the only one that has yet been recovered.

For Municipal Ownership

Clinton, Mass., July 15.—The first vote in connection with the purchase by the town of the Clinton Electric Light and Power company was taken at a special town meeting last night. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of municipal ownership, being 223 to 27.

Japan on Good Terms With Us

San Francisco, July 15.—Thomas O'Brien, the American ambassador to Japan, arrived here from Tokio on steamer Korea. He is on a leave of absence to attend to some business matters in Europe. In an interview O'Brien said that any suspicion that might be harbored in this country in regard to Japanese sincerity in maintaining peace with the United States and in its expressions of amity and good will was without any cause or ground to justify it.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

It is Y. M. C. A. day at the Fresh Air Camp.

M. F. Corbett had the misfortune to lose another horse this week.

Representative and Mrs. E. C. Hultman are at the Cape for a few days.

The Quincy Yacht club will have a race for launches Saturday afternoon at 3.

A race for power boats will be held by the Wollaston Yacht club Saturday.

Miss Maria Hawes of Weymouth is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. Torrey of Davis street.

Miss Ruth Bassett of Walker street was at The Moorland, Bass Rocks, over the week end.

Several applications for membership were received at the meeting of the Elks on Tuesday evening.

P. Murphy, circulation clerk at Chapin's news depot, has returned from his annual vacation trip.

The four days' sale of house lots on Goffe street and Upland road opened today. Agents are on the property.

Wallace Baker of Walker street has returned from a business trip through the western part of the state.

Mrs. William McConnell and daughter Violet of Bromfield street are summering in New London, Conn.

Henry Blackwell has leased the apartment in the brick block on Walker place lately vacated by John Donovan to Edwin Britton of Forest Hills.

The statements made in the City Council Monday evening about the Atlantic school building, were the first intimations many had that this new building was not considered a first class job.

James F. Page of the Fore River, who goes to Kure, Japan, to set up the Curtis turbines, was tendered a reception by the foremen of the yard at Peddock's island on Monday evening.

Dr. Ross K. Whiton sails Friday on the Allan line steamship Laurentian from Boston for Europe. Dr. Whiton goes to the hospital of Glasgow for three months special study. Mrs. Whiton will sojourn in Vermont until the doctor's return in October.

A lively ball game called Atlantic residents to the local playground Saturday afternoon when a picked home team played against the South Boston nine. Nearly all the men lingered on the way up from the train and delivery of goods from the stores was quite imposible, owing to the clerks watching the game from the vantage ground of the store teams. The scene was lively in the extreme and looked as if the home team were in good training.

Itch cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. Never fails. Sold by C. D. Harlow & Co., Druggists.

Did you see the rainbow last evening?

Mrs. Fred A. Simmons and son Albert of Brockton visited Mrs. E. A. Snow of West Elm avenue on Monday.

Mrs. James Whiting of Quincy avenue is spending a few weeks with her niece, Mrs. Hansen at Boltonville, Vt.

Now is the time to make your guesses as to what the tax rate will be. It will be announced early in August.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gassett of Mount Vernon, N. Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Hall of Newbury avenue.

William Givens, formerly of Wollaston Park, now of Scituate, was renewing old acquaintances of the Park and Downs last week.

C. A. Bugle of Jamaica Plain has purchased from Maurice E. Kilpatrick the new house on Webster and Squantum streets. Mr. Bugle buys for occupancy.

Dr. F. J. Peirce of Hancock street has returned from a professional visit to Portland, where he has been detained a week. During his stay, the doctor was royally entertained by his many friends.

John Ramsdell has sold for Henry Kolb of Brooklyn, N. Y., that half of his land on Walker street adjoining the property of Mrs. Arline J. Hall, containing 7327 feet, to J. P. Lenenhan of Taunton. Mr. Lenenhan will build an eight-room house on this site in the fall.

Quincy Battleships Nearing Honolulu

The Atlantic fleet of battleships, including the Vermont, Rhode Island and New Jersey, built at Quincy, are due tomorrow at Honolulu, and one almost envies the officers and men the reception they will receive.

The entertainment committee has prepared a large number of excursions to places of interest, and the men of the fleet will be overwhelmed with invitations to see the island during their stay. There will be trips to Pearl Harbor, to the sugar plantations and pineapple regions of Huami and Pali, and to other points of interest. A large part of the week's programme will consist of these trips, and adequate transportations by rail, water and automobile has been provided for the city's sailor guests. The owners of automobiles have hastened to place their cars at the committee's disposal, and practically every machine on the island will be in use. Plans for base ball games, foot ball, polo, boxing and wrestling matches have been made, and in addition to these there will be many forms of entertainment of a purely Hawaiian character. Among these will be a grand ball at Waikiki beach, fishing and chowder parties at Pearl Harbor for the officers, and the presentation of cocoanuts, fruits and other island delicacies to the men.

For several days the use of the street cars and trains will be free to men in American naval uniforms, and the committee has provided rest houses and stations where they may take their ease while wandering about the city. Scores of private residences will also keep open house for the sailors, each being distinctly marked with decorations and ready to extend a hearty welcome to the sailors. Every effort will be made to assist the men in finding entertainment, besides the public festivities supplied by the committee. There will be dinners and garden parties by the score, at which the sailor boys will be guests of honor.

No Gains Today For the Leaders

The gains in the Motor Boat contest today are wholly among the candidates with less than 100 votes, several gaining 10 or 20 votes. The coupon will be printed only 14 more days.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

Quincy Men Off for Japan

Manuel Perry, Jr., and S. Uchiyama, who sail Thursday for Kure, Japan, to set up the Curtis turbine engines for the Japanese war vessels, built at the Fore River shipyard were given a farewell reception Tuesday evening by their fellow workmen.

Councilman Carey, Murray Parker, and James Sullivan were the committee in charge, and the party of thirty, including ladies, sat down to dinner at the Squantum Inn at 6 o'clock.

After the dinner there were songs by James Sullivan, Miss Agnes Crowley and Mr. Perry; piano solos by Miss Alice McDonnell and speeches by several of the party.

Malden Contracts For Soldiers' Monument

Now that the differences in the labor industry have been adjusted for a term of years and good times are returning, an effort should be made to raise funds for the new Soldiers Monument at Quincy, to replace the one erected in 1868.

The Boston Transcript says: Bela L. Pratt, the sculptor, has been awarded the contract for the new $15,000 soldiers' monument recently authorized by the Malden City Government, the award having been made Monday night by the special City Council and Citizens' Committee of fifteen, headed by ex-Mayor Charles D. McCarthy.

The contract calls for its completion for dedication on Memorial Day of 1910 and the corner stone of the monument will, according to present plans, be laid on next Memorial Day. The site is in Bell Rock Park, and the Malden Park Commission already has received plans from architect Olmsted for beautifying the grounds and making them ready for the reception of this monument.

At the new Malden High School hall Monday evening Mr. Pratt's model of the monument was on exhibition with one by Cyrus E. Dallin, also of Boston. Members of the past and present city councils of Malden, together with the members of Malden patriotic societies, were present to inspect the work of the two sculptors.

Mr. Pratt's monument is a composition of three bronze figures, the central one holding the American flag, which gives splendid relief to the head. On one side of the central figure, kneeling, is a sailor, and on the other a soldier, with gun in hand.

The figures are seven and a half feet high and the total height of the shaft will be twenty-eight to thiry feet. The pedestal wil lbe of granite and the location, according to the Park Commission's plans, will be upon the site of the old Bell Rock.

The present memorial tablet, containing the names of Malden's early revolutionary heroes, will form the centre of a rough stone work and loam embankment. The monument will be nearly fifty feet from the street. Two approaches will be of twelve steps each. The estimated cost of the landscape work is $7000.

Steamship Creole Expected This Week

The steamer Creole, which was built at Quincy for the Morgan line's service between New York and New Orleans, is expected to return to Quincy this week for a general overhauling to change propellers and to install forced draft. The Creole has turbine engines and there is talk of using oil instead of coal for fuel.

TODAY'S COURT.

Harry H. Barry, Walter Dunn, Fred S Perkins were fined $5 each for violation of the fish and game laws of Quincy.

Archie R. French and Frank C. Hall were fined the costs amounting to 45 cents each, for the same offense.

FIRST CLAIM

A Monument To Adams And Jefferson On Single Block

Writing to the Boston Transcript, Edwin D. Mead says:

A new movement has recently been started to secure the erection in Boston of some fitting and adequate memorial of John Adams. At the hearing before the Legislature a few weeks ago, a statue in the State House was talked of. That would certainly be most appropriate, in remembrance especially of John Adams's conspicuous service in connection with the Constitution of Massachusetts. But it is not enough. That here in Boston, where the visitor from Oklahoma or Oregon finds in prominent places statues of General Glover and Colonel Cass, there should be no public monument to John Adams or John Q. Adams, the two great Massachusetts presidents, of the United States, is an extraordinary thing—or would be if it were not quite in line with ordinary usage as concerns our statues and monuments. That, with this amazing and dishonorable neglect, we should witness as we did a little while ago, in the Commonwealth and city of these illustrious men, an agitation to give our new bridge to Cambridge the name of McKinley Bridge, with a memorial arch in honor of William McKinley—Think of him for a moment beside old John Adams—at one end of it, is another of the mysteries. Be all this as it may, the present tardy effort to honor John Adams by a statue or monument in Boston is grateful; and if proper thought is given to it, something worthy should result. I should like in this connection to call attention to the following suggestive and impressive passage from Robert C. Winthrop's Fourth of July oration in Boston in our centennial year, 1876. The passage follows a reference to the memorable services of Adams and Jefferson together in connection with the Declaration of Independence and to the striking coincidence of their death on the same day, July 4, 1826, the fiftieth anniversary of the Declaration.

"In the interesting little city of Weimar, renowned as the resort and residence of more than one of the greatest philosophers and poets of Germany, many a traveller must have seen and admired the charming statues of Goethe and Schiller, standing side by side and hand in hand, on the single pedestal, and offering as it were, the laurel wreath of literary priority or preeminence to each other. Few nobler works of art, in conception or execution, can be found on the continent of Europe. And what could be of worthier or juster commemoration of the marvellous coincidence of which I have just spoken, and of the men who were the subjects of it, and of the Declaration with which, alike in their lives and in their deaths, they are so peculiarly and so signally associated, than just such a moment, with the statues of Adams and Jefferson, side by side and hand in hand, upon the same base, pressing upon each other, in mutual acknowledgment and deference, the victor palm of a triumph for which they must ever be held in common and equal honor! It would be a new tie between Massachusetts and Virginia. It would be a new bond of that Union which is the safety and the glory of both. It would be a new pledge of that restored good will between the North and South which is the herald and harbinger of a second century of national independence. It would be a fit recognition of the great hand of God in our history!

"At all events it is one of the crying omissions and neglects which reproach us all this day that 'glorious old John Adams is without any proportionate public monument in the State of which he was one of the very grandest citizens and sons, and in whose behalf he rendered such inestimable services to his country. It is almost ludicrous to look around and see who has been commemorated, and he neglected! He might be seen standing alone, as he knew so well how to stand alone in life. He might be seen grouped with his illustrious son, only second to himself in his claims on the omitted posthumous honors of his native state. Or, if the claim of noble women to such commemorations were ever to be recognized on our soil he might be lovingly grouped with that incomparable wife, from whom he was so often separated by public duties and personal dangers, and whose familiar correspondence with him, and his with her, furnishes a picture of fidelity and affection, and of patriotic zeal and courage and self-sacrifice, almost without a parallel in our Revolutionary annals.

"But before all other statues, let us have those of Adams and Jefferson on a single block, as they stood together just a hundred years ago today—as they were translated together just fifty years ago today—foremost for independence in their lives, and in their deaths not divided! Next, certainly to the completion of the National Monument to Washington at the capital, this double statue of this 'double star' of the Declaration calls for the contributions of a patriotic people. It would have something of special appropriateness as the first gift to that Boston park which is to date from his centennial period."

Ireland to Wales With John Evans

Belfast, June 30th, 1908.

Editors of Daily Ledger:

It was a most delightful trip through Ireland, although the weather all the time we were there was wet, cold and dreary. We enjoyed ourselves to our heart's content in spite of it all. But now I will take you from Greenore on board of one of the fast beautiful boats that plies between the green land of Erin and the land of the old Ancient Britons (Wales).

Just come down this gang plank, I have your tickets. I am not inviting you on these trips and then have you pay your own fare. Oh, yes, we belong in the saloon. Yes sir, you can take care of our valises and here is a shilling, (our tip).

Isn't this a fine harbor. Do you see that lighthouse. It looks as though it was in mid ocean, but it rests on a very dangerous bar of sand. It is ten P. M. and we are out to sea and it is as light as midday. This twilight is great isn't it? What is that singing? Let us see; it comes from the steerage. Yes I think we can go down there and see about it. I will ask this porter in uniform. Yes, he says if you are very anxious. Sure we are; we like singing. We descend several steps, and what a crowd. All as happy as happy could be, singing their native songs, in their true Irish style. Hundreds of them on their way to England and Wales to work on the hay harvest which is now in full blast. Let us hurry along we are now landing in the town of Holyhead, the nearest point in Wales to Ireland. It is just 1.30 A. M. It took us three and one-half hours to make the voyage across. Come on we will go to the Station Hotel for a supper and rooms, for the rest of the night, although there is a train here waiting along side of the boat landing, a mail train to London.

But I want to show you a little around this old town before we go any further, so come along. This is one of the finest hotels in Great Britain having been built on the docks by the L. and N. W. railroad. We have no time to describe it, for I have something more important to show you. All right if you are through your breakfast, I will take you around.

First let us see these docks with its line of twenty-five of the fastest, staunchest, and finest steamers on the continent, all belonging to the L. and N. W. railroad with the mail trains from London running alongside of them.

Hurry up, we must see this breakwater. One of the seven wonders of the world. It took twenty-one years for about 500 men and some of the best engineers in the world to build it. It runs nearly two miles across one of the wildest and most dangerous seas in all the world. Many a mariner has lost his ship, life and all in this dangerous spot, before this great undertaking was accomplished.

I visited this place forty-five years ago, when they were building this immense work. I was then eighteen years old. I well remember the hosts of divers laying the foundations deep under the water. Now we can take a walk the whole length of it today because it is a most beautiful day.

After all the dreary days, at last the sun is out, with healing in its wings. We never enjoyed finer weather, of course if the wind was north and blowing hard we couldn't walk a step on it because the waves dash against and over it with great fury. It is built of very large stones and those cemented and bolted together. There are places built inside of it for the men that are continually there to care for it.

Yes, indeed, those steamers that you see in the channel, are going and coming to America, Australia and all parts, for no vessel can go to Liverpool without passing this way. This afternoon if you care to stay here you can almost speak with the people on board the Lusitania.

What do you say? Is this enough today? We are not through with this place yet, next time we will take a carriage and visit the South Stack lighthouse, and attend one of the great Welsh preaching festivals. Also a visit to Bangor, Bethesda, Chester, Liverpool, London and many other places of interest.

Yours truly,
John Evans.

Shore Dinner Knockers' Club

Automobiles, carriages and electric cars were pressed into service Wednesday afternoon to convey the members of the Knockers club to the Squantum Inn for their first sea shore dinner. Important business engagements prevented several of the club from answering to their names at roll call. There were however several guests.

Routine business was dispensed with, and the discussion of dinner was the only matter of business transacted. The dinner was excellent and between the courses there was an occasional knock by the way of practice, so that the members would not forget how if occasion demanded it.

The Big Knocker occupied the seat of honor at the head of the table, but could not inforce the rule of his office prohibiting cigarette smoking.

The air was cool and invigorating, and the scene from the broad verandas was greatly enjoyed.

The trip homeward was by the way of the Quincy Bay parkway along the Atlantic and Wollaston beaches, which is certainly a very attractive pleasure drive.

Suicide of Wollaston Man

The sad end of Ralph J. Saxe, formerly of Wollaston, was a shock to his friends here. He is reported to have met with business reverses of late, and on Tuesday, July 7, he ended his life at Tampa, Florida, by drinking carbolic acid. On Monday, July 13, a woman who posed as his wife, also took morphine and died that day. Both were buried in Woodlawn cemetery in Tampa.

Mr. Saxe was for a number of years a salesman for a large wholesale boot and shoe house, requiring absence from home for long periods. He had made Tampa his headquarters for the last eight months.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Sixty degree temperature at sunrise, and a delightful morning.

Mrs. Daniel Connors and daughter of New York are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hearn.

Mark L. Read has moved into the house at the corner of Woodward avenue and Edgemere road.

Maurice P. Spillane of Quincy was appointed by Gov. Guild, Wednesday, as one of the public administrators of Norfolk County.

James F. Page, Manuel Perry, Jr., and S. Uchiyama of the Fore River sail for Japan today. Mr. Uchiyama, who has been at the Fore River for five years, accompanies the party as official interpreter.

Among the important matters to come up before the adjourned meeting of the City Council tonight is the order for $3,300 for the suppression of the gypsy moth, and the order making an appropriation to grade the Atlantic school lot.

On Wednesday evening, Berry Bros., tendered to their employees an outing which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Proceeding to Houghs Neck, a launch was taken, and after a delightful sail around the harbor, a landing was made at Nantasket Point, where they were served a fish dinner. The return trip by moonlight was most enjoyable.

A THOUSAND-MILE RUN

Great Relay Race From New York to Chicago Begun

TWO THOUSAND TAKING PART

Fifty Times That Number Proffered Their Services In Novel Idea Being Carried Out by the Young Men's Christian Association

New York, July 16.—As a pistol shot rang out on the city hall steps here a lithe athlete, in running tights, carrying a silver tube containing a message from Mayor McClellan of New York city to Mayor Busse of Chicago, darted away up Broadway on the first relay of a thousand miles' journey to Chicago. Herbert H. Rapp was the runner and McClellan's message was as follows:

"To the city of Chicago the city of New York sends greetings by the fleet runners of the Young Men's Christian association. This message is borne on foot, without a halt from the Atlantic to Lake Michigan, and the hundreds of boys who carry it gain no prize except the consciousness of having done their best."

According to the schedule the message will reach Chicago next Tuesday. Two thousand boys will take part in the race, and a strenuous effort will be made to break all records for similar events.

The race is conducted by the Young Men's Christian association, and so great was the interest in it that 100,000 volunteers proffered their services. Each runner will carry the message half a mile, when a fresh runner will take it on to the next point of relief.

Perhaps the most spectacular feature of the relay run will be the swimming of Lake Cayuga by the boys of the Auburn, N. Y., department. Going around the lake will mean the addition of several miles to the route, and to use the ferry across would not be in keeping with the spirit of the enterprise, so the Auburn boys will plunge into the waters of the lake at about 5:30 o'clock Friday morning.

The best swimmers have been especially trained for this part of the relay, and will be, of course, the best of the department. The tube containing the mayor's message will be suspended about the neck of the swimmer and will be passed from one boy to another while in the water.

Time tests made before the race began showed an average speed for each half mile of 2 minutes, 38 seconds. The easiest and straightest route between New York and Chicago was selected, the course being carefully laid out from government survey maps. The route was divided into sections of from fifteen to ninety miles each, the Y. M. C. A. members of that district furnishing the runners to bear along the mayor's message.

Automobiles will follow the racers with emergency runners in case of an accident, so that there will be no chance of delay in smashing the records for relay races. H. C. Crackel of the Cleveland Y. M. C. A. originated the novel idea.

Ancient Suitor Murdered

Dover, Del., July 16.—That William Williams, aged 64, the prospective bridegroom who had secured a license to wed a 13-year-old girl, and whose body was found hanging to a tree near Marydel, Md., was murdered, was established by the coroner who held an inquest in the case. Williams came to his death by a blow on the head from a blunt instrument. The police authorities are working on the theory that the aged man was slain to prevent his marriage to a mere child.

Safeguarding Public Health

New York, July 16.—A hunt for tuberculosis germs has been commenced by the board of health in the New York Stock Exchange. Three hundred telephone clerks employed on the floor of the exchange constitute the hunting ground, and of thirty so far examined three are said to have been afflicted. Both exchange members and the telephone operators use the same telephones.

Adams Not Guilty of Murder

Grand Junction, Col., July 16.—Steve Adams was acquitted of the murder of Arthur Collins, manager of the Smuggler Union mine at Telluride, who was shot on the night of Nov. 19, 1902, while playing cards in his office. Adams was ordered discharged by Judge Shackelford. Adams immediately stepped to the jury box and shook hands with each one of the jurors and thanked them.

New Trolleys In Connecticut

New Haven, July 16.—It was made known here at the offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company that contracts for the construction of 17½ miles of new trolleys, at an aggregate expenditure of $1,000,000, will be awarded by the Connecticut company. Work will commence as soon as the contracts are awarded.

Government Ownership of Railroads

Paris, July 16.—The Official Journal today publishes the measure recently adopted in the senate, providing for the purchase by the government of the Western railroad, together with a decree appointing a commission of administrative, legal and financial experts to carry out the plan.

DIED UNREPENTANT

Alia Denounces the Priesthood as Breath Leaves His Body

Canyon City, Col., July 16.—Calling down maledictions on the Roman Catholic priesthood and shouting in Italian "Long live Italy; long live the Protestants," Guiseppe Alia, who murdered Father Leo Heinrichs at the altar of St. Elizabeth's church, Denver, was carried to the death trap and at 8:30 o'clock last night paid the extreme penalty of his crime by hanging.

Perhaps a more thrilling scene was never beheld by any of the sixxteen persons present than the execution of this Italian murderer, whose cries and screams were only hushed by the automatic springing of the mechanism which forever silenced the tongue that cried for vengeance against those whom Alia regarded as the destroyers of his home and happiness.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Warden Cleghorn of the state penitentiary, through his interpreter, a prison guard, read the death warrant to Alia. Contrary to expectations, the prisoner exhibited no emotion, and when the reading was finished said: "All right. I am ready to die now."

At 6 o'clock supper was served to the prisoner. Before eating he divided it into five portions, saying that one was for his wife, one for himself and one each for his three children. He then ate with apparent composure and relish. Alia said he felt no sorrow whatever for having killed Father Leo. He said he had worked for Heinrichs in Portugal and was sure that he had killed the right man. He said he found no fault with the law, but that the priest did wrong in breaking up his family.

Surgeons Perhaps Mistaken

New York, July 16.—Melvin W. Sheppard, who defeated the fleetest runners in the world in the Olympic games at London, recently had his application for a position on the New York police force rejected because of physical disability. Police surgeons reported that they found Sheppard to be suffering from enlargement of the heart and hardening of the arteries. His case has been taken up by the civil service commissioners, whose examination he had passed, however, and another effort will be made to have him accepted as a wearer of the policeman's blue.

Disaster In Pennsylvania Mine

Pottsville, Pa., July 16.—Seven mine workers were killed and ten others injured by a terrific explosion of gas in the Williamstown colliery of the Summit Branch Mining company. The mine was wrecked and set on fire. The explosion is believed to have been caused by one of the men lifting the gauze of his safety lamp after an explosion of a shot which brought down a large body of coal. One of the injured was taken to the morgue and it was not until an identification of the bodies was being made that it was found that he was living. He will probably recover.

In Memory of the Departed

Dallas, July 16.—Yesterday's session of the Elks grand lodge was devoted to the "lodge of sorrow," the impressive service of the order in commemoration of deceased members, various prominent Elks paying tribute to those who have died. Last evening the thirty brass bands in attendance massed and paraded the down-town streets. The composite band was under one director and comprised 550 musicians. After the massed parade concerts were given in all public parks.

Mrs. Clary Acquitted

Claremoreys, Ire., July 16.—Mrs. Margaret Clary, charged with having murdered her husband, was acquitted, there being no evidence to show that she had administered poison to him. Thomas Clary died here shortly after his wife left for New York. He had been ill for some time and his wife nursed him. Mrs. Clary was arrested on the steamer Carmania on her arrival in New York and was sent back to Ireland on extradition papers.

Great Financial Resources

Albany, July 16.—An increase of more than $203,000,000 in the resources of the trust companies of this state at the close of business on June 17 last, over the resources as reported for March 25, is shown in a statement given out by the state banking department. The statement is made up from the reports filed with the department by eighty-eight companies. The total resources reported are $1,272,732,049.

Youngsters Robbed Safe

New York, July 16.—Four youthful prisoners, so small they had to be held up by a policeman while giving their pedigrees at the station house, were arrested on a charge of robbing a safe in Joseph Adler's hardware store of $50 in money and a check for $5.42. The money was recovered. While Adler was in the rear of the store, it is alleged the boys sneaked behind the counter and ransacked the safe.

Owes Uncle Sam a Big Bill

Norfolk, July 16.—The United States government filed a petition in the Jamestown exposition federal court litigation here, asking protection as a creditor of the exposition on account of its $1,000,000 loan, and claiming priority of payment over everything else owed by the exposition company. The petition sets out that the balance due the government is $897,953.57.

NO CONCENTRATION

Prohibition Presidential Nomination Is Still Open

PATTON GAINING STRENGTH

Sentiment of Delegates to Convention Is For Complete Wiping Out of Liquor Traffic--Contest Probable Over Woman Suffrage Proposition

Columbus, O., July 16.—The Prohibitionists' national convention worked under a temporary organization throughout its two sessions yesterday and adjourned until today without hearing a report from the committee appointed to select its permanent officers. In fact, little was accomplished beyond naming the members of the various committees and receiving the reports of the committees on rules and credentials.

The committee on permanent organization reported this morning, and Professor Charles Scanlon of Pittsburg, one of the numerous candidates for the presidency, was named as the permanent chairman.

The presidential nomination is still open, and there has been no marked concentration in favor of any candidate. It is agreed that the nomination could be had by Seaborn Wright of Georgia if he would express a willingness to accept it.

The name of Joshua Levering of Maryland, who was the nominee in 1896, is strongly favored by many, but the friends of Levering are not disposed to push his candidacy unless he is assured in advance of the nomination.

The friends of Robert H. Patton of Springfield, Ills., temporary chairman of the convention, are rapidly increasing and a movement in his behalf took tangible shape when he concluded his address at the first session of the convention. Patton's speech, both in matter and in manner of delivery, made a strong impression on the delegates.

The friends of Scanlon say that they feel greatly encouraged over the progress their candidate is making.

The committee on resolutions delegated the task of writing the platform to a sub-committee of five. The principal planks to be incorporated are about as follows:

There will be a declaration in favor of extending suffrage to women; the election of senators by a direct vote of the people will be favored, and a ringing declaration will be made against the existing revenue laws which permit the issuance of licenses to saloons.

The platform will also declare in favor of the enactment of a graduated income and inheritance tax. A demand will be made that a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting the liquor traffic, be submitted to the people. This is intended to meet the question raised in congress at the last session that federal regulation of liquor traffic is unusual when it extends beyond interstate traffic. This plank, together with that denouncing the revenue laws that permit the issuance of licenses, is expected to cover the attitude of the party on the question of license and direct prohibition.

The sentiment of the party, wherever heard expressed, is opposed to local option or anything but the complete wiping out of the liquor traffic.

The establishment of postal savings banks will be favored. A declaration will be made in favor of government regulation of corporations engaged in interstate commerce. The creation of a non-partisan commission for the purpose of studying and recommending needful changes in existing tariff schedules will also be urged. The platform will also contain an arraignment of official tolerance, in large cities of the country, of the social law and traffic in girls.

The women's suffrage plank, as outlined in the prospective platform, has been productive of extensive debates in former conventions of the party and it may create trouble before it is finally accepted.

The national committee met last night and re-elected all of its old officers. New England members of the new national committee are: Connecticut, F. S. Platt, W. N. Taft; Massachusetts, J. M. Fisher, J. B. Lewis, Jr.; New Hampshire, A. H. Morrill, J. S. Blanchard; Rhode Island, C. H. Tilley, B. E. Holme; Vermont, H. S. Eldred, Dr. Hanson. Committeemen from Maine have not yet been named.

Distinguished Visitor From Japan

San Francisco, July 16.—Baron Katsuji Utsumi has arrived from Japan, primarily to visit Fitchburg, Mass., but incidentally he will spend a few days in a few other cities. Fitchburg is the home of his former instructor and present traveling companion, Frederick A. Shattuck, professor of English and literature at a Tokio university. The baron is 22 years old, very wealthy and unmarried.

Will Wait For Taft's Speech

Lincoln, Neb., July 16.—Politicians were absent yesterday from "Fairview," the home of William J. Bryan, and, in consequence, he was enabled to dispose of some of his important correspondence. As yet he has not begun the preparation of his speech of acceptance, and the probabilities are that he will not do so until Mr. Taft's address is delivered.

THE 1908 CAMPAIGN

Republicans to Open It West of Missouri River

THE PLANS OF HITCHCOCK

May Establish His Permanent Headquarters at Chicago--Intimate Co-operation Between the National and Congressional Committees

Washington, July 16.—Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national committee will open the campaign of 1908 in the far west. Practically the first movement in the campaign for the election of Taft and Sherman will be made at Colorado Springs, Col., next Monday and Tuesday, when Hitchcock will hold a conference with the Republican leaders of all the states and territories west of the Missouri river.

It is the purpose of Hitchcock, in the bringing thus together of the Republican leaders of the west, to consider plans for the campaign in that territory. It is his desire that the leaders should become acquainted with one another; that each should feel that he has a part to perform not only in the conduct of the campaign, but in the formulation of plans for it, and that there should be co-operative effort among all of them to bring about a general result.

In the near future similar conferences will be held by Hitchcock with Republican leaders in the middle west and in the east. The place of the middle west conference will be Chicago, and it will probably be held about ten days after the Colorado Springs conference. Some time subsequently a conference of the eastern leaders will be held in New York city.

Mr. Hitchcock left Washington today for Colorado Springs. On the way he will stop in Chicago on Friday to make arrangements for western Republican headquarters in that city. In this connection it can be said to be not unlikely that Hitchcock may make his permanent headquarters during the campaign in Chicago, instead of New York. Final decision of the matter make it depend, to some extent, upon the selection of a vice chairman of the national committee.

At the conclusion of the Colorado Springs conference Hitchcock will return to Chicago for a brief stay in that city and will go thence to Cincinnati to attend the ceremonies incident to the notification of Taft of his nomination for the presidency. From Cincinnati Hitchcock intends to go to New York in order to open formally the national headquarters in that city about the first of August. The headquarters in Chicago will be opened a week or ten days later.

When Hitchcock visited Sherman at the latter's home in Utica plans were practically perfected by which there will be intimate co-operation between the Republican national and congressional committees. It already has been decided that the literary bureaus of the two committees shall be merged into one, and that the work shall be directed from national headquarters. Francis Curtis, who has had extended experience in campaign editorial work with the congressional committee, will have charge of the editorial department.

Chairman Hitchcock expressed gratification at the condition of Sherman's health. He has gained strength rapidly in the last few days and Hitchcock expressed the belief that he had quite recovered from his recent illness.

Fellow Citizens Honor Kern

Indianapolis, July 16.—The non-partisan reception given John W. Kern, held in the courthouse yard last night, on the vice presidential candidate's arrival home from Denver, was as hearty and generous and spontaneous as the citizens of Indianapolis, regardless of politics, could make it. Fully 5000 persons gave Kern a hearty welcome and cheered him enthusiastically.

The candidate addressed the crowd for about twenty minutes, following his presentation by Vice President Fairbanks. Four years ago Kern presented Fairbanks to a big non-partisan gathering under similar circumstances.

The crowd was in a cheering mood. It cheered Mrs. Kern and William Kern and John W. Kern, Jr., when they came on the stand. Republicans applauded as loudly as the Democrats. When the carriage, in which rode Mr. Kern and Vice President Fairbanks, arrived, the band started "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." This was the signal for a tumult of applause and when the two distinguished men alighted they were greeted vociferously.

Perhaps in all his career as a public speaker, Kern was never received with more ardent applause than he was last night. Although tired and worn from his long trip, he was in good voice and the crowd heard him distinctly.

Vorys' Claim For Ohio

Hot Springs, Va., July 16.—Arthur I. Vorys, Ohio manager for the national Republican committee, had a long talk here with Mr. Taft on conditions in Ohio. "The claims that the Democrats will carry Ohio this fall," said Vorys, "have completely settled all our troubles and cemented all Republicans in Ohio in a determination to elect the national, state and legislative ticket by 100,000 majority, at least." Vorys will remain here several days and will have further talks with Taft concerning conditions in Ohio.

WOMEN FOUGHT FLAMES

Aided Male Population In Saving Village From Destruction

Orleans, Mass., July 16.—Men and women of Orleans faced a crisis never before known in the history of this old Cape Cod town. By desperately fighting side by side they have saved their homes from a devouring wall of crackling flames which, driven by a brisk wind, threatened to lay waste the village.

From 1 o'clock yesterday morning up to 9 o'clock last night practically every able-bodied man and woman in the town was enlisted in the common cause. People were forced to quit their homes, and many moved their furniture to parts of the town which the flames did not menace. Men fought with extinguishers, shovels and wheat flails.

Women, in the very face of the raging furnace, hitched horses to plows and made furrows around their homes. Others carried water buckets; some helped thrash out the creeping red flames in the dry grass with dampened blankets.

In all, over 800 worked through the long hours, and at last, with the fire well under control and its course directed away from the populated section, they returned to their homes to await further outburst.

Small Crowds at Olympic Games

London, July 16.—The gold medals went to Great Britain, France and Sweden, as the winners of the finals of Wednesday's events at the Olympic games. Great Britain was a double winner and France and Sweden secured one first each. America had to be satisfied with one silver medal, symbolic of second place in the three-mile team race. If the number of spectators is to be taken as an evidence, the public is evincing little interest in the great athletic program. The great stadium holds over 70,000 persons, but never yet have there been more than 15,000 people present.

Government Won't Be Cheated

Washington, July 16.—Complaint has been filed with the interstate commerce commission by the navy department against the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, the New England Steamship and the New England Navigation companies, for the recovery of $3 for transporting two government employes from Pittsburg to Newport, R. I. The defendant carriers charged the government a rate of $12.50 each for the two men, the government claiming that a rate of $11 each would have been a reasonable compensation for the services rendered.

Objections to Fleet's Visit

Wellington, N. Z., July 16.—The Socialists in Auckland are threatening to hold a demonstration of the unemployed as a protest against the public expenditures incidental to the reception of the American fleet. In the house of assembly here last night, Mr. Malcolm declared there was danger that the visit of the American fleet might cause the colonists to place dependence on the United States rather than on the motherland. He therefore regretted that the invitation had been given.

Warship May Go to Honduras

Washington, July 16.—Somewhat concerned over the situation on the northern coast of Honduras, because of the threatened operation of the revolutionists and a possible menace to American interests, the administration is considering the advisability of dispatching a naval vessel to that coast. Persistent reports of threatened revolutionary movements against Porto Cortez have come to the state department, but reliable information has been difficult to obtain.

Retired Clergyman Slain

Metuchen, N. J., July 16.—F. P. D. Prickett, aged 68, a retired minister of the Methodist Episcopal church and former recorder of the borough of Metuchen, was shot down and killed in the street here by Archie Herron. Two years ago, while Prickett was recorder, Herron was arraigned before him for disorderly conduct and sentenced to ten days in jail. Prickett was editor of a weekly paper. Herron made no statement of the affair to the authorities.

Union Membership Decreased

Denver, July 16.—The annual report of Secretary-Treasurer Mills of the Western Federation of Miners, which was submitted to the convention here, shows that the organization lost 5000 members during the past year. Mills attributes the loss to the existing industrial conditions. The report says $189,589 was expended in the defense of Haywood, Moyer, Pettibone and Adams on murder charges.

Squall Capsized Boat

Halifax, July 16.—While sailing on Bedford basin, Miss Una Roy, aged 17, and William Muir, aged 16, were drowned, and Margaret Muir, aged 12, a sister of the last named victim, was rescued after being half an hour in the water. A heavy squall capsized the boat.

Escaped Lunatic Recaptured

Portland, Me., July 16.—Charles E. Clowes, who escaped from the insane hospital at Augusta last Saturday, was captured here yesterday. He had walked from Augusta and was nearly famished and said he had eaten nothing since leaving the hospital.

Two Seamen Killed by Explosion

Yarmouth, N. S., July 16.—On board the Norwegian bark Ragna, at Tusket Wedge, N. S., two of the crew were instantly killed and two others severely scalded by the explosion of the boiler connected with the donkey engine.

Woodmen Sue For $420,755

Des Moines, July 16.—The Modern Woodmen of America filed a suit in the federal court here for $420,755 against Receiver Jamison of the First National bank of Chariton and Comptroller of the Currency Murray. The petitioners demand a sum of $350,000 cash, that was deposited in the bank, with interest from Dec. 7, 1907, and a lien of $70,755. The suit also involves four other banks. The action grows out of the insolvency of the First National bank of Chariton, a depository of the Woodmen of America.

The Drew Murder Mystery

Troy, N. Y., July 16.—What is considered an important point in the Teal pond murder mystery came into possession of the police when Detective Kaye found the suit case which Hazel I. Drew carried the day before she was murdered. The theory is now advanced that she was murdered in Troy and taken to Teal pond, where the body was cast into the stagnant waters.

Engine Struck Trolley Car

Johnstown, Pa., July 16.—One man was killed and about thirty others were injured, some perhaps fatally, when a trolley car, after striking a traction engine at a crossing, started backwards and went over a steep embankment. The car was rounding a dangerous curve at the time of the accident and apparently the motorman failed to see the traction engine.

Keeping Tabs on Beef Combine

London, July 16.—Pressed to take some action to prevent the American beef combine from obtaining control of the retail beef trade in Great Britain President Churchill of the board of trade stated in the house of commons that the operations of the six firms constituting the beef combine were receiving the careful attention of the government.

Creditors Press "Baby" Anson

Chicago, July 16.—Adrian C. Anson, former captain of the Chicago National League baseball team, was defendant in proceedings before Judge Landis which resulted in the appointment of a receiver for Anson's billiard and bowling establishment.

NEWS IN BRIEF

State Treasurer Gilmore of Maine has completed the apportionment of the school and mill fund for the year 1908, the amount available for that purpose this year being $839,926.

The Union Tank Line company, a subsidiary concern of the Standard Oil company, filed papers with the New Jersey secretary of state increasing its authorized capital from $3,500,000 to $12,000,000.

Lieutenant Brachan and Lieutenant Tipton, both on duty at Havana, have been assigned for duty at West Point and will take charge of the football squad.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Adjourned meeting of City Council this evening.

Miss Bessie Drew of Walker street is spending the week at Hyannis.

Mrs. William Russell of Billings street has been confined to the house by illness this week.

Mrs. Ellen F. Townsend, the wife of Prof. John M. Townsend of Thayer Academy died on Tuesday at her home in Braintree.

The alarm from Box 612 at 11.13 this noon was for another fire in the swamp near the Norfolk Downs depot.

John Evans of Copeland street arrived home from his tour of Great Britain this week. The Daily Ledger, however, has one or two more of his letters to print.

Maurice Blackmur won the championship of the Bigelow street Croquet club this week, defeating Leo Powers and Richard Blackmur. Allan Miller was scorer.

John Adams, Aerie of Eagles of Quincy, were among those to parade at Fall River at the annual New England field day of the order on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moorhead, Jr., (formerly Miss Jennie Crowell) of Elm street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son born Wednesday evening, James Russell Moorhead.

Mr. William C. West, who was recently called home because of the serious illness of his wife, returned to Mexico last week. Mrs. West is making a good recovery and will remain during the summer at the home of Mr. C. F. West on Highland avenue.

Next Monday, July 20, John T. Conway, general superintendent of the Old Colony street railway, will have completed his 23d year with the street railway company. He began his railroad career as a conductor, and by perseverence has worked step by step to the important position he now holds. Mr. Conway started in Brockton and was for a time stationed in Quincy as superintendent of the Quincy division.

NEW BRIDGE UNNECESSARY

City Official Remonstrate Against Bridge Over the Neponset

Quincy made an emphatic objection at the hearing before the Metropolitan Park Commissioners on Wednesday on the proposition to build a new bridge over the Neponset river. Representatives of the city claimed that the bridge was narrow on the Boston end and that if the City of Boston took care of its end of the present structure as well as did the City of Quincy there would be no necessity for a new bridge.

The hearing was on a resolve passed by the last Legislature calling upon the Metropolitan Park Commissioners to investigate the advisability of such a bridge, and report to the next General Court as to the cost etc.

The city was represented at the hearing by Mayor Shea, City Solicitor McAnarney, Herbert T. Whitman and Walter S. Pinkham of the Citizens' Association, and Ernest W. Branch of the Board of Trade.

Representative Mildram, who introduced the resolve in the Legislature, explained that he had asked for the investigation because it was thought necessary to build the bridge in connection with the boulevards.

Representative Burr of Dorchester said the present bridge had been rebuilt about three time in the last 100 years. It must soon be rebuilt again, and though the City of Quincy has opposed, the Federal government might step in at any time and order the draw rebuilt to fifty feet.

The questions are the necessity of rebuilding, the public demand for the bridge, the physical construction of the bridge, whether it should be for a few years or the next hundred years, and who should bear the cost. In reply to questions, Mr. Burr said that the bridge had been declared dangerous, but he would not say about that. Mr. Curtis asked whether the bridge should be in the same location or not. Mr. Burr favored the present site, and favored car tracks on it, for which the companies should pay something for maintenance and construction.

Representative Mildram said he had originally drawn a bill like the West Boston Bridge Act, but the question of law was raised. Then the city law department drew this resolve, feeling that some expert advice was needed. He corrected Mr. Burr, saying that the draw is only thirty-nine feet wide, and the new railroad bridge there has a fifty-foot draw.

Mr. Las Casas said that he had been informed that the City of Boston had approved the bill for a bridge but not additional boulevards. Mr. Mildram confirmed this view. Chairman Las Casas said it might be best to separate the bridge and boulevard questions.

Mr. McAnarney said the city of Quincy officially opposed the building of a bridge. Quincy lies south of the Neponset. The city has yet to hear of a single complaint from any concern sending its freight over this bridge against the present bridge. Quincy maintains about 600 feet of the bridge and Boston only 130 feet, and while Quincy has rebuilt its part within nineteen years, Boston has not done so for forty years or more. The Quincy city engineer reported the bridge in very fair condition, and he thought the petitioners had not made out a case for rebuilding. It is true that the United States Government may take up the matter of widening the bridge, but all that is in the air. Quincy did not object on the ground of poverty, but on the broad ground that the bridge is not needed.

If a bridge is to be constructed, the question of apportionment of the cost is important and the city wishes to be heard on it. Mr. Las Casas said the practice of the Board had been to have no recommendation on apportionment.

Mayor Shea said the draw was only twenty-three feet wide, and this was maintained by Boston in its 130 feet of the bridge. If Boston would widen its part of the bridge and extend the draw, the bridge would be good for years to come. He was familiar with teaming business and said the granite teams had no complaint to make, if the bridge were only widened on the Boston end.

Commissioner Curtis asked why the city of Boston was not rfepresented here by the city law department or the mayor, as both had been notified. Alderman Clark, as acting mayor, said that he had received no notice, and he could not speak for the city or the mayor. He felt sure the mayor was not opposed to the bill, and appearing personally as a citizen he favored it.

Mr. Whitman and Mr. Pinkham also spoke against the proposition, as they did not deem it necessary to build a new bridge.

J. P. Riley of the Neponset Improvement Society said the bridge at the Boston end was too narrow and the draw was also narrow. Boston did not feel that it should lay out any money to widen its end or the draw, and for this reason it would be better to build a new bridge.

When chairman Las Casas asked those present who were in favor to rise, all the Boston men arose, and upon the call for those in opposition those from Quincy and one other arose.

PRAY FIRST

And Capt. Foster Makes Big Jump In Motor Boat Voting Contest

Capt. Pray has pushed to the front again in the Motor Boat contest, but leads Capt. Field only 60 votes. The biggest gain of the day, however, was made by Capt. Foster, whose 900 puts him close up to the leaders.

Sixteen candidates now have over 100 votes. Forty new trial orders would put a new candidate in the lead, and the boat is worth $250. It is worth an effort.

Several gains are made by different candidates today.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

Odd Fellows' Annual Outing

Wednesday was an ideal day for the third annual outing of local Odd Fellows at Canobie Lake Park, New Hampshire. The rain the night before had laid the dust, cooled the air and made the excursion enjoyable. Braintree, Weymouth, Randolph and Quincy lodges were well represented, accompanied by Rebekahs, also ladies and gentlemen who desired to spend a day at Canobie Lake Park. There were 158 people who enjoyed the excursion leaving the North station, Boston, at 9 A. M., in a special train of five cars. At Methuen a transfer was made to special electric cars and the distance of seven miles to the park was soon covered. The electrics on that line are extra large and swift. After passing over a few streets in Methuen the cars passed through fields and woods making the ride very enjoyable.

Arriving at the park at about 10.30 o'clock the excursionists were soon scattered over the fifty acres in the park and the clear water of Canobie lake. There was amusement in the bowling alleys, the dancing pavilion, upon the roller coaster, the gasolene launch and row boats, and many other attractions. Dinner was served at 11.45 in the unique restaurant, in the shape of a St. George cross, the blessing was asked by Past Grand Commander Belcher of Randolph. The service was as near perfect as could be expected, the variety of food abundant and well cooked and the only disturbance during the repast was an accident of the lake.

Three boys were out sailing in a row boat when a squall turned their craft over. The accident was witnessed by many people on shore and in a short space of time the boys were rescued from their dangerous predicament.

One of the boys was nearly drowned, having gone done two or three times. Luckily they were not with the Odd Fellows' excursion to mar the day's outing.

After dinner the excursionists again separated to enjoy the attractions and about three o'clock nearly all assembled at the open air theatre to see "Simple Simon and the Teddy Bears," an extravaganza in two acts. The program was very much enjoyed, being filled with catchy music and was entirely free from vulgarity. The theatre, which was well patronized, has a seating capacity of 2,854 people.

Soon after five o'clock the special electrics were taken to Methuen and there the special train was in waiting. The excursionists arrived in Boston at 6.48, just in time for nearly all to arrive home about eight o'clock.

Too much credit cannot be given the committee of arrangements, especially Fred M. Buzzell of South Braintree ,for looking after the interests of all.

TODAY'S COURT.

You can't Beat Ralston's for Summer Wear.

As you well know, it's during the Summer that your shoes are put to the hardest test. In order for them to give you all-Summer-long satisfaction they must be "dressy" enough to wear anywhere and yet they must be perfectly comfortable.

In short you want your feet to look "dressed up" without their feeling so. That's why we recommend Ralston shoes. Come in and let us show you wherein they're different from any other shoes made.

SUNDAY LAWS

Mayor Requested To Ascertain If Places Are Open Illegally

There was a lively discussion at the adjourned meeting of the City Council Thursday evening over the granting of a license to collect junk to Sim Silverman. This same man's license had been revoked at a previous meeting because it was said his name was Sam and not Sim.

He has paid taxes in Quincy under the name of Sim and has been granted a license for the past seven years under the name of Sim, although he was naturalized under the name of Sam. Personally he says Sam and Sim are one and the same. The discussion was quite a lengthy one, but in the end he was granted a license.

Councilmen Moir, Oakes and McGilvray were absent.

NO FUNDS.

A communication was received from the Mayor returning to the Council the petition for a concrete sidewalk on Warren avenue which was referred to the Executive Department, July 6, for the season that the Executive had no funds for this work. The petition was then referred to the Committee on Streets.

A communication was received from the Mayor returning to the Council the order for a fire alarm box on Farnum street that was referred to the Executive Department June 15, for the reason that the Executive had no funds for that purpose. The order was then referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

A communication was received from the Mayor appointing John J. Connor a constable and a weigher of coal. Confirmed.

INCORPORATION.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the secretary of the Commonwealth relative to the approval of the Council of the application of the Houghs Neck Associates for incorporation.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Teasdale offered an order approving the application for the certificate, which was adopted.

PETITIONS.

Petitions were received from the Electric Light Co., for a location for poles on Beacon and Main streets and Hollis avenue. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Councilman Whiton presented a petition signed by a number of persons requesting that Sim Silverman he granted a license to collect junk. Laid on the table.

SCHOOL LOT.

Under unfinished business the order appropriating $700 for grading the Atlantic school yard came up for action.

Voted to suspend rules that the order might pass.

Councilman Cherrington moved to amend by making the amount $800.

Councilman Cherrington and Commissioner Bainbridge explained that this amount would provide the inside curbing but not granolithic walks.

Amendment adopted and order passed, Councilman Hogan voting no.

LOAN ORDER.

The committee on Finance reported a substitute order for $1200. Of this amount $200 was for fire nets at the West Quincy and Wollaston fire stations, and $1000 for expert engineer services on grade crossings.

Rules suspended.

Councilman Broughton asked for a division of the question.

The $200 part of the order was passed unanimously.

The $1000 part was passed, Councilman Broughton alone voting no.

LICENSES.

The Committee on Licenses reported orders granting minor licenses which were adopted.

The same Committee reported ought not to pass on the order granting David J. Evans a permit to transport liquor. Accepted.

They also reported leave to withdraw on a number of petitions for licenses as common victuallers. Accepted.

Under motion and orders, the petition that Sim Silverman be granted a junk license was taken from the table and Councilman Whiton offered an order granting the license.

Councilman Bryant raised a point of order that the man had not signed an application, and the order was not in order.

City Solicitor McAnarney when asked if the Council could pass an order granting a man a license when there was no application, replied that he doubted if it could, but it would not be illegal if done. The proper procedure was upon an application.

President Hobbs ruled the order of Councilman Whiton not in order.

A motion of Councilman Whiton to reconsider the vote passed at the last meeting revoking Sim Silverman's license was ruled out of order.

SUNDAY LAWS.

Councilman Bryant offered a resolve requesting the Mayor to furnish the Council with the name and address of all persons whose places are open for business illegally on July 19 and 26 and what prosecutions if any are made.

Councilman Gelotte moved reference to the Committee on Licenses.

Councilman Bryant objected. The motion to refer was lost, and the order was adopted.

VACATION.

Councilman Falconer moved to suspend Rule 1.

Councilman Gilson objected. We are sent here to do the business of the city. The Finance Committee had July 14, thirteen matters that should be disposed of; but one or two had been reported. The Street Committee had 68 matters. It was not right to hold these matters up. There are in all 126 matters pending.

Councilman Bryant replied that all but four matters of the Finance Committee had been considered.

Councilman Ferguson said the delay in the Street Committee was due to the committee waiting for plans.

The motion to suspend Rule 1 was voted and it was voted when the Council adjourn it be until Sept. 14.

LICENSES AGAIN.

The Council referred back to petitions, when an application was received from Sim Silverman for a license to collect junk.

DOG NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that for a period of ninety days, on and after July 20th, 1908, no dog shall be allowed to run at large within the limits of the City of Quincy. Any dog running at large shall be taken by an officer and kept in pound at the City Stables (Sea street) for three days.

Owners may reclaim their dogs at the pound by paying expenses.

If a dog is not reclaimed within three days after capture the dog shall be killed.

Any unlicensed dog taken will be killed at once.

SAM OR SIM

Junk License Finally Granted To the Latter After Debate

Councilman Whiton then offered an order granting the license.

Councilman Bryant moved reference to Committee on Licenses.

Councilman Whiton opposed. This is to right a wrong. He is taxed as Sim Silverman, and he has had a license for seven years under the name of Sim. There is not a thing against him.

Councilman Cherrington asked if he could conduct business legally provided the Mayor did not approve the order revoking the license.

City Solicitor McAnarney said that was a question that would have to be tried out in the criminal court.

Councilman Bryant asked if the Council had a right to grant licenses to persons not citizens of Massachusetts or the United States.

Mr. McAnarney replied it was not necessary to be citizen of the state but of the United States.

Councilman Bryant—If he was naturalized as Sam is it legal to grant a license to Sim?

Mr. McAnarney—Because he was naturalized as Sam does not follow that is his name. He may have gone to the probate court and had it changed.

Councilman Bryant.—He has not been to the probate court. If he was assessed as Sim that is the Assessor's mistake. If he wants his name Sim let him go and have it changed.

Councilman Teasdale—The name Sam in English may be Sim in Hebrew.

Councilman Whiton—When the gentleman from Ward Fve was mayor he signed the license under the name of Sim.

Councilman Bryant—My administration was made up of mistakes which I am now trying to rectify. What I want is, to have things granted legally.

Councilman Gilson—All the gentleman from Ward Five has is a piece of paper with something written on it. That is not a certificate and as far as evidence does it has no weight.

Councilman Bryant replied that his learned friend did not know what he was talking about.

The motion to refer to the Committee on Licenses was lost.

INSPECTOR KILLED

Charles F. Atwood Of Houghs Neck One of Victims At Mystic Wharf

Charles F. Atwood of Houghs Neck and two other men were killed and three injured by an explosion of fireworks on Thursday, at the Mystic wharf, Boston. Atwood and Liba H. Nickerson of Lynn who were killed were customs examiners and Thomas were custom examiners and Thomas E. Mason, the third victim, a freight handler.

Atwood was formerly a resident of Roxbury but in recent years has spent his summers at Houghs Neck, and has resided in the winter at the Hancock House, Quincy and on Cranch hill. He was a brother of ex-Congressman Harrison H. Atwood aged 40 years, and has worked at the custom house sixteen years. He was a widower and leaves a son 12 years old.

Chief Clerk Reardon of the Hamburg-American line, at whose pier the accident occurred, accounts for the explosion as follows:

"Mason, who was a watchman on the pier, opened the door to the small shed just inside the big freight shed which is used by the customs inspectors for the examination of explosive and other bonded goods. With him were Customs Inspectors Nickerson and Atwood. The three men went inside to examine two cases of fireworks that were the only things in the shed. I saw them enter and started to go to the other end of the pier.

"I was not 20 feet away from the shed, in which there was but a small amount of freight, when two terrific explosions occurred. They were followed by a huge sheet of flame which filled the entrance to the freight shed.

"There were a number of employes around and they were all startled and stunned some by the force of the explosion.

"Immediately following the burst of flames, the workmen got out the line of hose in the shed. William Litson, a laborer, was the first to reach the house and turned on the water. He deserves great credit, for the water was none too soon.

"The explosion had blown off the side of the little shanty and set fire to two bales of cotton. In a minute longer there would have been a fierce fire going on in the big freight shed.

"As soon as it was possible to get into the shanty we found Nickerson and Mason dead on the floor. Atwood, with both legs nearly blown off and one arm hanging shattered, was still alive.

"He was carried out in an ambulance when it arrived. He died on his way to the hospital. The clothing of the three men was burned or blown almost completely off. Their faces were so burned as to make them unrecognizable, except to those who knew them well.

"It is only a miracle that I am not among the dead. I was about to follow the three men into the shanty when some one shouted to me at the other end of the house. I started in that direction just as the explosion came.

"The accident must have happened when Nickerson started to open the case of explosives. It was likely that his chisel or patent opener slipped in such a way that it struck one of the pieces of explosives, which set off the two cases."

Councilman Bryant moved the name be changed to Sam. Motion lost.

The order was then adopted.

PRIVATE WAYS.

Councilman Bryant asked the City Solicitor if the city did work on a private way it made the city liable.

Mr. McAnarney replied, the city can be liable only on streets which it has accepted.

Councilman Bryant then offered a resolve requesting the Mayor to ask the City Solicitor to render an opinion on the following matter:

"If the City of Quincy enters upon a private way and does any repairs on the said way, does it make a public way of the same and is the City of Quincy liable for any damage whether the said way has been duly accepted or not by their action?"

Can the City of Quincy light private ways and enter upon the same and not incur any liability therefor?"

Resolve adopted.

Mayor Shea—The City Solicitor can give that opinion now.

Councilman Bryant wanted it in writing.

MOTH APPROPRIATION.

The order appropriating $800 for a spraying machine and $2500 for suppression of gypsy moth took its second reading. The rules were suspended and the order passed, Councilman Broughton voting no.

Adjourned at 9.05 until Sept. 14.

Runover by Car Foot Amputated

Daniel Keniley, aged 16 years, of 22 Franklin street, was severely injured Thursday evening, by being run over by a car on the Quincy avenue line of electrics. Keniley is employed at the Fore River, and was coming from work on the car. He was riding on the running board on the inside. In some way he fell off, and the wheels passed over his left foot, badly crushing it.

The police ambulance was called and he was removed to the City Hospital. The surgeons there found the foot so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate half of it.

School for Syrians.

A Syrian school was started last Tuesday evening, by the people of the Point church. It is said that 300 Syrians have recently came into the Point section of our city. That they may be reached religiously, and taught the right way to live morally, they are being gathered into a school and several persons have volunteered as teachers. The Ledger wishes success to this new movement for the teaching of civic righteousness and morality.

ON THE THIRD BALLOT

Chafin Nominated For President by the Prohibitionists

AN ATTORNEY OF CHICAGO

His Strongest Competitor Named For Vice Presidency, but Declines, and Honor Goes to Watkins--Platform Notable For Its Brevity

Columbus, O., July 17.—For president, Eugene W. Chafin of Chicago; for vice president, Aaron S. Watkins of Ada, O.

This ticket was nominated by the Prohibitionists' national convention and both nominations were made unanimous. The full edorsement of the convention was not, however, given to Chafin until after three ballots had been taken.

On the first two ballots Chafin did not show a great amount of strength, receiving but 175 out of 1083 votes on the first and 276 out of 1087 on the second ballot. His nomination was assured, however, when the rollcall began for the third balot. His own state, which had voted largely for Daniel R. Sheen of Peoria, and the New York delegation, followed by those of Indiana and Wisconsin, came over to Chafin, and on the third ballot he received a total of 636 votes.

The strongest competitor of Chafin was Rev. William B. Palmore of St. Louis, who received 274 votes on the first ballot, and a comparatively small vote after it was evident that the nomination of Chafin could not be prevented.

It was then decided to make Palmore the vice presidential nominee and he was named by acclamation. He declined to accept the office, however, and persisted in his attitude, despite the strong urging of his friends.

The convention became involved in a deep parliamentary tangle. The rules were several times suspended and the suspensions immediately revoked. Finally it was decided that Aaron S. Watkins of Ada, O., should be named by acclamation. There was no opposition to him at the moment, and Chairman Scanlon was on the verge of declaring Watkins the nominee when several delegates broke in with a flood of motions, amendments and suspensions of the rules.

An extended debate finally resulted in the restoration of the rules and in a ballot for the vice presidency. Three men were named, Professor Watkins, T. B. Demaree of Kentucky and Charles S. Holler of Indiana. The ballot resulted in the nomination of Watkins by an overwhelming majority and he was immediately thereafter made the unanimous choice of the convention.

Both the presidential and vice presidential nominees are candidates for governor in their respective states on the Prohibition ticket.

Eugene W. Chafin is an attorney. He is a native of Waukesha county, Wis., and for several years practiced law there. He was at one time candidate for governor of Wisconsin on the Prohibition ticket and was this year placed in the running for the same position in Illinois by the Prohibitionists of that state.

The forenoon session of the convention was devoted to the discussion and adoption of a platform which is probably the shortest on record. It is as follows:

1—The submission by congress to the several states of an amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation or transportation of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes.

2—The immediate prohibition of the liquor traffic for beverage purposes in the District of Columbia, in the territories and all places over which the national government has jurisdiction, the repeal of the internal revenue tax on alcoholic liquors and the prohibition of the interstate traffic there.

3—The election of the United States senator by direct vote of the people.

4—Equitable graduated income and inheritance taxes.

5—The establishment of postal savings banks and the guaranty of deposits in banks.

6—The regulation of all corporations doing an interstate commerce business.

7—The creation of a permanent tariff commission.

8—The strict enforcement of law instead of the official tolerance and practical license of the social evil which prevails in many of our cities, with its unspeakable traffic in girls.

9—Uniform marriage and divorce laws.

10—An equitable and constitutional employers' liability act.

11—Court review of postoffice department decisions.

12—The prohibition of child labor in mines, workshops and factories.

13—Legislation basing suffrage only upon intelligence and ability to read and write the English language.

14—The preservation of the mineral and forest resources of the country and the improvement of the highways and waterways.

Belmont Takes a Back Seat

New York, July 17.—It is reported in financial circles that Thomas F. Ryan is in control of the Interborough Rapid Transit company and that August Belmont has been forced into the background. Many changes in officials will be made, it is said.

OBSTACLES SURMOUNTED

Hills and Lakes Do Not Delay Progress of Y. M. C. A. Athletes

Auburn, N. Y., July 17.—The message in the New York-Chicago relay race was five hours and ten minutes ahead of schedule time here. John Becevva, a Mexican boy, who carried the message over the Camillus hill, was lost track of, as he ran faster up the hill than the attending automobiles could climb.

Mayor Koenig turned the silver tube over to John Turner, who rushed it forward one mile to the first of the seventeen runners that relayed it to Cayuga lake, nine miles distant.

On the shore of the lake it was slid into a pouch on the shoulders of 17-year-old Frank Parker. Parker dived into thirty feet of water and immediately struck out for the middle of the lake, where Arthur Adams, a second swimmer, waited in a boat for the tube.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., July 17.—At 12:57 o'clock this morning Art Adams, bearing the message in the New York-Chicago relay race, emerged from Cayuga lake, which the racers had swum in hurrying the message along in order to save delay by a long land detour. The lake is a mile wide where crossed by the racers, and Adams and Parker made it in fifty-six minutes. A large crowd awaited their arrival. Parker and Adams stood the swim in the rough lake well. Many motor boats and rowboats followed the swimmers.

Richards Again In the Toils

Boston, July 17.—Charles Richards, alias "Lord Ashburton," was arrested by the Boston police again yesterday afternoon and in less than an hour Inspector Miley of New York took him and boarded a train for New York. Richards was arrested here several weeks ago and turned over to the Winthrop authorities, who charged him with forging a check. It is understood that his Winthrop case was settled out of court. He is wanted in New York on several counts of larceny in connection with forged checks.

New Theory In Drew Case

Troy, N. Y., July 17.—That Hazel Drew came to her death as a result of an automobile accident is one of the theories put forth as a possible solution of the Teal pond mystery. The macadam road between Troy and Averill park is popular with automobilists. A reckless chauffeur speeding along at night may have struck the girl with his car, causing her death. Rather than face the consequences, he may have taken the girl in the car up the lonely road toward Taberton and thrown her body into the millpond.

Present Gives Way to Past

Quebec, July 17.—Time turned back yesterday, and Quebec saw itself as it was centuries ago. Glimpses, too, were given of the splendors of the gay courts of France. A vast concourse of spectators beheld historic scenes which portrayed great events in the lives of the old world and the new. The occasion was the first dress rehearsal of pageants which are to be presented in the tercentenary celebration of the founding of Quebec.

Two More For America

London, July 17.—Thursday was America's day in the Olympic sports at the Stadium, both big events which reached the finals, throwing the discus (free style) and putting the shot, being carried off by Martin J. Sheridan of the Irish-American Athletic club and Ralph Rose of the Olympic club, San Francisco, respectively. The United Kingdom captured the third final, the 400-metre swimming event.

Mrs. Eddy's Birthday

Newton, Mass., July 17.—Mrs. Mary B. G. Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, is 87 years old, but the anniversary was not observed at her home because of the belief of the Christian Scientists that such days should be thought as little of as possible. Mrs. Eddy was born in Bow, N. H., July 16, 1821, the youngest child of Mark and Abigail B. Baker.

High In Masonic Ranks

Corunna, Mich., July 17.—Hugh McCurdy, former head of Knights Templar in the United States and one of the most prominent Masons in the country, died at his home in this city after a long illness. He was 79 years of age. McCurdy was one of the greatest authorities on Masonic jurisprudence in the country.

Gould Case Not Shelved

New York, July 17.—It is stated that the divorce suit brought against her husband by Mrs. Frank J. Gould has not been discontinued, but that the case is rapidly approaching the trial stage. Mrs. Gould is at present at her country place near Greenwich, Conn., with her two children.

Nine Killed by Explosion

Cleelum, Wash., July 17.—An explosion in the powder magazine of the Northwestern Improvement company killed nine persons and seriously injured a number of others. Manager Mead and clerks were assisting in unloading a carload of powder when the explosion occurred.

Cruiser and Battleship Collide

Quebec, July 17.—While the British cruiser Venus was coming into port last evening she collided with the British battleship Russell. Both vessels were slightly damaged.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, July 18.

Sun rises—4:23; sets—7:17.

Moon rises—10:44 p. m.

High water—2:30 a. m.; 3 p. m.

It will be fair and warmer in New England.

HEARST TO GOMPERS

Not Authorized to Speak For the Independence League

GIVES HIS PERSONAL VIEWS

Prefers Establishing New Party to Endorsing Democratic Platform--No Confidence In Ability, Sincerity or Integrity of the Democracy

New York, July 17.—A cablegram has been received from William R. Hearst in reply to a message transmitted to Hearst from President Gompers of the Federation of Labor, stating that, in view of the Democrats' stand for labor, it would be "an act of greatest patriotism for the Independence party to endorse the Democratic platform," and urging him not to run a third ticket, as it would elect Taft. Hearst's cablegram from Paris follows:

"Tell Mr. Gompers that I am not authorized to speak for the membership of the Independence League, but, according to my personal standards, a purer patriotism consists in laboring to establish a new party which will be consistently devoted to the interest of citizenship, and particularly to the advantage and advancement of the producing classes.

"I do not think the path of patriotism lies in supporting a discredited and decadent old party, which has neither conscientious conviction nor honest intention, or in endorsing chameleon candidates who change the color of their political opinion with every varying hue of opportunism.

"I do not think the best benefit of laboring men lies in supporting that old party because of a sop of false promise, when the performance of that party while in power did more to injure labor than all the injunctions ever issued before or since. I have lost faith in the empty professions of an unregenerate Democracy. I have lost confidence in the ability, in the sincerity, and even in the integrity of its leaders.

"I do not consider it patriotism to pretend to support that which, as a citizen, I distrust and detest, and I earnestly hope that the Independence party will give me an opportunity to vote for candidates that are both able and honest, and for a declaration of principles that is both sound and sincere."

Denials From Bryan

Lincoln, Neb., July 17.—William J. Bryan does not intend to be drawn into the Brownsville case if he can help it. He has carefully refrained from talking on that subject and now he has put the brand of untruthfulness on an alleged statement made by Bishop Walters of the African Methodist Episcopal church to the effect that he had assured a negro delegation that he regarded President Roosevelt's action in that case as unjust. At the same time, Bryan denied another alleged interview of Walters that he had discussed the appointment of negroes to office. Bryan says that he has not and will not take up any issue not contained in the platform.

Taft Frames His Speech

Hot Springs, Va., July 17.—William H. Taft is feeling very comfortable over the fact that the first draft of his speech of acceptance of the nomination for the presidency by the Republican party has been finished. But the paper is far from being completed. Taft adopted the course of dictating the speech with great fulness, including everything he might possibly care to have in it, with the view to cutting it down so that only essentials briefly stated might remain to be presented to the people on July 28. The dictation amounted to 10,000 words that will reduced to as near 3500 as possible.

To Profit by Bryan's "Mistake"

Nashville, July 17.—Thomas E. Watson, People's party candidate for president, in an interview here said: "Bryan made a mistake in dealing with the political situation in the south and I will take advantage of this fact. He has gone to the limit in assuming upon the political help of the south. The southern states are expected to give him almost two-thirds of the necessary majority of the electoral votes he expects to win. Yet he does not even concede to the south second place on the ticket."

Asking For Bryan Votes

Boston, July 17.—The executive committee of the Anti-Imperialist league has issued a statement recommending that the friends of the league withhold their votes from William H. Taft for president and support William J. Bryan.

Morphine Question Up to Japan

Pekin, July 17.—China has asked Japan to consent to the restriction of the importation into China of morphine, as well as the instruments used for the injection of the drug. All the other powers long since agreed to this restriction. If Japan does not consent China is helpless to restrict the importation.

A South American Quake

Tacna, Chile, July 17.—A terrific earthquake occurred in the provinces of Tacna and Arica, Chile, and the southern part of Peru and Bolivia. Considerable destruction of property, but no loss of life is reported.

ON A VISIT TO HAWAII

Battleship Fleet Welcomed With Noise and Daylight Fireworks

HAD A PLEASANT PASSAGE

No Stopping or Slowing Down and Crews All In Good Health--Nebraska, Which Was Left at San Francisco, Rejoins Her Sister Ships

Honolulu, July 17.—The Atlantic battleship fleet arrived at noon yesterday. By universal consent the day was made a complete holiday, all business being suspended, and thousands of people from different islands of the territory assembled on heights and points of vantage to view the approach of the armada.

Early in the morning the crowds began scrambling up the bluffs to catch the first sight of smoke above the southeastern horizon, and the first realization of the long-cherished hope came at 7:30 in the morning, when a message came from the leper settlement on the Island of Molokai that the fleet had been sighted there, steaming in line of squadron formation at a speed of ten knots. An overcast sky prevented the watchers near here from seeing far out to sea, but the patience of the lookouts was rewarded by the appearance of the Connecticut off the entrance to the channel at noon.

The flagship was followed by other vessels in regular order, and twenty minutes later all but the third division, composed of the Louisiana, Virginia, Ohio and Missouri, were in sight. After passing Molokai the third division proceeded to Lahina, on the Island of Maui, for coal.

At 12:50 p. m. the Connecticut entered the harbor and was saluted from the naval station, and at 1:28 p. m., followed by the other ships, she came to anchor inside the harbor, while the pent-up enthusiasm of the islanders found vent in whistling sirens and the bursting of daylight fireworks.

As soon as the Connecticut had come to anchor she was boarded by the reception committee, who formally welcomed Rear Admiral Sperry and his officers and men to partake of Hawaiian hospitality. Later in the afternoon Sperry and Governor Frear exchanged visits.

During the entire run to Honolulu the fleet experienced pleasant weather and smooth seas. For two hours or more daily, except on Sunday, the fleet had tactical evolutions, and at the same time routine drills were carried on. No noteworthy incidents occurred on the entire voyage. The fleet never had to stop or slow down, nor did any of the ships have to fall out of formation through accidents to steering gear.

The health of the crews has been very good and there have been no deaths nor serious accidents since leaving San Francisco. The Nebraska, which was left behind when the fleet sailed from the Golden Gate on account of scarlet fever cases among her crew, overtook the fleet at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday. The third division will come to Honolulu Sunday and rejoin the other members of the fleet.

Last night the city, dressed in bunting, was illuminated with thousands of electric lights and the streets were filled with a holiday-making crowd. Out in the harbor the men-of-war were outlined in incandescent bulbs.

Divided Opinion In New Zealand

Wellington, N. Z., July 17.—The approaching visit of the American fleet continues to be the subject of warm discussion in parliament. Most of the members, however, are strongly supporting the government in preparing a cordial welcome for the Americans. Pending a reply from the American admiral, arrangements concerning the principal dinners and special excursions are at a standstill.

French Stirring Up Strife

Berlin, July 17.—A dispatch from Casablanca, Morocco, declares that on July 8 a German letter carrier was arrested there by French soldiers in spite of the fact that he proved his identity. The soldiers went through his mail and ordered him not to approach the French picket on penalty of being shot. The German consulate has protested regarding this incident. The French at Casablanca also compelled natives under German protection to take part in the French national fete of July 15.

New York Invaded by Moths

New York, July 17.—Millions of tiny white-winged moths descended upon the Bronx late last night. In a brief period every electric light pole was covered with them. Swarms of the moths whirled about arc lamps on every roadway until it looked as though a great snowstorm was in progress. The insects plastered themselves to houses so thick that they could be scooped off by the handful. The air was white with them.

Zeppelin's Faith In Airship

Friedrichshafen, July 17.—Count Zeppelin is not discouraged over the mishaps to his new airship which recently have occurred, but he declines to be interviewed on the subject. No further ascent will be made before three weeks at least, as the envelope will have to be completely deflated and fresh gas must be brought here in cylinders before the balloon can make another voyage.

EXPRESS TRAIN DITCHED

Rotten Tie on Bridge Said to Have Caused Disaster

Greenwich, Conn., July 17.—One woman was killed, two may die from shock or injuries and nearly a dozen persons were seriously hurt when the White Mountain express of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad was wrecked 100 feet west of the station here. Spreading rails caused the ten-car train to leave the tracks while it was crossing a bridge over Steamboat road, and five of the passenger coaches, including four Pullmans, were hurled into a ditch, where they collapsed like paper boxes.

An immediate investigation as to the cause of the wreck is to be made. The coroner had the engineer and both conductors of the train placed under arrest, and he is having the work of removing the wreckage watched. This action was taken because of a report that reached the coroner that a rotten tie on the bridge caused the accident. There is evidence, it is alleged, that the tie was in such a worm-eaten condition that the spikes holding the rails were pulled out.

Exceptionally high speed is maintained by this train, as it makes but a few stops. The express is not scheduled to stop at Greenwich and it swept by the station going nearly a mile a minute.

Three Men Blown Up and Killed

Boston, July 17.—Ziba H. Nickerson, opener and packer in the customs service; Charles F. Atwood, customs inspector, and Thomas Mason, Boston and Maine railroad watchman, lost their lives in a terrific explosion among two cases of "detonation caps" at Mystic wharf. Two others were seriously burned and injured, and many others were shaken up and bruised How the accident occurred is a mystery. Only the three men killed were in the room when the explosion happened. It is believed, however, that the chisel used by Nickerson struck one of the explosive caps, causing it to ignite and explode. An official inquiry will be started today by Collector Lyman to ascertain all the facts.

State Wants Unclaimed Deposits

Boston, July 17.—Decision was rendered in the Suffolk probate court by Judge Grant that deposits having lain thirty years unclaimed in banks of the state shall revert to the state treasurer where the owners are not known, according to the new legislation passed in 1907. Recently Attorney General Malone demanded some $120,000 from the Provident Institution for Savings as a test case. The bank took the matter to the courts under protest. The case will probably be taken up to the supreme court.

Satisfactory Tests of Warship

Newport, R. I., July 17.—The new battleship Mississippi returned to this port after a successful inspection trip, the board of inspection being satisfied with the tests in every respect. Three rounds were fired by each gun in the battery, and both guns and mounts proved efficient. The engines were tried at varying speeds and on the four hours' forced draft test the vessel equalled her builder's trial speed, making a fraction over seventeen knots an hour.

Arrested as He Left Prison

Augusta, Me., July 17.—Extradition papers from Governor Guild of Massachusetts were granted by Governor Cobb of Maine in the case of Samuel F. Elliott, who was released from the state prison at Thomaston today, having served a sentence for larceny. Elliott is charged with larceny from a building at Worcester, Mass., and he was arrested at Thomaston today by a Worcester police official and taken to Worcester for trial.

Liquor Advertising Illegal

Portland, Me., July 17.—Chief Justice Emery of the Maine supreme court handed down a rescript which, in effect, affirms the constitutionality of the Maine statute prohibiting the advertising of intoxicating liquors in Maine publications. This case has been in the courts for six or seven years and has attracted considerable attention.

Fire Losses In Maine

Augusta, Me., July 17.—Figures given out by the state insurance commissioner show that the number of fires for the first six months of this year is 1244, against 1085 for the same period in 1907. The estimated value of the property affected is $7,191,540 while the estimated damage is placed at $2,046,192.

Fire Headed For Timber Land

Wells, Me., July 17.—After burning two small dwelling houses, a barn some other buildings and a large quantity of manufactured lumber, the forest fire last evening swept toward a large area of timberland in the direction of North Berwick. The total damage of the fire yesterday is estimated at $25,000.

Fatal Runaway Accident

South Berwick, Me., July 17.—George W. Hansel, aged 35, was instantly killed at Conway Junction when a team of horses which he was driving became frightened at a passing electric car and ran away. Hansel was thrown from his seat and fell under the horses' feet and was trampled to death.

Blamed For Fatal Explosion

Boston, July 17.—Pietro Ruma and Pasquale Amenta, who were blamed for an explosion which cost the loss of four lives in a West End tenement house, were held for the grand jury by Justice Duff. Bail was fixed at $2500. Both had been on trial for two days and a half.

Two Girls Probably Drowned

Belchertown, Mass., July 17.—An empty boat floating on the pond near Dwight station has aroused the people of the vicinity to the fear that the Winzola Goodell tragedy of two years ago has been repeated and that Edna Schilla and Flora Landry, both 14 years old, have been drowned. The empty boat was found after the girls had gone out on the pond and its occupants have not been seen since. It is the same pond in which Miss Goodell was drowned and the boat is the same in which she went on her fatal trip. Her body remained in the water three weeks.

Marietta Going to Honduras

Washington, July 17.—In view of the unsettled condition at Porto Cortez, Honduras, and the threatened revolutionary movement there, the navy department has directed the gunboat Marietta, now at Port Antonio, Jam., to proceed there without delay. Captain Maxwell is under instructions to investigate and report on the situation to the authorities here. There are about 175 men aboard the gunboat and it will require approximately two days to make the trip.

Murder May Affect Politics

Havana, July 17.—The killing of General Rafael Portuondo at Mayari has caused a profound sensation in political circles throughout the island and fears are freely expressed that similar crimes will accompany the progress of the political campaign. While the disposition is general to attribute the murder to political motives, there is some reason to believe that the assassin is mentally irresponsible.

Blacklist and Boycott Denounced

Milwaukee, July 17.—That the blacklist and boycott are alike and equally damnable was the sentiment expressed by Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court in an address before agents of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company. The justice said that the blacklist and the boycott, the use of which prevented men from getting employment, endangered the future and glory of the republic.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The residence, barns and dairy buildings of F. E. Lovejoy, a North Deering, Me., milk dealer, were burned. The loss is $22,000. The origin is uncertain.

The London Daily Express states that it is in possession of definite information that Great Britain will purchase the three Brazilian battleships now under construction in England.

The town of Baltic, O., containing 500 people, was practically wiped out by fire. Forty homes and business buildings were destroyed. The loss is $100,000.

Commissioner Oliver, at the close of the preliminary hearing of four alleged Mexican revolutionists at El Paso, Tex., bound them over to a federal grand jury.

EDITORIAL.

"What's the matter with Kansas?" may be answered by saying that she lacks 25,000 men to harvest her wheat crop. One reason of the lack men is that the Kansan farmers are too busy riding in automobiles to do such sweaty work as harvesting.

Twice this week the Daily Ledger has received the announcement of an out of town marriage from an anonymous source, which under newspaper rules could not be published. Wonder if people send letters to their friends without signatures as they often treat the newspapers. The Ledger must know from whom its news comes.

Many Quincy taxpayers do not take very kindly to the fact that another principal in a Quincy school will have his residence out of town. One now lives in Milton and some of the High school teachers live in Boston. Then again the School department is buying its coal out of town.

It is estimated that three hundred thousand Americans have crossed the Atlantic this year and spent on an average of $700 each or two hundred and ten millions of dollars. Foreign countries profit immensely from American tourists. In Switzerland, hotel keepers live off the travelers, largely Americans, the year round. In twenty years, the number of hotels in that country has increased from one thousand to over two thousand. But the largest number of Americans go to Europe to see the wonderful art treasures to be found in the galleries and museums of London, Paris, the Hague, Berlin, Dresden, Munich, Florence, Rome and other cities. If it were not for the high tariff on art which no one, not even the artists of this country, approve, the best specimens of European art would be in our own galleries, and millions of dollars would be annually retained in the United States.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

The temperature of today is a great improvement over Sunday.

The Citizens Gas Co. is laying its mains on Wilard street.

There was an extremely low tide last evening. It was very noticeable in Town river.

The Central fire station combination was called to Presidents bridge again this noon on a still alarm.

Great sport is assured those who witness the ball game of Saturday between the Elks and Knights of Columbus, at Merrymount park.

John G. Anderson made the best score in the qualification round at the Essex County Golf club on Thursday, 158, three better than H. H. Wilder.

The funeral of Mrs. John M. Townsend of Braintree on Thursday was conducted by Rev. Thomas Simms of the First Congregational church. The interment was at Eastham.

The New Pastor At West Quincy

Rev. Henry T. Grady, who has been appointed to succeed Rev. Ambrose F. Roche, as pastor of St. Mary's church at Quincy, has been senior curate at St. Rose church at Chelsea. He was born in Jamaica Plain, and was graduated in 1885 from Boston College, and in 1889 from the seminary at Baltimore. He has been attached to St. Rose church for several years, and a local paper says his work has endeared him to all who knew him.

Call Accepted.

Rev. R. J. Davis of Swansea, has accepted a call to become the pastor of the Calvary Baptist church on Franklin street, and will begin his labors Sept. 1.

Capt. Foster Closing the Gap

The leaders in the Motor Boat contest are more closely bunched today than yesterday as friends of Capt. Foster have given him another boost, and he is now only 500 below Capt. Pray and 440 below Capt. Field.

Several others down the line make good gains, and interest in the contest seems to increase every day. A week from today, however, the last coupon will be printed.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

The Paige Party Leave for Japan

A large crowd of Fore River officials were at the South station Thursday to see James F. Paige, Manuel Perry, Jr., and S. Yuchiania start for Japan on the 1.45 train. Others in the party were Mrs. Paige and their 3 year old daughter, Emeline, and Miss Barbara L. McKenzie, a cousin of Mr. Paige.

It will be 22 days before the party reach their destination. The section of the pullman car occupied by the party was banked with flowers and gifts and they were heartily cheered as the train pulled out of the depot.

Among those at the station were: C. S. Curtis, inventor of the Curtis turbine engine; C. B. Edwards, chief engineer of the Fore River company; Mr. Bruton, chief of engine construction of the company; J. C. Wilson, a scientific engineer of the company, who is to go to Japan about Dec. 1 to conduct the scientific end of the trials; Councilman William F. Carey of Quincy, Mr. Thompson of the company, Lieutenant Commander S. Yoshida of the imperial Japanese navy, naval constructor at Fore River as Japan's representative; Hon. Henry M. Whitney, Frederick Tudor of Brookline, Mrs. Marion McKenzie, mother of Miss McKenzie; Mrs. Jennie Freeman, Mrs. John Fields of Stoughton, Miss Bessie Booth, Miss Elizabeth Garfield Shepard, Mrs. William H. McEwen and Lieut. William H. McEwen, Jr., of Somerville, C. Frank Kelley, James McKenzie and Chief Engineer Purdy of the steamer South Shore

Reunion of the Spear Family

The Spear family, which is one of the oldest in Quincy, is holding a reunion today at the Quincy Yacht Club house at Houghs Neck. Years ago this family held its reunion annually, but of late years owing to the moving away of many descendants none have been held.

The last reunion was something like twenty years ago.

There are upwards of fifty of the family in attendance at today's reunion, and they are having a real old-fashioned time. The family began to gather early this morning, and the morning hours were passed in the informal discussion of family affairs.

At 1 o'clock they sat down to a shore dinner, which was served at the clubho- -. So successful was today's reunion that it is possible that yearly gatherings will be held in the future.

—Rev. Paul F. Phalen was ordained at Hingham on Thursday as a Unitarian minister, and was installed as pastor of the New North church.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT

Sub Committee To Confer With Architects As To Plan and Site

The monument committee composed of citizens and members of Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R., met Thursday evening to outline plans for the proposed soldiers' monument to be erected in Quincy that will be in keeping with the city of Presidents and of granite.

Commander Williams presided, and the subject of a monument was discussed in an informal way. It was decided that it would be best to consult architects as to the design of the memorial as well as to the site, the idea being that the monument should be appropriate to the site selected.

After some discussion this was referred to a sub committee composed of Commander John D. Williams, Col. Charles H. Porter, ex-Councilman Walter E. Piper and Senior Vice Commander George L. Phillips.

Assistant Librarian Says Mr. Adams

The Board of Trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library had little or nothing to do with the hanging of the portrait of Miss Amelia L. Bumpus in the Crane Memorial hall, and were not responsible for the inscription. They have further no comments to make as to the position which Miss Bumpus filled. The following letter has been received from Charles Francis Adams, a resident of Lincoln for several years:

Editors of Daily Ledger:

I this morning received copies of the Ledger and Patriot, containing the article relating to the inscription on the portrait of Miss Bumpus.

The facts in the case are simply as follows: When Miss Brooks resigned, as librarian, in 1876, it was decided not to elect a successor. Miss White was then added to the library force. Miss White took charge of the cataloguing. Miss Bumpus took charge of the book delivery.

The librarian proper has authority over all departments. I was then Chairman of the Board of Trustees. I then took the ground that, as such, I would be practically librarian, in so far as to have both the Assistant Librarian, Miss Bumpus, and the cataloguer, Miss White, report to me for instructions. While I was Chairman of the Board of Trustees, therefore, i. e. until the beginning of 1894, Miss Bumpus was Assistant Librarian, having charge of the book delivery, and Miss White was cataloguer having charge of the whole department of cataloguing. There was no fully appointed Librarian.

I presume this organization was continued until the resignation of Miss Bumpus. In any event, I can say with authority it was the organization which was maintained during the entire twenty years that I was Chairman of the Board of Trustees, i. e. from 1873 to 1893.

Unless, therefore, some change was made in the organization subsequent to my ceasing to be a trustee, the inscription on the portrait of Miss Bumpus, as it now stands, is correct, and calls for no change.

I remain, etc,
Charles F. Adams.

Many Entertained At Fresh Air Camp

Several parties of people have been in attendance this week at the Fresh Air Camp for Quincy and Weymouth at North Weymouth.

Tuesday was Y. M. C. A. day at the camp, and Secretary Gay brought down a gathering of orderly young men, who thoroughly enjoyed the outing. Some of them hope to spend next week July 20-25, at the camp.

A number of family parties have been at the camp and shore this week; the children have enjoyed the outing and the mothers have benefited by it.

Wednesday was "Morse Day" at the camp, and it was filled with recreation. In the early morning a party of people arrived from East Weymouth; after swimming and boating and base ball, athletic sports were indulged in. The 100 yd. dash was won by Rev. Mr. Fillback of Quincy with Herbert Johnson second. The half-mile run was won by Kenneth Holbrook of Weymouth with Ralph Talbot second. At six o'clock there was a clam-bake with melons etc., furnished by James Melville of Quincy. In the evening the Finnish Church band of 15 pieces, with Mr. Westerinen as leader, furnished music and a crowd gathered, was adressed by the Rev. Mr. Fillback.

The following are among the visitors this week at the camp; some for the day, others have been encamped there for the week: John Wood, Ralph Talbot, Percy Wood, John Talbot, John Fitton, Mrs. Henry Loud, Julian Ria, Walter McLean, Wilfred Corbert, Ernest Hunt, Arthur Bates, Irvin Hunt, Robert Martin, Arthur Newcomb, Lester Tisdale, Bryant Sprague, Stanley Sprague, Edgar Taylor, Albion Fallow, Ivan Burton, Lee Brooks, William Hebb, Woldemar Crosscup, Lincoln Crosscup, Howard Cantley, Francis Foy, Edward Foy, George F. Jennings, Fred Sanborn, Howard Bishop, Winthrop Sherman, Fred Barnicoat, Harold Neil, E. G. Gay, Mr. McLocklin and family, Mrs. French, Joseph Lincoln, Louie French, Sherman Hayden, Charles French, Herbert Johnson, William French, Harold Hayden, Chester French, James Waddell, G. W. Gragg, Irving Hayden, Samuel Melville and Alfred Hayden.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Houghs Neck Personal Items

Houghs Neck was shocked to hear of the untimely death of Charles F. Atwood of 49 Parkhurst street, which happened at the Mystic docks Thursday. Mr. Atwood was one of the most highly respected summer residents. He was an active member of the Houghs Neck Associates, and he will be sorely missed by them. He owned a beautiful home on Parkhurst street. He lost his wife about a year ago and leaves a little boy about eleven years of age. The Houghs Neck Associates have appointed a committee to get flowers in slight remembrance of his many efforts in their behalf. Mr. Atwood had a winter home in Dorchester but lived at Houghs Neck most of the time.,

Full details of the incorporation of the Houghs Neck Associates will be printed soon.

A party of 25 children from the Home of Destitute Children on Harrison avenue, Boston, were entertained by the members of the Strollers club and the Waldorf Astorias on Thursday. The party arrived early, and had luncheon, spending the remainder of the day at games, bathing and singing.

The children were in charge of Miss Isabella McNeil of Everett, Miss Alice Browne and Miss Mary Lally of Boston. The party returned to Boston in autos furnished by several business men of Boston. The different clubs at the beach have agreed among themselves to invite children from the various homes around Boston for a day's outing. It is their intentions to try and make orphan children happy by giving them an outing. Let the good work continue.

Three Straight Houghs Neck League

The Yannigans defeated the Bay Views three straight string at Brown's bowling alleys on Thursday evening. They had a very easy time of it winning each string with a good margin. Gregg of the Bay Views bowled the highest string, getting 105, and Scott of the Yannigans bowled second highest, getting a clean hundred.

You can't Beat Ralston's for Summer Wear.

As you well know, it's during the Summer that your shoes are put to the hardest test. In order for them to give you all-Summer-long satisfaction they must be "dressy" enough to wear anywhere, and yet they must be perfectly comfortable.

In short you want your feet to look "dressed up" without their feeling so. That's why we recommend Ralston shoes. Come in and let us show you wherein they're different from any other shoes made.

HOUSE RANSACKED

Burglars Pay Another Visit To S. A. Miller Of Bigelow Street

Burglars paid another visit to Bigelow street last night, and for the second time the residence of Sylvester A. Miller at 63 Bigelow street was entered. The family are at New Castle, N. H., for the summer and no one is in the house.

The break was not discovered until this morning, although a man was seen to try the doors of both the Miller house and the house of Hazen E. Ricker nearby early in the evening.

Entrance to the Miller house was had by forcing a back porch window that opens into the kitchen. The house was thoroughly ransacked and the contents of bureau drawers strewn about. Just what was taken can not be learned until the family are communicated with.

According to the story told the police, Mrs. W. W. Osborne, living next door, noticed early in the evening that the draperies in the windows were drawn apart. This morning she noticed that they were drawn together and went to investigate. She then found the window and door open.

Mrs. Osborne then recalled that she had seen a man try the doors of the Miller and Ricker houses at 8.10 last night. Mr. Osborne shouted to the man that there was no one at home. Making some remark the man went away.

It is also reported that the family of Paul R. Blackmur saw a light in the Miller and Ricker houses at midnight.

Chief Burrell who made an investigation this morning, could not find where the Ricker house had been entered. The windows and doors on the street floor had apparently not been opened.

The Ricker family are at Post Island, and they were communicated with, and immediately went to the house to investigate, accompanied by Chief Burrell and Inspector Goodhue.

A thorough examination of the Ricker house showed that it had not been entered. It is thought that the light reported to have been seen there was a reflection of a flash light being used at the Miller house.

Descendants of Late Seth Spear

The reunion of the descendants of Seth Spear yesterday at Houghs Neck proved to be a most enjoyable occasion. About fifty were present coming from Quincy, Weston, Scituate and from the state of Maine. Among the older generation present were Mrs. William Parker, Mrs. Caroline A. Spear, Mrs. Joseph Berry and Mrs. Emily Blake.

After dinner an organization was perfected and these officers elected.

President, Warren W. Adams.

Vice Presiednts, Horace F. Spear and Miss Annie Newcomb.

Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Alice D. Sanborn.

It was voted to hold a reunion every year hereafter.

Library Notes New Exhibit

Visitors to Crane Memorial Hall for the coming week may wander up into the Art gallery and enjoy a collection of sixty-six photographs of Babies in art. These embrace the old world masters' work in this line and are an education in themselves. To simply enumerate would give no idea. One must see for one's self.

Some more details of the interior constructions have been completed the past week, but steam fitters and electricians are still at work, and outside plans are being made for change of grade for getting in the coal.

An electric light has been added either side of the entrance to the Children's room, and a radiator placed in the Trustee's room.

Foresters' Picnic.

The annual picnic of St. Gregory's Court, No. 24, M. C. O. F., will be held next Saturday at Swedish-American grove on Granite avenue, East Milton. The following list of sports will take place—tug-of-war between single and married members, 100 yard dash for boys under fifteen years of age, potato race for girls, shoe race for boys under twelve, obstacle race for boys under fifteen, shoe race for girls of any age, and a three-legged race, open to any who may wish to compete. There will be suitable prizes for the winners of the above events. There will also be dancing from one till nine o'clock.

FITZGERALD PROBE

Boston Finance Commission Has Serious Split Over It

A CHARGE OF MALFEASANCE

One Investigator Says That It Had Been Preferred, but the Former Mayor Issues a Statement Denouncing It as False and Malicious

Boston, July 18.—Smiling and defiant, ex-Mayor Fitzgerald sailed for Europe on the Cymric today, leaving the finance commission without a case against him, and with its sessions illuminated by a bitter personal fight.

How the commission has split on the Fitzgerald probe, how the ex-mayor has laughed in his sleeve at the attempt to pillory him, and how the whole affair has reached the fighting stage between Finance Commissioners Kennedy and Sullivan, is one chapter in the Fitzgerald probe. The things that Counsel Sughrue and Sullivan intended to show, without letting Messrs. Kennedy, Crocker and Matthews into their plans, is another chapter.

Referring to the fact that twice within the last few days Fitzgerald has been before representatives of the finance commission, which was provided for by the state legislature to investigate Boston's municipal affairs, one of the commissioners said:

"We treated ex-Mayor Fitzgerald not with hostility, but with deference. Information had reached the commission reflecting upon Fitzgerald in his official occupancy of the office of mayor. There were two courses to be pursued, whether it would be proper in the case of an official, against whom malfeasance had been alleged, to hold a hearing before the entire commission, or to have the information lodged with this board looked up privately.

"Accordingly, the commission decided, after opinions had been interchanged, that it would be far better to have Fitzgerald questioned by Sughrue, a lawyer of twenty years' experience in the sifting of evidence, rather than to have him brought before the full commission for investigation. We reasoned that, by pursuing the latter course, it would be much more agreeable to Fitzgerald and facts could be gotten at just as readily and without the discomfiture that a hearing before a full commission would entail."

All efforts to secure details of the finance commission's attitude toward Fitzgerald were unsuccessful. Fitzgerald sailed for Europe today, accompanied by his wife and two daughters, for an absence of fixe or six weeks abroad.

Mr. Fitzgerald last night issued a statement concerning his recent appearance before the finance commission and the reports of the meetings which had appeared in the evening papers. He said in part: "I am much surprised at the stories in the evening papers that charges of malfeasance in office had been made against me. I called up Secretary Hull of the finance commission to ascertain if there was any truth in the statements. I told him that if there was I would cancel my trip to Europe and demand a public hearing.

"Mr. Hull assured me that no charges of any nature had been filed with the commission against me. Assistant Counsel Farley said the same. Mr. Crocker and Mr. Kennedy, members of the commission, denied the story. Mr. Ernst and Mr. Morris stated they were not responsible for the story. Mr. Crocker declared he believed the story was pure invention and made up out of whole cloth.

"I am sorry that any citizen of Boston can have as little respect for the position of chief executive of the city as to be willing to invent false and malicious statements without foundation against one who has held this honorable position. The accounts of my brothers and myself have been open to the investigation of the finance commission for the past six months and nothing has been found against me."

Turkish Uprising Feared

Constantinople, July 18.—The "Young Turkey" propaganda in the Turkish army in favor of autonomy to Macedonia appears to be widespread, and some forebodings are expressed in official circles of a general revolt of the officers of the Second and Third army corps, at present stationed in the Monastir district. There have already been some mutinies in individual battalions.

Cannot Make Big Mortgages

New York, July 18.—Acting on a report made by Commissioner McCarroll to the public service commission, disapproving applications of the Brooklyn Union Elevated railroad for a mortgage of $20,000,000 and the Nassau Electric Railroad company for $5,000,000, the commission refused to give the companies permission to make the big mortgages.

New Record by Green Pacer

Terre Haute, Ind., July 18.—Minor Heir, a green pacer, driven by Dear, set a new world's record when he reeled off the first two heats of the 2:25 pace in 2:01½ and 2:01, the fastest two heats ever paced in a race. The Eel won the third heat in 2:05½, the fourth heat in 2:08, and Minor Heir took the fifth in 2:07.

Woman's World

LADY GERARD LOWTHER.

A Former American to Adorn Berlin as British "Ambassadress."

The appointment of Sir Gerard Lowther as British ambassador at Berlin means another social triumph for an American woman.

Sir Gerard is an Englishman who owes his success largely to the helpful companionship and loving counsel of an American wife, and it can be truly added to her personal beauty and unaffected charm as a hostess.

Lady Lowther was Alice Blight, daughter of Atherton Blight of Philadelphia and granddaughter of Richard Greenough, the famous sculptor. She met Sir Gerard at Newport, where, with her equally beautiful sisters, she passed the summers. He was then first secretary of the British embassy at Washington, of which Lord Pauncefote was then the head. They were married during the season of 1905, and have one child, a daughter.

A lovely blond, the few years since her marriage have ripened and enhanced Lady Lowther's beauty, but her personal charm and amiability make her even more radiant.

Having served as a diplomat at Madrid, Paris, Constantinople, Sofia, Bucharest, Tokyo, Budapest, Washington and Valparaiso, Sir Gerard has been minister to Morocco since 1904, and anybody who knows aught of European politics knows how trying the post has been. Through it all Lady Lowther has been her husband's helpmeet, although prolonged residence at Tangier is as trying to a foreign woman's temper as her beauty.

Sir Gerard was one of Britain's envoys at the Algeciras conference, and there his wife delighted the most distinguished statesmen of the world by her charm as a hostess.

Great as will be the transition from Tangier to Berlin, it is safe to predict that Lady Lowther will find only a better setting for her shining virtues in the German capital.

Take Time to Be Dainty.

"Put ribbons through my corset covers? Why, it takes too long. I can't spare that much time in the morning."

This was the answer of a girl who was envying the dainty appearance of another girl, whose blue silk ribbons in her corset cover were glimpsed through her sheer shirt waists.

The girl who complained she hadn't time to be dainty probably devoted hours to trifles that came to naught. She possibly gossiped for fifteen minutes here and there all through the day in a manner that was not of advantage to herself or her listener.

She probably always found time for loitering or reading some foolish book.

When a girl begins to think that the cost of daintiness is too high she is beginning to lost her first point of attractiveness.

It is her right to be sweetly dressed, and she could so organize her life into the proper channel that she could find a quarter of an hour to give herself the chance to have nice things.

This ribbon in a corset cover is only one of many little instances to show that a girl is living up to all the womanliness in her. She must take time to be dainty.

Care of Musical Instruments.

Neither piano nor organ should be left open at night or habitually when not in use.

The changes of temperature are very hurtful to the tone of any instrument, and especially the gathering of dampness, which not only interferes with the tonal quality of the reeds and strings, but is very likely to seriously affect the works.

Pianos in particular should be kept in as even a temperature as possible, since they are much affected by alternations of heat and cold, dryness and moisture. If thus exposed they require very frequent tuning, and are not satisfactory in action or tone.

Care is also equally desirable in regard to other stringed instruments, the violin family, banjos, guitars and the like. All fine instruments should be habitually kept in cases lined with baize or flannel.

If a small linen bag filled with camphor is hung on a small nail on the inside of the piano case it will prevent moths from getting into the felt.

A Utopia For Housewives.

In Denmark few housewives have trouble with their servants. A system has been perfected which guarantees a housewife honest and good servants as well as independence and fair treatment to those employed.

When a young woman obtains employment she goes to a police station and gets a book which testifies to her good character and in which is entered the name of the woman into whose service she enters. Without this book of character a servant cannot secure employment. This book she gives to her new mistress. In return she gets a key of the front door of the house.

The servant enjoys absolute independence. Should she desire to leave the service, she is required to give her mistress two weeks' notice. When she leaves she receives her book and reports off at the police station.

Should several weeks or months elapse before she again secures employment she is required at the police station to give an account of herself and tell where she has been.

To Clean Cretonne.

The craze for cretonne has now got to such a stage that the fortunate owners of this pretty and serviceable fabric are looking about them for a means of cleaning it. It should, first of all, be thoroughly shaken in the open air and then washed in bran water without rubbing. Rinse in a second bowl of bran water, to which salt and vinegar have been added in the proportion of one tablespoonful of each to a quart of water, in order to prevent the colors from running.

Wring tightly and roll up with a fold of clean towel between each roll. Using a heavy hot iron, iron the cretonne on the wrong side until it is quite dry. As the bran water itself stiffens there is no necessity for starching.

Pat and Judge Longworth.

The Irish are proverbially witty, and very few, if any, ever come out ahead of these sons of Erin, as the following incident will prove: Judge Longworth of Cincinnati—the father of Nicholas Longworth—was very fond of talking with "sons of toil." When driving through the park one day in his dogcart Judge Longworth stopped a plodding laborer and asked him if he wanted a lift. The Irishman accepted, and once in the cart the judge said:

"Well, Pat, you'd be a long time in Ireland before you would be driving with a judge."

"Yes, sir," replied the judge's guest. "And you'd be many a day in Ireland before they'd make you a judge."

To Freshen Black Clothes.

A woman who has worn black for years says she keeps her clothes fresh with a mixture made as follows:

Buy 5 cents' worth of borax and 10 cents' worth of camphor gum. Put them into a large bowl, breaking the camphor gum into small pieces. Pour over this a quart of boiling water, stirring to dissolve the borax. All the camphor will not dissolve. When cool, put it into a bottle and cork tightly. When ready to use it pour a little into a basin, diluting it with half the quantity of cold water. Wet a stocking with this and sponge your black goods, pressing afterward. This will remove all spots and grease and restore the black.

Black Slugs For Society's Soup.

Black slugs are the latest delicacy. Ugh! Beche de mer soup is made of a black slug found on the coral reefs of north Queensland, Australia, and it is announced that England will have it on its choicest bills of fare. This, of course, means that it will come to this country before many moons. The slug is smoke dried and there is comfort in knowing its chief market is China. It is valued at $1,000 a ton there, and one enthusiast says it is cooked so deliciously that the memory of such a choice morsel drove him to ordering its pale reflection in England—and then to drink.

Good Hints.

For cleaning jewelry there is nothing better than ammonia and water. If dull and dirty rub a little soap on a soft brush and brush the piece in this wash. Rinse in clear water and polish with chamois skin. The secret of standing and walking erect consist in keeping the chin away from the breast. This throws the head upward and backward, and the shoulders will naturally settle backward in their true position.

Cleaning Hat Plumes.

Plumes are very hard to clean by an amateur. The best way to clean them is to hold them over the fumes of sulphur, which will both clean and curl them. This work must be done out of doors. Put the feathers on a rack, a saucer of burning sulphur underneath and a box over all.

Largest Flower In the World.

In Sumatra may be seen the wonderful raffesia, which is the largest known flower in the world. It has five round red petals, each measuring a foot across, and these support a cup about a foot wide. Truly a gigantic buttonhole!

Trained For Company.

The teacher asked: "Elsie, when do you say 'Thank you?'" Elsie's face lighted up for that was one thing she knew, and she answered confidently, "When we have company."

Thoughts.

Men grow old more quickly from having nothing to do than from overwork. A running machine will keep bright for years. An idle one will soon rust out.

When boiling a pudding in a cloth, a plate should be placed at the bottom of the saucepan, so as to prevent the pudding from sticking to the pan.

ATHLETES' PROTESTS

They Are Disallowed by British Olympic Officials

UNFAIRNESS IN TUG-OF-WAR

Americans Wore Ordinary Shoes In Compliance With Rules, While the Britons Were Shod With Enormous Steel-Rimmed Footgear

London, July 18.—A serious controversy has arisen between the American athletes and the British Olympic association. The American dressing rooms at the stadium have been turned into a camp of discontent, and there are other competitors, including the Canadians and Frenchmen, who are none too satisfied with the way in which the events of the fifth Olympiad are being carried out.

America's chief cause of complaint is the arbitrary manner in which their protest against "the flagrantly unfair method of conducting the tug-of-war" was dismissed. Every unprejudiced spectator at yesterday's meeting was convinced that the Americans were justified in refusing to go on with that event.

The United Kingdom had three teams entered in the tug-of-war, made up of police of the city of London, Liverpool and the metropolitan forces. The drawings brought the American and Liverpool teams into the arena first. When the stalwart Americans made their appearance they received great applause from all sections of the stand. The compliment was well deserved, as they certainly looked a fine body of men, ready for any kind of contest. They all wore ordinary street shoes, complying with the rule, which says:

"No competitor shall wear prepared boots or shoes, or boots or shoes with any projections of any kind. No competitor shall make any hole in the ground with his feet or in any other way before the start."

The Americans, in wearing ordinary shoes, naturally believed that the team representing the United Kingdom would do the same, particularly as the rule under which the contest was being conducted was made by the British association. Their disappointment, therefore, was all the greater when, upon the Liverpool police appearing, it was noticed that they were wearing enormous shoes, so heavy in fact that it was with great effort they could lift their feet from the ground.

The shoes, or boots, were enormous calf affairs that could not by any stretch of the imagination be called ordinary shoes. Heavy boots are worn in the British navy, but these were greatly exceeded in weight by the footgear of the Liverpool athletes, which, in addition, had steel rims around the heels.

Matthew P. Helpin, manager of the American team, when he saw the shoes, immediately entered a protest to the games' officials, but he was told that the shoes were those ordinarily worn by Liverpool policemen. At first Halpin intended to take the team off the field without attempting to pull, but he finally decided to go on with the first pull in order to show how unfairly the Americans were being treated.

The decision was a wise one, for the spectators in the stands nearby could see that, as soon as the United Kingdom team put their weight down, the heels of their shoes cut through the turf and gave them a hold that was almost impossible to break. The Americans made no effort. Rose, the anchor man, not even winding the rope around his body, and were promptly pulled across the line.

Manager Halpin then announced that the American team would not continue unless the rule was adhered to, and, his protest being ignored, the men marched off the grounds, an official proclaiming through a megaphone that the Americans "retired because they had had enough of it."

The facts in the case were reported to the American commission, and James E. Sullivan, the American commissioner, preferred a formal protest to the British Olympic association, who turned it over to the officials of the Amateur Athletic association. As these officials already had decided in favor of their own team, the protest, of course, was not allowed.

The members of the American committee, the American athletes and everybody connected with the team are thoroughly disgusted and almost disheartened, but they are going to fight it out to the end. They still hope that they will win the greatest number of points in the track and field events, despite the adverse decisions with respect to the tug-of-war, the pole vaulting and the method of drawings.

The French and Canadian objections have reference to matters of smaller importance, and while the athletes and representatives of these countries complain, they decline to discuss the affair for the present. They may perhaps have something to say after the conclusion of the sports.

The incident of the tug-of-war somewhat marred the pleasure of yesterday's sports, particularly for the Americans, who have been among the most consistent supporters of the games, both men and women braving even the worst weather to witness the more interesting of the events. When the archery contests commenced yesterday morning there was scarcely a person in the stands.

ELOPING PRINCESS MARRIES

Appeals of Amelie Louise's Mother and Brother Unheeded

Vienna, July 18.—According to the Czech newspaper, Narodny Listy, Princess Amelie Louise of Furstenberg and Gustav Kozian, an employe of an automobile firm, with whom she eloped last May, were married last Tuesday in the castle chapel at Kammerberg.

Extraordinary scenes accompanied the ceremony, preparations for which were kept secret. Kozian arrived an hour before the ceremony, being admitted by the back gate to the castle, and donned the uniform of a lieutenant of dragoons before entering the chapel. The bride's mother attempted, with tears and reproaches, to persuade the princess to give up her lover, and Prince Emil of Furstenberg, her brother, urgently seconded his mother's appeal.

After entering the chapel the mother made a final appeal, and Princess Amelie, overcome by her emotions, fell fainting to the floor. When she recovered, however, she insisted upon going through the ceremony, but was so weak that she had to be supported. Directly afterwards the princess embraced her husband in the presence of the crowd that had gathered in front of the castle. The pair left for Prague.

Better Time Than Anticipated

New York, July 18.—A. A. Jameson, who was in charge of the New York-Chicago race over the first division, which was from this city to Buffalo, gave the official figures of the race to the end of his jurisdiction. He said that the silver tube containing Mayor McClellan's message to Mayor Busse was carried to Buffalo in 53 hours and 22 minutes, or 9 hours and 5 minutes ahead of schedule time. It had been estimated that the runners would average about eight miles an hour, but the race has been a trifle better than nine miles an hour. It took 666 runners to carry the message from the city hall here to Buffalo Y. M. C. A. headquarters.

Mystery May Never Be Solved

Troy, N. Y., July 18.—The impenetrable veil of mystery behind which lies hidden the secret of the slayer of Hazel Drew may never be lifted. So baffling is the mystery that after almost a week of careful inquiry along the paths which might lead to its solution, the investigation has come almost to a standstill. Murder, accident and suicide theories abound, but facts are few. Even the reward of $1000 offered as an incentive to further activities in the case has not served to bring out anything of a helpful character.

Protest of Union Men

New Haven, July 18.—At a conference held here of representatives of employes of the different trolley lines controlled by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, it was voted to support by all means in their power the fifty-four employes of the Providence company who have been discharged by that system on the ground, it is alleged, that they had joined the union.

Tourists Made Good Day's Run

Boston, July 18.—Led by Charles J. Glidden, the originator of the Glidden tours, the cars competing for the trophies in the 1908 tour of the American Automobile association filed into Boston last night, ending the longest day's run, 194 miles, of the tour. The cars took ten hours from Albany, the day's starting point, and found the Bay State roads in excellent shape.

Determined to Stop Gambling

New York, July 18.—In declaring that race tracks, as now conducted, are simply disorderly resorts, Acting District Attorney Elder of Brooklyn made it clear that the campaign which he is waging to suppress betting on the races will be continued with vigor. Several arrests for violation of the anti-gambling laws were made at the Brighton Beach race track by fifty plain clothes men.

Rain Comes to the Rescue

Wells, Me., July 18.—A heavy rainfall promises to put an end to the fires which have destroyed hundreds of acres of timber growth, large and small, in this town, during the last two weeks. The fire which threatened the Wells beach cottage settlement and which entered the "big woods" is well under control. Until last night there had been no rainfall in Wells since June 24.

Belmont Not Eliminated

New York, July 18.—President Shonts of the Interboro-Metropolitan company denies that August Belmont has been eliminated from the traction situation by being superseded by the Ryan influence in the affairs of the Interborough Rapid Transit company.

Seven Men Break Jail

Toronto, July 18.—Seven prisoners escaped from the Toronto jail last evening and have not been captured. The men picked the lock of the door leading into a cell in which the scaffold used for executions is erected, and then broke through the wall.

Charged With Setting Fires

Providence, July 18.—Suspected of having set several fires in this city within the past two months, Jonathan C. Brown was arrested. The police claim that Brown admitted that he had set three fires and had committed larceny.

WESTERN GOLF TITLE

Conditions For Annual Championship Tournament.

TO START ON JULY 13.

Golf Clubs Throughout the Country Invited to Send Team of Four Players to Compete For Olympic Trophy. Special Events to Be Given.

The annual competition for the western championship, open to amateur golfers who are members of clubs, members of the Western Golf association and bona fide residents of the territory covered by the association, will be played on the links of the Rock Island Arsenal Golf club, Rock Island, Ill., Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 13 to 18. The competition will be played under the rules of the United States Golf association, except such special rules as may be announced by the tournament committee. The winner of the competition shall be the amateur champion of the Western Golf association for the year, and his club has the custody of the George R. Thorne trophy until the next annual championship competition. The competition will consist of a qualifying round at thirty-six holes, medal play, thirty-two to qualify. The first half of the qualifying round will be played on Monday and the second half on Tuesday. The thirty-two players who shall qualify shall then compete at match play rounds, the first and second rounds being at eighteen holes, the other rounds being at thirty-six holes.

Special events will be given by the Western Golf association in connection with the tournament as follows:

Thursday, July 16.—Qualifying round for three flight competitions, eighteen holes, medal play, scratch. Eight to qualify in each flight. Open to all who failed to qualify for the championship and those defeated in the first round of match play. The eligibility of players to qualify in the different flight competitions shall be as follows: Players with association handicaps up to six are eligible only for the first flight; players with association handicaps from seven to twelve, inclusive, are eligible only for the first and second flight; players with association handicaps of thirteen or more are eligible for all three flights.

Friday, July 17.—First match round of flight competitions, eighteen holes; second match round of flight competitions, eighteen holes; two ball foursome, eighteen holes, medal play, handicap; open draw for partners; open to all players not in other competitions.

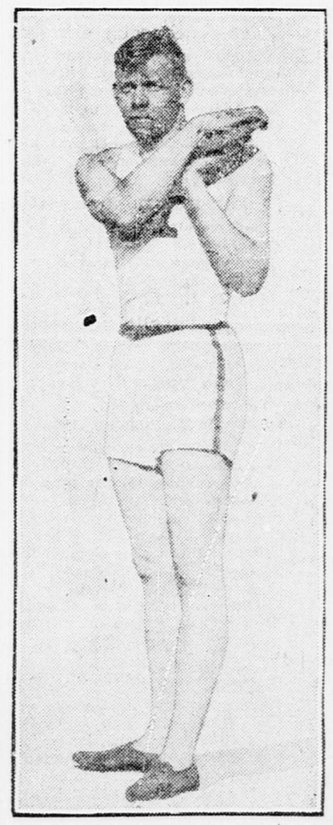

Saturday, July 18.—Finals of all flight competitions, eighteen holes.

The golf associations of the world are each invited to send a team of four players to compete for the Olympic team trophy, the competition for which will be held on Saturday, July 11. The competition is at thirty-six holes, medal play; total medal scores of each team to count. The association whose team has the lowest total score will have the custody of the trophy until the next competition and have its name inscribed thereon.

EDITORIAL.

Gen. Luke Wright ex-Confederate soldier is the first Secretary of War from the South since his predesessor Jefferson Davis held the same office.

Many writers in the newspapers are now telling how to know a mad dog, but most of us do not care to know a mad dog. A sensible man will avoid his acqutaintance.

A government by commission with a peripatetic orator at its head seems to have been worn thread-bare in Washington and the people are now clamoring for a change—any change.

This is the season of great suffering for that most patient of all servants, the horse. Give him water often. Let him stand in the shade when possible. See that his harness is comfortable. Try to put yourself in his place. Remember the golden rule and broaden the words "others" and "them."

The Milton Record says editorially: The agitation started in Quincy by Mayor Shea toward the erection in that city of a county building to house the district and probate courts now held there, and possibly in the future to provide accommodations for sessions of the superior court, is looked upon favorably by the police and others in Milton who are most concerned with court affairs at Quincy.

From present appearance that compact little army sent by the United States to Panama will have nothing more serious to do than to act as a reserve police force for the Isthmus. So much the better for Panama and for the United States. This country cares little who may be elected president of that little toy republic, but all the world is interested in the peace of the zone through which the canal is building. That can at least be kept free from political earthquakes and no doubt the presence of a small U. S. army had influence in this direction.

New Commander.

Capt. Herbert Winslow, U. S. N., son of Rear Admiral John A. Winslow, who sank the Alabama, has been appointed to succeed Admiral Peters as captain and executive officer of the Boston Navy yard. He has been the new England recruiting officer for the last six months.

Capt. Winslow has been in the navy since 1865. He is one of the senior captains of the list, does not retire for age until September, 1910, and will reach the rank of rear admiral next year.

Pilgrim Monument.

Work on the Pilgrim monument at Provincetown is being pushed along rapidly by the contractors, Maguire and O'Heron of East Milton, and each day sees the work considerably advanced. No delays whatever have as yet been experienced, and, with the exception of two days lost on account of the extremely hot weather, the monument has increased two feet in height each day, being about thirty feet high at the present time.—Milton Record.

CITY OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace Of Two Burial Place Of Two

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors. When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col. John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grandfather of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck, comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponsit river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural momuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb, reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7, 1744 and many other notable people.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy, Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting feature. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M Other days admission charged

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts. in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the Indian Tisquantum.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

Houghs Neck Man Surprised by Band

John Murray, the granite man of Gas place, Quincy, who is occupying a bungalow on Sherman street for the month of July, was serenaded by the Quincy City Band of which he is president last night. The band arrived early and stayed late. An impromptu concert was held on the veranda until eleven o'clock, when refreshments were served. The coming of the band was a surprise party to Mr. Murray and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Cotton and family of Ashland, N. H., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buchanan of Charles street for three weeks. Mr. Cotton is one of the best known hotel men of New Hampshire. He is the proprietor of the Squam Lake House at Ashland.

The Mount Pleasant Outing Club held their first annual shirtwaist party last evening in Brown's dance hall. Despite the frequent showers, there was a very large atendance and the affair was a financial success. The committee in charge was: Floor director, James Smith; assistant floor director, John Goff; chief of aids, Jack Cuniff; aids, Frank Conlon, Michael Launon, Joseph Barry, Edward Mitchell, Joseph Barrett, Thomas Powers, James Buckley, Philip Capels, Thomas Buckley, Ed. Finnerty, Maurice Richey and H. Schaefer.

Friday night was "Hook Night" at the Palms and the theatre was crowded to the doors. The amateur talent were exceptionally good. In the Open-for-all event, Edward Pierce, a twelve year old acrobatic buck dancer, won the prize. There was a contest between the members of the different clubs. William Smith of the Flood Associates, easily won the prize for his club. He is without doubt the cleverest buck and wing dancer seen at the beach this summer.

Why Not Consult Miss Bumpus

Editors of Ledger:

The letter from Charles Francis Adams in the Ledger of July 17th regarding the inscription on the picture of Miss Amelia L. Bumpus at the Thomas Crane Public library does not prove the inscription right, for Mr. Adams like other people often makes errors, as witness the tablet in First church to Col. Quincy, which states that Col. Quincy was born in Quincy whereas he was born in Boston. We are all human.

In the eighteenth annual report of the trustees of the library Mr. Adams says: "Miss Mary L. Brooks served as librarian for one year. Miss Brooks was succeeded in 1876 by Miss A. L. Bumpus. * * * Miss A. G. White, the present assistant librarian, has been connected with the library since 1877."

Again when Mr. Adams is leaving the city, in the city report of 1893 above his signature, and those of the board, is found reference to the 18th report above quoted, as a correct history of the library, librarians, etc.

It would seem that at various times Mr. Adams and the library trustees thought Miss Bumpus was librarian or they would not have so stated in public print. What influence has been brought to bear at this late day to discredit so faithful a worker as Miss Bumpus is hard to comprehend.

It has been stated that during all these years there has been no librarian, in that case there could have been no assistant librarian, and Miss Bumpus was acting librarian. It is odd that all these years Miss Bumpus has supposed she was the librarian and has conducted the business of the library, signing letters and other documents as librarian and has been addressed as such by the trustees, employes and patrons.

Anyway, right or wrong, there is no doubt the picture and inscription was intended to honor Miss Bumpus. As Miss Bumpus is agrieved at the inscription why not make it satisfactory to her? Surely it could be arranged to suit all concerned, without regard to whether she was or was not librarian. Leave the dates and eliminate the words, "Assistant Librarian." Why not consult Miss Bumpus?

An Old Resident.

The twenty-sixth annual national summer meeting of Universalists will be held, as usual, at Ferry Beach Park, Maine. It is three miles from Old Orchard and easily reached by train. The meeting continues from July 30 to August 16 inclusive. Special transportation tickets can be obtained of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Destructive Work Of Elm Tree Beetle

Writing of the destructive work of the elm tree beetle the tree warden of Hyde Park, Harry G. Higbee says:

At this season, when the larvae (or grubs) collect in quantities on the trunks of the trees or about the base, they may be readily destroyed by spraying with kerosene emulsion, strong soap suds, or boiling water. Clear kerosene should never be used on a tree, as it is liable to injure it. It is not of much practical value, however, to destroy the larvae and pupae at this stage and they could never be destroyed by this method alone, although if persisted in throughout the season, one might keep a tree from being entirely defoliated, and any method which affords some relief should not be discouraged.

While spraying is somewhat expensive, the cost is greatly reduced by the use of a power sprayer. It seems to be a question of spraying the trees to save them, or allowing them to die, as few trees will stand stripping more than two years in succession without being entirely killed.

So many people have confounded this pest with the gypsy moths that I will give a short description of it here. The larva, or caterpillar stage of the insect, is a small grub about half an inch long when grown; brown with yellow stripes across its body. These may be found now by the thousands around any badly infested elm, and it is in this stage that the principal damage is done to the tree. The larvae, many of which have already transformed, soon descend to the ground or to convenient places about the trunk of the tree to undergo the change into the pupa or crysalis,—an irregular, oblong body about a quarter of an inch in length and orange-yellow in color.

After remaining in this stage about a week, the mature insect emerges, a winged beetle, about a quarter of an inch long and with dark brown and yellow stripes along its back. These mature beetles sometimes eat a little of the foliage in the fall, but soon seek winter quarters, where they hibernate under the bark of trees, under shingles, or often in old houses or unused attics. In the spring they emerge, and after feeding awhile. deposit their orange-colored eggs in a double row on the under side of the leaves. In about a week the eggs hatch, and the young larvie begin feeding in earnest, eating away the lower epidermis of the leaf and causing it to turn brown and drop off.

When an elm is completely stripped early in the season, and the weather following is not too dry, it will usually send forth another crop of leaves, which may be fed upon by the mature beetles, and a second brood hatched out. Fortunately this pest feeds only upon elm trees, preferring the English elm, and is therefore much more easily controlled than the gypsy moth, which, when in sufficient numbers, will strip a tree in one-third the time of the beetles, and will also feed upon practically all kinds of trees.

Auctioneer Henry.

The Brookline Chronicle speaks very highly of Mr. John J. Henry, long a valued citizen of Brookline, who died very suddenly at his home in Wollaston last Saturday morning, aged sixty-nine. He had been prominent in the auction and commission business of the boot and shoe trade of Boston, and in later years was active in real estate transactions, being secretary of the New England Real Estate Exchange. He was a native of Hackersack, N. J., where he was born in 1839. His keen interest in public affairs and sterling characters won him high esteem from his fellow citizens in Brookline, where he lived for over thirty years. For a score of years he was secretary of the Brookline Thursday Club. He was active in numerous organizations. Funeral services were held at his home at 92 Brook street, Wollaston, Monday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. Henry G. Megathlin pastor of the Park and Downs Congregational Church of Quincy. The body was taken to Walnut Hills Cemetery for burial.

Famous Lighthouse And Sea Bird Colony

Holyhead, Wales, July 2, 1908.

Editors of the Ledger:

I am glad that the weather continues excellent. Every day now is clear, and real hot for this part of the world. I am glad on your account, because I am going to fulfill my promise and take you with me today over some of the grandest sea cliff scenery you ever saw.

Now get ready, for we must foot this three and one-half miles on the south side of Holyhaed mountain. This mountain is 719 feet high. From the top you can easily see the Irish coast and the Isle of Man on a clear day. The road that we take is near the foot of this mountain. Yes, I will guide you. These telegraph poles shows us the way. Here is the coast guard station near the edge of this precipice.

If you remember we are going to see the South Stack light house. Well here it is, standing on an isolated rock. We will take this zig-zag path and down the cliff by 383 stone steps cut in the rock. Now we are on a small chain bridge, which crosses the most raging water we ever saw. It is truly a scene of sublime grandeur! Those caves you see in these immense rocks have been worn by the action of the sea, and give shelter to millions of sea birds. The lighthouse stands 212 feet above high water.

The Holy Island is covered and fringed with bristling rocks which are a veritable sea birds nursery. Guillemots, puffins, razor bills, cormorants and even falcons, are bred here without fear or restraint. The latter are protected on account of the services they render to vesesls in foggy weather by creating a fearful uproar. The puffin is sometimes known as the parrot. Look over the sides of those stairs, you can see long rows of young birds unable to fly. The air is filled with the ceaseless cries that falls upon the ear harshly at first, but so persistent that you soon forget the noise. Those that have never seen a colony of sea birds, have missed a rare sight, for this scene really beggars description. Some grey, some white, others black, dart from cliff to cliff.

The keepers of this great lighthouse which warns all ships that come from America, Australia and nearly all other countries to Liverpool, gladly show visitors over the lighthouse. See that big book there. We are politely invited to sign our name and address in it. Here we see the late Queen Victoria has visited and signed her name in 1860. Yes it is getting late for it has been real interesting.

Now we better trace our steps back. What do you say? Tired. I believe you; so am I, but we must walk just the same.

No electric cars around here. In fact no other mode of conveyance, but what your creator has given you. We must make the best of it this time. Please take your time. It is rather dangerous to hurry, besides some of us are not used to such rocky cliffs.

What do you think about an excursion to the great preaching festifals. All right then we will take these all in, in our next, so goodby for now.

Yours truly,
John Evans.

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY.

The Boston Camera Club will hold an exhibition in the fall of this year open to any amateur photographers residing in New England. There will be but one class, "Out-of-Door Photography." Ten prizes are offered for the best photographs furnished as determined by the Exhibition Committee of the Club: a silver medal and bronze medal, four prizes of photographic materials, and two subscriptions each to Photo-Era and American Photography. Prize Motor Boat Is Expected In Quincy In a Few Days

The $250 Motor oat offered as a first prize in the Daily Ledger popularity contest has been ordered and is expected in Quincy in a few days. Arrangements have been made with Henry L. Kincaide & Co., to place it on exhibition at their furniture store on Hancock street.

The biggest gain in the contest today is made by Capt. Foster and the leaders are now closely bunched.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

NEW ENGLAND FAIR.

"Mexico holds her music next to her religion." declared the United states ambassador to that nation, David E. Thompson, in recent conversation with Charles H. Green, of Green and Rowe, managers of the second annual New England Food Fair and House Furnishing Exposition which is to be held at Mechanics building, Boston, next October.

Subsequent events proved this statement quite true. The national recreation of Mexico is music. The City of Mexico, the capital of the republic, with a population of 400,000 has but one theatre devoted to drama whereas she supports no less than 30 government bands, which give free concerts every afternoon and evening in the public squares. Small wonder than that Mexican musicians should be among the most talented in the world.

But Mexico's loss is our gain for the Bande De Policia is to be the big musical feature of the fair at Mechanics building next October. It comes by invitation, for money would not tempt the Mexican government to grant permission. With it will come the greatest exhibit of industrials that Mexico has ever sent out. The twenty-two states of the nation will all contribute to the exhibition.

Loss of SLEEP

Body and brain need sufficient peaceful sleep each night to repair the waste caused by the physical and mental exertions of the day. Broken rest brings on headache, despondency, irritability and nerve exhaustion. When the nerve force is low,

Beecham's Pills

are invaluable as an aid to renew the supply of health-producing elements. They act favorably upon the digestive organs, throw off impurities from the blood, and restore the vital energies. Beecham's Pills relieve congestion, dispel brain-fag, quiet the overwrought nerves, and

Last Saturday afternoon and evening by invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Ira G. Ross about twenty-five members and guests of the Montpelier Seminary club held their midsummer picnic outing on the grounds at 168 Franklin street and on Sunset lake. The club is a social organization composed of graduates and former students of the Montpelier, Vermont, seminary, now residing in Boston and vicinity.

Harold E. Bean of 115 Plain street, left for Detroit, Maine, last Monday morning where he is to spend his summer vacation with his grandparents, uncles, aunts and cousins. He took along his new fly-rod and a good supply of flies and no doubt will have some good fish stories for his friends on his return. He left the North station at ten o'clock A. M. on train 23 from track 13, and as it was the 13th day of the month, some misgivings were felt on account of the strange combination of numbers, but a postal to his mother Tuesday night told of his safe arrival and that he was was "not a bit homesick."

About forty members of the Mascot Division, Ladies Auxiliary to the order of Railway Conductors, visited the Pine Cone division at Portland, Maine, on Wednesday. The party left Boston at eight o'clock in the morning, going by special car and returned at nine o'clock the same evening. DOWN EAST OCEAN TRIPS.

The vacation season has now set in, and on all lines of the eastern steamship company services the report is a larger traffic this summer than ever before. Indeed whether one selects to go to Portland on the regular Portland line; to Portland, Eastport, Lubec or St. John, N. B., or St. John direct on the International division; to Rockland, Bar Harbor or Bangor, or any of the intermediate landings on the Bangor division; or to Popham beach, Bath, Augusta or any intervening landing, the advice of the management is the same in the fatter of accommodation. It is to procure staterooms as early as possible for the steamers are carrying full passengers lists now on every occasion.

On the Kennebec division the much approved Sunday service in now in effect. The Sunday trains of the steamer "Ransom B. Fuller" will continue through July, August, and the first of September. The steamer leaves Union wharf every Sunday at 9 A. M., for Bath, making connections there with the steamer from Pemaquid, Boothbay Harbor and intermediate landings. The return trip from Bath Sundays is made at 6.30 P. M., and from Popham beach at 7.15 P. M., arriving in Boston early Monday morning.

On the International division, coastwise the new turbins steamships "Governor Vobb" and "Camden" are in commission. The leaving time from Boston, Union wharf, for Portland, Eastport, Lubec and St. John is 9 A. M. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The Kennebec boats leave Union wharf at 6 P. M. daily (except Sundays) and the Bangor division sailing time is 5 P. M., every week day from Fosters wharf.

—The annual rescue league has placed men at the two terminal railway stations in Boston, whose sole duty is to water the horses. The men are instructed not to confine themselves to cab horses but to water any horses or passing horse that needs it. As drinking fountains for horses are scarce about the city this is real humanitarian work.

—At Beachwood, near Scituate, yesterday, the house of Aaron Bates was destroyed with contents; loss $2,500.

RAILROAD PROBLEMS

Something Must Be Done Quickly to Enhance Credit

HILL FAVORS RAISING RATES

Efficient Labor Essential to Successful Operation and Wages Should Not Be Cut--Comparison With Conditions In Other Countries

New York, July 18.—J. T. Harahan, president of the Illinois Central railroad, who arrived here on the steamer Mauretania, after a vacation trip to Europe, discussed freely the business situation, particularly with reference to the railroads.

Harahan said it was not true that he went abroad to effect a big deal with European bankers. "I have heard rumors in regard to a possibility of European financiers dominating America railroads," said he, "but so far as I can see, no such possibility exists. You may depend upon that.

"The railroad situation here is in an odd and most peculiar state," he continued. "One of these things must happen: Rates must be increased, wages must be reduced, or the business of the road must be in some way increased. It is bad policy to put up the rates before election, you ask? Well, it probably is. Something must be done, however, and be done quickly."

James J. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern railroad, is of the opinion that the only solution of the financial problem that confronts the railroads is an increase in freight rates. Hill is strongly opposed to a cut in wages as a means of increasing the net earnings of railroads. Hill, who has just returned from a fishing trip in Canada, made the following statement:

"There is no alternative but to raise rates. The credit of the railroads has been seriously impaired. The way to enhance credit is to increase rates. The manufacturers who decry an advance in rates fail to appreciate that, without an improved credit, the railroads will be unable to expend the hundreds of millions which hitherto have made prosperity possible to themselves and employes.

"Wages should not be cut. Efficient labor is essential to successful operation. Railroad employes have responsibilities. They have to meet a hard test. They should get fair recompense. Cut wages 10 percent and the men who got $15 last week would get $13.50 this week. It is the difference between meat and no meat.

"Freight rates in this country are low beyond comparison. Receiving but one-half and even one-third of the rate received in European countries, the wages paid railroad employes here average 100 percent higher than those paid in Europe.

"The American railroad systems were created at a cost of one-half to one-fifth as much as systems of other countries, yet they charge rates of one-half to one-third as great, carry nearly double the business per mile, and pay twice the rate of wages."

Agree to Advance Rates

Louisville, July 18.—That freight rates should be advanced in the territory of the Southeastern Freight association and the Southeastern Mississippi Valley association, which takes in all of the territory south of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi river, was decided upon at the meeting here of the executive officers of all the railroad systems interested. The advance, it is said, will be from 4 to 10 cents a hundred pounds.

Ethel Roosevelt's Birthday

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 18.—Today being the anniversary of the birth of Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the president's home is the scene of considerable gaiety in honor of the young woman. The celebration is taking the form of a party, to which a number of her young friends were invited. The young folks will dance on the broad veranda at Sagamore Hill this evening. It is said Miss Ethel will make her debut in society at Washington the coming season.

More Fever on the Nebraska

Honolulu, July 18.—The people of the Hawaiian islands are just as anxious to see the ships of the Atlantic battleship fleet as they were upon its arrival in this harbor. All the ships are open to visitors excepting the Nebraska, which has been placed in quarantine and will be thoroughly fumigated. Several additional cases of scarlet fever developed aboard the Nebraska on her run from San Francisco, where the disease first appeared.

Victory For Persian Rebels

Tabriz, July 18.—The revolutionists have routed Rachin Khan's horsemen, who are out of ammunition and have fled to the hills. The fate of Rachin Khan, who was in command of the troops by the shah's orders, is unknown. The revolutionists have gained full control of the town and are sacking the houses of the officials.

Additions to Devil's Island

La Rochelle, France, July 18.—Steamer Loire left here for Devil's island, French Guiana, with 500 prisoners on board. They include C. P. Ullmo, former ensign of the French navy, who was recently found guilty of treason and sentenced to life imprisonment.

A DENIAL FROM GOMPERS

Sent No Message to Hearst Asking For Support of Bryan

Erie, Pa., July 18.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor said to a representative of The Associated Press last night that there is absolutely no truth in the published reports that he had cabled William R. Hearst, a leader in the Independence League, urging the editor to use his influence to prevent the league from nominating its own candidate for president and to urge the league to give its support to W. J. Bryan because the Democratic convention incorporated in its platform planks urged by organized labor. Gompers said:

"I read in the newspapers that I am credited with asking Mr. Hearst to support Bryan and that Mr. Hearst has made reply to me through the press. I did nothing of the kind. I don't know where the message Mr. Hearst claims to have received came from. I did not send it or any other message to Mr. Hearst."

The Ohio Senatorial Fight

Hot Springs, Va., July 18.—Arthur I. Vorys, manager of the Republican national campaign in Ohio, made a statement in relation to the senatorial situation in his state to the effect that he will not interfere with the election of a United States senator to succeed Senator Foraker.

"I have no candidate for the senatorship," said Vorys. The fight for the national ticket in Ohio will continue to be divorced from the senatorial fight, which stands on its own merits. There is no concerted effort on the part of the Taft men to defeat Foraker. Senator Foraker put it right when he said that we should proceed to elect a Republican legislature. After that the question of who ought to be senator can be settled. Everybody ought to be content to stand on that proposition and I endorse it."

Not a Campaign Issue

Lincoln, Neb., July 18.—Following his declaration that he had not discussed the Brownsville affair or the question of the appointment of negroes to office, W. J. Bryan announced that he did not mean to convey the impression that he never talked about the Brownsville case in any manner, but that he had not discussed it as an issue in the present campaign. He recalled an editorial, written by him two years ago, in which he made the assertion that, if the facts were as stated, President Roosevelt was fully justified in his course.

Work For Alabama Troops

Birmingham, Ala., July 18.—While the reports concerning the strike situation in the coal region of Alabama are being greatly exaggerated, there is sufficient cause for alarm to induce Governor Comer to order the military of the district to remain in readiness for an emergency call. A mixed company, numbering 100 men, is en route to Adamsville, where occurred an engagement between strike sympathizers and deputies. One deputy is dead, others wounded and many strike sympathizers have been arrested. News of this engagement was followed by the instant mobilization of troops.

Little One Burned to Death

Lynn, Mass., July 18.—Mrs. Louis Kaplan placed her 2-year-old daughter in its carriage in the entry of her home while she was doing her work. Attracted by the odor of smoke, she rushed out into the hallway and found the carriage in flames. The mother burned herself severely in extinguishing the fire, but the clothes had been burned off the little one. The child died within a few hours. Mrs. Kaplan noticed some small boys playing about the premises and she thinks that they were playing with matches and set the fire.

Aged Couple Tired of Existence

New York, July 18.—A suicide pact between an aged couple was discovered by the police late last night when they broke into the rooms of Kilanen Panzer and his wife and found the man and his wife sitting unconscious side by side with their hands clasped, and each with a gas tube between the lips. The husband is 65 years old and the wife 62. An unsealed letter stated that the old couple were tired of the struggle for existence and had determined to die together. They are in a critical condition.

Fall From Car Caused Death

Springfield, Mass., July 18.—The body of a woman who was killed in this city by a fall from a trolley car was identified as that of Miss Theresa R. Grady, 30 years old, of Chicopee. She was killed while avoiding sparks of a burned-out overhead fuse. Her head struck the ground and her skull was fractured. Miss Grady had taught in the Waterbury, Conn., schools.

American Fishermen Handicapped

Swanton, Vt., July 18.—David S. Jordan and Samuel T. Bastedo, members of the international fishery commission, came here to take evidence relative to seine fishing in Mississiquoi bay, Lake Champlain. The American fishermen, who are prohibited by law from seining in the bay, protest the rights of the Canadian fishermen to catch fish there in that manner.

Will Surrender Walker Today

New Britain, Conn., July 18.—President Stanley of the New Britain Savings bank received a telegram from Jose A. Jiminez, commandant of the police at Ensenada, Mex., to the effect that William F. Walker, the absconding treasurer of the bank, would be turned over to the United States authorities today.

A NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL.

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbagos, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box B, Notre Dame, Ind.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title ~ Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

Executor's Notice.

The Scrap Book

A Boy's Answer.

An inspector was examining a class of school children in religious knowledge, and among other things asked for was a definition of a lie. Immediately up shot a boy's hand and in a piping treble came the reply, "A lie is an abomination to the Lord, but a very pleasant help in time of trouble."

PATRIOTISM.

Breathes there the man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
"This is my own, my native land!"
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burned
As home his footsteps he hath turned
From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well!
For him no minstrel raptures swell.
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim—
Despite those titles, power and pelf,
The wretch, concentered all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown
And, doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust from whence he sprung
Unwept, unhonored and unsung.
—Sir Walter Scott.

Had 'Em Again.

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell tells with keen enjoyment of the experience of a medical friend of his who engaged a nurse, recently graduated, for a case of delirium tremens. The physician succeeded in quieting his patient and left some medicine, instructing the nurse to administer it to him if he "began to see snakes again." At the next call the physician found the patient again raving. To his puzzled inquiry the nurse replied that the man had been going on that way for several hours and that she had not given him any medicine.

"But didn't I tell you to give it to him if he began to see snakes again?" demanded the physician.

"But he didn't see snakes this time," replied the nurse confidently. "He saw red, white and blue turkeys with straw hats on."—Lippincott's.

Not Enough Children.

She asked him if he was the photographer. He said he was. She asked him if he took children's pictures. He said he did. She asked him how much he charged. He said, "Four dollars a dozen." "Then I'll have to go somewhere else," she replied. "I only have eleven."—Success Magazine.

Taking Care of Papa.

Rev. A. C. Dixon of Chicago, upon leaving home for a long journey, kissed his four-year-old boy goodby, saying, "I want you to be a little man while father is away, and I want you to be sure to take care of mamma."

The boy looked at his father with his big eyes very gravely. "Yes, papa," he answered, "I will take care of mamma."

That night the boy knelt and prayed: "Please, Lord, take care of papa, who has gone away. Please take care of grandfather. Please take care of auntie. Please take care of Mary. But, Lord, you needn't take care of mamma. I'm going to take care of her myself."

Doubly Blessed.

It was sentence day in the city court. A man in the prisoners' pen, who had been sentenced to two years for larceny, began to cry softly. The big man next to him, who was going to serve seven years for bigamy, said:

"Aw, wotcher sniffin' about?"

"I'm—I'm—th-th-thinkin' about leavin' [sob] my—my—family—lea-leavin' my wife"—

"Aw, cut it out! Look at me. I ain't cryin', am I? An' I'm leavin' two of 'em."—Everybody's.

Presence of Mind.

Two Irishmen, having a grievance against a farmer, decided to rob him one night. In order to reach the place where the valuables were kept, they had to pass the bedroom of the farmer and his wife.

Pat told Mike to remain where he was until he had passed the bedroom, when Mike was to follow. As Pat crept forward the floor creaked loudly, and the farmer's wife, being awakened by the noise, immediately awoke her husband and told him that there was somebody in the other room.

Pat heard this and began meowing like a cat, when the farmer said, "Oh, it's only the cat," and turned over to sleep again. Mike now followed, and the floor creaked as before. The farmer's wife again told her husband that there was somebody in the next room and told him to investigate.

"Never moind," cried Mike; "it's only another cat!"—Judge's Library.

When You're Safe.

"Hinnessey," said Mr. Dooley, "this is great talkin' about Christian Science, hey?"

"Yes," said Mr. Hinnessey, "and what do you think about it?"

"Well," said Mr. Dooley, "I think that if the Christian Scientists had a little more science and the doctors had a little more Christianity it wouldn't make any difference which you called in—if you had a good nurse."—Finley Peter Dunne.

The Benevolent Peddler.

"I have told you a dozen times I don't want the machine! Sick him, Tige!" said the exasperated woman of the house.

Peddler (while the dog is gnawing his leg)—Don't want the machine, ma'am? Pardon me, you haven't yet seen half its good points. It washes the clothes cleaner than any other and in less than half the time. It never tears off a button. It—

"Good heavens! Don't you see what the dog is doing?"

"Yes. Quite a playful animal. This machine, ma'am, uses less soap, takes up less room"—

"He'll tear you to pieces if you don't go! Run, for mercy's sake! He's tasted blood, and I'm afraid I can't make him stop now!"

"I have to put up with such things, ma'am, and it's in a good cause. This machine is the best one that ever was invented. If I can succeed in introducing one into a family I always feel that I have done a benevolent act. You can use any kind of water, hard or soft, hot or"—

"Oh, oh, oh! He'll kill you! What is the machine worth?"

"It's worth a million dollars in any family, but I'm selling it for only $5, and"—

"Here's your money. I'll take it. Tige, Tige, let go!"

"Let him chew, ma'am; let him chew. It's a wooden leg. I've got another one at home all ready for use when this one is worn out. Looks as if we were going to have rain. Remember you can use any kind of water, and if your soap is all right you can— There! He's got tired of it. Good dog, Tige; good dog! Well, I must be going. Afternoon, ma'am."

Woman—a Mystery.

You gaze at a star for two motives because it is luminous and because it is impenetrable. You have by your side a sweeter radiance and greater mystery—woman.—Victor Hugo.

A Gambler on Gambling.

We live in this world where nearly everybody is a gambler. Hence it is but natural that there should be gambling.

There are only three things you don't gamble for—your room, clothes and food. Everything else connected with life is gambling.

You seek employment; you gamble for a better place.

You go to an insurance company and have your property insured against fire. Well, don't you gamble there? Don't you bet the company that you may have a fire, and they bet you you may not? Your premium is the odds you get.

You have your life insured; you enter into a gamble with the insurance company.

You invest your money; you gamble there again, and so on all along the line.—Richard Canfield.

Curious of the Future.

"Have you fixed up my will just the way I told you?" asked the sick man, who was the possessor of many needy relatives and some well to do but grasping ones.

"I have," asserted the lawyer.

"Just as strong and tight as you can make it, eh?" asked the client.

The lawyer nodded.

"All right," said the sick man. "Now I want to ask you one thing—not professionally—who do you think stands the best chance of getting the property when I'm gone?"—Youth's Companion.

Poor Land.

Once a Kansas farmer met on the hot, dusty road a homesteader pushing on excitedly toward the Cherokee strip.

"Whar ye bound?" said the farmer.

"Fer a hundred and sixty acres o' free land in the strip," was the reply. And the man vanished in the glitter of dust and sunshine.

A month or two went by, and on the same dusty road the Kansas farmer met the homesteader returning.

"Hello," he said, "what ye done with them hundred and sixty acres?"

The homesteader pointed his whip proudly toward his mule team.

"See them mules?" said he. "Well, I traded eighty acres of my claim fer 'em."

"What ye do with the other eighty?"

"Don't gimme away," was the reply, "but the feller was a tenderfoot, and I run in the other eighty acres on him without his knowin' it."

A Suggestion From Japan.

A young Japanese, with the national love of cleanliness, came to London to study. As he was a stranger in the city he had to select his own lodgings.

His first choice was not happy. The hall especially was very dirty. This the newcomer did not like, but decided to say nothing then.

One rainy day the maidservant put up this notice: "Please wipe your feet."

Seizing his opportunity, the Japanese student wrote underneath, "On going out."—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Laughter of Childhood.

The laugh of a child will make the holiest day more sacred still. Strike with hand of fire, O weird musician, thy harp strung with Apollo's golden hair; fill the vast cathedral aisles with symphonies sweet and dim, deft toucher of the organ keys; blow, bugler, blow until thy silver notes do touch and kiss the moonlit waves and charm the lovers wandering mid vine clad hills. But know your sweetest strains are discords all compared with childhood's happy laugh—the laugh that fills the eyes with light and every heart with joy.

O rippling river of laughter, thou art the blessed boundary line between the beasts and men, and every wayward wave of thine doth drown some fretful fiend of care.

O Laughter, rose lipped daughter of Joy, there are dimples enough in thy cheeks to catch and hold and glorify all the fears of grief.—Robert G. Ingersoll.

With an Eye to Business.

At a dinner given in Washington in honor of Admiral Dewey's seventieth birthday the famous sailor after drinking from a loving cup that belonged to George Washington said:

"This wine is superb. It is as fine in its way as the sign that I once saw over an inn door in Germany. The sign read:

"'Good beer sold here, but don't take my word for it. Hans Schwartz, Prop.'"

BAD BREATH

"For months I had great trouble with my stomach and used all kinds of medicines. My tongue has been actually as green as grass, my breath having a bad odor. Two weeks ago a friend recommended Cascarets and after using them I can willingly and cheerfully say that they have entirely cured me. I therefore let you know that I shall recommend them to any one suffering from such troubles." Chas. H. Halpern, 114 E. 7th St., New York, N. Y.

MAXIM'S NEW WEAPON

Inventor's Almost Silent Gun Tested In His Home.

SLIGHT FLASH OF FIRE SEEN

Thirty-two Caliber Bullet Made Hole In Three Magazines About Size of Man's Hand—Would Double War's Terrors, Says General W. F. Duvall.

Hiram Percy Maxim, inventor of the noiseless gun, recently gave a private exhibition of the powers of this wonderful weapon at his home in Hartford, Conn. The inventor entered his den and produced the "Maxim humane slaughterer," the name chosen for the gun that he proposes to use in the slaughter of cattle in stockyards.

"Very frequently the blow which is dealt to the animals in the stockyards does not kill them," said Mr. Maxim to a New York American reporter, "but merely stuns. Now, it sometimes happens that the man with the iron maul hits an ox in the eye and simply maddens the creature, or it is only stunned when it is dumped bodily into the slaughter room, and the butchers have to run for their lives. This gun is intended to slaughter them painlessly and end all this trouble. Other guns will not do this because the noise maddens the other animals.

"It is not the type of the noiseless gun that I expect to see used in the army."

The gun which Mr. Maxim held appeared like an ordinary army rifle, except that it was sheathed with an outer barrel of aluminium. In this outer sheathing was concealed the silencer.

The inventor loaded the gun with a 32 caliber bullet and fired it at a pile of a dozen magazines resting on edge against the wall. The only noise heard was the click of the trigger and a swishing sound as the soft nosed leaden bullet tore its way through three of the magazines and embedded itself in the fourth. The hole made was large enough almost to put one's hand through. A slight flash of fire was seen at the muzzle of the gun at the moment of the firing. This would probably be obviated by the use of smokeless powder, though the inventor did not say.

"The outside barrel of this gun is in three parts," said Mr. Maxim. "There are three cells for use in killing sound. I do not know how silent the New York S. P. C. A. wants the gun to be used by it to be, but I gave them enough silence to satisfy them.

"This gun will not be used or even receive any public test until my patents in Europe have been granted. That will be in about two months, and at that time the United States government test will take place. To describe the invention or give drawings of it before the time would invalidate my patents in the European countries.

"The gun that is to be used in the army, however, will differ very materially from this. The silencer will be only about three inches long. It will not encircle the barrel, because that would interfere with the sighting of the gun. It will be underneath the barrel and probably near the muzzle."

General William P. Duvall of the Military Staff and War college at Washington, discussing Mr. Maxim's latest invention, said:

"I have read the account of the performances of the Maxim noiseless gun. Certainly they are interesting and astonishing. The matter has not been brought officially, however, to our attention yet.

"Assuming the accounts are authentic, and I believe they are, it would be reasonable to suppose this discovery would produce just as much of a revolution in the art of war as did the invention of smokeless powder. Psychologically, this new gun would double the terror that would be inspired by the enemy possessing it. When smokeless powder was discovered there was, of course, the absence of smoke—an important means of determining the location of an enemy. Add to that, then, a weapon in the hand of your foe which neither emits smoke nor makes a noise, and the fear of the enemy would be at least doubled."

Rearrangement of Old Glory's Stars.

It may be interesting to know that a Maine man suggested the new arrangement for the stars in the United States flag which will become effective on July 4. With the admission of Oklahoma it became necessary to place a new star in the blue field of the flag. This necessitated a rearrangement of the stars. Charles A. Tallman, U. S. N., retired, of Richmond, made a sixteen inch flag in which he made the arrangement and forwarded it to the state department as a suggestion. The state department referred the matter to the navy department, for that department has charge of the flag. A few days later Mr. Tallman received a letter from the department informing him that his arrangement was the one which the department had had under consideration. Since then it has been officially announced as the arrangement of the stars.

Pearl Farming.

E. R. Jefferson of Duluth, Mich., has devised a scheme for treating clams so each may prove a pearl bearer. He made a study of the pearl question as applied to bivalves and ascertained the scientific theory of the origin of the pearl in shellfish. Then he figured the cultivation of the gems was possibly a practical venture. Mr. Jefferson actually has grown some pearls, although they are small. It remains to be seen with lapse of time if large ones cannot be cultivated.

HAPPY DAY FOR WAGNER

Famous Pittsburg Shortstop Is Honored by Loyal Fans

Pittsburg, July 18.—Friday was celebrated here as "Wagner day," in honor of Hans Wagner, the shortstop of the Pittsburg team. Previous to beginning the game with Boston the members of both teams gathered around the home plate with Wagner, much embarrassed, the centre of attraction. In an appropriate address, Director of Public Safety Lang presented Wagner with a gold watch and chain, valued at $700, as a token of esteem from 700 admirers who subscribed $1 each. In addition, the Carnegie lodge of Elks, of which Wagner is a member, presented him with a beautiful charm. Just before the ceremonies came to an end a small boy made his way to Wagner and, opening a box, handed him a rooster, which, he said, "could lick anything." It is hard to determine which of the gifts pleased Wagner most.

Admitted Killing Five People

Moundsville, W. Va., July 18.—Frank Johnson, a negro, was hanged at the West Virginia penitentiary in this city for the murder of Mrs. Beulah Martin. The execution was without special incident and death came nine minutes after the drop fell. A sensational feature of Johnson's last day was a confession made to the chaplain of the prison, in which he said he had committed five murders during his career.

Brighter Business Outlook

New York, July 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that improvement is slow, but there is definite evidence of progress in the right direction. Commercial failures are decreasing in number and amount of liabilities, while bank exchanges no longer exhibit large decreases, and mercantile collections are more prompt.

Another Wilson Murder Suspect

Philadelphia, July 18.—It is reported that the police are gradually closing in on the murderer of Dr. William H. Wilson, who died June 26 after drinking poisoned ale from a bottle which had been sent him by express. The man under suspicion is a printer whose wife died about eight weeks ago under peculiar circumstances.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Portugal chamber of deputies, after listening to a vigorous speech from Premier Ferrecia in answer to the Republican attacks, voted the royal civil list, 80 ayes to 14 noes.

Captain Samuel B. Gibson, commander of many famous racing yachts, died from Bright's disease at his home in Bay Shore, L. I. He was 65 years old.

A destructive fire broke out at Oakland, N. H., and was checked after burning over twenty acres of standing timber. The cause of the fire is not known.

H. S. Vaughn of New York, aged 57, committed suicide by shooting in a field near the summer boarding house at Colebrook, N. H., where he had been staying. It is supposed that despondency over continued ill-health led to the act.

Sanderson's ...Strategy.

By CECILY ALLEN.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"Well, of all the unpropitious and inconsiderate times to ask such a question!" cried Judith Brainard. "No one but you, Dick Sanderson, would have chosen it."

Her tones were almost wrathful, and Sanderson shifted his gaze from her mobile face to the top of his stick, which he twirled idly.

"The idea of asking me for the 'steenth time to marry you just as I was trying to decide whether to borrow a lemonade bowl and glasses from Mrs. Drake or from the Bennington girls!"

Judith pursued her troubled way, with romance pushed far into the background.

"I guess it had better be from Mrs. Drake, because she's right next door, though the Bennington bowl is much handsomer."

Dick Sanderson rose abruptly and towered above the girl of his heart.

"I think that it is all nonsense, and I wish that you'd let your career go to pot. As my wife you can sing for charity, you can run a church choir, you can teach the little daughters of the poor, you can"—

"And all on your money! If you really loved me all these years as you say you did why did you wait to tell me until—until—all our money was gone and I was poor as a church mouse?" demanded Judith, forgetting her more present vexations in the old grievance.

Dick turned suddenly grave.

"I wanted you to have your fling. I think every girl should. It's wrong to marry the first man who keeps you supplied in violets and things. You may find out that American Beauties and another man are preferable after you've been out a year or two. And I wanted my wife for keeps, not for a brief honeymoon. I wanted"—

Judith rose abruptly.

"I know it all by heart, and so I'm going over to see Mrs. Drake about the bowl and glasses."

"Really, from what I've heard of critics and writers and other bohemians, I should certainly advise a strong dash of rum in the bowl."

His tone was light, but behind it lay conviction, and Judith flushed vividly.

"I might have expected you'd say something nasty. Of course all the big people in music and art are not branded 'drawing room,' but they do things. And, oh, Dick, I want to do something. I want to show the world that my education was not all veneer—that it is practical."

Dick's eyes softened as they always did at an appeal from Judith.

"May I come? I've never seen the lions of the musical menagerie, and I promise solemnly that I will not propose to you until it is all over."

"That sounds like my old Dick. You may come and see the menagerie and—well, I won't scold if you propose after it is all over."

* * * * * * *

Judith's world had gasped when she had fled the prosperous New England city after her father's death and established herself in New York as a teacher of music. It was all entirely unnecessary. There were relatives—and Dick Sanderson.

The relatives on the whole were relieved. Dick Sanderson spent most of his time in New York for the purpose, as he expressed it to himself, of counteracting the influences of studio life.

Judith and her mother had a cunning little apartment in an eminently respectable neighborhood, and Judith had a few very prompt pupils. And now she was giving the first of a series of evenings at home. She had met many clever men and women at other "at homes" the season before and had scattered her invitations broadcast.

"You'd better not come too early, Dick," she called after the persistent one as he went down the narrow hall. "I do love some 'homey' people to talk it over with on the finish."

"All right. I'll hold back as long as I can."

But when Mrs. Drake came in with the bowl and glasses the rooms were a mass of ferns and flowers—from Dick.

"How lovely!" she exclaimed. "Flowers do give a room such an air. It makes me feel worse than ever that we cannot come tonight. But every other Tuesday, have you not?"

Judith nodded her head absently. She was trying to decide between a plain or lace centerpiece under the bowl. And not for worlds would she admit that she was disappointed. Mr. Drake was the critic on a prominent paper, and she wanted to cultivate critics.

"So sorry," she murmured perfunctorily. "I hope Mr. Drake is not ill."

"No, but some out of town relatives are coming, and they are not the sort to understand our slipping away. But we'll surely come next time. I understand that Miss Morton, the new English violinist, is to receive with you?"

"Yes; we studied together in Paris."

At 8:30 they were all in line, Mrs. Brainard in pearly silk and real lace, Miss Morton oddly English as to costume, delightfully alive as to the pleasure of the evening, and Judith a dream in black net and violets, her eyes a-gleam with anticipation. Everything was typical of New England and most unbohemian, even the little white capped maid engaged for the occasion.

Nine o'clock, and the trio found it impossible to keep up conversation. Not once had the doorbell rung. Nine-thirty, and the odor of cut flowers was positively oppressive.

"Do you suppose that any one is coming," said Judith in a very faint voice, "at 9:45?"

And just then the electric bell buzzed joyfully. Enter upon the scene Dick Sanderson and at his heels Hal Darnton, the critic of the Social Whirl.

"Thought I'd give the crush a chance to subside," exclaimed Dick as Judith came forward, and then at sight of her face his tongue failed him, and he reached forth his hand impulsively. She gave it a trembling clasp, then went on to greet Darnton.

No one could tell afterward just how it did happen, but Hal Darnton certainly laughed first and at something Dick said.

"Oh, my dear Miss Brainard," he exclaimed between gales of laughter, "you don't know your New York yet! Nothing starts so early in the season. You are about a month too early—and, well, you've got to show 'em."

And no one knew just why, but Judith told him all her little successes and failures, and he proved such a sympathetic person that she finally wailed: "I would not mind at all, only that caustic Mr. Drake lives next door, and of course he'll know. It is so deathly quiet here"—

Hal Darnton did not laugh this time. How often had he watched the struggle of other Judiths! But Dick Sanderson sprang to his feet and remarked with decision: "This is where we make a noise like success. Judith, I'm going out into the hall and give that bell another ring. Mrs. Drake will hear that, and then we will rattle glasses, and Miss Morton will fiddle, and you will play the piano, and we will applaud and—well, I know that Darnton here will like your brand of lemonade."

The audacity of the plan swept all objections aside. Sometimes Sanderson rang the bell and sometimes Darnton. The little maid ran up and down the hall, and the glasses clicked, and Miss Morton played, and Darnton sang rollicking German student songs that none had ever dreamed he knew, and Mrs. Brainard laughed until the tears threatened to fall on her fine old laces.

And when it was all over and not another soul had put in appearance Darnton carried Miss Morton off in a cab and Mrs. Brainard retired to lay away the dear old pearl silk gown. The little maid went downstairs to where her young man was waiting to take her home, and Judith and Dick stood alone in the flower banked room. Then upon the sudden quiet fell a sound of muffled tapping. Judith ran to the door. There was a whispered conversation, and very soon Dick saw her hand out something on a tray. She came back with eyes shining.

"It was Mrs. Drake. She said she heard us having such a good time, and though she and Mr. Drake did not dare leave their guests now that every one had gone she just simply had to beg some of the lemonade. She had heard those glasses clicking and the music through the wall."

Dick's eyes were dancing, but Judith's were dewy with a new and tender light.

"Oh, Dick, you are simply wonderful. She thinks it was a huge success—and—and—well, you know what I promised this afternoon. You can"—

Dick gripped her hands.

"Will you, Judith—will you, dear?"

"Yes, Dick, and we'll announce it at my next evening 'at home.'"

Plated Tin Spoons.

Here is one way of making spoons, the process described being used in the manufacture of one variety of tin plated spoons.

In its original form the material from which these spoons are made comes in long thin strips of steel rolled to a uniform thickness. The strips are twelve or fifteen feet in length and of a width sufficient for the length of the spoon to be made. These strips are fed into a cutting machine, which cuts off pieces, each of sufficient size for making a spoon, these being simply so many small, flat pieces of sheet steel.

Then these blanks are put through a grader, a machine with powerful rolls, which so works the metal as to make it thinner in those parts of the blank that are to form the bowl and the handle of the spoon and thicker in the middle of the length of the blank from which the shank of the spoon will be made, so that it will be the better able to bear the bending strain that will be put upon the spoon in use.

From the grader the blank goes into a drop press, which cuts it into the outline form of a spoon, though from this press it comes out still flat.

Then in another press the bowl of the spoon is formed, and then in still another the handle, and so at last you have the spoon in its complete spoon shape in steel, ready now to be plated by dipping it in molten tin.—New York Sun.

For Family Use.

"Harold," Mrs. Thomson began very thoughtfully, "I've been thinking a lot about you lately."

"Something nice?" questioned Mr. Thomson, with hopeful inflection.

"Do you know," Mrs. Thomson went on, quite ignoring her husband's bid for flattery, "that since we have lived here in the country and you have gone back and forth to the city every day you have seen absolutely nothing of the children?"

"I don't see how that can be helped," replied Mr. Thomson. "When I leave in the morning they are not up, and when I come back in the evening they are in bed."

"Yes," assented Mrs. Thomson, "that is so, but you might at least send them a souvenir post card now and then."—Youth's Companion.

CALL—BROWN.

A pretty home wedding was solemized at 21 Tremont street, South Braintree, Wednesday evening, July 15, when Miss Sadie J. Brown was united in marriage to Mr. Frank J. Call of 12 William avenue, South Braintree. Rev. Charles A. Dawson of the South M. E. church officiated. Promptly at eight o'clock to the tune of Mendelsshon's wedding march, played by Miss Clara Call at the piano, the wedding party entered the parlor which was trimmed with evergreen and Daybreak pinks and stood upon a mat of evergreen and sweet peas.

The bride was prettily gowned in point d'esprit, trimmed with white satin and carried bride's roses. Miss M. Viola Hollis wore pongee silk trimmed with baby blue velvet. Wilbur Call, a brother of the groom was best man, Joseph Moran of Concord, N. H., Warren Bates, Robert Roulstone and Joseph Hawes of Braintree were ushers.

Following the wedding a reception was held from 8.15 to 9.15 the happy couple being assisted in receiving by Miss Hollis and Mr. Wilbur Call.

Guests were present from Braintree and the surrounding towns, Boston, Roxbury and New Hampshire. After a wedding trip down the north shore Mr. and Mrs. Call will reside at 21 Hancock street, South Braintree. At home to their friends after August first.

Boston Theatre.

The magnitude of the vaudeville bills now being presented at the Boston Theatre by Mr. B. F. Keith, is attracting widespread attention. As a matter of fact, there has never been anything on such an extensive scale, since vaudeville was first attempted, and this summer season will go down in theatrical history.

The Romany Opera Company, which scored such a hit on their first week, will present gems from "The Bohemian Girl," with two sets of principals and the full chorus. The stage settings for this production are of the most elaborate character. The bill abounds in strong features, one of the strongest being Laddie Cliff, the English boy comedian, who has been held over for another week.

BOSTON FOOD FAIR.

In planning for their seventh food fair, the original Boston food fair, given by the Boston Retail Grocers' association from September 28 to Oct. 31, in the Park Square Coliseum, the management took into acount that the styles in expositions, and the buildings they are given in, change from time to time just as fashions do. They accordingly selected the mammoth Park Square coliseum as the most advantageous in every particular for the Food fair this year. If the Park Square coliseum had been built specially for their purposes the Boston Retail Grocers' association could not have had a more suitable exposition building for keeping abreast of the advanement in the public's taste. With the remodelling and new interior architectural decoration the Park Square Coliseum will be ideal. Other large show buildings in Boston have disadvantages, as measured by the public demands nowadays for improved conditions in large expositions, in having exhibition spaces distributed largely throughout the basement and galleries and dark corners. Built long ago, the old time exposition buildings are no longer up to modern requirements.

FLUNG INTO THE SEA

Experience of a Man Struggling In Midocean.

SENSATIONS OF DROWNING.

A Tangle of Wild Thoughts Combined With Vague Notions of Time and Space—The Dreamy Doze, the Rescue and the Knife In His Back.

Standing on a chair near the deck rail of an ocean liner, a sudden lurch of the vessel flung me into the Atlantic. Instinctively as I went over I held my arms out for the dive, and while I was still falling I heard the cry ring out, "Man overboard!"

Down, down I sank, for the fall was from a considerable height. Being able to swim a little, I was spared the first mental agony experienced by the nonswimmer who unexpectedly finds himself in deep water. The surprise caused by the suddenness of the fall filled my brain, but as I struggled to regain the surface, my lungs almost bursting, the horrible thought of the propeller churning out its 100 revolutions a minute flashed upon me.

Should I be mangled beyond recognition in a second? Oh, for another year's sweet life! Would my leg be cut clean off or—

I could see the sky again, and I took a great breath of fresh air, though sick with fear. Then I saw the steamer had passed. I was spared mutilation to die slowly by drowning.

How rapidly the steamer was vanishing! I could catch a glimpse of it when a green wave lifted me high in the water. I would only be able to swim for ten minutes—ten little minutes!—though I was still in the prime of life. Surely that cry as I fell would have roused somebody to action! And yet I was alone in the Atlantic, with possibly two miles of water between me and the bottom.

I looked round anxiously to see whether a lifebuoy had been thrown. There was nothing in sight but a wide waste of water and the fast disappearing steamer.

My arms were growing heavy. All I tried to do was to keep my head above water, but I seemed to have been doing that for an hour. My legs, too, were refusing to bend. The end could not be far away.

My arms must both be broken, for they would hardly move, and they ached terribly. What a long time a man could keep afloat! I was vaguely glad I could not swim very well, because it would have meant waiting for the end such a long time. It made one drowsy.

Another wave lifted me up, and I saw the steamer had changed its position. It must be going back to England to tell them at home what had happened to me. How soothing the sea was! If only I could stop trying to work my arms that aching pain in them would cease and I might go to sleep.

Sometimes when I saw the ship, which never seemed to get any farther away now, I remembered I was fighting for another minute's life. It had been harder at first, but now the sea lulled me into happiness.

What on earth were they playing at on the steamer? I had nearly caught it up again, only somehow I had got in front of it. It grew bigger quickly, and it was coming straight on. If those ridiculous people were not careful they might run over me yet.

Perhaps it would be better to go to sleep, after all. My arms were easier, and I did not want to breathe so much now. It was getting dark and ever so much colder than it was last night. The steward must give me an extra blanket.

Why was everything so hazy and the room stuffy? I could hardly breathe. And yet it didn't matter. Nothing mattered, but I wished dreamily that some one would stop digging a knife into my back, for I was just dropping off to sleep nicely.

* * * * * * * *

Next day I found the "knife" had been the point of a boat hook with which they picked me up as I came to the surface. The steamer had turned in a circle and arrived just in time.—London Answers.

Exaggerated.

The knack of looking at the bright side of things was never developed to such perfection as in the case of a man who, after a railway accident, telegraphed to his friend's wife:

"Your husband killed in railway accident; head, both arms and both legs cut off."

But later this correction was received:

"First report exaggerated. Your husband killed; head and legs cut off, but only one arm."

Mixed.

AN OLD TIME BREAKFAST.

What One Visitor Was Treated to at Washington's Home.

The diary of Manasse Cutler, the founder of Ohio and the author of the ordinance of 1787, gives an account of a visit he made to Mount Vernon 10 years after General Washington's death. We say "General" Washington, for that was what Mrs. Washington was pleased to call him—a copy for all those good women whose husbands have won them honor on the field of war.

Mr. Cutler says it was the desire of their party to arrive at Mount Vernon in time for breakfast (7 o'clock) with Mrs. Washington, but the bad roads and worse horses detained them, so they did not reach there until about 10, which Mrs. Washington regretted, but she said, "Breakfast would be ready in a few minutes." The diary goes on to say:

"In a short time she arose and desired us to walk into another room, where a table was elegantly spread with ham, cold corned beef, cold fowl, red herring and cold mutton, the dishes ornamented with sprigs of parsley and other vegetables from the garden. At the head of the table was the tea and coffee equipage, where she seated herself and sent the tea and coffee to the company."

The point of interest is that breakfast menu—five kinds of meat decked with sprigs of parsley and accompanied with divers vegetables. Isn't there an appetizing array and doesn't the heart long for just such a scene? Of course the mere feeders, the fellows that hanker for hot things, may not think so, but the very mention of cold ham, cold chicken, cold mutton and cold corned beef all in the same breath is an appeal to a conscientious appetite that is unresisting. And that was a breakfast of the long ago.

Most generous providers these well to do people in the early days! How good everything must have tasted! That roast chicken and roast mutton and that—great tender clean chunks of it, that he would not dare say which was best, for each was best. Compare it with our latter day breakfasts—a roll and an egg and a cup of coffee! Of course we like our way, but that is possibly because these are degenerate days.—Ohio State Journal.

HE WAS SCARED.

Why the Drummer Made Record Time Out of Pittsburg.

"I am not a man to brag," said the Cincinnati drummer, "but I feel that I can honestly say that I was never real scared but one time in my life, and that happened a year ago."

When asked in a casual way to back up his statement with particulars, he continued:

"I was at a hotel in Pittsburg. I had a room on the third floor, and in coming out of it on an occasion I bumped against a man who was passing. I was feeling in ugly mood that day and when the bump came I shot off my mouth at the stranger. He replied in kind, and I suddenly shot out my left and caught him on the point of the chin and dropped him like a log."

"And you thought you had killed him?"

"No. He lay there and snored like a seal, and I went downstairs and told the clerk he had better see to him. Three minutes later I had twenty different men around me begging me to fly for my life."

"But why?"

"Because I had knocked out a middleweight prize fighter who had won over thirty battles. Gee whiz, but when they told me who the chap was my knees gave under me, my mouth got dry as cotton, and I didn't stop for my grip. I was dusting across the river within ten minutes, and I didn't feel safe for the next three days. Lordy, but think of it—a dry goods drummer who had never had a glove on knocking out a champion middleweight! Did I run? Well, I made record time, all right."—Chicago News.

KNIGHTS TAKE ELKS SCALPS

Both Teams Put up a Good Game With Few Errors

The base ball team of the Knights of Columbus walked off with the scalp of the Elks' team, Saturday afternoon at Merrymount park. It was a good game and at the last the Knights were getting rattled and if there had been a few more innings to play the result might have been different.

The game was to have been called at 2.30 but at that hour the thunder was rolling, the lighting flashing and the rain pouring down in torrents so that it was 4 o'clock before the game was called.

Councilman Carey took his position behind the pitcher as umpire and although a Knights of Columbus man promised to do the fair thing as he said he might want some of the Elks to vote for him again next fall.

The Knights went to the bat first and Eddie Dunn played with the ball fondly for a few minutes and then let it drive over the home plate. Fairclough tried to hit it but missed. The second ball he hit in the same place he missed the first one. Then he hit it and made a run the first of the game and the only one that innings for the Knights.

Then the Elks came in and Leo McMasters said that he would show them a thing or two about base ball. He did and was promptly declared to be out. Ben Johnson did the same and likewise Doc. Reynolds. Eddie Dunn then came to the bat and proved to the spectators that he had not been collecting fares on the street railway several years for nothing, for he swiped the ball and made a run. Then Clarence Fouche, he who tickles the piano, came to the bat and put the side out with the score 1 to 1.

Sim Flynn of the Knights then came up but his deep laid scheme did not work and he was declared down and out for the present. Councilman Cantfill also went out along with Sim, as did also Morrill, and the side was out with no runs to its credit that inning.

Buck Desmond at the bat shouted the scorer. Buck came and as quick was declared out on strikes for he could not find the balls of Councilman Walsh. Elcock scored a run and the two Williams went out, and the Elks for the first and only time during the game led.

That is the way it went innings after innings. The Knights scored a run and tied the score in the third and in the fifth scored six runs and closed that innings with the score 8 to 3. No runs were made by either side in the sixth, and in the seventh the Knights scored twice. Then in came the Elks. Ben Johnson got his base on balls and with Reynolds and Fouche on bases a wild throw let all three men in, leaving the score 10 to 6.

Just at this moment Councilman Bryant came into the field in his bubble, tooting his horn. There were no common victuallers on the field so that he could give his undivided attention to the game. Councilman Walsh said the victuallers at Houghs Neck were all right, and that he knew a thing or two about ball playing for he pitched his best game during this inning, yet the Elks were able to score two runs bringing their total up to 8.

The Knights came to the bat for the last inning, and went out in the one, two, three order. It was now the last opportunity of the Elks to win. They needed three runs to tie the score and four to win the game. They succeeded in getting some men on bases but none got as far as the home plate and the game was over.

There was quite a good sized audience present to applaud the good plays. Gene Connor was ready to cheer any good play whether it was made by the Elks or Knights. Dan Desmond didn't care whether anyone had their horses shod, for Sunday or not, he was bound to see the game out and he did. Dr. Jones came down in his gasoline with a supply of splints and liniment and other first aids to the injured appliances but did not have to use them.

The game was over at 6 o'clock and the victors and vanquished made a dive for home and beans. The score:

Busy Bee Wins At Winthrop

A rattling northwest breeze greeted the fifty boats that participated in the annual open race of the Winthrop Yacht club, Saturday afternoon.

Many Quincy boats participated, especially in Class D.

As in other races this season the Busy Bee and Iris sailed a scrappy race. The Iris led the class over the course and finished with a lead of nearly three minutes over the Busy Bee, but the latter won the race on time allowance. Other boats in this class were the Arawak, Strideaway, Aimira, Emeline and Dolly H.

The winners in the other classes were Class A, Alpha; Class B, Goblin; Class C, Thlalfi; Class S. Whisper; Class I, Dorchen; Class X, Teaser and Affinity in the power boat class.

Jolly Party To Nantasket

On Saturday afternoon, July 18, the Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor had their annual trolley ride.

The party in charge of Mrs. Minnie McNeil boarded special cars at Doble's corner at 3 o'clock and were carried to the centre where a few members were taken aboard. After the cars had started for Nantasket, which was the objective point, the ladies soon busied themselves with the enjoyments to be had on a fly on the trolleys.

The wonderful panorama of wood and field studied with fair homes on one side and glints of shimmering sea and inlet bays on the other are enough to stir the souls of the most plegmatic.

These were, by no means, lost sight of by the Loyal Ladies, but they had many other enjoyments on the cars. The order's spae-wives were there with their cards, and many a fair fortune was spaed to those anxious for a peep into their future. Of course, all fortunes are not of the rosiest hue, but those who did have sombre views cast up to them were not at all down cast, but were cheered by the "sweet hope" which comes to all, no matter what may befall them; and in addition there were the little tete-e-tetes which are dear to all women when they meet in such a way; and, if course, there were the jollies and jokes and a hundred other things that make for pleasure with those on pleasure bent.

Nantasket was soon reached and the sight seeing immediately began.

Mrs. McNeil, the president, had before leaving the cars, taken the precaution to announce that dinner for all would be served in the Randolph House at six sharp.

The promenades, the penny peep shows, the cool drinks and the far stretching restless ocean had their share of attention, then the dinner hour was at hand. All that had taken place prior to this, only served as an appetizer, but the fish dinner put up at the Randolph House added laurels to the already far-famed "Nantasket Fish dinners." It was perfect!

Paragon Park was the next on the program, so thither the party hied. But before I tell you what was seen inside of Paragon, let me say something of what was seen on the brow of the hill overlooking the great pleasure grounds.

It was dark, but how can it be dark at Paragon Park? Sun, moon, and stars sink into insignificance in comparison. Towers, portals, great stretches of entableture, frescoed walls, and streamers and fountains ablaze with light; scintillant at every angle. In a fine frenzy the Bardess of the order apostrophized the occasion in the following lines:

"Behold the lights of Paragon,
Oh my! ain't they sublime;
I wish we all were fairies
And live here all the time."

But there was no time to linger, the shining gates were ahead and had to be entered.

The party led by the president, went in. There the climax was found, mingled with the splendor and beauty of the place was fun. Fun of the most hilarious kind and the ladies did not miss it.

They swished the angles, bumped the bumps, explored the mysteries of the merry widows den, went through the human laundry, rode in the flying ariel coaches, teased the nigger in the snap trap, fed pop corn to the alligators, rode on the dromedary, took in the circus and the wild beast show. They also saw the flaming devil shoot the shutes to the water, where he disappeared. They also viewed, with some alarm, the act of shooting the wire to top of the electric tower. Bought merry hats and donned them too.

But the end came and at ten o'clock the returning cars started on the homeward journey, a journey made pleasant with song and tooting of fish horns.

At 11.30 o'clock Doble's corner was reached and the good-byes and sweet dreams were quickly got over and all struck for home. The trip was glorious!

Tributes to Departing Pastors

An event of unusual interest took place at the morning service at the Bethany church Sunday morning. Rev. Ellery C. Butler, pastor of the First church which has suspended services during the summer season, attended the services and was invited by Rev. Dr. Hardy to take part.

After the opening exercises Dr. Hardy said before proceeding he desired to give public expression to the appreciation of the good work of two pastors who were about to leave Quincy. "I refer to Rev. William E. Gardner and Rev. Ambrose F. Roche." Continuing Dr. Hardy said:

"In the departure of these two servants of God, this community has met with a distinct loss, although we are glad that a larger field of usefulness has been opened up to them.

"The Rev. Mr. Gardner since coming to this city has done much toward developing the spiritual life of our community. Between him and myself a warm personal friendship has existed. He is a man of broad views and warm sympathies, and everything that tended to promote the interest of this city received his earnest support. He has done much to promote the cause of good citizenship, temperance and civic righteousness, and he leaves an impress which will never be effaced.

"I also desire to testify to the good work which has been done by the Rev. Fr. Roche. His departure is a great loss to our city. It was a pleasure to know him. We were warm friends, and I shall always hold him in close regard. No one can fully realize what a grand work this Christian minister has done, especially in the cause of temperance. Quincy has taken a prominent position as a temperance city, and the result has been achieved in a great measure through his labors.

"Of Fr. Roche I need say no more. All who have labored long and earnestly to keep the saloon from this city have learned to know and honor him for his efforts to promote the moral welfare of the community.

"Fr. Roche is a man of broad views and liberal bearing, and it has been through the labors of such men as he that the protestant and Catholic churches have come to understand each other better. We all wish him success in his new field of labor."

At the conclusion of Dr Hardy's remarks Rev. Mr. Butler arose and said he desired to second the tributes of Dr. Hardy.

"Mr. Gardner," said Mr. Butler, "is a valued friend, one whom I shall ever remember. He is a good citizen, a kind friend and good minister of Jesus Christ. He has been an earnest worker in every thing that tended to unlift and ennoble humanity.

"It has been my privilege to know Fr. Roche intimately, and in him I found a true friend. His work in this city is known to all. Not only has his influence been felt in the borders of his parish, but throughout the city. He has not only labored earnestly for the welfare of the people of his own church, but he always found time to aid in any work which tended for good government and civic righteousness. He is a man of a warm heart, of broad sympathies, a christian gentleman and a faithful servant of God."

Saturday's Terrific Storm

Seldom has there been a higher wind and heavy fall of rain than that which visited Quincy shortly after 2 o'clock Saturday.

It begun to get black on the horizon for fifteen minutes before the storm broke.

Then the wind suddenly increased in violence until it blew a gale. The dust in the streets was blown about in great blinding clouds. With this came the roll of thunder and sharp flashes of lightning.

This was followed by a down pour of rain which lasted for nearly half an hour. The rain came down in bucketfuls filling up the catch basins and flooding the streets.

An hour after the shower the sun came out and warm again.

As far as known the only place in Quincy struck was the Margaret cottage on Crosby street, Houghs Neck.

The cottage is occupied by a club of young men from Dorchester.

The bolt entered the top of the cottage from the rear to the second floor, where it ran along the side of the wall and out the window. It then ran along the piazza.

In the cottage at the time were John and Matthew Pendergast, Jeremiah McCarthy, William Crainor, Frank O'Brien and William Webb.

They were stunned by the bolt but soon recovered.

During the night it rained hard at times.

Sunday morning dawned bright and clear and gave promise of being a hot day. The wind came from the east about 11 o'clock, however, and it was delightful.

During the early afternoon there were several sharp showers and at night quite a heavy easterly fog.

It was reported that a party of young people from South Boston who were at Houghs Neck attending a dance Saturday night had a hard time getting home.

They were in a power boat which broke down when off Hull. The boat finally drifted ashore at Hull.

St. Mary's New Pastor.

Rev. Henry T. Grady, who succeeds Rev. A. F. Roche as pastor of the St. Mary's parish at West Quincy, assumed his charge Sunday morning, officiating at the 9.45 mass. In addressing his people he said that his efforts would be devoted to serving his people. He spoke eulogistically of Fr. Roche who he said was a friend of many years standing and it would be his effort to carry on the work of the parish in the same lines as his predecessor.

Led the Group.

Word comes from the Secretary of the Board of Bar Examiners that Mr. Francis R. Boyd, son of the late Capt. Boyd of West Quincy, and a graduate of Adams Academy, received the highest marks of all the three hundred and fifteen candidates last month. There was a group of seven distinctly better than the rest, and he led the group.

—Hot? Yes; but it's good weather for corn. So, cheer up!

NOT DISHEARTENED

Americans Will Overcome Obstacles In the Olympic Games

FATES SEEM AGAINST THEM

Handicapped by Weather and Manner In Which Heat Drawings Are Conducted--Expect to Overtake Lead Gained by the Britishers

London, July 20.—The United Kingdom, which, before the opening of the Olympic games at the stadium, had a big lead over all other nations in the number of wins in the contest for supremacy in all sports, most of which, however, were scored in competitions in which no other nation took part, almost doubled that lead during the past week, and, furthermore, overtook the American team in the count for track and field events.

But this has not served to dishearten the American athletes and those of their countrymen who accompanied them to England. James E. Sullivan, the commissioner representing the United States, said last evening:

"We have come here to win the championship in field sports and we are going to do it, despite the handicap from which we are suffering. This handicap has been two-fold. In the first place the men came to a country having the worst possible climate for those unused to it and this affected them very seriously. It is not only that the men cannot get into their best form, but the weather conditions make them low-spirited. They thought to get a little sunshine at Brighton, but it has been as bad there as in London.

"The other handicap against which we have had to contend is the manner in which the heat drawings have been conducted. The drawings have gone against us in the 1500-metre race, when our best men, Sheppard and Halstead, were pitted against each other, and the same thing occurred in the 800-metre event, Sheppard and Halstead having been drawn against each other for a second time. Browilow and Ramey also have been put into a heat together in this event, while in two other heats of the 800 metres not a single American has been drawn.

"It is either extraordinarily bad luck or the manner in which the drawings have been made that has resulted in such unfavorable conditions for the Americans. We have tried to find out how the drawings are conducted, but have not been able to get anything from the Amateur Athletic association except the reply 'the drawings have been made in the usual way.'

"As soon as I saw the drawings last evening I went after the secretary of the Amateur Athletic association and pointed out the injustice of this, and the matter is to come before the committee. We do not care what representatives of other nations our men have to run against, but it is unfair to put them against each other in the heats."

Mr. Sullivan concluded by saying: "The United Kingdom had its innings in the distance events last week; the Americans will have their turn this week in the sprints, hurdles and jumps."

The men who are to uphold the supremacy of America in these sprints have been training at Brighton. They came up to London last evening and, although suffering from the effects of the climate, still they are determined to gather in the great majority of the prizes. It will be impossible to surpass the United Kingdom's total of wins in all sports, but the Americans expect very early in the week to wipe out the lead of fourteen points in the score for field sports which the representatives of the United Kingdom at the present time hold over them.

The figures up to Saturday night, counting by the American method, in the field and track events are: United Kingdom 54, America 40. Eleven events still remain to be contested, exclusive of the Marathon race, in all of which the American team will add to their score. These events are: Standing broad jump, high jump, pole vault, 100, 200, 400 and 800-metre flat races, 110 and 400-metre hurdle races and the relay race.

While the Americans realize that none of these will be a walkover, they do not fear the European competitors as much as they do the two Canadians, Kerr, the sprinter who has easily beaten everyone he has met in England, and Archibald, the clever pole vaulter. If Longboat is allowed to run in the Marathon, which it is believed he will, the committee having already decided not to allow the protest filed against the Indian by the American committee, it is likely that the prize in this event again will go to Canada.

Caused Little Sister's Death

Lynn, Mass., July 20.—In an investigation into the death of the 2-year-old daughter of Louis and Mrs. Kaplan, who was burned to death in a baby carriage in front of her home, Jacob, the 8-year-old brother of the child, told the police that while he and his younger brother, Morris, aged 3 years, were playing with matches, he accidentally dropped a lighted match into the carriage in which the baby was lying. On account of the lads' tender years it is probable that the police will do nothing further in the case.

QUEBEC'S CELEBRATION

Thousands of Visitors Are Pouring Into Historic City

Quebec, July 20.—Quebec's great tercentenary celebration has begun. Special services at the different church and an impressive ceremony at the monument erected on Dufferin terrace to Champlain, the founder of the great city, marked the inauguration of a program that is to go down in history for its brilliancy.

Already thousands of visitors, military and civilian, have poured into the city in great numbers, while every train and boat brings more. Sunburned soldiers in khaki, blue and red, sailors in the time-honored blue, and the glittering gold buttons and braid of their officers lend color to the scene, which is picturesque and gorgeous in the extreme.

On Wednesday the battleship Indomitable, one of the largest and newest of the great fighting machines of King Edward VII, will drop anchor in the St. Lawrence, and upon her will be the man who, if he lives, will sit next on the throne of Great Britain—George, Prince of Wales, representing his father and the British empire.

Murder Mystery In New Jersey

Hackensack, N. J., July 20.—A strange murder case developed when officials of Hackensack, examining the body of Mrs. Othelia Eberhard, which was found lying on the railroad tracks, discovered bullet wounds. A passing train had cut the body in two. Otelia Eberhard, a daughter of the dead woman, was wounded three times by bullets and dragged herself a mile to an isolated farmhouse. The police are hunting for August Eberhard, a nephew of the murdered woman. Mrs. Eberhard and her daughter arrived from Vienna last Thursday on the invitation of August Eberhard, her nephew.

Effective Work In Aliens' Behalf

Washington, July 20.—The division of information of the bureau of immigration and naturalization has diverted hundreds of poor aliens from the crowded centres to places where there is a big demand for that class of labor. From the first of February last to the close of June nearly 1000 aliens and others had been sent in response to applications to various parts of the country. The employment secured was principally farm work. The distribution among New England states was: Connecticut, 7; Massachusetts, 2; Vermont, 227.

Aerial Aids In War

Washington, July 20.—"In the next war that is fought the advance column will be made up of balloons and airships." This is the belief freely expressed by army and navy officers here. For this particular reason the army balloon tests which are to soon begin at Fort Myer will receive much attention in military circles. It is understood that several of the military attaches of the diplomatic corps will be at Fort Myer to take notes and report to their respective governments.

Walker Refuses to Talk

Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.—William F. Walker, the New Britain, Conn., absconder, in custody of State Superintendent of Police Egan of Connecticut and K. J. Hoffman, a detective, arrived here today from Ensenada. Walker is stooped and haggard. The newspaper men who sought to interview him could get no answer to many pointed questions that were put to him. The fugitive and his custodians proceeded at once to the Santa Fe station, whence they left Los Angeles.

Flames Headed Off by Rain

Portland, Me., July 20.—A succession of drenching showers, very timely in their arrival, have served to put a stop to the great fires which have wrought damage amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars in the Maine woods during the last two weeks. Summer resorts along the shore from one end of the state to the other have seemed at times in danger of being wiped out by the rush of flames through the tall timber and underbrush.

Testing Quids For Jackies

Washington, July 20.—About twenty samples of chewing tobacco are being tested by the chewing board in connection with the proposed purchase of 100,000 pounds of the weed, which it has been found necessary to obtain in addition to the regular annual supply for the navy for the present fiscal year. The prices range from 36 to 42 cents a pound, and the aim is to obtain a brand of tobacco best adapted for the use of sailors.

Despondent Over Wife's Death

Newark, N. J., July 20.—Herman Unger, 70 years old, a member of the firm of Unger Bros., silver manufacturers, committed suicide by shooting with a revolver on the shore of the Raritan river, near his home. Grief over tht death of his wife is assigned by his relatives as the reason for the deed. Mrs. Unger died six months ago.

Four Children at One Birth

Kansas City, July 20.—Mrs. Susan Turner, wife of Louis C. Turner of Argentine, Kan., gave birth to quadruplets, three boys and a girl. The girl died a short time after birth, but the boys are alive and apparently healthy. Besides the four children just born, seven others have been born to the Turners.

A NEW POLITICAL IDEA

Strong Republican States to Assist Doubtful Neighbors

PLANS OF WESTERN LEADERS

They Are Being Formulated Under Guidance of Chairman Hitchcock, Who Will Not Make Any Prediction During the Campaign

Colorado Springs, Col., July 20.—When Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national committee arrived here last evening he was greeted by a large number of political leaders who had reached Colorado Springs during the day. He found assurances which made it certain that the two days' conference which opened today will be a success. Those who met Hitchcock include national committeemen and state chairmen from practically every state and territory west of the Mississippi river. Senator Warren of Wyoming and a number of other Republicans not members of the committee arrived here today.

Nothing of the kind now undertaken by Hitchcock was ever attempted in the history of national campaigns in any party. He announced that it would be his purpose to have states which are certainly Republican assist in campaigning in neighboring states which may be doubtful. To that end he is bringing the western leaders together. Today there is a general conference, at which the various leaders are exchanging ideas and formulating a system whereby one state may draw on the political resources of another. Hitchcock will later hold individual conferences with representatives of each of the states and territories which sent men to the political gathering.

According to Hitchcock there has been a lack of coherence between western leaders in past campaigns, the representatives of each state doing their best to pile up Republican majorities, but not helping other states which have more difficult political battles to fight. He says that he wants to broaden the responsibilities of each of the western Republican leaders, with a view of carrying the whole western region for Taft and Sherman.

When asked what western states he regards as safely Republican and what ones he classes as doubtful, Hitchcock said: "I have determined not to make any predictions at any time. That will be my policy throughout the campaign. We won't neglect any territory where there is a bare chance of victory, either north, south, east or west, but I shall not indulge in forecasts."

As to Campaign Contributions

Lincoln, Neb., July 20.—The statement of W. H. Taft, at Hot Springs, Va., Saturday, that the Republican national committee would not accept any contributions from corporations in his campaign, was viewed here with more than ordinary interest. Mr. Bryan dictated the following statement: "We welcome him to this advanced ground and beg of him to go further and announce that all individual contributions above a reasonable minimum will be made known before the election."

Late last night Frank S. Monett, formerly Republican attorney general of Ohio, who conducted the prosecutions in that state against the Standard Oil company and later was employed by the interstate commerce commission to gather material upon which to base the government suits, arrived and held a lengthy conference with Bryan. Monett announced that it was his purpose to actively support Bryan in Ohio in the campaign.

Taft a Union Shovelman

Hot Springs, Va., July 20.—When William H. Taft goes to Cincinnati to be notified of his nomination for the presidency he will receive notice of his election as a member of a labor organization. He has been elected a member of the International Society of Steam Shovelmen. Taft had a good deal to do with the steam shovelmen at Panama. He will probably leave here next Saturday for Cincinnati and may not return until the following Saturday. After Sept. 1 he expects to remain in Cincinnati until the election is over.

Canadian Solons Adjourn

Ottawa, July 20.—The longest session in the history of the parliament of Canada concluded with the prorogation at noon today. The supply bill for the current fiscal year provides for a total expenditure of $140,000,000, exclusive of railroad subsidies, totalling $20,000,000 on 4000 miles of new roads to be built during the next two or three years.

Death of Captain McCrea

New York, July 20.—Captain Henry McCrea of the United States navy, who was in command of the battleship Georgia during the cruise of the north Atlantic squadron to the Pacific coast, died of Bright's disease in the naval hospital, Brooklyn. He had been ill since June 22. McCrea was 57 years old.

Headed For the Arctic

New York, July 20.—The Arctic-bound steamer Roosevelt crossed the Gulf of St. Lawrence and entered the Straits of Belle Isle last night. A message from Commander Peary reported all well on board.

A LACK OF FRIENDSHIP

One Cause of Constant Turmoil In Central America

PRESENT ROW IN HONDURAS

Heads of Various Republics Appear to Be More or Less Responsible For Chaotic Conditions--All Fear United States Intervention

Panama, July 20.—Central Americans who are now in Panama and who are greatly interested in the situation brought about by the revolutionary movement in Honduras, are convinced that the presidents of several of the republics are involved in the affair, the ramifications of which reach far back.

According to one of the most prominent of these Central Americans, President Cabrera of Guatemala, following the last conspiracy against his life, of which he believed President Zelaya of Nicaragua to be the promoter, conceived a plan for Zelaya's downfall. Fearing that without aid he could not succeed in this, he endeavored to interest his neighbor, President Figueroa of Salvador, who had an old grudge against Zelaya, whom he charged with giving openly, some time ago, men, arms and money to Prudence Alfaro for the purpose of invading Salvador.

For a time President Figueroa was undecided, but eventually General Bonilla, ex-president of Honduras, who was deposed by the revolution promoted also by Zelaya, appeared on the scene. He recommended that they begin operations by replacing him as president of Honduras, this merely as a preliminary step; later all three republics, Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador, he suggested, could join forces in an attack upon Nicaragua.

Prior to this, the Honduran confidential envoy in Guatemala, General Bustillo, had been imprisoned for the purpose, it is believed, of precipitating war with Honduras. But the challenge remained unanswered. Honduras, however, began preparations and increased its army by 10,000 men, placing a strong guard along the frontier.

A revolutionary movement was then ordered by those who were endeavoring to bring about a change in the government of Honduras, the revolutionists invading that country from the Guatemalan and Salvadorean frontiers. President Zelaya was taken by surprise at the movement and caught unprepared, but he immediately saw the peril to his government. Undoubtedly to help as much as possible the Honduran government, Zelaya increased the Nicaraguan army and placed arms in the hands of Salvadorean refugees, among whom were a number of prominent and popular leaders, and quietly awaited developments.

President Figueroa, among whose qualities courage is not believed to be prominent, knowing that only a spark would start a powerful revolutionary fire in his dominions, was alarmed at the determined action of Honduras and Nicaragua and refused further to aid the revolutionists in Honduras.

In the meantime the heads of both Honduras and Nicaragua remembered the Central American court of justice recently inaugurated at Cartage, C. R., and promptly filed charges against Salvador and Guatemala, not only with the idea of gaining time, but for the purpose of bringing more prominently to the attention of those republics the possibility of American intervention.

Shortly after the presentation of these charges the United States cruiser Albany left for Amapala with a force of marines, and other warships were announced as being under orders to proceed to the scene of the trouble if necessary, and as a result of the attitude of the United States the belligerent sentiments of the various Central American presidents cooled considerably, for, although bearing no love for each other and standing in constant fear of an attack from some undetermined quarter, they prefer anything to having the United States interfere in Central American affairs. As the matter now stands, each one is accusing the other and all are making claims to having been neutral.

Americans In Disfavor

Mexico City, July 20.—The anti-foreign fight in Mexico is assuming large proportions and a bitter controversy is being waged by the foreign and native press. La Patria prints an article in which it proclaims the time ripe for a policy whose cry shall be "Mexico for the Mexicans." Most of the tirade is directed against the "Yankees," a term of contempt used by Mexican editors in designating Americans.

Tug and Barges Ashore

Rockport, Mass., July 20.—Tug Richmond, towing two barges, went ashore on Sandy Bay breakwater, three miles from here, on the high water, and the low tide left her high and dry. With a strong wind from the northeast and a nasty sea the tug and barges are in a critical position.

Big Schooner on Ledge

Vineyard Haven, Mass., July 20.—The six-masted schooner William L. Douglas, from Baltimore, bound for Boston with coal, is hard and fast ashore on Lucas shoal. She lacks four feet of water to clear herself. Lighters will be sent from Boston to lighter her.

KIDNAPPED LITTLE GIRL

New Jersey Youth Barely Escaped Vengeance of New Jersey Mob

Glassboro, N. J., July 20.—Charles Hemphill, aged 21, whose home is in Clayton, near here, narrowly escaped being lynched by excited residents of this vicinity, who had been wrought to the point of fury because Hemphill had kidnapped Cora Garton, 7 years old, whose home is in Millville, N. J. Only the quick action of the police authorities in secretly removing Hemphill to the Woodbury jail, it is believed, saved his life.

Hemphill on Thursday last joined a Holiness camp meeting here and became, it is said, infatuated with the child. When it became known that the Garton girl had been taken away by Hemphill hundreds of persons joined in the search.

Nothing was seen or heard of her until nearly midnight on Saturday, when Hanley Beckett, a summer cottager at Pitman, heard screams and, leaving his home, met Hemphill and the child. Hemphill said he and the girl were walking to camp. He then moved off, saying: "I can't do anything with her, so I'll leave her with you."

Beckett took the girl to her home and notified the police. Later Hemphill was captured at the Pitman railroad station. Word of the capture was telephoned to Glassboro, and men armed with clubs, baseball bats, and some carrying ropes gathered about the jail.

Word was sent to Pitman of the temper of the crowd, and it was decided to detain Hemphill there. At 2 o'clock Sunday morning he was arraigned before Magistrate Paulin and held in $1000 bail. During the hearing a large crowd of Pitman residents gathered and threats against Hemphill were made. Physicians say the girl is not seriously injured.

Relay Racers' Fast Time

Cleveland, July 20.—With the trip nearly two thirds completed and the running schedule pushed far to the rear, the Y. M. C. A. boys resumed, at 2 o'clock this morning, their task of carrying on foot, by relays, a message from Mayor McClellan of New York to Mayor Busse of Chicago. It was arranged that no part of the run would be made on Sunday. The relay was resumed with the boys ten hours ahead of the schedule. It now is expected that the message will be handed to Busse about noon tomorrow, thereby making the 1000-mile trip in about 118 hours, at a grand average of approximately 8 2-3 miles an hour.

Balloons Did Not Make Records

St. Paul, July 20.—All the balloons which started from St. Paul Saturday in an effort to surpass the world's distance and endurance records have landed. The Chicago won both endurance and distance prizes. It came down at noon Sunday seventy-three miles south of St. Paul. A. L. Stevens, director of the race, in explaining the failure of the aeronauts to sail greater distances, said that the lifting power of the gas was not as great as they had counted on, and that consequently the balloons were unable to carry the amount of ballast necessary for a long flight.

Revolt of Turkish Soldiers

Constantinople, July 20.—It is rumored that 7000 Turkish soldiers in the Monastir district are in open revolt and that 32,000 troops have been ordered to the scene of the outbreak. It is also reported that a number of officers of the third army corps have threatened that unless the officers now awaiting court martial on the charge of assisting the "Young Turkey" agitation are immediately liberated, all the generals in Macedonia will be killed and the army will then march to Constantinople and demand the re-establishment of the constitution.

Seven Deaths by Drowning

Boston, July 20.—Seven cases of drowning were reported last night from as many different places in New England. The list is as follows: Harold Coffin, aged 12, Boston, drowned while bathing; Michael Boyle, 13, orphan, Warwick, R. I., bathing; William F. Cassidy, Portland, Me., boat overturned; Roy Gifford, 11, Fall River, bathing; W. P. Brown of Boston, 35, drowned at Hudson, Mass., boat upset; Marie Dalbery, 33, Newport, R. I., bathing; Walter B. Martin, 35, Malden, Mass., at Weirs, N. H., boat upset.

No Light on Drew Murder

Troy, N. Y., July 20.—Teal pond, where Hazel Drew's body was found with its telltale evidence of murder, was visited Sunday by several thousand people. No new facts in the investigation of the crime have developed. It is the belief of District Attorney O'Brien that if it can be learned where the girl spent the night of July 6, a long step will have been taken in the direction of locating the author of the crime.

Blind Man Died In Woods

Bangor, Me., July 20.—The dead body of George L. Cole, an aged resident of Stetson, was found in the woods near that town. Cole had been missing from home ten days. He was totally blind and it is supposed that he started out to take a short walk without his accustomed attendant. He served in the Civil war as a private.

Live Wire Caused Fall to Death

Lynn, Mass., July 20.—Edward Randall, 30 years old, an electric wireman, was standing on the top of a ten-foot ladder in a train shed here when his hand came in contact with a live wire and he was hurled to the concrete floor of the shed with such force that many of the bones of his body were broken. He lived but a short time.

Seeking American Influence

Pekin, July 20.—The Chinese government has decided to appoint Tang-Shao-Yi as high commissioner to visit Washington for the purpose of thanking the United States government for remitting a portion of what is known as the Chinese "Boxer" indemnity. The decision to send a representative educated in America and conversant with American affairs is due to the recognition of the necessity for closer relations with America. The necessity is the more marked in view of the increasing jealous contest among the European and Asiatic powers within China. China not only intends to send 100 students to the United States annually for four years, and, after that, fifty students annually until the entire award shall be paid, but contemplates a benefit amounting to the whole cancelled indemnity.

Faith In Three-Cent Fares

Cleveland, July 20.—Cleveland has had nearly three months of 3-cent street carfare, and two of the monthly reports have shown a deficit. A similar report is predicted for July. The operating expenses and fixed charges have been from $40,000 to $50,000 a month in excess of the earnings. The Municipal Traction company, which is operating the local lines under a lease, also is under a promise to give free transfers July 28. The revenue from transfers has been about $30,000 a month, a cent each having been charged. The officials of the company still express the belief that 3-cent fares will pay in time.

Trans-Pacific Yacht Race

Honolulu, July 20.—After a computation of the time made by each vessel and taking out the handicap allowances, the officials declared the yacht Lurline the victor in the trans-Pacific yacht race from San Pedro, Cal., to this port. The Lurline arrived here at 9:34 a. m. Saturday and the other three yachts arrived Sunday within six hours of each other. The Lurline's time was 13 days, 21 hours, 21 minutes, 43½ seconds.

Soldier Killed by Fall From Train

Moncton, N. B., July 20.—Sergeant T. P. Urquhart and Sergeant E. Murray of the St. John Fusiliers fell from a fast moving train which was carrying the regiment from St. John to Quebec. The men were passing from one car to another when a lurch threw both off. Urquhart's skull was fractured and he soon died. Murray will recover. He said he was trying to get Urquhart into his own car when both fell off.

Alabama Troops Under Arms

Montgomery, Ala., July 20.—Because of the strike situation in Birmingham, the movement to Chickamauga of the Alabama National Guard has been postponed for a week. The troops were to have left for the maneuvers at Chickamauga Park July 23. Nearly all the troops are under arms and ready for active service.

Drank Poison In Cell

Lewiston, Me., July 20.—Emmanuel Walmsley, aged 40, who was arrested on the charge of assaulting his wife in Lisbon and confined in the local police station, committed suicide in his cell by drinking carbolic acid from a bottle he had concealed in his clothing.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Mrs. Hannah L. W. Heyde, the last surviving sister of Poet Walt Whitman, died at her home at Burlington, Vt., from infirmities due to old age. She was 84 years old and was born in Brooklyn.

William G. Gaffney, aged 15, was struck by a freight train at South Framingham, Mass., and received injuries from which he died twenty minutes later.

Daniel Harvey, a sailor on schooner F. G. French, lying at Northeast Harbor, Me., fell from the boatswain's chair fifty feet to the deck of the schooner, causing his death.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Miss Almena Smith of West Medway, spent the week end with Mrs. William Michael of School street.

Miss Annie W. Grant of Rodman street is spending the summer with her cousin, Miss Agnes Burnett at Milford, N. H.

Miss Huena McLeod of Rodman street is enjoying a three weeks' vacation, visiting at Prince Edward Island, and Sidney, Nova Scotia.

Rev. Dr. Hardy was attending a committee meeting at the Congregational house, Boston, Saturday afternoon, when the flagstaff on the building was struck by lightning. Fortunately none of the occupants of the building was injured.

The store of William Keefe at Houghs Neck was raided by the police Saturday night but no liquors were found. Th police, however, claim to have evidence to convict Keefe of keeping and exposing liquor for sale. He was arrested.

A party of young ladies, mostly from Quincy, who are touring abroad with Miss Randall, have met with several slight accidents, but none serious. They were on a train from Florence to eVnice when train came into collison with a baggage car, telescoping the forward cars, inflicting injuries to the occupants. The passengers in the next compartment to them were badly cut by flying glass, but they all escaped uninjured.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the WashingtonM. French Hose Association was held Saturday evening. It was voted to hold the annual reunion at the Squantum Inn Saturday, Aug. 29. These officers were elected:

President—Fred H. French.
Vice President, Frank C. Packard.
Secretary and Treasurer—Jesse F. Curtis.

A Fraud.

People should beware of a young man calling from house to house with a story that he is looking after the renumbering of the street, for he is probably a fraud.

Such a young man went through Bigelow street Friday morning and that night there was a burglary at the Miller house.

The police are inclined to believe that these parties go about sizing up houses to see who have gone away for the season that they may burglarize the place.

First Prize.

At the annual small fruit show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society on Saturday and Sunday, Dr. W. G. Kendall, of Atlantic as usual, won first prize on each of his four exhibits, red and white currants, and two varieties of gooseberries. In all the many years he has exhibited these two fruits not once has he failed to win first prize in competition with all the fruit growers in the State.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE

Renewed Interest As End Approaches

But a few more days remain before the last coupon in the motor boat contest will be printed and as the end approaches the contest becomes more and more interesting.

It looks now as though one of the four present leaders would win out.

Rumor has it, however, that some of those that do not stand so high in the printed list have accumulated thousands of coupons and that they have some surprises in store.

In today's list all below 100 have been omitted.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

—Representative Luce makes a rather startling statement when he says: "I find that in 1906 the penal institutions commissioner of Boston pardoned 780 inmates of Deer island. Upon authority which satisfies me I am informed that in this wholesale pardoning political considerations entered, that men were released in order that they might work for the dominant party at caucuses and elections, that others were released as political favors."—Medford Mercury.

—Other cities are beginning to find violent fault with the State tax, because it affects them as well as Boston. When everybody wakes up to the necessity for economy on Beacon Hill, economy may be expected, but it is overdue at the present time.—Boston Journal.

Power Boat Race

There was a good entry in the power boat race of the Quincy Yacht club Saturday, but the race was a little unsatisfactory from the fact that the judges did not have the percentages allowed the boats, so that they were unable to give out the corrected time.

The boats to finish were:
Alki—C. D. Norris.
Nakomis—F. W. Esterbrooks.
Jennie—W. F. Packard.
Mardine—W. S. Packard.
Marjorie—A. H. Taber.
Lottie—W. W. Guy.
Anna—E. Thern.
Lois C.—A. Patterson.
Alhambra—W. H. Reed.
Sheran—Frank Burke.

A race was also held for the class B yachts. There were four entries but only one finished, the Shoofly. Her actual time was 1h. 39m, 18s.

Squantum's Race.

An impromptu race was held Sunday by yachts of the Squantum Yacht club. The course was one of 7 1-2 miles and there was a wholesail easterly breeze. The summary:

Newton, Y. M. C. A., 6; Makaria, 5.

At Newton Saturday in the fastest game Makaria has played, they were defeated by the fast Newton Y. M. C. A. team 6 to 5 in 15 innings. The features of the game was the timely hitting of Makaria, in the second W. Ganzel sacrifice putting Tupper on second while Troupe single drove in the run and in the eighth R. Ganzel hit for two bases and Smith the next man up hit for two bases scoring R. Ganzel and tying the score, neither side scored again until the fifteenth when W. Ganzel hit for a single and Nicoll scored him on a three bagger, Nicoll out trying to stretch the three in a home run.

In the fifteenth for Newton Howard hit for two bases, Hanson hit for a single, Haskell bunted, Troupe threw to McKenzie at third the throw going bad and Howard scoring tying the score, Stanton plied to R. Ganzel, Michael caught Hanson and third making two out, Haskell stole third, Coolidge hit to Michael who threw to Troupe to stop Haskell who scored on one of the closest decisions ever seen and the game was over.

Bill Smith led the batting for Makaria with Nicoll and R. Ganzel close behind while Chase was easily the star in both field and batting for Newton.

Both pitchers were in excellent form and pitched great ball Michael finishing the game in the best form he has shown this season and the only bad feature of the game and regretted by both teams, was the honest the incompetent umpire.

Makaria has Newton booked for Labor day morning at the park.

Busy Times Houghs Neck

There was considerable excitement at the beach Saturday night. Officer Thorn dressed in citizen's clothes is alleged to have purchased four pints of whiskey at different times during the evening from William Keefe proprietor of the Uno Beer establishment on Fensmere avenue. Officer Thorne arrested Keefe on the charge of violating the liquor laws. If the rumors are true Keefe has been very bold in selling liquor. It was a surprise to many when they heard that Keefe had sold whiskey to Thorne, knowing that Thorne was an officer. Keefe was arraigned in the district court this morning.

About 12.30 Sunday morning a man walked into the Winthrop cafe and said that he could lick every one on the beach. Some of his friends took him out of the cafe and attempted to bring him home. According to the story told by the police the man started to lick some club members and in a very few minutes there was a free fight for all mix up. Thorne and two other officers arrived quickly on the scene and got into the mix up. Thorne got hold of the one that started the fight and after a struggle of two or three minutes put the cuffs on him and with a crowd of over a hundred following, marched him to the lock-up in the basement of the fire station. Friends bailed him out Sunday morning. The charge against him was drunkenness. He receiving enought punishment from the mob.

The storm of Saturday did considerable ramage to property at the beach. Lightning struck the Margaret cottage on Crosby street doing damage amounting to nearly $200. The cottage is occupied by the Margaret club of Edward Everett Square, Dorchester. At the time of the lightning four of the members of the club were seated on the piazza and two were seated on the stairs inside the house. They were all knocked off of their seats. The bolt struck the top of the house working into the second floor breaking four panes of glass, splintering the cross-beams and tore off a part of the piazza roof; and a clock in one of the rear rooms was knocked from a shelf. The house is owned by a party named Wiggin of Egleston Square.

The Linden, one of the oldest houses on the beach, collapsed during the storm Saturday night. The underpining gave way and the building sunk about three feet making a fearful clash, frightening those living near. The house was built by the late Mr. Taber and was situated at the end of Taber avenue on the water front. It is now owned by the John Day estate and has been vacant for nearly a year. The house is many years old and the underpining was rotten and the terrific force of the wind Saturday night snapped the posts in two from under the main part of the house, causing it to break away from the rear part, and sinking nearly three feet. The house was twisted into many different shapes making a very odd sight. Thousands visited the place Sunday and a few took pictures of the building.

John Green is singing with great success at the Palms. He has a splendid baritone voice.

Misses Alice and Lazarine Martin are at the Hillside cottage on Bay View avenue, as the guests of Mrs. Hiram A. Darrow for two weeks. The young ladies are popular residents of City Point, South Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Hart of Dorchester are at the Midland, Bell street, for the summer. Mr. Hart is well known in the musical circles of Boston.

Charles Lennon and his wife are stopping with his mother, Mrs. Annie Collins of Bell street, for a few weeks.

Coupons in the motor boat contest for Frank Pray may be left at the Quincy Yacht club house with Harry Brown or Will Hudson.

DELICIOUS BANANA CREAM.

This recipe is highly recommended by one of our correspondents; try it for desert tomorrow.

Peel five large bananas, rub smooth with five teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add one teacup sweet cream beaten to a stiff froth, then add one 10c. package of Lemon JELL-O dissolved in 1 1-2 teacups boiling water. Pour into mold and when cold garnish with candied cherries. Serve with whipped cream, or any good pudding sauce. JELL-O is sold by all Grocers at 10c. per package.

Child Rescued By Conductor

A Boston paper reports, while at play on the Dorchester bank near Neponset bridge, Monday afternoon, Charles Brown, 5 years old, living in that vicinity, lost his footing and fell in. E. A. Malone a Quincy conductor on the Old Colony street railway, who was standing on the bridge, saw him, and in a twinkling he jumped to the river bank and plunged in after the boy. The latter had gone down twice when Malone reached him, but Malone brought him safely to the shore and assisted in resuscitating him.

Several Permits For New Buildings

Inspector of Buildings Warren S. Parker has issued the following permits for new buildings:

To O. H. Bates, for a cottage at Squantum.

To Lawritz Jakoben, for a cottage at Rock Island.

To Norman Gardenir, for a cottage on Adams shore.

To L. Burr, for a dwelling on Henry street, Norfolk Downs.

To Morris E. Kilpatrick, for a house on Newbury avenue, Atlantic.

To Mrs. Caroline G. Main, for a house on Billings road, Atlantic.

To Patrick J. Mitchell, for a dwelling on Trafford street, South Quincy.

Sudden Death.

Albert W. Willett of Somerville died Monday night at the City Hospital after a few hours' illness. Mr. Willett, who is a carpenter, was at work on Centre street on Monday when he had a shock of apoplexy. He was removed to the Hospital where he died shortly before midnight. He was about 55 years of age.

—It seems strange but it is nevertheless a fact, that Yale has never yet furnished a president for the country. Cabinet offices, senators, representatives, governors, soldiers, jurists and all other officials have spent their college days under the elms of New Haven, but never yet a president. Yale's dearest foe, Harvard, has had two, John Quincy Adams and the distinguished gentleman who is about to retire.—Bridgeport Post.

—These celluloid combs that women wear on the back and sides of their heads ornamented with gold-plated metal and set with bits of colored glass are real jewelry—at least when brought from Europe. This has been decided by the Board of United States General Appraisers and the duty has been fixed at 60 per cent. It is just as cheap to bring home diamonds or silk, and cheaper to bring automobiles.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

—The Wisconsin makers of print paper propose to furnish newspapers with black paper on which matter will be printed in white letters. They say that they would save millions in pulp yearly and reduce the cost of paper about one half, as black paper can be made from old newspapers and almost any fibrous stock. An effort will be made to get newspapers to adopt the black concertedly. We have no idea that it will succeed.—Athol Chronicle.

—Mayor Hibard, of Boston, is in a hard place. He gets the blame for all his mistakes and for anything and for any thing he doesn't do, while the credit for the good things he does largely goes to the finance commission.—Somerville Journal.

Fell From Team Broke Leg

A milkman named Chesley while driving through Squantum street at 1 o'clock this morning found a man lying by the roadside, near the corner of Montclair avenue.

The man said that his name was Randall McKinna of Pierce street, Milton, and that he drove a team for Gallagher.

According to the man's story he was driving along late Monday night when he lost his balance and fell from his team. In falling he fractured his leg. He had no recollection of what became of the team after that. All he remembers is that he crawled to the side of the street and went to sleep.

Mr. Chesley notified the police station and officer Milford, who was in charge, sent the police ambulance down and took the man to the City Hospital, where it was discovered that he had fractured his leg.

According to the police the man was somewhat under the influence of liquor.

The Telepost Company Board.

To eliminate the possibility of control by the older wire companies, the new telegraph company, the Telepost, has elected four new members to the board of voting trustees, each of which has absolute veto power on all questions involving the ownership and control of the company. The board is now composed of Ex-Senator Henry W. Blair of New Hampshire, General A. R. Buffington, of New Jersey, Hamilton Odell and Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst of New York, H. D. Critchfield of Milwaukee, F. W. Shumaker and H. Lee Sellers of New York.

Mr. Seller is president of the Telepost Company, Mr. Shumaker represents the fiscal agents of the company, and Mr. Critchfield has been for many years prominently connected with the independent telephone movement. Senator Blair, General Buffington, Mr. Odell and Dr. Parkhurst represent the public on the Telepost board of voting trustees.

Granite Shipments.

Returns from the two granite shipping terminals at South and West Quincy for the month of June show that the total amount of rough and finished granite shipped from Quincy that month to have been 11,227,201 pounds which was practically the same amount as shipped in May. Of the June shipments 6,364,601 pounds were forwarded from West Quincy and 4,862,600 pounds from South Quincy. The returns for the month of July will probably show a very large increase over June.

Elks Day Outing

Tomorrow is Elk's day. All good Elks will polish their antlers and hike themselves to Houghs Neck and take the steamer for Peddock's Island.

Here there will be something doing every minute, from the time of their arrival to the time of their departure.

The first number on the program will be a shore dinner, at which the man who gets away with the most clams will be presented with a bottle of jamaica ginger to stop that distressed feeling.

Following the dinner there will be a long series of sports.

The sports among other things will include two games of ball of five innings each, between the married and single and the fat and lean men.

There will also be running races etc. The affair is to be exclusively for Elks.

Milford Granite.

Judge Colt in the United States Court, has authorized the Franklin Trust Company of New York to foreclose the mortgage on the property of the Milford Pink Granite Quarry company if the $340,305 due first mortgage bond holders are not paid before Aug. 4. The foreclosure is to be subject to leases of certain portions of the quarry property held by the Norcross Bros. Company which is furnishing granite for the new Pennsylvania railroad terminal in New York.

Closed Up.

Chief Burrell and his officers were on the trail Sunday for persons who had their places of business open contrary to law.

But few places were found open for business and these were at Houghs Neck and South Quincy and were promptly closed up.

Some of these were of parties who had been refused a license as a common victualler at the last meeting of the City Council, and others were of those who run grocery stores and had made no application. All of the places were ordered to close up which they did.

They say Hetty Green caught one bad habit from her short sojourn amid wealth and fashion in a great New York hotel. She has learned to tip for services rendered, which fact may make life sweetly pleasant for the non-tippers in the plain boarding house where she now makes her home.

DOG NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that for a period of ninety days, on and after July 20th, 1908, no dog shall be allowed to run at large within the limits of the City of Quincy. Any dog running at large shall be taken by an officer and kept in pound at the City Stables (Sea street) for three days.

Owners may reclaim their dogs at the pound by paying expenses.

If a dog is not reclaimed within three days after capture the dog shall be killed.

Any unlicensed dog taken will be killed at once.

Houghs Neck By the Seaside

Charles F. Atwood of Houghs Neck one of the unfortunate men who lost their lives in the explosion at Mystic wharf, was buried on Monday at Waltham. A delegation of officials from the customs service was present at the services which were conducted by Rev. J. K. Mason, in the Universalist Church.

A meeting of the Houghs Neck Associates will be held Wednesday evening at Norteman's. Matters of great importance will be brought up. The report of the incorporation committee will be made. Some warm debates are expected.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Young of Beachmont visited Mr. and Mrs. William P. Taylor of Shennen street on Monday.

The Poverty Party is to be held Friday evening at Brown's summer ball room. This is the third annual and it promises to be better than the two previous ones. A special boat will run from City Point, South Boston, to the Neck, leaving City Point at 8 P. M., and returning after the dance. Prizes will be awarded to the ones wearing the most poverty stricken costume. Peter Ryan will have charge of the floor.

A bowling match is scheduled for tonight in the Houghs Neck bowling league at Brown's bowling alley.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Max of Boston are stopping on Charles street.

When your Daily Ledger delivery is irregular please notify A. H. Dunham the news agent, that he may call the attention of the news boy to the fact. Don't complain until after you have done this individually in writing. There is no reason why the Daily Ledger should not be delivered regularly to subscribers, but sometimes it is the subscribers' fault when they neglect to notify the news agent of failures to receive the paper.

The Observant Citizen of the Post says: The members of the Tamaha club are entertaining a large number of their friends at their cottage, "The Willows," at Houghs Neck this summer. The members of this club, which is composed of South Boston boys, have proven themselves good hosts.

Higher Tax Rate.

Waltham, the watch city, also reports an increase of tax rate. It is $18 per $1000 against $16.70 last year. The total valuation of the city is $24,910,660, of which sum $18,541,300 is for real estate and $6,369,360 for personal property. These figures indicate a decrease of $360,728 in the value of personal property and an increase of $305,200 in real estate.

Flowers are so abundant and beautiful in Hawaii that whenever a public function occurs the participants are decorated with garlands by the young women, who are very skillful in the weaving of the wreaths. So it happened that when the blue jackets from the fleet marched through the streets of Honolulu every man jack of them wore a garland of the beautiful flowers of the island. Two hundred Hawaiian girls, with arms full of flowers, appeared on the scene and made the sailors and marines happy with the decorations that they placed upon their heads and shoulders. The flowers of Hawaii always attract the visitors to the islands, and they are loud in their praises of the beautiful blooms which are seen in the cultivated gardens, and covering the wild fields and hills.

—The town of Framingham is adorned with a handsome bronze statue representing a minute man of 1775, apparently a blacksmith just turning from his anvil to answer the Lexington alarm. But all of the inhabitants do not understand or appreciate the figure or what it stands for. A stranger inquired of a resident whether the figure represented a local character, or was simply a creation of the sculptor's fancy, and received the answer that it was a statue of Washington. If he had said it was a statue of General Nathaniel Greene, the Rhode Island blacksmith, on whom Washington relied in time of stress, he might not have been so far out of the way.—Lynn Item.

Battleship Plans Open to Criticism

Among the naval officers detailed to attend the conference on naval construction and other naval affairs at the war college at Newport, R. I., on Wednesday, at which President Roosevelt will preside, are Rear Admirals C. F. Goodrich, E. H. C. Leutez, A. R. Couden, William Swift and Thomas C. McLean, with Captains M. E. Niles, C. J. Badger, Aaron Ward and Commander W. S. Sims, with several others. Admiral George Dewey is also expected, and the navy general board of which he is president, will also be there.

The Post prints a despatch from Oyster Bay of interest:

Secretary Loeb stated tonight that no sensation need be expected when the President addresses the naval officers at Newport Wednesday.

Despite this, there is reason to believe that the President is greatly interested in the criticisms that there are alleged defects in the two Dreadnoughts now building for the United States navy.

One of these ships, the North Dakota, is under construction at the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, Quincy, Mass.

One of the foremost naval officers in the department has admitted that the criticisms of the North Dakota would be taken up at the Wednesday meeting, and said that it would be decided not only whether the North Dakota was defective and whether her plans would have to be modified, but that also what plans should be followed in the new monster battleships authorized by the last session of Congress.

ADMIRAL DEWEY.
[President board of inquiry.]

It is learned the height of the armor built on the North Dakota will be one of the things discussed. Some of the naval officers hold it is planned too low. The manner of mounting the big guns is another subject of difference.

The criticisms of the North Dakota are based on a report to the President from Commander Albert L. Key.

Leaders of the Federation of Labor Must Answer

CONTINUATION OF BOYCOTT

Citation Alleges That Gompers, Morrison and Mitchell Were Concerned In Plan to Nullify Court's Order In Bucks Stove and Range Case

Washington, July 21.—In the Bucks stove and range case, Justice Anderson of the district supreme court summoned President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, Secretary Morrison of that organization and John Mitchell of the executive council and former president of the United Mine Workers of America, to appear in court on Sept. 8 next to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of the court's injunctive order.

The citation is based on a petition of the Bucks Stove and Range company of St. Louis, which alleges that an order issued by Justice Gould forbidding an alleged boycott by the American Federation of Labor has been violated by the public utterances and addresses of the three labor leaders named.

It also is stated that Gompers caused to be published in The Federationist, the official organ of the Federation, a certain article reflecting upon the court's decision, and in alleged open defiance in printing the name of the Bucks Stove and Range company in the "We Don't Patronize" list.

Gompers is quoted as saying to several newspaper men: "So far as I am concerned, I wish to state this: When it comes to a choice between surrendering my rights as a free American citizen or violating the injunction of the court, I do not hesitate to say that I shall exercise my rights as between the two."

Other utterances are quoted, in which it is alleged Gompers and Morrison, in furtherance of an alleged plan to nullify the court's order, have published, editorially and otherwise, references to the court's decision, including the name of the Bucks company. These references, it is claimed, were made for the purpose of keeping alive the idea of the boycott as it existed before the order of the court and were so framed as to affect the sale of the company's products.

John Mitchell, at a meeting of the United Mine Workers last January, put to a vote a resolution imposing a fine of $5 on any member of that organization who purchased a stove or range of that company's make. The resolution also provided for the expulsion of a member in default of payment of the fine.

Thaw's Privileges Curtailed

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 21.—Harry K. Thaw, who is in jail here awaiting arguments on his application for a jury to inquire into his sanity, has been locked up in the main prison by order of Sheriff Chanler, who told the jailors that Thaw was receiving so much attention that other duties were neglected and the jail was not being kept in order. Thaw, although on a corridor by himself, loses many of his liberties by the change from the juvenile department, such as unlimited use of the long distance telephone, eating meals with the jailors and having the run of the main hall.

Kaiser May Try For Cup

Kiel, July 21.—The Emperor of Germany, at various times in the past eighteen months, has talked over with yachtsmen the feasibility of challenging for the America's cup, and recently he commissioned Max Oertz to design a large racing schooner to replace the American built Meteor, now six years old. Oertz is considered the best yacht designer in Germany. If the new yacht comes up to expectations next June it is not unlikely that the emperor will send to the New York Yacht club a challenge for the America's cup.

Hunting For Eberhard

New York, July 21.—Believing they were about to capture August Eberhard, who is sought by the police in connection with the murder of his aunt, Mrs. Ottillie Eberhard, the police and a posse of citizens searched a two-acre thicket at Oakdale, N. J., only to learn that the suspect was a tramp. A brother of "Gus" Eberhard was found at Woodside, N. J., and he has furnished the police with an excellent photograph of the missing man.

A Worried Mother's Deed

Hartford, July 21.—While temporarily insane, it is said, as a result of domestic troubles, Mrs. Vallardo attempted to kill one of her children and herself by turning on the gas at their home. The child and mother were found by the police and were sent to the Hartford hospital. They will probably recover. The woman's husband is in jail in default of $5000 bail on a charge of felonious assault on his daughters.

Still Shrouded In Mystery

Troy, N. Y., July 21.—There is still no trace of the murderer of Hazel Drew, whose body was found in Teal's pond, about twelve miles from this city, on July 11. The investigations have resulted in tracing the girl to the vicinity of Teal's pond in the early evening of July 7 and that was the last seen of her alive. It has not yet been learned where she spent the late afternoon and night of July 6.

IDEA PROVING INFECTIOUS

Concerted Action Will Restore Normal Business Conditions

St. Louis, July 21.—Under the caption "Back to the Full Dinner Pail and Regular Dividend," a pamphlet, describing the present conditions of capital and labor as contrasted with those of last winter and spring, has been mailed broadcast throughout the country by the National Prosperity association. This association was organized in St. Louis two months ago to further the return of normal business conditions and was responsible for having June 1 named as "Employment day."

In part the article says: "Thirty days after we had begun our work the spirit of encouragement had developed such strength locally that between 17,000 and 20,000 men were put to work in the industrial and commercial establishments of St. Louis and its suburbs, and orders for $5,000,000 worth of goods to increase stocks were given.

"The re-employment idea proved widely infectious. Cincinnati, Cleveland, Chicago and many smaller places took up the proposition, adopting dates to suit each community.

"Results are evident. Business activity has been accelerated. There is a co-operative expression of confidence everywhere. There is less recklessness against business and industrial interests. There has been more improvement in present days than has followed any preceding panic in a corresponding period.

"We believe that if level-headed, common-sense, straightforward business men will pull together, we can get back to a healthy and prosperous condition in six months, instead of taking from three to five years to complete the restoration, as has been the case with former panics."

Prince of Wales Near Quebec

Quebec, July 21.—The British battleship Indomitable, having the Prince of Wales aboard, entered the Gulf of St. Lawrence yesterday. She sailed last Tuesday and made a fast trip over, equalling and perhaps exceeding the record time for a battleship's passage. The landing of the Prince of Wales is scheduled for Wednesday and the Indomitable will probably slow down now so as not to be ahead of the arranged plan of ceremonies. The arrival of the United States battleship New Hampshire increases the international fleet in the harbor to ten battleships.

Girl's Assailant Perhaps Demented

Albany, July 21.—Thomas Luther is suspected of being the man who attempted an assault upon Marion Smith, aged 15, of Menands. The Smith girl and two others were bathing in a small pond when a man without clothing seized her and dragged her into the woods. She was roughly handled, but not seriously injured. The child's screams attracted some men and the man fled naked through the woods. His clothing was found on the bank of the pond. When Luther was arrested he had on only a pair of overalls. The police say he is demented.

French President Goes Visiting

Copenhagen, July 21.—President Fallieres of France, accompanied by Foreign Minister Pichon, arrived here aboard the French battleship Verite, escorted by a squadron. Fallieres will also visit Sweden, Norway and Russia. The French president was welcomed by King Frederick, the royal princes, members of the diplomatic corps and high state dignitaries. Subsequently he proceeded with the king to the palace at Amalienborg.

Defense of Nude on Stage

Paris, July 21.—At the trial here of two music hall managers and seven women recently arrested as a result of Senator Berenger's crusade against the exhibition of the nude on the Paris stage, the managers and artists defended themselves on the ground that the living pictures and dances produced were artistic and neither indecent nor obscene. The severest application of the law was demanded by the public prosecutor.

Turkish Authorities Powerless

Vienna, July 21.—The "Young Turkey" faction, according to The Neue Freie Presse's correspondent at Monastir, has gained control of the entire Third army corps and part of the Second army corps. The revolutionary committee at Monastir has assumed control and the authorities are powerless, almost the whole population having joined in the movement.

Says Son Threatened Her

New York, July 21.—A. Van Rensselaer, son of Mrs. John K. Van Rensselaer, was taken into custody on a charge of attempted extortion. The arrest was made on a complaint from Mrs. Van Rensselaer that her son had written a letter threatening her with bodily harm unless she provided him with funds. Van Rensselaer is is 34 years old and married.

Runners Nearing Chicago

Michigan City, Ind., July 21.—Chicago Y. M. C. A. runners with the message from New York to Chicago arrived here this morning. Five of the eight runners were stalled at Rolling Prairie, Ind., because of a break in their automobile. Three men in the preceding automobile did not know of the accident until arriving at South Bend.

Honduran Uprising Quelled

Washington, July 21.—President Davila of Honduras has issued a notice, according to official information which has reached here, declaring that the revolution in that country is quelled. The revolutionary leaders retreated across the Salvadorean border, where they were arrested by order of the government of that country.

ROJESTVENSKY DEAD

Was a Leading Officer In the Russian Naval Service

MADE REMARKABLE VOYAGE

Hardly Started When He Almost Precipitated War With England--His Fleet Reached Far East Only to Be Annihilated by the Japanese

Bad Nauheim, Ger., July 21.—Vice Admiral Rojestvensky, who commanded the ill-fated Russian fleet which was annihilated by the Japanese in the Sea of Japan in May, 1905, died here from heart trouble. It is believed that the heart affection resulted from injuries received by Rojestvensky in the battle of the Sea of Japan.

Sinovi P. Rojestvensky was 60 years of age, and for many years bore the reputation of being one of the most cool-headed and scientific naval officers in the Russian service. He distinguished himself in the Russo-Turkish war in 1877 by an attack on a Turkish ironclad in the gunboat Vesta.

He was Admiral Alexieff's second in command of the Russian squadron in the Far East in the Chino-Japanese war, which made him familiar with the waters of Japan and China. In 1902 he was promoted to the rank of rear admiral and, as chief of the naval headquarters staff, he supervised the equipment of the second Russian Pacific squadron, which he afterwards commanded and took to the Far East.

During the late war between Russia and Japan Rojestvensky was ordered early in August, 1904, to have his squadron in readiness to proceed from the Baltic around to Vladivostok. This proved to be one of the most remarkable voyages ever made and resulted in the annihilation of the Russian Baltic fleet. The start was made from Libau on Oct. 16 of that year, and, passing around Denmark, the Russians encountered the British North sea fishing fleet off Dogger Bank. The warships fired on the fishermen, mistaking them for torpedo boats, which led to a strained state of affairs between Great Britain and Russia that at one time threatened to result in hostilities between the two countries. An international commission of inquiry, however, after a complete investigation, excused the admiral for his action, while condemning the firing.

Continuing his voyage, Rojestvensky, after stopping at a number of places, arrived off the North coast of the Island of Madagascar at the beginning of January. There he was joined by Rear Admiral Voelkersan and his division of the squadron.

On May 8 the division commanded by Rear Admiral Nebogatoff, consisting of nine ships, joined forces with Rojestvensky and the united fleet sailed to meet the Japanese.

The battle of the Sea of Japan was the result of this meeting. It was the greatest naval struggle since Trafalgar. Entering the Straits of Tsu Shima, between Korea and Japan, the Russian fleet was attacked by the Japanese under Admiral Togo, the opening shots in the fight being fired on the afternoon of May 27. Before the engagement commenced Togo signalled from the flagship Mikasa to the Japanese fleet: "The fate of the empire depends on this effort. Let every man do his utmost."

Although inferior in the number of their battleships, the skilful tactics and superior range of their guns gave the Japanese a great advantage and enabled them to inflict a crushing defeat on the Russians.

The battle lasted until the afternoon of May 28 and included a general engagement and a torpedo attack on the night of May 27. The Kniaz Souvaroff, the flagship of Rojestvensky, was blown up. The admiral himself, seriously wounded, was rescued by a Russian torpedo boat destroyer, which was afterwards captured by the Japanese, who took Rojestvensky prisoner. Voelkersan was killed in the conning tower of the Oslyabya and Nebogatoff was taken prisoner.

Twenty-one of the ships of the Russian fleet were sunk, including six battleships and four cruisers. Five Russian ships were captured. The Russian loss was estimated at 4000 killed or drowned, and more than 7000 officers and men taken prisoners. The Japanese in the engagement lost three torpedo boats, 116 officers and men were killed, and 538 were wounded.

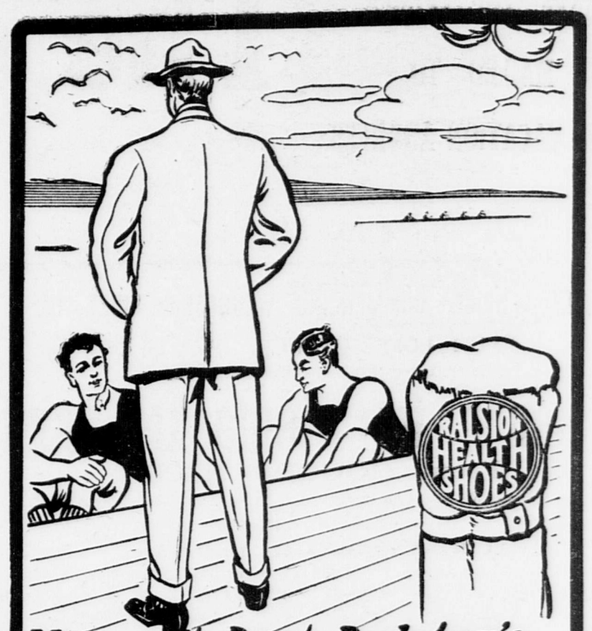

A naval court of inquiry on June 7, 1906, presented an indictment against Rojestvensky for surrendering to the enemy, but on July 10 the admiral was acquitted on the ground that he was not in his full senses (he was found unconscious from his severe injuries by Japanese) and therefore was not accountable for what happened at the time of the surrender.

Strong Ban on Booze

New Orleans, July 21.—Drinking, even out of one's own flask, on passenger trains in Louisiana constitutes a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or imprisonment or both, according to the new state law which went into effect yesterday. Trainmen are vested with authority as police officers.

TURN IN THE TIDE

Americans Score Triumphs In In Athletic Contests

VICTORIES IN THREE FINALS

Daniels Wins Swimming Championship, Ray Ewry the Standing Broad Jump, and Hehnert the Bantam Catch-as-Catch-Can Wrestling

London, July 21.—The second week of the Olympic contests began with the first day devoted principally to field sports such as Americans are accustomed to witness. The track athletes were the stars and the program contained many fast and exciting events

The American and British runners and jumpers gathered in the lion's share of the laurels as usual, but the Americans exceeded even the expectations of their supporters. The competitors from the United States are deploring the continual absence of sunshine, under which they can do their best work.

C. M. DANIELS, SWIMMER.

The spectacular features were the seventeen trial heats of the 100 metres sprint and the eight trial heats of the 800 metres. These furnished several close and stirring finishes. In the sprints America captured eight heats and Great Britain four. J. A. Rector of the University of Virginia was the particular star, for he beat quite handily K. G. MacLeod of Cambridge, the holder of three 'varsity blues who never before was beaten, and in doing so he equalled the Olympic record for the distance of 10 4-5 seconds.

The names of Sheppard, Halstead and Beard, Americans, went up on the blackboard as the winners of their heats in the 800 metres race. This event proved a disappointment to England, which was counting upon more than the two heats which it took.

C. J. Bacon, Irish-American A. C. captured his heat of the 400 metres hurdle race in 57 seconds, winning by 25 yards, while Coe distinguished himself by defeating Densham, the former British champion, although he had just contested a hard 800 metres against Lunghi of Italy.

The American colors were raised to the flagpole three times, signifying victory in the finals in the 100 metres swimming, the standing broad jump and the bantam catch-as-catch-can wrestling, but these triumphs did not inspire such thrills as the track performances because few spectators in the vast stadium could see them. C. M. Daniels, New York A. C., the American champion, as was expected, won the swimming event in the fast time of 1:05 3-5 which equals the Olympic record.

The standing broad jump contest was practically an American event, although no notable records were made. Ray Ewry, the American champion, won, but was behind his own record made at St. Louis. His greatest distance yesterday was 10 feet 11 inches.

George M. Hehnert, National Turn Verein (American) took the final in the bantam wrestling. France won the medal for fencing, in which the many bouts were almost monopolized by continentals.

The results yesterday added three wins to America's score, and one to France, the other nations not improving their positions. America is now only eight points behind the United Kingdom, the score reading: United Kingdom, 54; America, 46.

The city of London police team, which won the Olympic tug-of-war, has issued a challenge for a match with the American team, the members of both teams to be in their stocking feet or in any way the Americans prefer, and the match to be for love or any charity.

Auto Struck Father and Son

Worcester, Mass., July 21.—Louis Sher, aged 5, was playing on Front street when an automobile owned and operated by Henry E. Smith came along at a rapid pace. The father of the boy, Jacob Sher, ran into the street to pull him out of danger, but after grasping hold of the child the vehicle struck the pair and the lad was almost instantly killed. The father escaped injury.

TAFT MAKES A SPEECH

Justifies Proper Criticism of Courts by the People

Hot Springs, Va., July 21.—William H. Taft assisted in the opening of court and in the dedication of a courthouse at Germantown, five miles from Hot Springs. Taft accepted the invitation to be present at this ceremony on the ground that it was a neighborhood affair. The subject of his speech was the administration of justice by the courts. He was greeted by a large assemblage of sojourners at neighboring resorts and country folk, many of whom traveled far to see and hear the Republican candidate for the presidency. He was given a cordial welcome.

The strength of the judiciary, Taft declared, was based on the fact that it rested upon the principle that the people share in the responsibility for the work of the courts, in the form of duty on juries and in other capacities. He justified proper criticism of the courts by the people, because by such criticism "those who administer justice shall feel that they are under the critical eye of men and women entitled to have justice of the people administered without fear or favor."

He could not come into the atmosphere of the court, he said, without a feeling of deep regret that he had ever left the bench. He concluded his remarks by congratulating Bath county upon the fact that in it the two great political parties are nearly equally divided, which, he said, was a guarantee against evils in the administration of the government.

Mr. Taft was heartily applauded when he opened his address and was frequently interrupted by applause He was introduced as "the next President of the United States."

Claims of Western Men

Colorado Springs, Col., July 21.—The first session of the Republican leaders with Chairman Hitchcock of the national committee continued until nearly 8 o'clock last night. Members of the national committee and the chairmen of the central committees from sixteen states and territories addressed the assembly and each explained state conditions. The representatives from California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming declared in positive terms that their states could be carried for Taft and Sherman, but at the same time insisted that the campaign there should be carried on with the greatest vigor, the enthusiasm extending to Oklahoma and Texas and to the territories.

Farmers Helping Bryan

Lincoln, Neb., July 21.—The appeal of Mr. Bryan to the farmers of the country for campaign contributions is bearing fruit. A number of responses have been received, the sums enclosed varying in amount. Two retired farmers of Omaha, one aged 82 and the other 70, preferred to deliver their contributions in person. They each placed in the hands of Bryan a $5 bill. An appeal by Bryan to the Democratic newspapers of the country to begin the collection of funds for the campaign was one of the important happenings yesterday.

Late last evening George F. Williame of Boston arrived and held a lengthy conference at the Bryan home, with particular reference to politics in New England.

Helped Save Many Lives

Halifax, July 21.—Rev. William J. Ancient, a Church of England clergyman, aged 74, died at his home here. At the time of the wreck of the steamer Atlantic at Prospect, N. S., on April 1, 1893, in which 562 lives were lost, Ancient formed one of the boat's crew that proceeded to the scene of the disaster and assisted in saving many lives. In recognition of his bravery the Canadian government presented him with a gold watch, and he also received a similar gift from the citizens of Chicago.

Discussing Monetary Affairs

Narragansett Pier, R. I., July 21.—The national monetary system of the country, its defects and probable remedies, were but informally discussed at the opening of the conference of the National Monetary commission appointed at the last session of congress under the authority of the new currency law to discuss the financial needs of the country. None of the members will talk publicly on what probable steps may be taken or advocated.

Decrease In Immigration

Washington, July 21.—Immigration to the United States from all countries showed a marked falling off for the month of June, as compared with the same month of 1907. The total immigration aggregated 31,947, compared with 154,734 in 1907, a decrease of 79 percent. The total immigration from all countries for the six months ended with June last was 192,656, compared with 743,952 in 1907, a decrease of 74 percent.

Death In Runaway Accident

Manchester, N. H., July 21.—Miss Bessie Leckie, aged 23, a teacher in a public school here, was killed in a runaway accident, the horse taking fright at some object at the side of the road. Miss Leckie's skull was fractured by being thrown to the pavement on the Mast road. Her escort, Andrew R. Simpson, was badly shaken up.

Cavalry Prepared For Business

Birmingham, Ala., July 21.—Alabama cavalry troops, 200 strong, arrived here last night. The action of the governor was precautionary and the men will be here in readiness for distribution to various points in case of further trouble as a result of the coal miners' strike.

Heat Victim In Alcoholic Ward

New York, July 21.—Randolph Crompton of Worcester, Mass., who was stopping at the Waldorf Astoria, was overcome by the heat on Park avenue and removed to Flower hospital. Later he was removed to Bellevue hospital, where it is stated that his condition is critical. The physicians at Bellevue worked over Crompton for several hours. He was taken to the alcoholic ward.

Worcester, Mass., July 21.—Randolph Crompton, who was overcome in New York, is one of the wealthiest young men in Worcester. He is fond of driving and has often appeared on the streets in unique rigs.

Life Preserver Was Rotten

Boston, July 21.—While trying to rescue his deaf and dumb daughter, Nadine, aged 10, from the waters of Muddy river, in the Back bay last night, Robert H. Bowman, a lawyer, aged 47, lost his life. Nadine was playing near the bridge when she fell into the water. Bowman jumped after her but the child's struggles were so violent he could not bring her ashore. Abraham Seguin, a bystander, plunged in to his rescue and brought the girl ashore. In the meantime one of the life preservers placed along the river was thrown to Bowman, but as Bowman clutched the buoy it crumbled beneath his clasp.

Potter Again Close to Death

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 21.—Bishop Henry C. Potter, who has been ill since June 27 at his wife's home here, has suffered a relapse and his condition is again grave. Throughout the illness of the bishop oxygen has occasionally been administered, but yesterday the quantity was greatly increased. The condition of the arteries is such that the circulation is seriously hindered. Both of the lower limbs are affected. Resort was had to drugs to ease the pain. Hope of recovery is quite abandoned.

Took Babes' and Own Life

New York, July 21.—Despondent because of ill-health and fearful of the fate which might await her two little children, a boy of 4 and a girl 2 years old, if they were left alone to face the world, Mrs. Gussie Benson sought peace for all beneath the waters of the East river. The bodies of the mother and her little ones lie side by side in the morgue awaiting burial.

Peary Off Labrador

New York, July 21.—Commander Robert Peary, now en route to the Arctic ice fields in quest of the North Pole, has arrved at Belle Harbor, Labrador. The following telegram was received by The Associated Press from Belle Harbor last night: "Arrived 6 o'clock this morning. Taken on whale meat at Cape Charles. Fine weather. All well."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Naval coaling records were broken at the Bradford coaling station at Newport, R. I., when the United States collier Abarenda was emptied of 1800 tons of coal in seven hours.

Under the agreement reached by the political leaders, through the intervention of King Peter, a coalition cabinet has been formed in Servia.

According to advices received by the war department, cholera has been stamped out in the department of the Philippines.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

The Manchester Union finds that happiness consists of thinking so and sticking to it.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fowler of 837 Hancock street welcomed a little son on Sunday.

The heavy rains Saturday and Sunday did an immense amount of good to vegetation.

The Granite Manufacturers' Association are talking up their annual summer outing.

A race for the Cape cat class will be held under the auspices of the Quincy Yacht club on Saturday.

John Ide of South Quincy is enjoying his vacation roaming through the woods at Owl's Head, Maine.

The city has a man keeping watch on the watering carts and street railway car to see that they do no shirking.

The Assessors promise the tax rate early in August. They do not intimate, however, what that rate will be.

There was a long line of men at City Hall Monday night to pay their poll tax so as to save the twenty cents summons.

Mrs. William Wilson and daughter Floris of Presidents avenue are at Pleasant Beach, Cohasset, for the next four weeks.

Miss Antonia Picard and Miss Anna Relm are enjoying a much needed rest at Hurricane Island and Owls Head, Maine.

Many of the fruit and grocery stores closed up by the police last Sunday have filed applications for common victuallers licenses.

Mrs. A. G. Adams and daughter, Miss Corrinne Tinkham, of Fort Morgan, Alabama, are visiting Mrs. E. E. Field of Hancock street, Quincy.

For a delightful auto trip try the one to Concord, via. Milton Lower Mills, Morton street, the Fenway, Massachusetts avenue, through Cambridge, Arlington and Lexington.

H. S. Brown, proprietor of Brown's summer ballroom will give the proceeds of his dance hall next Monday night to the Frank Pray fund of the motor boat contest. The janitor of the Quincy Yacht club is in the contest and his many friends say that he must win.

At the evening session of the Unitarian Sunday school Institute at the Isles of Shoals on Monday Rev. F. R. Griffin of Braintree read his paper on "The Modern Boy and the Modern School."

Stanley Worsdell, a well known South Quincy young man, died at his home 184 Liberty street, Monday, aged 22 years. Funeral services will be held from Christ church Thursday afternoon at 2.30.

"All the world's a stage." "Yes; and the majority of us are billed as citizens, villagers, populace and the like." No speaking parts.

POSSIBLE DARK HORSE

Dr. John H. Ash Moves Up From Number 24 To Number 10

The great gain in the Motor Boat contest today was made by Dr. John H. Ash of West Quincy a summer resident of Houghs Neck. His vote was nearly doubled, and he has moved up from No. 24 to No. 10. Dr. Ash may be a possible dark horse who will surprise the leaders at the close.

James F. Parker also passes Capt. Johnson and Capt. Clark today, and may make a good showing at the end. There are several other gains among those down the list since the last publication.

The Motor Boat will be on exhibition in a few days.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

ON A MAN-OF-WAR.

Hints to Landlubbers Who Want to Do the Proper Thing.

As you pass over the ship's side and step aboard, if you are a man touch your hat in salute to the flag. The officer of the deck, who represents the majesty of the nation while he is on watch, will return this salute.

Don't say "downstairs" or "upstairs." There are no stairs on board ship—only ladders. Say "below" or "on deck."

Looking forward—that is, toward the bow—the right hand is "starboard," the left hand "port." Everything on board ship is starboard or port, except with reference to a gun, where "right" and "left" are used as on shore, the gun being movable.

Keep clear of the starboard side of the quarter deck. The quarter deck is the after—or rear—end of the upper deck. Its starboard side is sacred territory, to be used by the admiral, the captain, the officer of the deck, other officers and men when there on duty and official visitors.

Never peep into the officers' private quarters. They are no more to be entered into than any private citizen's bedroom. They can be entered only upon invitation.

Keep your hands off the bright brass work, the polished guns and the clean paint work. Remember that jack tar has to put in hard labor every day keeping these clean. Do not increase his work.

Do not expectorate on the decks. This warning is unnecessary to gentlemen, who do not expectorate in public anywhere.

Never dream of tipping a man who shows you about the ship. He is sufficiently rewarded by the entertainment he gives you. Men-o'-war's men are not servants, and they resent a tip. The navy has pride.

Never take a lady up or down an "undressed" ladder. It is immodest—for the lady. "Dressed" ladders have flags or canvas spread beneath them. "Undressed" ladders have no such screens.

Upon leaving the ship salute the flag as upon coming aboard.—San Francisco News Letter.

MEDALS FOR BRAVERY.

Decorations That May Be Bestowed by Uncle Sam.

Uncle Sam is not averse to bestowing decorations, says the Philadelphia Press. While the constitution prohibits government officers from accepting orders from foreign governments, the president has the power to award insignia, which mean considerably more than most of the stars, garters, etc., of the old world. These are medals for bravery.

Besides the medals for conspicuous bravery in battle and the decorations for life saving on the water, the chief executive can honor men and women who display heroism on the railroad lines of the country.

Award of the decorations is made by the chief executive on recommendation from the interstate commerce commission. Applications must be accompanied by affidavits from eyewitnesses of the heroic deeds, and they must be approved by a committee of five of the commissioners.

A bronze medal and a button of gold and enamel are the insignia given.

The medal is about as big as a silver dollar. On one side, the obverse, there is a figure of a man upon a railway track, with one knee upon a rock which blocks an approaching train. He is warning the trainmen by means of a brand.

On the reverse side is a laurel wreath, symbolical of heroism. The inscription, "The United States Medal For Life Saving on Railroads," appears near the medal's rim, and within the wreath is the following: "For Bravery Awarded to ——."

Japanese Compositors.

Japanese "typos" have their troubles. K. Sugimura, literary editor of the Tokyo Asahi Shimbun, says that he especially admires the linotype typesetting machines. "Unfortunately we are unable to use them in Japan, for our language has forty-seven letters, as well as over 3,000 Chinese characters, and such a number of types is, of course, beyond the capabilities of any machine yet invented. In the printing office of our newspaper in Tokyo the compositor must often walk the whole length of the room to fetch one character, instead of standing in one place before a single case, as the English or American compositor can do."

Even In Bedlam.

The manager of the insane asylum frowned.

"What is that woman in cell 77 howling and shrieking about?" he asked impatiently.

"She objects to her straitjacket, sir," the keeper answered.

"Wants it taken off, eh? Well she can't"—

"No, it isn't that, sir," the keeper interrupted. "She wants it changed for one with the fashionable sleeves that have just come in."

The Retailer.

"What business is Miss Gaddie in?"

"Oh, she's in everybody's business."

"Wholesale, eh?"

"Yes; except when it comes to a bit of scandal. She retails that."—Catholic Standard and Times.

MANY AUTO RACES PLANNED.

Long Distance Events to Be Held on Long Island and at Savannah.

The announcement that Savannah, Ga., would hold an international race under the auspices of its club and the Automobile Club of America, under the international rules, on Thanksgiving day, with twenty-five entries guaranteed, makes it necessary for the American manufacturers to come to a decision as to which of the organizations they will support. The American Automobile association has issued the entry blanks for the Vanderbilt cup race, which is to be run Oct. 24 on Long Island. From this time forward there are likely to be war conditions without cessation or the asking of quarter.

Competition for the Vanderbilt cup shall be open to clubs that are recognized by or affiliated with the American Automobile association and to clubs recognized by or affiliated with the Automobile Club of France, Automobile Club of Germany, the Italian Automobile clubs and the Royal Automobile club.

The course, which shall be announced at least thirty days before the race, will be over a regular highway or an automobile speedway. The distance shall be not less than 250 miles nor more than 300 miles. The rules governing the race shall be the racing rules of the American Automobile association and any additional rules adopted by the Vanderbilt cup commission for 1908.

127 Horses In $50,000 Event.

The official entry list to the $50,000 race, Readville's American Trotting Derby, is out. It comprises 127 names, and they have already placed the cash credit of the race to $12,700.

Detroit's Great Outfield.

Detroit is well equipped with outfielders. Few teams have a quartet as formidable as McIntyre, Crawford, Cobb and Davy Jones.

Pitcher Lake Handy With the Willow.

The New York Americans' new pitcher, Joe Lake, is a handy boy with the stick.

TODAY'S COURT.

James F. Sullivan was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued until Wednesday.

James Sullivan was fined $10 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Grace M. Johnson was fined $50 for violation of the liquor law at Randolph.

Timothy Connell was fined $3 for assault at Braintree.

John Frazer was fined $10 and Arthur Delory $5 for violation of a town by law at Weymouth.

There is an extension of the idea that if you treat the autoist kindly he may be good in turn and not run over you or frighten you to death with his scorching ambitions. The plan may have a better effect than the trap system has had. Anyway, it's worth trying, and it gives "the other fellow" a chance to prove whther he means to be good or not.

You can't Beat Ralston's for Summer Wear.

As you well know, it's during the Summer that your shoes are put to the hardest test. In order for them to give you all-Summer-long satisfaction they must be "dressy" enough to wear anywhere, and yet they must be perfectly comfortable.

In short you want your feet to look "dressed up" without their feeling so. That's why we recommend Ralston shoes. Come in and let us show you wherein they're different from any other shoes made.

LARGE FLEET OF YACHTS AND LAUNCHES.

Take Out Hundreds of the Fair Sex who are Guests of the Quincy Yacht Club on Ladies' Day.

Bright skies, a fine south easterly sailing breeze, hundreds of ladies attired in light yachting costumes, and as many hundreds of gallant yachtsmen were the elements which combined to make the annual ladies' day of the Quincy Yacht club on Tuesday an unqualified success.

The attendance was unusually large and it seems as though each year saw the number of guests on ladies' day increasing. It is on such days as these that the club members realize that the club has outgrown its present quarters, and that an enlargement of the club house is absolutely necessary.

The program this year varied but little from other years, and included a review and sail, lunch upon return and dancing in the evening.

Special electric cars left City Square at 1.50 and took down the first vanguard. Subsequent cars quickly added to their number until the club piazzas were thronged.

The tide was not high enough for the sailing craft to come to the float, and the launch Alert and scores of smaller launches were pressed into service to transport the ladies and guests to the yachts moored in midstream.

By this time the breeze had freshened considerably and most of the yachts tucked in a reef that the ladies might not get a ducking.

Meanwhile the house and reception committee were busy looking after the wants of the guests, and they did their work well.

A little after 3 o'clock, the booming of a gun from the flagship which was resplendent in its many flags used in the international code, and a flag bearing the figure 1 hoisted at the end of the float denoted the course to be sailed.

Meanwhile the steamer Houghs Neck, which had been chartered for the day, had arrived, and was being loaded with guests. Everybody who desired to sail had the opportunity, and there were but few who did not accept the invitation.

At 3.30 a second gun was fired. This was a signal for the yachts to pass in review.

This was a very pretty sight. As each yacht passed, it dipped its colors to Commodore Robbins, who stood in the stern of the flagship Emeline. The Commodore saluted each yacht by lifting his hat and by the firing of a gun.

After passing in review the yachts headed for Jack Knife ledge buoy.

While the sail was in progress Hanley's orchestra was giving a promenade concert at the club house for those who from choice watched the gay scene from the club piazzas.

The return from the sail was made shortly after 5 o'clock, and at 5.30 a lunch was served at the club house by Caterer Whittemore.

A new plan was tried this year for serving lunch and worked well, the only drawback being the smallness of the quarters.

It was nearly 7.30 before the caterers had cleared the hall, and the dancing commenced.

Most of the younger people participated in the dance, and there were hundreds who found it delightfully cool watching the scene from the piazzas.

There were still others who improved the opportunity for an evening sail, so that altogether there was something doing until 10 o'clock, at which hour the festivities came to a close.

Special cars were then found in waiting to convey the party to Quincy, from which point transfer was made for home.

The yachts and launches to participate in the review and sail and their guests were as follows:

Flagship Emeline, Commodore Herbert W. Robbins—Mrs. H. W. Robbins, Miss Grace H. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Nickerson, Miss Alvira Swaney, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Tougas, Andrew F. Burrell, William P. Kelly.

Gloucester Tax Rate.

The tax rate of the city of Gloucester is $19 per $1000, the highest since 1880. The assessors report a valuation of $22,372,081, an increase of $288,229. Polls assessed, 7,896.

Birthday Outing.

Miss Mariam Miller of Bigelow street, entertained a party of girl friends on Tuesday afternoon, it being her fourteenth birthday. Chaperoned by Mrs. Edward E. Miller and Master Junior Miller, a car was taken for Hayward's grove, there they found Mr. Hayward's power launch in waiting and soon the merry party were on board for a trip to Nantasket and return; bathing suits were next in order, and soon they were splashing and swimming in the water. Then came the opening of the lunch boxes, and the rapid disappearance of all they contained. Included in this jolly party were the Misses Minnie Packard, Ella Packard, Gladys Hunt, Margaret Hunt, Alice Arnold, Stella Brown, Dorothy Sweetland and Mariam Miller.

Leg Fractured.

Joseph Nicholson, an employe at the Fore River, had his left leg fractured this morning by getting caught in a reaming machine. He was removed to the City Hospital in Hall's ambulance.

May Go to Jail For Stealing Ham

The larceny of a ham from the team of Cyrus Lantz in City Square on Monday night will cause John McAuliffe and James F. Sullivan to spend the balance of the warm season at the County building known as Dedham jail, unless they can raise the sum of $50 each.

Monday night a farmer's wagon drew up in front of the First church on Hancock street and during the temporary absence of the owner, Cyrus Lantz, the ham disappeared from beneath the seat of the wagon.

He reported the theft to Officer Bishop and then proceeded on his way toward Kingston, minus his ham.

Officer Bishop soon learned who was probably responsible for the larceny, and a little later one James F. Sullivan was cooling off in the police station. Tuesday night two other men who were believed to have a hand in the larceny were gathered in. One of these was John McAuliffe.

In court they were arraigned for larceny of a ham from a team. Sullivan and McAuliffe pleaded guilty, and tried to excuse themselves on the plea that they were drunk.

The third man the Officer asked for a discharge, as it was learned he had no part in the transaction.

Sullivan and McAuliff were given the minimum, fine which was $50 each. The ham the men claim was in turn stolen from them.

Resignation of Permanent Fireman

James E. Dinegan of the Wollaston fire station sent in his resignation to Mayor Shea on Tuesday to take effect at once. He entered the Fire department as a call man in 1898, and three years later was made permanent, and has always had charge of the house, keeping every thing neat and tidy out side as well as inside the station.

When he took the civil service examination in 1900, among eleven men he stood second highest. Mr. Dinegan has always been well liked in Wollaston, and there will be universal regret when his many friends know of his leaving the department. Mr. Dinegan has accepted a position with the Boston Auto Supply Company of Park Square.

Elks' Outing.

The Elks are holding their outing today at Peddocks Island, and a grand time is expected. Some of the athletic members went to the island in the first boat this morning to get a training for the races, but a great majority of the party did not go down until the noon boat.

Massachusetts Sheep.

In a recent issue of its monthly crop report the State Board of Agriculture includes an article on sheep raising, by Ray L. Gribbin, Instructor in Animal Husbandry at the Massachusetts Agricultural College. This report can be obtained by application to J. Lewis Ellsworth, Secretary State Board of Agriculture, State House, Boston, and those wishing to receive future reports may have their names placed on the permanent mailing list.

In conclusion Mr. Gribbin says "With the special opportunities that are apparent in a large part of the State why not grow a home product of widely known quality for home use? The demand of Boston, Hartford and New York, selecting cities at random, could be partially supplied by home-grown sheep, for which a fancy price would be paid if the consumer were assured of the value and high quality of the product. Mutton is the sweetest and most tender of meat, lacking the grossness and coarse texture of beef, and possessing a cleaner and more wholesome flavor than pork. Massachusetts could and should take up sheep growing as a much larger part of her activity than it is at present."

NEW OLYMPIC MARKS

Two Records Are Lowered by Athletes From America

SHEPPARD WINS 800 METRES

Porter Clears Bar at Six Feet Three Inches In High Jump--Americans Win Great Majority of Heats In Other Events

London, July 22.—Melvin W. Sheppard of the Irish-American A. C., who took the measure of England's best distance men in the 1500 metres run at the Olympic games a week ago, added another victory to his long list when he finished far in the lead in the 800 metres event, establishing a new Olympic record of 1:52 4-5 for the distance and continuing on to the half mile, which he ran in 1:54, within three-fifths of a second of C. H. Kilpatrick's world's record made in New York in 1895.

Another gold medal went to America when Harry F. Porter of the Irish-American A. C. captured the high jump by clearing the bar at 6 feet 3 inches and beating the Olympic record of 6 feet 2 4-5 inches. After assuring himself that he was the winner, he went after the world's record. The bar was placed at 6 feet 5 3-4 inches, just one-eighth of an inch higher than the record, but it was just a shade too much for him.

Better weather, a much larger attendance and exciting finishes made yesterday's Olympic sports at the stadium far and away more interesting than any that have preceded them. There was absolutely no interruption, and from 10 o'clock in the morning until after 7 in the evening a great crowd of enthusiasts sat in the stands.

It was largely America's day, for besides winning the only two events finally decided, the American sprinters won the great majority of the heats in the other events. While not so spectacular as the races, the running high jump was the most keenly contested event of the day. It started in the morning, and not until after 6 o'clock was Porter proclaimed the winner.

Sheppard won a great victory for America in the 800 metres flat race. He proved himself entirely too fast for Just, the English champion, who was absolutely done up by the tremendous pace.

The two Englishmen, Just and Crawford, who qualified, thought they could set a pace which would tire out Sheppard, but it seemed to be exactly what he wanted. The American let Crawford set the speed as high as he liked and kept right at the Englishman's heels. Just followed close at hand, but the plan miscarried, for the latter, who expected to come up in the stretch and pass Sheppard, had no reserve left and was not only beaten by the American, but also by Lunghi of Italy and Braun of Germany.

The Americans suffered two disappointments in the heats of the 200 metres flat race, Lawson Robertson being defeated by Roche, the Irish champion, and W. W. May being compelled to take the dust of the fleet Canadian, Kerr. Considering, however, that the Americans entered seven of the fifteen heats and took five of them, there is not much cause for complaint.

In the heats of the 400 metres, flat, they took seven out of nine in which they started. J. B. Taylor, Irish-American A. C., the colored champion of the University of Pennsylvania, made his first appearance in this event, and the remarkable ease with which he runs is an eye-opener to the English critics. Taylor won his heat easily.

The 100 metres sprint brought out the best aggregation of sprinters yet seen on the track. The Americans, May and Stevens, lost their heats to Walker of South Africa and Kerr of Canada, but the other two heats were gathered in for America by Rector and Robertson. Kerr took 11 seconds for his heat, one-fifth of a second more than either Walker or Rector for theirs.

There were four heats in the semi-finals of the 400 metres hurdle race, in two of which Americans contested and they took both of them, Harry L. Hillman and C. J. Bacon doing the trick. The other two went to Great Britain and in both cases slower time than that made by the Americans.

F. Narganes and J. H. Craige, Americans, lost their bouts in the catch-as-catch-can wrestling. The preliminary bouts of the Graeco-Roman wrestling also were finished, but no Americans were entered.

Motormen Misunderstood Signals

North Attleboro, Mass., July 22.—Two men were injured and a number of others scratched and bruised, and nearly 100 men, women and children badly scared by a head-on collision between two trolley cars here last night. The collision was caused by a misunderstanding of switch signals. The motormen saved themselves by jumping. The fronts of both cars were badly damaged.

Rampolla Goes to Switzerland

Rome, July 22.—After twenty years' residence in Rome, without ever having left the confines of that city, Cardinal Rampolla, the former papal secretary of state, started last evening for Switzerland. Owing to his ill-health, Rampolla's physicians ordered him to leave Rome at once. He will stay at the famous Benedictine abbey, which was founded in the ninth century.

DEATH OF BISHOP POTTER

Prelate Unconscious For Many Hours Before the End Came

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 22.—Henry Codman Potter, seventh Protestant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of New York, died last night at his summer home here after an illness of several weeks. The bishop was unconscious all day and the end, which came at 8:35 o'clock, was peaceful and quiet. The prelate was 74 years of age.

Death was due primarily to embolism in the right leg, following a long attack of liver and stomach trouble, and the end had been foreseen for several days by the bishop's physicians. Bishop Potter suffered a severe relapse Monday morning and, though oxygen was given, his decline was gradual and he sank into unconsciousness early yesterday which lasted until the end.

No arrangements for the funeral have as yet been made, but it is probable that services will be held here and that the body will be removed to New York, where a public funeral will be held at Grace church.

A Boston Murder Mystery

Boston, July 22.—The body of Mrs. Emma Payrow, aged 38, was found crushed into a small closet in one of the apartments at 200 Columbus avenue. The woman's husband returned to his room late last evening. Not finding his wife in their rooms he began a search and was attracted by blood marks which led to a closet. Opening the door, he found the body of his wife crowded into the small space. In her mouth was a gag and her throat had been slit from ear to ear. The police will give out no information regarding the murder. Little is known of the Payrows by those who occupy the apartments.

Relay Racers Reach Chicago

Chicago, July 22.—The Young Men's Christian association relay race, which began in New York last Wednesday, came to a brilliant close in the city hall here yesterday. Thus ended the race of 1200 miles by hundreds of boys, ranging in age from 12 to 21 years. The distance was covered in 119 hours and 22 minutes. This is the longest relay race on record. The time made by the runners in their dash from the Atlantic to Lake Michigan exceeded all expectations. The message was carried at an average speed of more than ten miles an hour.

Assaulted Aged Woman

Lynn, Mass., July 22.—Harry Maddox was arrested yesterday afternoon on the Lynn marshes on the charge of assaulting Mrs. Josiah Low, aged 70, of Essex, Monday morning at her home. Lynn officers say that Maddox admitted the assault. Maddox was formerly employed as a farm hand by Mrs. Low. On July 10 he was paid off and discharged. Maddox is 24 years of age. He is an Englishman. Mrs. Low is much better and the doctor who is attending her says she is recovering rapidly.

Objectionable Food Preservatives

Washington, July 22.—"In the interests of health, both benzoiac acid and benzoate of soda should be excluded from foods." This is the conclusion of Chief Wiley of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, after a prolonged investigation to determine the effect upon the human system of these preservatives. He declares that their use is highly objectionable and produces very serious disturbances of the metabolic functions, attended with injury to digestion and health.

Jealous Lover Kills Brother

Stonington, Me., July 22.—Crazed with jealousy over the attentions of his brother to his sweetheart, who lived in this town, Frank Baldasara, 30, shot and instantly killed Antonio Baldasara, 25, in an Italian quarrymen's camp. Baldasara then turned the weapon on his uncle, Ebomedio Sorretti, 40, who interfered, and shot him through the neck. The latter is seriously wounded, but expected to live. Baldasara made his escape.

Mrs. Sothern Seeks Divorce

Reno, Nev., July 22.—Virginia Harned, actress and wife of Edward H. Sothern, the actor, has filed a suit for divorce in the district court in this city. The complaint is a sealed document, and nothing can be learned of the character of the charges made. Mrs. Sothern has been a resident of Nevada for six months.

Illegal Dilution of Milk

Boston, July 22.—The highest fine ever levied in a Massachusetts court for the offense of selling watered milk was meted out to Charles H. Stone, wholesale dealer, by Judge Burke in the municipal court. He paid $500 on ten counts for keeping and selling. Two additional counts were placed on file.

Man and Wife Drowned

Cranston, R. I., July 22.—James St. John of Providence and his wife, together with Martin Murray, were rowing on Sprague's pond when the boat capsized and the three were thrown into the water. Murray was rescued, but St. John and his wife were drowned.

Korean-Japanese Encounter

St. Petersburg, July 22.—The Bourse Gazette publishes a dispatch from Harbin which recites an engagement with Korean insurgents on the Russo-Korean frontier, in which it is reported that fifty Japanese soldiers were killed. The insurgents' losses are not known.

The Weather Forecast

BANDITS IN BARROOM

Three Desperadoes Succeed In Holding Up Forty Men

A BATTLE WITH REVOLVERS

One Patron of a Boston Saloon Is Shot Dead, While Another Is Dying --Cash Register Rifled and Robbers Then Make Their Escape

Boston, July 22.—Three desperate men, armed with heavy calibre revolvers, dashed into a crowded Jamaica Plain barroom ten minutes before closing time last night and, yelling "hands up," began "shooting up" the place. When they had grabbed the money till and emptied it and finished shooting and made their escape one man was dead, another lay dying and a third was seriously wounded.

Dashing out the door the three men were met by Officer Butler, who drew his revolver and began firing on the men, one of whom was injured, but all eventually escaped.

The dead man is Frank J. Drake, aged 32. Patrick Doran, aged 40, is dying with a bullet wound in the abdomen, and Thomas Winterston, one of the proprietors of the saloon, is suffering from bullet wounds in the back of the head and arm.

The saloon which was the scene of the shooting is run by Winterston & McManus, and is situated at the corner of Washington and Boylston streets, in a thickly settled part of the city. The saloon was crowded with patrons just previous to the closing hour of 11 o'clock, about forty men being in the place.

Suddenly three men made their appearance in the doorway. Simultaneously they yelled "hands up" and began shooting rapidly, aiming apparently at the barkeepers. Some ten or fifteen shots were fired.

With a leap one of the men jumped over the bar and grabbed the cash register, pulling it to the floor. It was opened quickly and the contents seized, the man being covered meantime by the fire from the guns of his companions. Securing the money, the man leaped back to his companions and the three backed to the door.

Patrolman Butler had heard the shooting and, pulling in a hurry call on his alarm box, ran to the saloon. He arrived in time to see the three men backing out and shooting at those in the saloon.

The patrolman opened fire at once on the men and hit the first one to come out. Then someone cried: "Don't shoot those who are not to blame," and the patrolman stopped shooting. The men then leaped out and made their escape down Weld avenue. One of the men concerned in the shoot up, it is believed, gave the cry to stop the firing by the officer to effect the escape.

A good description of the three men has been gained and special officers are now searching every part of the city in an effort to round them up.

Naval Officer Used His Fist

Honolulu, July 22.—United States Attorney Breckens has filed information against Lieutenant Commander Carter, U. S. N., charging him with malicious assault on F. M. Moore, a newspaper man, at the naval station. Carter is in command of the United States ship Iroquois stationed here. He had demanded a retraction of certain statements appearing in The Bulletin, on which Moore is employed. Moore declined to admit that the statements complained of were false, and there was an altercation, during which Carter struck Moore with his fist.

Moran Returns to Boston

Boston, July 22.—Tanned, yet little improved in health, District Attorney Moran returned to his office unexpectedly yesterday from the Adirondacks. A mass of evidence on the famous Chinese trial lay before him. To peruse this and to render a decision on the application for a second trial for four of the condemned men, Moran explained, was the cause of his sudden and unheralded return. He has not the highest opinion of the Adirondacks as a health resort for a man in his condition, and will spend the winter in Colorado.

Three Victims of Live Wires

Altoona, Pa., July 22.—During a fire in the Kline building last night three persons were electrocuted by live wires which dropped to the street. The dead are Joseph Byers, a fireman; Joseph Frick, lineman for the Edison Electric company, and Harry Deshong, 12 years old. Byers and Frick were instantly killed. The wires fell around the neck of young Deshong and nearly burned his head off, the terrified crowd being afraid to render assistance.

Belgian Butchers' Complaint

Antwerp, July 22.—One thousand butchers met in congress here to discuss the meat situation in Belgium and passed a resolution to the effect that the restrictions on the importation of American cattle were responsible for the present high prices of meat. They demanded that these restrictions be abolished. No less than 80,000 head of cattle are imported into Belgium every year.

Report of Battle at Tabriz

St. Petersburg, July 22.—It is reported here that fierce fighting occurred at Tabriz yesterday, 200 being killed or wounded.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title—Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL
(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble Institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

QUEBEC'S GREAT DAY

Old City Made Happy by Arrival of Prince of Wales

RECEIVES A ROYAL WELCOME

Salutes From International Fleet and Shore Batteries--Popular Outpouring to Withess Passage Through Flower-Bedecked Streets

Quebec, July 22.—A momentous event in the history of this city occurred today, when the Prince of Wales arrived aboard the British battleship Indomitable.

PRINCE OF WALES.

The Indomitable's appearance was the signal for a royal salute from the guns of the British flagship Exmouth and the shore batteries on both sides of the river, followed by the combined salutes of the international fleet of French, American and British warships and the answering guns of the Indomitable.

The latter came to anchor alongside the United States battleship New Hampshire, thus completing the double chain formation of warships and bringing side by side the two latest types of British and American fighting machines. At the King's Landing was a gathering of distinguished officials to welcome the prince, including Earl Grey, governor general of Canada; Field Marshal Roberts, representing the British army; Premier Laurier and his cabinet. Admiral Jaureguiberry and the official French envoys, Vice President Fairbanks, representing the United States, and Admiral Cowles, representing the American naval department.

The landing stage was decorated for the occasion with truly royal splendor. Two massive arches, emblazoned with the royal arms and topped with the lion and unicorn guarding the British crown, marked the passage of the prince from the landing to the state carriage which bore him to the Citadel. To the right of the landing was erected a pavilion richly hung with the colors and arms and insignia of the reigning family. Here the first greetings were exchanged and welcomes extended in behalf of the imperial government of Canada and the army.

These ceremonies concluded, the prince drove in an open carriage up the steep streets leading from the harbor level to the heights of the city. All along the route the buildings were ablaze with color, with garlands and flowers looped across the street, and patriotic emblems and mottoes in French and English expressing loyalty and devotion to the prince.

The popular outpouring to witness the passage of royalty was immense and extreme precautions were taken to guard against any disorder in the narrow, precipitous streets.

The city is invaded by 12,000 to 15,000 soldiers, representing the regular and militia strength of all parts of the Dominion, with hundreds of official visitors and the titled nobility of England and other parts of the world and thousands of interested spectators from American cities and all parts of Canada.

The city is elaborately decorated, with triumphal arches spanning the main thoroughfares, the buildings hung with British and French flags and devices commemorating the deeds of old French discoverers and testifying loyalty to the royal visitor.

Shot to Death In His Store

New York, July 22.—Death at the hands of a vengeful fellow countryman was the fate of Francisco Renaldi, who died shortly after being shot three times in his little Italian wine shop. Although the police say that a young Italian fired the fatal shots, the identity of Renaldi's assailant is not positively known. Renaldi was wealthy. A story that "Black Hand" suspects had been frequenters of his shop is being investigated by the police.

Fleet Again Ready to Sail

Honolulu, July 22.—The Atlantic battleship fleet has finished coaling and formal preparations are being made to resume its journey around the world today, when sail will be set for New Zealand and Australia. The flagship Connecticut will leave her wharf this afternoon and the fleet will raise anchor and sail at 6 p. m. Five thousand men from the fleet were granted shore leave yesterday.

HEADQUARTERS AT CHICAGO

Decision Reached by the National Republican Committee

Colorado Springs, Col., July 22.—The members of the national Republican committee, in conference with Chairman Hitchcock, voted unanimously to establish headquarters in Chicago instead of New York. Hitchcock's force will be established there as soon as he can get them together after his return to Chicago. All the work of the Taft forces will be directed from Chicago, even to the collection of campaign funds.

The inter-mountain Republican conference came to a close last night with a dinner given by Hitchcock to the members of the national committee and state chairmen who have been here. At the session Monday stock was taken, but yesterday plans for the campaigns to be made in the far western states were discussed in detail. Hitchcock declared that he could not discuss these plans. He said that the conferences had been very successful in every way. Hitchcock and his immediate party left for Chicago this morning.

Canned Speeches From Bryan

Lincoln, Neb., July 22.—High above the electric wires of the traction company the Taft banner, which met such an ignominous fate the night before the nomination of Mr. Bryan, was yesterday again flung to the breeze. On either side of it an American flag was hung as a mute warning that it would be protected against a repetition of vandalism.

Most of yesterday was spent by Mr. Bryan in delivering short speeches on the issues of the campaign into a phonograph. Previously he had made similar speeches on the records of a competing concern. Bryan announced that he had received $500 from each of the two concerns as compensation for his work.

Roosevelt to Review Taft's Speech

Hot Springs, Va., July 22.—President Roosevelt is to review in advance the speech W. H. Taft will deliver in Cincinnati next Tuesday. Taft said:

"I have decided to make this speech what may be my most important utterance of the campaign. I have the highest regard for the president's judgment regarding the subjects to be dealt with, and a keen appreciation of his wonderful ability for forceful expression. I want his judgment and his criticism, and this cannot be satisfactorily obtained at long range, so I have decided to go to Oyster Bay." Taft will leave here with his secretary tonight.

Possible Democratic Chairman

Lincoln, Neb., July 22.—It now seems almost certain that the new chairman of the Democratic national committee will be former Governor Douglas of Massachusetts. It is presumed that George F. Williams conferred with Douglas about the matter at the request of Bryan while in the east. Douglas is a man of large means and political experience, he is popular with the labor class, and his attitude on the tariff question meets the Democratic idea.

Prohibition Campaign Begins

Chicago, July 22.—The Prohibition national campaign was formally opened last night with addresses delivered by prominent leaders of that party at a mass meeting held in Evanston. The principal speech was made by Eugene W. Chafin, the presidential nominee.

Three Men Held For Conspiracy

New York, July 22.—Mrs. Ben Teal, wife of a theatrical manager and one of the three persons arrested in connection with the alleged plot to manufacture divorce evidence against Frank Jay Gould, the millionaire, was compelled to spend nearly four hours in a cell before bail could be secured. She was arraigned with Mrs. Julia Fleming, a seamstress, and Henry S. Mousely, a private detective, the other two who figure in the alleged conspiracy. When Magistrate Corrigan held the trio in $5000 bail each, Mousley quickly found a bondsman. Mrs. Fleming did not secure bail.

Another Exposition Planned

Cincinnati, July 22.—A movement to celebrate the semi-centenniary of peace between the north and south by holding in 1915 a great southern exposition in Cincinnati and dedicating a southern peace monument in this city was launched at a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. A formal report was presented in support of the idea, giving various reasons why such a celebration should be held in Cincinnati.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Owners of real and personal property in greater New York valued at $7,158,190,400 will contribute $116,117,320 in taxes to the support of the city for the next fiscal year.

The Solinger bank of Solingen, Ger., has suspended. The capital of the bank is $900,000 and its liabilities $1,625,000.

The ban has been removed from the Ancient Order of Hibernians in the Indianapolis diocese by the Catholic church, after having been in force thirty years.

The gunboat Marietta has arrived at Porto Cortez, on the north coast of Honduras.

John McGuff, aged 10, was run over by a freight train at Bangor, Me., suffering injuries from which he died within an hour.

Charles S. Leighton, aged 46 years, a farmer residing near Augusta, Me., committed suicide by shooting. He was despondent over business matters and ill-health.

The Taunton Street Railway company of Taunton, Mass., has been petitioned into involuntary bankruptcy at the instance of four creditors.

ROOSEVELT AT NEWPORT

Participating In Conference Over Building of Battleships

Newport, R. I., July 22.—President Roosevelt arrived here this morning on board the Mayflower to attend the most important conference of naval officers ever held in the country.

More than 100 officers, men of high rank and attainments in various branches of the naval service, are present, and with them the president will go over in detail the plans of two battleships now building and the tentative drawings of others about to laid off. The president wil return to Oyster Bay late this afternoon.

President Roosevelt opened the conference with an address in which he took up a number of important naval topics. He did not go into technicalities of any sort, however, nor did he attempt to advise the officers. When the address was concluded the door of the conference room was closed to all except officers of the war college, of the general board from Washington, of the special "battleship commission," and of the "Newport summer conference."

No immediate decision of any importance is expected to develop from the conference, which is really a preliminary and general discussion which will be followed by other conferences at Washington and Oyster Bay, and also here at Newport during the remainder of the summer.

Alleged Passer of Bad Check

Boston, July 22.—Joseph L. Eaton, Jr., the son of a wealthy Newton merchant, was arraigned before Judge Burke and held in $2000 bail for the grand jury on a forgery charge. It is alleged that Eaton, under the name of Robert Elliott, paid for his board bill at the United States hotel with a check drawn on the First National bank, which was worthless.

Rojestvensky Not Dead

Berlin, July 22.—The announcement made from Bad Neuheim that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky, who commanded the ill-fated Russian fleet that was annihilated by the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan in May, 1905, had died there from heart trouble is incorrect. A Russian named Rojestvensky did die at Bad Nauheim, but he was not the admiral.

King Leopold's Life In Danger

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Last coupon in Daily Ledger popularity contest Friday, July 31.

Mr. Lowe is making repairs and enlarging his house, corner of Washington and Beacon streets.

Thursday is "Finnish Day" at the Fresh Air Camp. The Finns have planned to go to the camp in a body, on special cars.

The annual ladies day of the Wollaston Yacht club to have been held this afternoon has been postponed until Saturday, Aug. 8.

William Joyce of Hall place had one of the arteries of his right hand cut while working about the stone crusher on South street, Monday afternoon.

The Eliot National Bank has one of the fastest amateur ball teams around Boston and they will play Makaria on Saturday at Merrymount park. Game called 3.30.

A party of City Officials from Taunton are expected in Qnincy this afternoon. The program includes a visit to the Fore River shipyard and then to Houghs Neck for a shore dinner.

Tuesday night was the second session of the Syrian school, conducted by the Point people. Twice as many Syrians were in attendance as on the first night, and more teachers are to be added to the school.

Two Syrian ministers, Bev. Roovel Joseph and Rev. V. J. Barakian have been stopping at the Fresh Air Camp for a part os this week, and holding meetings among the Syrians at the Point, teaching them American customs and the proper way to live.

Word was telephoned the police at 11.40 Tuesday night to be on the lookout for the men who did the shooting at Jamaica Plain saloon. Ten minutes later Officer Duane, who was on duty at the police station, had notified every officer on duty.

John Wilder of Squanum street has returned from a bicycle trip through the Adirondacks. Mr. Wilder reports that the roads are harder than usual owing to dry weather, but that the scenery is as beautiful as pensities is put up with teh air reone all the opportunities in the world to appreciate it.

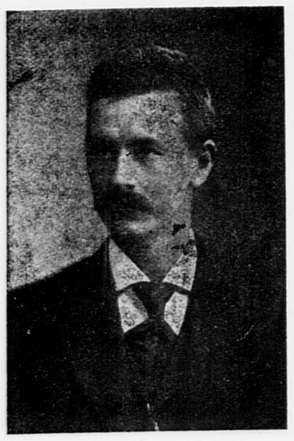

A dozen young young married couples from Wollaston Park enjoyed a genuine picnic supper at the beach Monday evening. Four automobiles were used in conveying food and other "usables" to the feast and everything was made comfortable and pleasant The party did not break up until after ten o'clock.

Strangers coming to Atlantic need not be afraid of any special disorder of the system if they see many and various curiosities afloat in the air. Kite-flying has swept through the "younger set" like a case of measles and everything that has floating propencities is put up with the air regardless of treasured fruit tree or telephone wires.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

—The State Highway Commission has asked proposals for streets in Randolph, Hingham, Plainville, Taunton, Somerset and Seekonk.

Houghs Neck By the Seaside

The chances are that there will be a grand illumination at Houghs Neck his summer. It has been several years since here has been an illuminaion at the beach and the last one held was a fizzle. This was due largely to the fact that one element wanted a three days' festival and the others a single day affair. This year the Houghs Neck Associates have taken hold of the matter, and if it is decided to hold an illumination it will probably be a one day event and a rouser.

The Night Owls captured two out of three strings from the Bay Views in a very exciting bowling match Tuesday evening at Brown's bowling alleys. Boutin of the Night Owls easily won the honors, making the total of 116 for one string. He got a spare followed by three strikes. Flynn of the Night Owls got the best three string total.

NIGHT OWLS.

Mitchell	77	84	85
McLellan	78	84	75
Smith	73	92	74
Flynn	80	104	102
Boutin	81	75	116

Riely	84	93	78
Berlo	71	66	72
Gregg	102	75	64
	408	388	371

The league standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Yannigans	11	1
Night Owls	7	5
Bay Views	5	10
River Roads	1	8

The River Roads bowl the Yannigans next Thursday night at Brown's alleys.

Mrs. E. Elcock won the ladies prize for the highest three string total for last week getting 247.

When your Daily Ledger delivery is irregular please notify A. H. Dunham the news agent, that he may call the attention of the news boy to the fact. Don't complain until after you have done this individually in writing. There is no reason why the Daily Ledger should not be delivered regularly to subscribers, but sometimes it is the subscribers' fault when they neglect to notify the news agent of failures to receive the paper.

Miss McLeod.

Effie McLeod of this city passed away at the Home for Incurable Consumptives, Dorchester, on Thursday evening, July 16. The funeral service took place from the First United Presbyterian church, Fort Square, Quincy on Saturday afternoon, July 18.

The floral tributes were: Spray of pinks, from Mrs. Watson; spray of roses, from Mrs. McLeod; spray of pinks, from Miss Catherine McLeod; spray of pinks, Miss Giles; spray of sweet peas, Miss Katie McKenzie; wreath from Dr. F. E. and Mrs. Jones; and wreath from Miss Mary McLeod sister of the deceased.

Miss McLeod had been for nearly three months an invalid in the hospital at Quincy, previous to her removal to the "Home" in Dorchester. She was at times a great sufferer; but bore her sufferings with great patience.

Hold-Up Reported On Neponset Bridge

Robert W. Sanderson of Squantum street reported to the police Tuesday night that he was held up on the Neponset bridge Sunday night and relieved of $5 in money.

Sanderson says that he started to walk across the bridge to his home about 11 o'clock when he was set upon by five men. The men knocked him down and punched him about the head and body, and then took from him $5 which he had in his pockets. There is a tough gang that hangs about this bridge at night.

CARD OF THANKS.

Injunction Against Street Railway

The Old Colony street railway company is temporarily restrained from building a wall and wharf in Town river, at Quincy Point, says the Globe, an ad interim injunction to that effect having been issued Tuesday by Judge Braley of the supreme court on the bill filed by S. Louise Thomas, Theodore B. Thomas and Hiram W. Phillips of Quincy Point.

The complainants allege that there is a dispute between them and the company as to the ownership of the flats on which the company is building. The matter was tried out in the land court and that tribunal registered the title of the company. The complainants took an appeal to the superior court which is still pending.

The complainants alleged that, notwithstanding the pendency of the appeal in court, the company obtained a license from the harbor and land commissioners to build a wall and wharf, and have begun to erect the same under the license.

They ask to have the company restrained from proceeding further with the work until a final decree is entered in the court. An order of notice returnable Friday and a subpena returnable in September were issued.

TODAY'S COURT.

Bennet Bean was fined $5 for peddling without a license at Quincy.

John McAuliffe and James F. Sullivan were fined $50 each for the larceny of a ham from the team of Cyrus Lantz at Quincy.

The continued case of K. Salim, for larceny at Quincy was called, and he was found not guilty and discharged.

August Holmy was arraigned for the larceny of a chain from Rendell & Lundbug at Quincy. Case continued until Thursday.

—A new passenger tariff on Russian railroads, effective recently, makes traveling in that country very much more expensive. The increase in the price of first class tickets is 30 per cent., in second class 20 per cent., and in third class 10 per cent. There has been introduced a fourth class, similar to the fourth class accommodations im eGrmany.

SPORTS AT ELKS' OUTING

Valuable Prizes Prove to be Jokes But They Were Appreciated

The first annual outing of Quincy lodge of Elks on Wednesday at Peddock's Island was a pronounced success in every way. The weather of the early morning did not give promise of a very pleasant day but it did not cause a postponement. Later the weather cleared, and the day turned out to be an ideal one.

Many went over to the island on the early boats but the noon and last boat took the largest party.

Dinner was the first event on the program. There were many entries for this event, and the landlord said there were 150. It was a shore dinner that was served, and it was an excellent one.

After dinner there was an hour of rest to allow the clams and other good things to settle before starting the sports. Then Leo J. McMasters, W. J. Callahan and R. J. Williams called the first event.

The sports furnished no end of fun, especially when the prizes were awarded. According to the program the prizes were valuable ones, but they turned out to be jokes.

For instance for the game of ball between the fat and lean men, it was announced that fifty bones would be given. This was taken to mean $50, but it turned out to be a small coffin, which contained fifty small bones.

Then there were three of a kind, which proved to be two lemons. The third was the man who received the prize. A large leather medal was given the winner of the fat man's race, and 100 yard sticks to the winner of the 100 yard dash.

The result of the several sports was as follows:

100-yard dash—Won by John J. McTiernan.

Fat men's race—Won by William J. Callahan.

Sack race—Won by Joseph Shea.

Three-legged race—Won by A. E. Elcock and J. D. Smith.

Running broad jump—Won by John J. McTiernan, 20 ft. 6 in.

Hop, skip and jump—Won by John J.Tiernan, 37 ft. 7 in.

Three standing jumps—Won by John Ryan, 26 ft. 3 in.

Half-mile run— Won by Benjamin Johnson.

A game of baseball played by married men and single men was won by the former, 9 to 0. Mayor William T. Shea of Quincy was the umpire for the married men and Representative R. P. Coombs for the single men.

The prizes were distributed by Mayor Shea. Isidore Fritz received the consolation prize.

While the sports were in progress some of the party went in bathing, others went boating, and still others walked about the island enjoying the scenery.

Shortly before 6 o'clock the start for home was made and at 7 o'clock they were landed safe and sound in City Square.

The day had been one long continuous one of pleasure for all, many thanks to the committee, which included: Exalted Ruler, William R. Thomas, Daniel J. Deasy, Benjamin Johnson and Edward W. Courtney.

—When America was discovered, the Indians were divided into tribes, though there were no exact boundaries between the countries of different tribes. The Indians of the Atlantic coast were generally Algonquins; the Indians of the interior, or Middle States, were Iroquois. On the other side of the Iroquois, along the Mississippi, there were other Algonquins, of whom some still survive in the Indian Territory, across the Mississippi. The tribes of the South, Creeks, Cherokees, Chicasaws, and others, are kindred to the Iroquois. Their descendants are in Indian Territory.

Would-Be Brides At Cobweb Party

The Dorcas Society of Bethany church held a very successful cobweb party, Wednesday evening, July 22, in the ladies' parlor.

After a very interesting program, arranged by Miss Elvira Packard, the guests were set to work to unwind the strings of the cobweb. Each one found at the end of her string a little reminder of the occasion.

During the evening Miss Mabel E. Lovejoy, president of the organization, presented four of the members, whose engagements have lately been announced, appropriate gifts. Each one responded.

At ten o'clock the doors were thrown open into the chapel, which had been beautifully decorated and where a bountiful repast lay waiting. After this the guests departed all feeling very happy and wishing that other engagements would soon be announced.

The committee in charge were: Miss Mabel E. Lovejoy, president; Miss Alice Dunn, leader; Miss Minnie Packard, chairman; Miss Ella Packard.

Y. M. C. U. Country Week.

The managers of "The Country Week" of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union, 48 Boylston street, ask for generous additional donations that the work of the season may not be curtailed. Some 1200 children are already provided with vacations, but the committee has upon the book the names of fully 1000 others who should be given the privilege of enjoying a fortnight in the country.

Six dollars and seventy-five cents will give to one child a vacation of 14 days.

Donations should be sent to Frank L. Locke, president, Boston Young Men's Christian Union, 48 Boylston street, Boston, marked for "The Country Week."

COOMBS ASSAILANT

Arrested Today By District Police Has Been In Insane Asylum

W. J. Welch of Brookline was held in the Boston Municipal court this morning under $200 bonds until tomorrow charged with assault on Representative Ednor P. Coombs at the State House, Monday, June 8.

Welch was for one year an inmate of the insane aslyum at Worcester, and upon his release brought suit against the physician and others who were instrumental in having him put under restraint. He is evidently unbalanced.

The case has been worked up by the District Police, who request Welch to appear before them. When he appeared they questioned him closely and he appeared very cool. The police say they have the necessary evidence.

Representative Coombs was assaulted by an unknown man while escorting his wife and Miss Nellie Riley through the State House. He was leaving the State Library when the man rushed up and struck him twice and succeeded in making his escape.

Prompt Arrest.

The police of Station 11, Dorchester, picked up a man at midnight Wednesday as a suspicious character. The man had a bag with him, in which was a quantity of rope. He gave his name as John R. McLellan.

This morning the Quincy police were notified of the arrest, and about the same time by N. E. Alley, a Wollaston expressman, that he had lost some rope during the night.

Inspector McKay went to Station 11 after the man and brought him to Quincy. He admitted stealing the rope from Mr. Alley.

One Shot Dead Other Captured

The two desperadoes who terrorized the people of Jamaica Plain yesterday by shooting at everybody in sight, killing one man and wounding ten others, were captured at 4 o'clock this morning after a desperate fight that lasted all night.

Every available officer in Boston was called to aid in the capture of the two men. The officers were heavily armed and were told to shoot to kill.

Despatches in another column of today's Ledger tell of the running fight with the two men that lasted until midnight. At that time the men were cornered in Forest Hill cemetery which was surrounded by officers.

Operations were suspended until daylight. This morning the officers began to close in on the two desperate men. When they were sighted there was a fusillade of shots from the officers' revolvers.

One of the desperadoes fell dead, his body pierced by over twenty bullets. The second man although hit several times was not killed. He, however, threw up his hands and surrendered without further resistance. He was taken into custody. Both men proved to be Armenians.

The sentiment of the general public seems to be that it would have been a good thing and saved a lot of expense, if when the prisoner threw up his hands, some officer had accidentally shot him.

Dr. G. A. Ordway Dies in Hospital

Dr. George A. Ordway, formerly of Quincy, died on Wednesday at the hospital at South Framingham. He was a physician at Cochituate, and for three weeks had been under treatment for heart disease.

He was 64 years old, a native of Knox, Me., a civil war veteran, having served with the 1st Maine cavalry; a member of Paul Revere post 88, G. A. R. of Quincy and of Franklin lodge of Odd Fellows of Boston. He is survived by a wife and a son, Earl B. Ordway, and a daughter, wife of George E. Rogers of Brighton.

Mr. Ordway came to Quincy as superintendent of the Quincy almshouse. He was afterwards proprietor of a local hotel on Washington street. He was prominent in Paul Revere post, 88, G. A. R., and since he removed from the city he often paraded with the Quincy veterans on Memorial day. About the time he left Quincy he took up the study of medicine, and has been located in different places.

The body will be brought to Quincy on Saturday for interment at Mt. Wollaston.

A Quincy Son Who Achieved Success

Horace W. Baxter, who was born in Quincy, Oct. 21, 1824, died in Brighton on Wednesday, in his 84th year. He was the son of William and Elizabeth (Arnold) Baxter and attended the Quincy schools. At 16 years of age he engaged with his uncle Mottram V. Arnold in the meat business at Brighton, and is said to be the last of the pioneers of the cattle industry of Brighton. He became a member of the firm at 24 years of age, and sole proprietor at 28.

In 1903 Mr. and Mrs. Baxter observed their golden wedding, Mrs. Baxter died in 1905. Mr. Baxter leaves four sons and a daughter, also five grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon.

Rebekah Outing.

A large party of the sisters of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge are holding their annual outing today at Glen Echo grove, Stoughton. The ladies left Quincy shortly after 9 o'clock. Just enough brothers were taken along to keep the sisters out of mischief, and do what few errands and work there was to do. Basket lunches were required, and during the day there will be a series of sports.

City Officials Here From Taunton

A party of Taunton officials are in town today on an outing. Some twenty in number they left Taunton at 10 o'clock in a special car, and arrived in Quincy at 12.10.

One corner of the car had been fixed up as a buffet lunch room. This was in charge of Alderman J. P. Dufour and City Messenger F. M. Flood. The larder was well supplied with sandwiches, sardines, and other refreshments, for it was figured out that they would get hungry before they landed at Houghs Neck where dinner was to be served.

Upon their arrival in City Square they were met by ex-Representative Edward J. Sandberg and City Messenger Harry W. Tirrell, who did the honors for the city in the absence of Mayor Shea, who had been called out of town.

Harry showed the party about the big stone building known as City Hall, and opened up a bottle of ice water.

After inspecting the various offices the car was taken for the Fore River Shipbuilding plant. There an hour was quickly passed in inspecting the many interesting things including, the big dreadnaught North Dakota.

The return from the Fore River was made at 2 o'clock, and the car was then sent to Houghs Neck where a shore dinner was served at Norteman's.

Those in the party were: Ex-Mayor James B. Tracy, Sewer Commissioner James P. Dunn, Sewer Commissioner James Guafield, Supt. of Public buildings, John R. Scanlon, Assistant Superintendent of Streets, J. P. Callahan, City Auditor H. A. Cushman, City Messenger F. M. Flood.

Aldermen Timothy Sheahan, J. P. Dufour, Levi M. Wetherbee, William J. Flood and John H. Cronin.

Councilmen T. P. Hartigan, Charles Fields, Harry Yates, Fred Confey, Lester B. Dickerman, James Caney, William P. Doherty and Matthew A. Higgins.

The Granite City club are arranging for an outing at the Squantum Inn next week.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Have you paid your poll tax?

The gardens and the lawns are reviving with the daily rains.

Mrs. Forbes of Billings road is entertaining Mrs. Leavitt of Beverly.

Mrs. Seavey of Philadelphia is the guest this week of Mrs. Winters of Willow street.

Mrs. Olive Milbury of West Elm avenue is visiting friends in Syracuse, New York.

Miss Dorothy Flahive of Freeman street is visiting her uncle Dr. Burr in Kingston, Mass.

Mrs. Stiles and son Earle of Cincinnati, who have been visiting Mrs. W. B. Grant of Rawson road, leave tomorrow for Ashland.

Miss Ethel P. Parker of Wollaston won the first prize at bowling contest for the week at North Conway, N. H.

Miss Mosaieurs of Beach street entertained the D. O. club of the Park and Downs Congregational church last Saturday. An outing was enjoyed in Norumbega Park.

Messrs. Edward Smith of East Boston and J. W. White of Beachmont have bought the Fenton property on Beale street and are having it thoroughly renovated.

Battleship Masts.

The Mississippi and the Idaho will be the first battleships equipped with the "waste basket" military mast, which as tried on the monitor Florida has proved a big success, says a Washington dispatch to the Herald. They have been ordered to the Philadelphia Navy Yard to have their fire control apparatus installed and the military masts erected.

The superiority of the new type of mast is so great that eventually it will be placed on all the ships. It is practically indestructible, as even if more than half the tubes composing it are cut it will stand up.

NIGHT BATTLE WITH BANDITS

Ten Persons Receive Wounds From Desperadoes' Guns

THEY COMMIT SECOND MURDER

Third of Police Force of Boston Held Off In a Cemetery by Two of the Three Men Who Held Up a Saloon the Previous Night--Bloodthirsty Chase In Which Pursuers Were Aided by Searchlights--Many Citizens Injured by Flying Bullets

Boston, July 23.—One man killed and nine people wounded, one a woman, was the deadly toll exacted last night by two desperadoes who had terrorized Jamaica Plain all night long. At midnight the two men were surrounded in the Forest Hills cemetery by hundreds of policemen and armed citizens, while searchlights were turned on the home of the dead in a vain search to locate their place of concealment.

No western town, far away from the restraint of civilization, had ever had enacted more murderous and deadly scenes than those in which these two men participated.

The hunted men were two of those who had entered a Jamaica Plain saloon the night before and had killed one man and shot another, who may die.

Eluding the police all day long, two of the bandits appeared at twilight at the corner of Childs and School streets. Accosted by Officer Inglis, they at once drew revolvers and a duel started. The policeman fell, as did a woman spectator, and from that moment until midnight scenes such as Boston has never before known prevailed.

Taking refuge behind the tombstones of Forest Hills cemetery, after firing upon and wounding many people in their flight, the two men held off one-third of the police force of the city and hundreds of armed citizens.

Hundreds of shots were fired on either side, but the bandits are not known to have been wounded. Never has a manhunt in the west, not even the pursuit of Tracy, the outlaw, been more dangerous and thrilling.

Hemmed in on all sides, the two desperadoes grimly fired at every person they met as they hurried through crowded streets. Pedestrians fled for shelter, grim policemen trailed close behind and exchanged shot for shot, but there was never a sign of surrender.

It was remarkable what these hounded murderers had done. They had held back hundreds of men, shooting promiscuously at everybody in sight, had thwarted the efforts of hundreds of policemen to arrest them, and had in the shrouds made by night in the cemetery finally forced their pursuers, aided by searchlights, to retire and await the coming of daylight to renew their efforts to arrest them.

Such in brief is the story of the most bloodthirsty chase ever known in the eastern states.

The dead man is Herbert Knox, 50, watchman at Forest Hills cemetery, shot in the abdomen while leaving the cemetery. Died at 10:45 p. m.

Thomas Moore, a conductor, was shot in the left thigh. He is on the dangerous list at the City hospital.

The following were wounded: Patrolman Edward McMahon, 30, attached to division 9, shot in abdomen and right side. Taken to the Emerson hospital.

Patrolman Edmund R. Inglis, 29, attached to division 13, shot in the left ankle and may lose leg. Taken to the City hospital.

Reserve Officer Thomas Thompson, attached to division 13, shot in the left leg. Taken to Emerson hospital.

Mrs. Delia Fallon, 30, shot in the right cheek.

John Nolan, 35, laborer, shot in the left breast. Attended by Dr. Deering and taken to his home.

Patrick Magin, 20, a plumber, shot in face, flesh wound. Attended by Dr. Malone and taken to his home.

Michael Flynn, upholsterer, employed at the Readville car shops, shot behind the ear.

John Monahan, shot in the hand while standing in a doorway. Taken to his home.

Sultan Driven to Extremes

London, July 23.—Details received here of the crisis which has arisen in Turkey, through the infection of a large section of the army with young Turkish sympathies, are still somewhat obscure, but it is evident that the sultan has been driven to adopt strong measures to meet the difficult situation. The present crisis appears to have been the result of general dissatisfaction.

Hibernian Recommendations

Indianapolis, July 23.—The report of National President Cummings to the biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians is the chief topic of discussion among the delegates. Cummings declared against insurance by the national body and in favor of retaining the present system of state insurance. The report urged closer relations with the Catholic church.

German Motor In the Lead

Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia, July 23.—The German car in the New York-to-Paris motor race crossed the frontier at 8:22 last evening. The American car, which left Moscow at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, is about 550 miles behind the Germans.

FINE OF $28,240,000 REVOKED

Trial Court Judgment In Case of Standard Oil Is Reversed

Chicago, July 23.—Following the unanimous decision of Judges Grosscup, Seaman and Baker, composing the United States circuit court of appeals, reversing and remanding the case of the government against the Standard Oil company of Indiana, in which case Judge Landis in the district court had imposed a fine of $29,240,000, the federal attorneys announced that the government had thirty days within which to file a petition for a rehearing, and that it would be filed within the allotted period.

In the case that was reversed the Standard Oil company of Indiana was found guilty of accepting rebates on shipments of oil from its refinery at Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ills. Judge Landis fined the company $20,000 on each of 1462 counts, each count representing a carload shipment.

The opinion of three judges of the higher court leaves little of the contention that each carload constituted a separate offense. The fine should have been based on settlements between the railroad and the oil company, the opinion holds. Of these there were just thirty-six. The maximum fine on this basis would amount to $720,000 and the minimum $36,000. It is said that $223,000 is the total amount which the Standard Oil company is alleged to have received as rebates on the shipments in question.

GREAT BRITON'S "MYSTERY SHIP"

Her Visit to America Is of Interest to Naval Men

Quebec, July 23.—The Prince of Wales landed from the British battleship Indomitable amid the deafening roar of guns from the international fleet of British, French and American warships and the tumultuous demonstrations of 50,000 people massed upon the wharves and the terraced heights of the city.

As the Indomitable swung alongside the New Hampshire the colossal magnitude and power of the British ship stood out in bold relief against the American battleship, which looked like a delicate white yacht beside this truly monstrous engine of destruction. Back of her came the Minotaur, another naval colossus.

Premier Laurier delivered to the prince an address of welcome in which he gave assurance of the unswerving loyalty and devotion of Canada to the king and the united resolve to promote the interests of the empire. The prince responded in a happy vein, speaking both in English and French, extending the good wishes of his father to Canada and making pleasant allusion to the loyalty of English and French Canadians alike.

Naval experts are much interested in the Indomitable, known in England as "the mystery ship," owing to the secrecy with which her recent construction has been surrounded. In appearance she is a complete departure from the old battleship and is little more than a huge gun platform, with all top hamper cleared away so as to give open sweep to her eight 12-inch guns, capable of firing fore or aft or broadside with a concentrated fire of 13,600 pounds of steel projectiles every minute. The old-time masts and fighting tops are eliminated, and in their place is seen for the first time the steel tripod masts, fore and aft, any part of which can be shot away and the rest stand. From a naval standpoint the visit of the Indomitable is hardly less interesting than that of the prince, as it is the first time one of the Dreadnaught ships has been seen in North American waters.

Gotham's Latest Murder Mystery

New York, July 23.—Another murder mystery has been added to the long list of unsolved cases that are now baffling the police of New York and vicinity. The body of a pretty young woman was found in a tool shed in Irving park, Williamsburg. She was shot through the breast and had been killed almost instantly. Although a policeman heard the report of the shot and ran to the scene, he was too late to catch sight of the murderer. This latest murder has puzzling features to unravel, for not even the identity of the victim is known.

Mosquitoes Invade Gotham

New York, July 23.—Millions of mosquitoes from New Jersey swept across the Hudson in Manhattan and the Bronx last evening. The mosquitoes displayed ravenous prowess, tormenting patients in the hospitals, irritating auditors in the local theatres, disturbing the diners in restaurants and driving sweltering East Siders, who sought a breath of fresh air in the streets, back to their stuffy tenements.

Baldwin's Airship at Washington

Washington, July 23.—Captain Baldwin's dirigible balloon, built for the army signal corps, has arrived here. The work of assembling it will be begun immediately. According to his contract with the government, Baldwin must deliver his completed airship by next Monday. He will have until Aug. 27 to make six tests.

"HAMMER ENEMY TILL HE QUITS"

President Roosevelt Makes Plea For a First Class Navy

MAYFLOWER HITS SCHOONER

Sharp Bow of Presidential Craft Practically Cuts In Two a Lumber Laden Vessel During Dense Fog In Long Island Sound--President Provides Transportation For Shipwrecked Men--Skipper of the Manawa Disclaims All Responsibility For the Collision

Newport, R. I., July 23.—Pleading for popular support for a "first-class fighting navy," a navy capable of seeking out the enemy and "hammering him until he quits," President Roosevelt was the central figure here in the conference of American naval officers called together to consult and discuss, in a broad, general way, the features of future United States battleships.

The president spoke publicly for more than half an hour, and then the conference went into executive session for one hour. During this session the president argued as a layman, he explained, and did not attempt to give advice to professional men. He impressed upon the officers, however, that it was given to them to keep the American navy abreast of the times and to make it the hard hitting, efficient fighting force which he believes to be a guarantee against the possibility of war. Mr. Roosevelt characterized the navy as the cheapest form of safety insurance policy the nation could secure.

The president sailed for Oyster Bay yesterday afternoon, but the battleship conferences will continue here and in Washington until definite plans for the ships to be laid down in the near future are decided upon.

When the cruiser-yacht Mayflower, flying the president's flag at the main truck, came steaming into the harbor, nearly two hours behind her scheduled time of arrival, with her bowsprit carried away, one anchor gone, bowplate dented and six strange figures in black oilskins and sou'westers gathered in the bow, she brought the story of an adventurous night run in a black fog and of a collision in which the lumber laden schooner Menawa had been cut practically in two by the sharp, curving bows of the president's yacht.

A lifeboat lowered from the Mayflower picked up the crew of six men on the sinking boat. They were taken on board, and when the Mayflower arrived here, the president, who knew nothing of the accident and the danger of the collision until he arose in the morning, directed that the men of the crew be given sufficient money to take them to their homes in Maine, and that Master Hutchinson of the schooner be provided with transportation to the office of his agents in New York.

Picked suddenly out of the blackness of a nasty night and set down on board the yacht of the President of the United States, with the president and his family sleeping down below, the dazed men who had lost their boat did not know just how to respond to the president's sincere words of regret over the mishap and his provision for their journey home.

Commander Snowden, in command of the Mayflower, summoned the men to his cabin and organized a summary court of inquiry in which he took their statements for use in an investigation, which he immediately requested the navy department at Washington to undertake. He sent word to all inquirers that he would not discuss the accident.

Captain Hutchinson of the Manawa, however, disclaimed all responsibility for the collision. He declared he was running down the sound with all lights burning brightly and a double lookout forward. He was trying to keep out of the beaten path of steamers, he declared, and was sailing under a jib and foresail, all other canvas being furled. The fog was lifting and closing in again at intervals, according to Hutchinson, who says the Mayflower was visible some time before she struck.

"I ordered the fog horn sounded," said Hutchinson, "but heard no blasts from the Mayflower's whistle at any time. I had ordered the men who were not on watch to turn in in their clothes to be ready for an emergency. We thought the Mayflower would veer by putting her wheel to starboard and not hit us, but she came right on and cut us almost in two.

"I had always wanted to see the president," continued the captain, "but I hardly looked for an acquaintance under the circumstances, and it isn't relishing to be run down even by the President of the United States. He talked to us fairly and squarely, like a man. The collision was'nt his fault and he did all he could under the circumstances. I don't know why Captain Snowden held us on the Mayflower until late in the afternoon, however, before setting us ashore, when he might just as well have sent us off as soon as the president had left the ship."

Postponement of Boni's Suit

Paris, July 23.—The suit brought by Count Boni de Castellane against Princess de Sagan, his former wife, for the possession of his three children, has been postponed until July 29, and it most probably will not be reached until the fall term of the court.

Exciting Hotel Incident In Bar Harbor's Early Days.

"In the prehistoric days at Bar Harbor," said a Boston man, "before the dress suit had cast its blighting shadow there and when Rodick's and the 'fish pond' were the center of all the gayety, life was pleasant, even though many of the conveniences which we now demand were wholly lacking. Rodick's was a barn of a place with no elevator and innocent of electric bells. One man in imminent need of ice water once obtained it, however, by going into the hall and yelling 'Murder!' at the top of his lungs. He gathered together most of the hotel guests and finally got the ice water of his soul's desire, but his success did not seem to establish a precedent.

"The fire department was, so to speak, in embryo. In the Rodick at the head of each stairway there used to stand a large hogshead of water for use in an emergency, and thereby hangs the tale I am about to tell you.

"Late of an evening there entered the deserted 'fish pond' a young man whose fixed and glassy eye and wandering smile betrayed what his evening's occupation had been. In order to settle any lingering doubt as to his condition, however, he proceeded to emit a series of blood curdling shrieks, which called forth a hasty and emphatic protest from the night clerk, who on advancing upon the inebriated one was promptly laid low by a right hander. The night force in an angry array promptly went to the succor of the night clerk, whereat his assailant retreated upstairs, closely followed by his pursuers.

"Reaching the landing, he espied the hogshead of water, which he promptly heaved down the stairway upon his opponents, who, drenched by the water and carried off their feet by the butt itself, in a wild state of rage renewed the attack, only to be treated to the same dose on the second flight of stairs and yet again on the third, at which point, his ammunition being exhausted, they captured and got even with the belligerent one.

"In the morning great was the anger and loud the lamentations of Herr Rodick at the state of his stairway and the damaged condition of his night force, but he who had accomplished the outrage was rich in this world's goods, from part of which he was made to separate for divers ruined carpets, sundry abrasions and for giving five men three baths apiece at $1 a bath, the regular rate at that time in Bar Harbor."

Lace Made From Hair.

The most curious lace is called point tresse. It is very rare and was made of human hair. French collectors say that it exists in the present day only in their cabinets. It was confined to the early part of the sixteenth century. Margaret, countess of Lennox, the mother of the wretched Darnley, sent from the tower, where she was imprisoned when her son, Lord Charles Lennox, married the daughter of Bess of Hardwicke, a bit of this kind of lace to Mary, queen of Scots. This is a very strong proof of her belief in the queen's innocence of the guilt that had been imputed to her. The little square of point tresse was worked by the old countess' own hands from her own gray hair. It was, in fact, hair mixed with fine flax.—London Express.

Knew He Was Dead.

Some time after the occupation of Manila by the American forces one of the army officers was shown through the old Spanish prison in that city. He noticed a small opening through a brick wall. Upon asking its use he was told that prisoners were placed in a cell behind it and walled up alive.

"You see, senor," said the guide, "as long as the prisoner lived his food was handed in on a plate, and he handed the empty plate back, but when he handed the plate back with the food on it untouched, then the jailer knew he was dead and didn't give him any more."

Not Listening.

She was a very little girl, but not so small that she did not recognize swearing as something very wrong or that if other people used bad language it was her place to close her ears to it. She was on the street with her mother, and as they passed a group of men talking in loud tones the passersby heard the small girl exclaim in shocked tones. "Oh, isn't that awful?" And then, as if suddenly remembering, "But I'm not listening."—New York Times.

Unterrified.

The traveler was hurrying along the unfamiliar trail that led in the general direction of his destination, when suddenly a large abyss yawned before him.

He was not in the least perturbed. He was a lecturer, between travels, and was accustomed to have things yawn before him.—Chicago News.

Cares Redoubled.

"My time," said Mr. Dustin Star, "is very valuable."

"That's what makes me doubt the benefit of vast wealth," replied the easy going acquaintance. "It's bad enough to be bothered by the wasting of a few dollars without being worried sick every time you lose five minutes."—Washington Star.

Johnny's Definition.

"What is the meaning of the word tantalizing?" asked his teacher.

"Please, ma'am," spoke up little Johnny Holcomb, "it means a circus procession passing the school and the scholars not allowed to look out."

Genius is a combination of aspiration and inspiration.—Irish Proverb.

WANTED EVERYTHING IN SIGHT

But Americans Lost In the Hundred Metres Dash

WON BY SOUTH AFRICAN LAD

Uncle Sam's Representatives, However, Smash World's and Olympic Records In Four Hundred Metres Hurdling and Running Broad Jump --Yale Man Wins at Featherweight Wrestling--English and Finnish Athletes Also Come In For Honors

London, July 23.—Comparative gloom pervades the American camp. The athletes from over the seas had strongly cherished hopes of repeating Tuesday's grand record in making a clean sweep in the track events, but a dark horse in the person of the South African youth, R. E. Walker, upset the calculations.

Walker broke the tape in what is considered the most important event in the Olympic games, the 100 metres dash, a short two feet in front of J. A. Rector, the University of Virginia crack, thereby putting an end to the succession of American triumphs which had begun to sadden the Britons.

Shoulder to shoulder, Walker, Rector and the Canadian star, Kerr, ran, with Cartmell, the Pennsylvania sprinter, in close attendance. At the half-way mark Walker forged slightly ahead, but at the tape less than a yard separated the first three men, with the Canadian, only inches behind the Virginian, in third place.

The American team did remarkably well yesterday, but success had elated them to the point where they were satisfied with nothing less than everything in sight. A world's record by C. J. Bacon of the Irish-American A. C. in the 400 metres hurdling, which he won in 55 seconds; an Olympic record of 24 feet 6½ inches by F. C. Irons of the Chicago A. A. in the running broad jump, and the victory of G. S. Dale of Yale in the featherweight wrestling, out of seven finals, should be a satisfactory day's performance.

Great Britain, as usual, came second among the countries, with S. V. Bacon winning the middleweight wrestling, and the English team defeating the Belgians in water polo. The African colonial flag was raised to the mast-head to signalize Walker's great feat; and Finland, whose representative, Saarela, conquered all comers in the Graeco-Roman wrestling bouts, having no flag brought forth the standard bearing the word "Finland," which the Finns carried in the opening parade, and it was elevated on the flagpole.

Walker achieved an ovation seen only once in a lifetime on an athletic field, when 40,000 people rose with a great cheer and filled the air with hats, while the boy was lifted on the shoulders of enthusiastic friends. The only demonstration approaching this during the meeting was the tumult after Sheppard's sensational win in the 800 metres Tuesday, but that was feeble by comparison, because Walker is a Britisher and the English public is not partial toward American successes.

This is due partly to the fact that it is a bitter pill to the keenest sporting nation on earth to take second place in any international contest, and it is also true that the Americans incurred some unpopularity by their protests, which the London newspapers and the Olympic officials interpret as a reflection upon the honesty of the English judges and resent accordingly.

Sothern Will Contest Divorce

Reno, Nev., July 23.—Edward H. Sothern will contest his wife's suit for divorce which was filed in the district court by her attorneys. Attorneys for Sothern yesterday filed in behalf of the actor a demurrer to the complaint filed by his wife's attorneys. The demurrer, like the complaint, is a sealed document and nothing could be learned of the contents of the instrument or on what grounds a contest would be made.

Probably Slain by Robber

Boston, July 23.—It has now been determined by the police that the motive for the murder of Mrs. Emma O. Payrow, who was slain in her apartment on Tuesday afternoon, was robbery. All of the woman's jewelry has disappeared as well as what money there was in the house. Search has been commenced for George Leak, a colored youth employed by Mrs. Payrow, who has disappeared.

Story Considered Improbable

London, July 23.—The Daily Express publishes a story to the effect that six Englishmen, led by Ellis A. Bartlett, representing a British syndicate, have penetrated Morocco and obtained from Mulai Hafid, the usurping sultan, the promise of valuable mining, railroad and trading concessions in return for assistance in establishing Hafid on the Moroccan throne. The story is extremely improbable.

Central American War Coming

Panama, July 23.—A prominent foreign consul now here, who lived for many years in Central America, informed The Associated Press last night that he has received a cablegram stating that war had been declared, or would be declared at any moment, between Nicaragua and Honduras against Guatemala and Salvador.

BRYAN MAKES SPEECHES

Says He Is Encouraged by Reports of Democratic Success

Lincoln, Neb., July 23.—Honesty in business and a defense of the Denver platform, particularly with respect to publicity before election of campaign contributions, formed the themes of two addresses made yesterday by W. J. Bryan. The first speech was at Capital Beach to the Association of Grocers and Butchers of Lincoln and the second to the state Democratic committee.

In his remarks to the grocers and butchers, Bryan dwelt on monopolies in certain products, but declared that merchandising was the last branch of business in which there will be a monopoly, because, he said, the moment such monopoly was established a competitor would present himself and the people would thereby be protected against extortion.

To the state committee Bryan gave assurances that reports of Democratic success from different parts of the country were encouraging. He expressed his gratification that Democratic newspapers were receiving campaign contributions and that the masses were taking a hand in the subscriptions. This, he argued, was an auspicious beginning of a new era of politics.

Guffey Recognized as Leader

Harrisburg, July 23.—The Democratic state committee yesterday recognized James M. Guffey as the leader of the Democracy of Pennsylvania in spite of the fact that he was ousted from the state chairmanship at Denver, and, while endorsing the candidates on the natonal ticket, voiced in strong terms of disapproval on the unseating of the Pennsylvania delegates by the credentials committee at Denver. A resolution intended to secure recognition for James Kerr, the sitting member of the national committee, was laughed at when presented.

Taft Starts For Oyster Bay

Hot Springs, Va., July 23.—William H. Taft left here last night for Oyster Bay to confer with President Roosevelt regarding his Cincinnati speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination. He will arrive at Sagamore Hill this afternoon. Taft will doubtless be the guest of the president tonight. He has arranged to leave New York Friday afternoon for Cincinnat, where he will arrive Saturday afternoon.

Holiday In Taft's Honor

Cincinnati, July 23.—By formal proclamation, Mayor Markbreit has called on all Cincinnati citizens to observe July 28 as a holiday in honor of their fellow-townsman, William H. Taft, who will on that day receive formal notification that he was chosen by the Republican national convention as candidate for the presidency.

ARE WEARY OF THE SLIDING SCALE

Fall River Spinners' Union to Withdraw From Agreement

Fall River, Mass., July 23.—The Spinners' union of this city last night voted to withdraw from the sliding scale agreement between the Textile Council and the Manufacturers' association regulating the wages of the operatives. The following resolution was passed:

"Resolved, That the sliding scale agreement with the Manufacturers' association has proven to be a failure, as far as the workers are concerned, and that the Spinners' association gives the necessary three months' notice to withdraw."

While the action taken by this union only affects about 150 members, it is expected that the other organizations of this kind will soon follow its example. There has been considerable unrest and dissatisfaction among the mill operatives since the last readjustment of wages in May, when the pay of all the mill workers was reduced 18 percent.

The agreement went into effect about a year ago and provides for the readjustment of wages every six months, according to the price of cotton and the selling price of print cloth. There will probably be no change until November, when the schedule of wages is again revised.

Battleship Fleet Leaves Hawaii

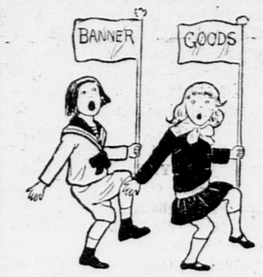

Honolulu, July 23.—The Atlantic battleship fleet bade adieu to the hospitable shores of Hawaii and at 6 o'clock last night sailed away to Auckland, N. Z., the next point on its world trip, where it is due to arrive on Aug. 8. The Minnesota will remain in port until the mail steamer from San Francisco arrives and then overtake the fleet before reaching Auckland.

Greer a Full Fledged Bishop

New York, July 23.—Rev. David H. Greer, who was bishop coadjutor of New York until the death of Bishop Potter, enters immediately into the title, office and duties of the bishopric. Greer is now in London, but will return to New York at once. The new bishop is 64 years old.

Infant Killed by Cough Medicine

Adams, Mass., July 23.—That the death of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Juras of this town was caused by a dose of a patent cough medicine was the finding of Medical Examiner Brown. A doctor discovered that the medicine contained opium and codiene.

IN INTERESTS OF PUBLIC POLICY

Candidate For Governor Asks Questions of Railroad Man

Manchester, N. H., July 23.—The campaign being conducted against the Boston and Maine railroad by Rosecrans W. Pillsbury, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, reached an interesting chapter when letters between Pillsbury and President Tuttle of the Boston and Maine railroad were made public.

The subject of contention appears to be the number of free passes, if any, that the railroad has been and is said to be issuing. Pillsbury made a demand on Tuttle that, in the interests of public policy, he furnish a list of the free passes, and the names of the holders. Tuttle answered by denying that his railroad was taking any part in politics or that any persons were being influenced in New Hampshire by the gifts of free passes, adding that it would be improper for the Boston and Maine railroad to issue a campaign document for the alleged benefit of any candidate for a political office.

Mr. Pillsbury made reply that it was inferrable that the Boston and Maine railroad this year had sent out between 500 and 700 annual free passes to persons in New Hampshire, and about 400 of these were sent to men whose political activity and acumen were well known. Pillsbury makes a demand upon the railroad for some statement that will explain the consideration for which these alleged passes are issued.

Not to Exhume Miss Drew's Body

Troy, N. Y., July 23.—The most important development in the Hazel Drew murder mystery is the decision not to exhume the body. This means that the authorities will hold to the murder theory. When the autopsy was performed the physicians reported that the girl was dead before being put into the pond. Very little importance is attached to the statement by Mrs. Mina Jones of Waterville, Me., that Miss Minnie Taylor of this city, Hazel Drew's aunt, had written Mrs. Jones, asking her to destroy correspondence between Hazel and Mrs. Jones.

Triple Tragedy In Ball Room

New York, July 23.—In view of more than a hundred persons in the ballroom of the Fort Lowery hotel at Bath Beach, L. I., John Hanna, 30 years old, shot 16-year-old Augusta Walz, with whom he was in love, and Ralph Manz, 20 years old, with whom she was dancing. When he saw his victims fall to the floor he shot himself, dying almost instantly. The girl was only slightly wounded. Manz may die.

NEWS IN BRIEF

William Winter, author and dramatic critic, has been removed to a hospital at Los Angeles in a critical condition.

Employes of the International Paper company may have to submit to a cut in wages ranging from 2 to 10 percent on Aug. 1, according to a statement given out by President Burbank of the company.

The summer meeting of the New England Democratic Progressive league has been fixed for Aug. 27, 28 and 29 at Burlington, Vt.

J. A. Sommer, 42 years old, a veteran major baseball league catcher, died of paresis at his home at Cleveland. A widow and two children survive.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Another hot wave is predicted.

John R. Graham of Bangor, Me., is in town today on a brief business trip.

Andrew Stewart and his force of gypsy moth hunters are on the war path again after the pest.

The recent rains have hardly been sufficient to extinguish the peat fire at Norfolk Downs, for the peat is still burning.

The police officers have begun to get after the dogs running about the streets, and the number at large is greatly diminished.

The visit of the Taunton Board of Trade and city officials to Quincy scheduled for Wednesday was postponed until today.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton H. Kidder of 61 Copeland street, are receiving congratulations of their many friends on the birth of a son on July 21, to brighten up their home.

Sudden Death.

Word was received in Quincy this morning of the death at Barre, Vt., of Edward F. McDevitt of West Quincy, the result of an operation for appendicitis. Mr. McDevitt was a blacksmith and had been in Barre some time. His body will be brought to Quincy for burial.

Trunk Demolished.

An inward express train struck a trunk at the Quincy depot about 6 o'clock Wednesday night and demolished it. The trunk was one that had just been put off an outward train and was between the tracks, the baggage man not having time to remove it before the express came along.

—Cameras carried by kites have been long recognized as important for military and surveying purposes, and they have been lately found useful in other ways, as in getting pictures of large industrial plants. The apparatus of a New York company of photographers consists of a series of aeroplanes for reaching the necessary height, a device to hold the camera rigid, and an electrical control of the exposure. For exposures at a height of one thousand feet from twelve to eighteen aeroplanes are used, each being eight feet square, with a wind surface of sixty square feet. They are sent up one after another until their combined pull lifts three thousand feet of cable with the camera and electrical appliances, and the top aeroplane is practically out of sight at a height of three thousand feet when the camera reaches its station at one thousand feet above ground. The photographer watches the camera through a field glass. With finger upon an electrical switch, he may await a favorable moment for one to three hours, but at the right instant he presses the button, and the dropping of a tiny parachute signals that a plate has been exposed. A three horse-power gasoline motor operates the cable.

Capt. Foster Increases Lead In Daily Ledger Voting Contest

Capt. Charles C. Foster has increased his lead in the popularity contest today by an even 200, and has an army of friends at work for him in all parts of the city.

Capt. Field has not been heard from lately, but he says he wants to keep them guessing and it is a fact that he is.

At Houghs Neck, however, they have not been idle for Capt. Pray, and there are wild rumors afloat that they have a big reserve vote.

Capt. Middleton is also reported to have a large number of coupons in his possession.

Today T. J. Larkins makes a gain and passes Capt. Clark. John J. Nolan also moved up eighteen places in the list. There were other gains for Amos L. Litchfield, Miss Torrey, Letter Carrier Odom and others.

Mr. Foster requests the Daily Ledger to say that coupons for him may be left at the following places: T. L. Williams, C. F. Pettengill's, Folsom's Tea store, Russell Badger's, E. H. Lowe's, L. A. Cook's or Sprague & Hobarts.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M. Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

—A wide stretch of beach sand near Cape May has been successfully covered with grain and grass. The beach in this section presented the common appearance frequently seen along the Atlantic coast with hillocks of sand constantly drifting and changing position with intervals of marsh and woods. The real estate company which took up the work of improvement leveled the area. The hillocks were scraped down and mud and sand was dredged out of the inlets and filled into the low places. The soil when analyzed was found to be mostly sea sand, and contained over 1 1-2 tons of salt to the acre. After leveling, a thousand acres or more was planted to oats with a fertilizer consisting of one hundred pounds of wheat bran and two hundred pounds of acid phosphate to the acre. The oats were planted in June and made a fair growth of six to ten inches, greatly improving the appearance of the tract. The crop was plowed under and planted to rye late in the fall. These two crops formed a basis for grass of the varieties adapted to such conditions. The cost of renovating the shore land was about $20 per acre and the work was satisfactory to the real estate company through its increase of land values in that seashore resort.

—The earthworm considers the plow a harrowing calamity.

—Many workers are not satisfied on the road to success. They grumble because it is not a pike.

THREE CHEERS

For the New Houghs Neck Associates Incorporated

The last meeting of the Houghs Neck Associates was held Wednesday evening at Norteman's. The first first business of the meeting was the reading of the report of Oliver G. Fosdick, chairman of he committee on incorporation. Henry W. French, the newly elected president, was chairman. It was voted that all property and moneys belonging to the old Associates be turned over to John R. S. Ross, reasurer of the Houghs Neck Associates incorporated.

Oliver G. Fosdick, chairman of the building committee, reported that Pandora hall had been hired for the winter for a home for the Associates. The hall will be remodelled so as to be suitable for winter use.

A splendid buffet lunch was served after which three cheers were given for the Houghs Neck Associates, incorporated.

A special meeting of the new Associates will be called soon.

A bowling match is scheduled for tonight at Brown's alleys. The River Roads vs. the Yannigans.

Mrs. Peter Ryan won the lucky seat prize at the Palms Wednesday night.

When your Daily Ledger delivery is irregular please notify A. H. Dunham the news agent, that he may call the attention of the news boy to the fact. Don't complain until after you have done this individually in writing. There is no reason why the Daily Ledger should not be delivered regularly to subscribers, but sometimes it is the subscribers' fault when they neglect to notify the news agent of failures to receive the paper.

The New Orleans Now a Quincy Boat

Among the yachts to participate in the review and sail of the Quincy Yacht club on Tuesday was the sonder boat New Orleans, which has recently been purchased by Harry Winslow, who will race her this season in all the races for sonder boats.

The New Orleans represented the Southern Yacht club of New Orleans in the trial races for the honor of meeting the Germans for the Roosevelt cup, but did not make a place, although she showed as times that she was as good as any of the other boats in the racing. Her southern crew had but a short time in which to familiarize themselves with the boat. Designer Small has always claimed that the boat, properly tuned up, would be fast.

She has been laid up at White's yard, Manchester, until recently purchased. The fact that the boat has been bought by a Quincy yachtsman will give the club a challenger for the Quincy cup next year in case the Manchester does not win it this year, or should the latter succeed, the Quincy club will then have another boat to help defend it.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of George Beale, for larceny of a piece of canvas at Quincy, was called. A plea of nolo contendere was accepted, and he was discharged on payment of costs.

James Morris and John Lyons were sent to the State farm for drunkenness at Weymouth.

The continued case of August Holmy, for the larceny of a chain from Rendell & Lundbug, was heard, and he was fined $5.

John R. McLellan was arraigned for the larceny of rope from N. E. Alley at Wollaston. Case continued until Friday.

Paragon Park Attractions.

The hotter it is the more popular Paragon Park becomes—and quite properly too for Paragon is nothing if not a hot weather park. The sail down the harbor to Nantasket Beach is cool and delightful and puts one in a fine fettle to enjoy the pleasures of Paragon. Dinner in the Palm Garden is always a delight but it is especially attractive in hot weather.

Mace Gay's Martland Concert Band of 30 pieces is the main musical attraction this week. Harry Blaney, "The Man Who Has Sung to Beat the Band" every year but one, since Paragon Park was opened, is this year offering an exceptionally good line of songs. Johnny Maguire who has sung at the Park every year since it opened is still proving a vocal attraction. In the free open air circus Lomore and Valveno are doing some clever acrobatic stunts, Bonnetti is doing his terrible whirling "Slide for Life" and Bonnetti Brothers do a sensational trapeze act.

Schooner Douglas Towed to Boston

The six-masted steel schooner William L. Douglas, built at Quincy, Capt. McLean, was towed to an anchorage in Boston early Wednesday morning by the tug Orion, and in the afternoon she was taken to her discharging berth at Mystic wharf says the Globe.

While the schooner was coming through Vineyard sound at midnight Saturday, she ran into thick fog and Capt. McLean decided to anchor. Just as the schooner rounded to anchor she grounded on Lucas shoal and there she remained, hard and fast, until Monday morning when she was floated by the new revenue cutter Androscoggin and two tugs.

The schooner was towed the remainder of the distance to port by the tug Orion. Capt. McLean said the vessel is not leaking and he believes she is uninjured.

The Douglas was on a passage from Baltimore with 6000 tons of coal when the accident occurred. She may go into the drydock after unloading to determine if any of her plates are damaged.

—The available coal yet stored in the earth in Germany is estimated by Prof. Ferdinand Fischer of Gottingen at 160,000,000,000 tons; in England only 81,500,000,000 tons; in Belgium, Austria-Hungary and France about 17,000,000,000 tons each. The store of Russia is but imperfectly known. North America can produce 684,000,000,000 tons, and Baron von Richthofen has stated that China has a supply nearly as great. Japan, Borneo and New South Wales have considerable; coal Africa, an unknown quantity. Germany's coal should last another thousand years, but England's supply will begin to show signs of exhaustion within fifty years. In the United States the production has increased 12 per cent. of the power of the engines was equivalent to about $270 yearly. In another test, the result was even more surprising, and a 630-horse power engine showed a saving of 30-horse power, or 4.8 per cent of the total, when a suitable flywheel covering was used to lessen the friction.

—Error is a great deal worse than ignorance. It is better to know nothing than to know what isn't true.

HANNIBAL HAMLIN.

How He Won the Title "The Carthaginian of Maine."

Among the many stories of Hannibal Hamlin's early experiences in the Maine legislature none is more animated than his tilt with John Holmes, interesting, besides, because it gives the origin of "the Carthaginian of Maine," a name that stuck to Hamlin through life. Holmes had been in the United States senate, and at this particular time, wrote General Hamlin, a member of the state house of representatives, was endeavoring to domineer over it.

Hamlin disputed the leadership with him, and Holmes attempted to crush his young opponent by coarsely ridiculing his swarthy complexion. Instantly Hamlin jumped to his feet and, pointing his finger at Holmes, retorted: "If the gentleman chooses to find fault with me for my complexion, what has he to say about himself? I take my complexion from nature. He gets his from the brandy bottle. Which is more honorable?" This retort was greeted with great applause and cries of "Go on!"

Hamlin then continued, pointing his finger at Holmes: "I will also tell the member from Alfred that he is more conspicuous for trying to run dryshod over young men than for trying to encourage them. But as long as they are true to themselves and to nature and as long as the member from Alfred sticks to the brandy bottle they need not fear him." As soon as the cheers of the house could be sufficiently silenced Holmes retracted his words and made a manly apology. "The young Carthaginian routed the old Roman" was one humorous comment on the incident, and from that time Hamlin was thus frequently characterized.—Lewiston Journal.

You can't Beat Ralston's for Summer Wear.

As you well know, it's during the Summer that your shoes are put to the hardest test. In order for them to give you all Summer-long satisfaction they must be "dressy" enough to wear anywhere and yet they must be perfectly comfortable.

In short you want your feet to look "dressed up" without their feeling so. That's why we recommend Ralston shoes. Come in and let us show you wherein they're different from any other shoes made.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED

Quincy Granite Manufacturer Talked With One Of the Bandits

Alexander Reynolds of the Reynolds Granite Company of Glencoe place, is positive that the Hugh McDougal arrested in Forest Hills cemetery Thursday morning and held on suspicion of being one of the much wanted desperadoes, is a man he saw Wednesday.

Mr. Reynolds was setting up a monument at Mt. Calvary cemetery Wednesday afternoon. About 4 o'clock a man acting in a suspicious manner suddenly made his appearance near where he was at work. The fellow passed the time of day and then disappeared.

At this time Mr. Reynolds had not heard of the shooting, but he was suspicious of the man he had seen. A little later meeting a mounted officer he told him about the man. The officer replied, that's the man we want, and he started in the direction the stranger had taken.

A little later he heard the shooting at Forest Hills and thought it time to get out.

Mr. Reynolds describes the man he saw as being about 30 years of age, smooth face. He was tall and slim and wore a derby hat.

When shown a picture of McDougal printed in a morning paper, Mr. Reynolds was almost positive that it was the man he saw. He was also shown a picture of the dead yegg but said immediately he was not the man.

Mr. Reynolds is positive that he could recognize the man if he saw him again, and he will go to the Charles street jail tomorrow morning to take a look at McDougal.

Larceny From Persons Unknown

A man who gave his name as John Kurlowicz was arrested at Quincy Point on Thursday by Officer Lyons, for larceny from some person unknown. The officer saw the man trying to dispose of two pair of new shoes, and after questioning the man decided to send him to the station.

On being searched at the police station a miscellaneous assortment of articles was brought to light, in addition to the two pair of shoes. These included ladies collars and ties, razor and a professional chauffeur badge numbered A 19535.

The man claimed that he purchased the shoes in Boston, but did not attempt to account for the other articles in his possession. He was locked up on a complaint for larceny from some person unknown.

Edward F. McDevitt.

The Barre Daily Times has more details of the death of Edward F. McDevitt of 8 Summer street. He died at the City Hospital at six o'clock Wednesday evening, following an operation for appendicitis which was performed one week ago. There has existed but little hope of his recovery since the operation, as it was discovered at that time that tubercular condition in an advanced stage made his recovery almost impossible.

Mr. McDevitt was 34 years of age and was born in West Quincy, Mass. He came to Barre to reside about five years ago, and has been employed as a tool sharpener at the granite plant of C. R. Scott & Co. He is survived by his wife and one son. The remains were taken to Quincy.

Taunton Officials Pleased with Quincy

The Taunton officials who were in Quincy on Thursday on their annual outing were guests during the trip of ex-Mayor John B. Tracy, and were very enthusiastic over their visit to the Fore River Ship Building plant. They spent an hour there and were greatly impressed with what they saw.

As one of the party said, they had heard much of the Fore River Co., but had no idea of the magnitude of the plant. They saw all that was possible in the limited time they were there which included a trip through the scout cruiser Salem, the fastest vessel in the United States Navy.

City Messenger Tirrell and Principal Assessor Adams with ex-Representative Sandberg accompanied the party, while they were in Quincy and did the honors for the city.

On their return from the Fore River they were joined by two more from Taunton, Supt. of Sewers, Richard McMann, and Charles King, ex-sealer of weights and measures.

Arriving at Houghs Neck the party visited the Quincy Yacht club house and then the dining room at Norteman's where a fine shore dinner was served.

After dinner the party wandered about the beach. Some took a sail to Nantasket Point and back on the steamer; others visited Peddock's island, and still others improved the opportunity to go in bathing.

It was planned to leave the beach at 6 o'clock but it was after 7 o'clock before they got away. Arriving in Quincy the party visited the Elks club where they were entertained as only the Elks know how.

The start for home was made at 9 o'clock. All expressed themselves as greatly pleased with their day's outing. They were profuse in their thanks to ex-Mayor Tracey their host, and to Alderman Dufour, a Quincy boy, who outlined the itinerary.

Collier Melrose.

The steamer Melrose, Capt. Frostad, arrived in Boston Thursday evening from Newport News with a cargo of 7262 tons of coal. The Melrose is one of the trio of big colliers built at Quincy for the New England gas and coke company. Upon her completion she was chartered to a New York company and for six months was engaged in carrying sulphur from Texas to New York. This charter has now expired and with her sister ships, the Everett and Malden, the Melrose will now transport coal to Boston.

Inventory Estate Of Mellen Bray

The will of the late Mellen Bray, president of the Tubular Rivet Co., at Wollaston has been inventoried, says the Boston Advertiser, showing personal assests of $1,361,000 and real estate to the extent of $228,500.

There are enumerated loans to the extent of over $351,059.43, of which it is believed $54,565.64 may be worthless.

In the Newton Centre Trust Co. $193,620 was deposited, while the remainder of the $234,617.45 on deposit was mostly in other Newton institutions. The accounts received are comparatively small.

The real estate, with the exception of two parcels in Wareham, is all located in Newton, the largest two individual pieces being a block and annex on Institute avenue and Union street, Newton, valued at $65,000 and an apartment, not yet finished, on Institution avenue, and land, valued at $50,000.

Englishmen at Northfield.

W. R. Moody has announced that among the speakers at the twenty-sixth session of the General Conference for Christian Workers, founded by his father, will be four noted divines from England. The program for the Conference is one of the strongest ever presented at Northfield and the town is preparing to accommodate at least 5000 delegates during the first two weeks of August In addition to the men who are coming from the other side there will be a large number of home speakers, among whom are Drs. A. T. Pierson, of Brooklyn, Len G. Broughton of Atlanta, Hugh Black of New York, R. A. Torrey of Montrose, Pa., and John Douglas Adam of Orange, N. J. Many missionaries will also attend the session, including Dr. H. G. Underwood of Korea, and Bishop W. F. Oldham, of India.

Dr. W. L. Watkinson of London, comes to Northfield for the first time. He is a venerable old man, who for years has been the leader of the Methodist denomination in England and who is making his farewell visit to America this summer. Unlike most of the speakers at Northfield, he is not a college man. He has been a preacher for nearly sixty years and has spoken before the roughest iron workers in Birmingham and the most select audiences in London.

Houghs Neck By the Seaside

Rev. F. E. Emrich, D. D., of Boston, one of the foremost preachers in New England, will speak on Sunday evening, July 26, at the interdenominational gospel service at the Union chapel on Bay View avenue. A general invitation is extended to all the people at Houghs Neck. A song service with solos will be a feature of the service.

The people of Houghs Neck are now thoroughly aroused over the Daily Ledger voting contest for the most popular yachtsman, and they are well united on Frank Pray, the obliging janitor at the clubhouse of the Quincy Yacht club. H. S. Brown announces that he will give the proceeds at his summer ball room next Monday evening to the Frank Pray fund. They say he must win that $250 Motor Boat.

The Yannigans defeated the River Roads three strings in one of the most loosely played matches of the year. Only in the second string did the River Roads have any chance to win. Greenaway of the Yannigans broke the three-string record of the league and tied Boutin of the Night Owls for the highest single-string total. The Yannigans also broke the record for team-total for one string, getting 462 in the first string.

Foy—Grant.

Mr. James F. Foy and Miss Della E. Grant were united in marriage Thursday evening at the parsonage of St. John's church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. John J. Coan.

Miss May McDonald was the bridesmaid and Mr. Christopher J. Foy, a brother of the groom, was the best man. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride after which Mr. and Mrs. Foy left for a wedding trip to the Provinces.

Mr. and Mrs. Foy will reside at 117 Cranch street, where they will be at home after Aug. 4.

Norfolk County G. A. R.

The annual outing of the Norfolk County Association of the Grand Army and Women's Relief Corps on Thursday at Bass Point, Nahant, was attended by 300 or more. A dinner at the Bass Point House was the great event of the day, and was followed by speeches by Past Department Commander J. D. Billings, Junior Vice Department Commander Brown, Department Chaplain Barnes and others. The committee of arrangements included E. H. Dunbar, William L. Gage, Oliver Houghton and J. N. Danforth of Weymouth.

The Best Proof Of Christianity

The Boston Journal today tells of a philanthropic work similar to the Fresh Air Camp of Quincy and Weymouth.

Believing that the best proof of Christianity is in the practise of it, and that the preaching of the gospel should be supplemented by practical philanthropy, the Rev. W. W. Sleeper, pastor of the Wellesley Village Church, has taken three happy crowds of little tenement waifs on picnic journeys to beautiful Wellesley and given the little folk the time of their lives.

Yesterday it was a crowd of Italian children, with their mothers, who were made happy by the good man's bigness of heart. He had searched the tenement sections of Boston to find those he thought most needed an outing, and they were at the South Station yesterday morning, bright-faced little ones, their faces shining, accompanied by tired though happy mothers, a full hour before time for the train to go.

With them were many others, who looked on with envious eyes because they could not go. That they had been before, and it was now someone else's turn, only served to sharpen their disappointment; for they knew what they were missing.

Dozens of small hearts palpitated with the excitement of it all when the train started. Many of them doubtless had never been on a train before—and small eyes waxed wide with wonderment at the sights along the way. At Wellesley—wonder of wonders—a big hayrack carried them to beautiful Lake Waban, and the rest of the day they saw and ate and enjoyed things they had never dreamed of before.

Oh, it was wonderful! Just one of those events which marks a mile-post in some lives—a day from which these children will, in the future, date other events that happened in their past.

And, incidentally, it will put a few more stars in somebody's crown. For didn't Someone say—"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto Me?"

Population over 30,000.

The State Board of Health now estimates the population of Quincy at 30,924, and Taunton at 30,967. They give Waltham 28,120; Pittsfield, 27,168; Gloucester, 26,011; Brookline, 25,822. Everett has 32,415, Fitchburg, 33,948, and Haverhill, Salem, Newton and Chelsea are a little larger.

—The Naples Mattison says, "In Naples we have no races like England, no casino like Monte Carlo, no motor omnibuses, no motor races, no Nihilists, no suffragettes, no directoire gowns, no conversation, no nothing. The curious thing is that in Naples one can be happier than anywhere else." Paradise of simplicity.

DESPERADOES NOT CAUGHT

Vain Hunt For Two Who Shot Up Part of Boston

LEADER OF THE GANG DEAD

His Taking Off Was Dramatic In the Extreme, Police Officers Pouring Bullets Into His Body While Flashes of Lightning and Roll of Thunder Reverberated Over Cemetery In Which He Had Sought Refuge--One Suspect Arrested and Identified by Saloon Patrons,

Boston, July 24.—That there were four desperadoes instead of three concerned in the shooting up of Jamaica Plain and West Roxbury on Tuesday night, and that one of the men is under arrest in the person of Guiseppi di Vicio, a second is the man shot to death in Forest Hills cemetery yesterday morning and that two are now at large, is the general conclusion reached as the result of recent developments.

A new situation presented itself late last night when several of those who had followed the desperadoes and been shot by them on Wednesday night failed to identify the man killed as one of the desperate characters who had run amuck through the streets. He was, however, identified as one of the men who entered the barroom the night before and smashed the cash register. Those in the barroom at the time of the assault also last night positively identified, it is claimed, Guiseppi di Vicio as one of the men who shot up the barroom.

That still two other men were concerned and are still at large was made certain by the discovery that the home of Mrs. Lucia Sprude had been entered and two coats and two hats, one a straw, had been stolen. In their place were found two coats, both of which were badly bloodsoaked and bore bullet marks.

Officer Buckley also states that soon after the killing of the man in the cemetery yesterday he met two suspicious looking men coming from the direction of the cemetery at the entrance of the Arnold arboretum. They refused to answer his questions and instead covered him with a revolver and backed into the arboretum. The officer fired as soon as the men were some distance away and they ran, without returning the fire. Later it was found the men were wearing clothes which corresponded in description to the coats and hats stolen from the Sprude home. The men also answer the descriptions of those who did the shooting up of Keyes and Washington streets Wednesday night.

As the man who was killed in Forest Hills cemetery is believed to have at least once changed his clothes during the progress of his raid by stealing from houses in Jamaica Plain, there is little reason to believe that the name of "Edmund Gutman," found in his hat band is the man's right name, and no one has been found who can recognize him. He is believed to be an Italian, however.

The shooting in the saloon on Washington street in Jamaica Plain on Tuesday night, when one man was killed and two seriously injured, and Wednesday night's experiences, when nearly a dozen more were shot and one killed by the wild career of the desperadoes and the men were rounded up in Forest Hills cemetery, are declared by the police and eye witnesses to be the most desperate and sensational ever known in this section of the country.

The killing of the leader was dramatic in the extreme, the scene of the action being among the shadows of the tombs and monuments of Boston's most beautiful city of the dead, just at dawn, as the cordon of 400 police which had been on guard all night gradually advanced from all sides and closed in on the desperado, who fled barefoot and haggard before his pursuers.

Flashes of lightning and the roll of thunder reverberated over the heavens as the forces closed in on their quarry and then, when the lone, despised slayer of their brother officers and innocent victims finally sank exhausted into a clump of shrubbery in a deep ravine, they poured into his body such a storm of bullets as would have slain an army had all found a human mark.

His rapid-fire gun silent, the officers dragged the desperado's body forth and men struggled together for the chance to roughly seize the corpse and ascertain for a certainty that life was still extinct.

Of the victims of the reign of terror Tuesday and Wednesday nights two are dead. They are: Frank J. Drake, aged 35, a plumber, who was killed in the saloon raided by the desperadoes Tuesday night; Herbert E. Knox, aged 43, day watchman at Forest Hills cemetery, shot by the desperadoes Wednesday night.

The injured number eleven. Patrick Doran, injured in the saloon holdup, is likely to die. The others are: Mrs. Delia Fallon, shot in the face; Patrolman Edmund P. Inglis, shot twice in left leg; Thomas Moore, conductor, shot in right thigh; Patrick Doran, shot in abdomen; Thomas Winterston, proprietor of the saloon where the shootup started, shot in head and arm; John Nolan, shot in right side; Patrick McGinn, shot in ankle; Gerald Fleming, shot in left wrist; Patrolman Thompson, shot in left leg; Patrolman McMahon, shot in abdomen.

IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Policeman Was With Barbara Reig When She Was Shot

New York, July 24.—Policeman David Shellard of Brooklyn is under arrest, charged with the murder of Barbara Reig, a pretty young woman, whose body was found in a shelter house in Irving Square park, Williamsburg.

Investigators were informed that Shellard had often written to Miss Reig. This information was placed in the hands of Deputy Police Commissioner Wood and he summoned Shellard to his office. There Shellard broke down and dictated a circumstantial version of the affair to the stenographer.

"I was patrolling my post on the edge of Irving park about 1:10 in the morning when Barbara came up," he said. "She said she had been looking for me on another beat for three hours and wanted to talk to me. I took her to the shelter house.

"I took off my hat and coat and club and revolver and put them on a tool box. We talked and I smoked my pipe. Suddenly I heard a shot fired. I switched on the light and found Barbara lying across the box with a hole in her head."

Shellard then states that he became frightened, threw on his coat and hat, picked up his revolver and club, and scurried out into the night. He hid behind a clump of bushes, he says, and saw Policeman Kohler hurrying to the scene. He pretended to help Kohler search for the murderer.

It was established that Shellard met Barbara Reig about six months ago, and, although he is a married man and has a child, he admits that he was attentive to her.

NO QUESTION REGARDING GUILT

President to Press Prosecution of Standard Oil Case

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 24.—President Roosevelt has announced the determination of the administration to proceed with the prosecution of the Standard Oil company, despite the decision adverse to the government handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals. The statement in the matter, made public last night by Secretary Loeb, follows:

"The president has directed the attorney general to immediately take steps for the retrial of the Standard Oil case. The reversal of the decision of the lower court does not in any shape or way touch the merits of the case, excepting so far as to size of the fine is concerned. There is absolutely no question of the guilt of the defendants or of the exceptionally grave character of the offense. The president would regard it as a gross miscarriage of justice if through any technicalities of any kind the defendant escaped the punishment which would have unquestionably been meted out to any weaker defendant who had been guilty of such offense.

"The president will do everything in his power to avert or prevent such miscarriage of justice. With this purpose in view, the president has directed the attorney general to bring into consultation Frank B. Kellogg in the matter, and to do everything possible to bring the offenders to justice."

No Constitutional Issues

New York, July 24.—It is learned through sources identified with the Standard Oil company that the $29,240,000 case is not likely to go to the supreme court of the United States. The issues as made up do not involve any constitutional questions, such as are necessary to take the action to the supreme court.

Strikers Hustle Back to Work

New York, July 24.—A strike of conductors and motormen which began and ended abruptly affected practically all the surface car lines in Westchester county. The lines were tied up from early yesterday until late in the afternoon. The men struck because Receiver Young refused to reinstate the superintendent of the company, who had been dismissed for alleged neglect of duty. When Young notified the strikers that they would be laid off the men hurried back to work.

Business Is Improving

New York, July 24.—That there is a gradual, steady increase in progress in all lines of business, was the opinion expressed by the presidents of the various subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation at a meeting here, according to a statement given out by President Corey of the parent company after the meeting. Corey said the reports of the steel men present were uniformly favorable.

Tie In Automobile Contest

Saratoga, N. Y., July 24.—Completing the original schedule of the Glidden 1908 tour, the competing automobiles rolled into Saratoga. The day's run, however, did not result in breaking the tie existing in the contest for the Glidden and Hower trophies, and as a result the teams still retaining perfect scores left Saratoga today on a trip which will not be completed until a winner has been announced.

"CHAMPLAIN" AGAIN LANDS

Enters Quebec as In Days When He Founded It

ANNIVERSARY IS USHERED IN

Vice President Fairbanks and Prince of Wales Exchange Greetings, Speaking on Existing Relations Between the United States and Great Britain--Message of Good Will From Representatives of Each Government to the Other

Quebec, July 24.—The Prince of Wales was the central figure yesterday in the magnificent spectacle reproducing Quebec's historic past and ushering in the 300th anniversary of the founding of the city by Champlain. Aside from the spectacular features of the event, it was the occasion for a notable exchange of addresses between Vice President Fairbanks and the Prince of Wales.

An enormous crowd filled the Place des Armes, fronting the Champlain monument, where the exercises were held. Here the prince received the addresses of the American and French representatives, the mayor of Quebec and finally Champlain himself, reproduced as in the days of old, coming from the mimic reproduction of his original ship, the Don de Dieu, with some 5000 followers representing every phase of old France in Canada.

In addressing the prince Vice President Fairbanks congratulated Quebec upon the distinction she enjoyed in the presence of the prince and spoke briefly of the past history of Quebec. Continuing, he said:

"It is with unusual pleasure I bring you greetings from the President and the people of the United States, who rejoice with you in the progress you have made in the manifold ways which make for the strength and honor of a great people. We are not indifferent to your welfare nor are you indifferent to ours. The blood of a common ancestry is in our veins. We have much in common.

"The United States and Canada have but fairly entered upon their careers. Back of us lies a brief but honorable history and before us stretch illimitable opportunities. We confidently believe that we are each destined to play a large and worthy part in the progress of the human race upon the western continent. We have no rivalries except in the ways of peace. We neither covet the other's territory. We covet only each other's neighborly esteem.

"As we behold this majestic celebration in which the representatives of different nations participate and witness the manifestations of a genuine fraternal spirit among them, we are impressed with the thought that there is no rational reason why nations should resort to war. May we not venture to hope that the widespread movement which seeks to insure the maintenance of peace among the nations of the world without invoking the sword, may grow in strength and at no distant day become incorporated as a part of the fixed policy of nations.

"There is such a thing as righteousness among nations. Let them take their differences into international courts of justice and there let reason and righteousness prevail. Let nations by every honorable means which enlightened statesmanship may suggest, avoid an appeal to that court where might alone turns the balance.

"We have no need to fear that the relations between the United States and Great Britain will ever again be disturbed. We have faith to believe that our flags which grace this historic occasion and which mingle together and salute each other upon the Plains of Abraham will never confront each other in conflict upon either land or sea."

The Prince of Wales, in replying to the vice president, said: "The king, whose earnest desire is always to promote the best and closest relations between nations, has specially desired me, as his representative, to convey to you, Mr. Vice President of the United States, and to your colleagues, not only a hearty welcome, but also a warm expression of thanks, both to you and to your government, for your presence here on this auspicious occasion.

"Your presence is not merely an indication of your interest in this celebration—it is an outward and visible sign of the friendship, concord and good will between ourselves and the great country which you represent with so much distinction. We think of the United States as having given the example of energy and courage in conquering and cultivating the forests and boundless prairies which now yield bountiful harvests and unlimited wealth. We recognize that the presence of representatives of the United States and France among us testifies to the growth of the spirit of friendship between nations.

"The high ideal of universal peace and brotherhood may be far from realization, but every act that promotes harmony among nations points the way toward its attainment. This celebration is such an act, for it appeals to Canada, to the British empire and to the whole civilized world. I therefore rejoice to be here, to take my part with you during these memorable days in paying homage to Champlain and doing honor to Quebec."

A COLOSSAL BLUNDER.

Millions Spent on Subway Loop May Be Wasted—All Plans Held Up. Bridge Problem Still Unsolved.

After spending thousands of dollars on temporary makeshifts, preparing classic designs for a permanent station at the Park row terminal of the Brooklyn bridge and after the $10,000,000 subway loop between the bridges is half completed the city officials have suddenly discovered that all of their efforts and expenses will probably prove worthless.

Plans for the ornate Park row terminal station, prepared months ago, have been held up pending a decision by engineers as to whether it will even be possible to run trains around the sharp curve and up the steep grade from the already half completed subway to and upon the Brooklyn bridge, and yesterday the crowning blow came when it was announced that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, for which the loop was virtually being built, had refused to operate it upon any terms.

At the same time Public Service Commissioner Edward M. Bassett announced that even if it be found practicable for heavily loaded trains to make the sharp turn and negotiate the heavy grade it would be impossible to operate the trains across the Brooklyn bridge until that structure is entirely rebuilt, owing to the tremendous weight of the trains.

Thus the city finds itself committed to the building of a $10,000,000 subway loop which seems likely to prove practically worthless when completed and without any operator unless the city operates the loop itself, which, officials declare, would not be practicable.

City officials admit that a huge blunder has been made somewhere and that it looks as if the city will find it has expended from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 without making any appreciable progress in solving the bridge problem.

No further steps can be taken toward the building of the big Park row terminal until some decision is reached as to whether the subway loop will be physically connected with the Brooklyn bridge. The entire design of the terminal structure depends upon this.

As originally planned it was intended that the tracks from the subway loop should be carried directly to the bridge. It was admitted that the grade from the loop, which crosses Park row underground and then rapidly ascends until it reaches a grade level a short distance east of the present terminal of the bridge, was steep, but it was said by the designers that trains could ascend the grade.

Since that time Chief Engineer Chandler Withington of the finance department has made a report saying that to take trains up this grade every car would have to be equipped with a powerful motor, and this would add so much weight that the bridge would be overloaded. The addition of a motor to each car would also prove to be a huge expense, which it is not believed any operating company would stand. Other operating engineers took the position that it was almost impossible to negotiate the grade.

Some time ago Bridge Commissioner Stevenson asked the board of estimate to authorize him to let contracts for the lowering of the elevated railroad tracks on the bridge into the subway loop. He would then advertise the contract for the new terminal station. Engineer Withington raised the points as to grade and extra weight, and the board of estimate held up the matter until the public service commission's experts could solve the problem.

Since that time Commissioners Bassett and McCarroll have been hard at work. Yesterday they submitted their report to the commission. Their report confirms the worst fears that had been aroused.—New York World.

Municipal Plants For Sale.

The city council of Valley City, N. D., has finally offered for sale the electric plant. It is more than a year since the citizens voted for the second time to sell the plant, but the council apparently did not want to let go.

The city council of Edmonton, Alberta, realizes that the municipal street railway is too heavy a burden and has expressed a willingness to consider a proposition for the purchase of the system.

Spirit Lake, Ia., recently voted by a good majority to sell or lease the electric plant which was presented to it a few years ago because, as the town clerk writes—

"It seemingly cannot be operated successfully under municipal ownership. It has never paid and never will pay."

For the first eight months of 1907 the earnings were $3,823 and the operating expenses were $6,328. This means that the street arcs cost at the rate of something over $350 a year, with no allowance for depreciation or lost taxes—quite a showing for a plant that has no interest to pay.

Increase of Tax Burden.

Colonel John Van Wormer, vice president of the Lincoln Safe Deposit company, now in Europe on a holiday, has been studying the question of municipal ownership. The colonel, who is a member of the Civic Federation, doesn't think public ownership of public utilities over here has been an unqualified success.

He finds it has resulted in the burden of taxation being enormously increased and that, while all the smaller officials are scrupulously honest, the men right up to the top display human weakness as much as their brethren in the United States. This, he says, also applies to business men.—London Cable to New York Herald.

A proposition to vote bonds for a municipal electric light plant has just been defeated in Tekonsha, Mich.

Britishers Wrongfully Take Victory From an American

THE 400 METRE FLAT RACE

Carpenter Finished In the Lead, but Officials Broke Tape at Finish Line to Deprive Him of the Honor--Claim That Englishman Was Fouled Heard by Committee Meeting at Which No Americans Were Present

London, July 24.—The unfortunate series of disputes which has arisen since the opening of the Olympic games, not only between the Americans and the officials of the Amateur Athletic association, but between the athletes of other nations and the same officials, culminated yesterday afternoon in an occurrence which threatened to wreck the inter-Olympic meetings.

The trouble was over the final heat of the 400 metres flat race, for which J. C. Carpenter, Cornell university; J. B. Taylor, Irish-American A. C.; W. C. Robbins, Cambridge, Mass., and Lieutenant Haswelle, United Kingdom, qualified.

With the exception of Taylor the men got off quickly on the firing of the pistol and Robbins sprinted in front, taking the pole from Carpenter, who was just behind, with Halswelle trailing along beside him. It looked like anybody's race as they approached the last turn, the three leaders being bunched. Their spurt for the final hundred yards was just begun, when suddenly a number of officials rushed onto the track, the tape across the finish was torn down and the race was declared void.

It was hard for a time to understand what had occurred, but the official pronouncement was that Carpenter had fouled Halswelle at the turn. Everybody close to this spot had noticed that the three men had swerved toward the outside of the track as they came around the bend at a terrific pace, but there were no signs of a deliberate foul visible to those in the press stands.

An uproar followed such as seldom or never was witnessed on an athletic field. Officials of the Amateur Athletic association, with whom the arena has been filled since the opening of the games, ran along the edges of the track shouting "foul," and appeared even more excited than the runners who, with the exception of Taylor, continued the race to the finish, Carpenter passing the post first, Robbins second and Halswelle third. Taylor, who was a considerable distance in the rear, was dragged off the track by one of the excited officials, who shouted all the while that it was no race.

The American contingent set up a yell of delight, as the man had apparently captured the race which had been predicted for the Britisher, while the vast audience filling the other stands sat silent, not knowing the cause of the excitement in the arena.

Then the announcer made the brief statement through a megaphone that the race had been declared void, but no reason was given. Still, not knowing why, a great British cheer broke out and continued for several minutes, men who could not under any circumstances have seen the incident crying "foul" louder than those sitting opposite the spot where the alleged foul was said to have taken place, and who, seeing Halswelle taking a wide turn, thought it a mistake in judgment, as he had lots of room to pass Carpenter on either side.

The uproar continued for nearly half an hour and as the people poured out of the stands the arguments were taken up in the aisles and gateways by excited thousands, and the race is still the subject of the bitterest wrangling everywhere.

Matthew P. Halpin, the manager of the American team, who was in the arena, immediately entered a protest, claiming the race for Carpenter, who had done the distance in the remarkable time of 48 2-5 seconds, some watches making it even less.

A committee meeting of the Amateur Athletic association, the details of which have not been made public, was called, and the judges who rendered the decision and Haiswelle were called to state their case. Neither any member of the American committee nor any one of the three American runners, however, was called on to make any statement, and the committee, after upwards of two hours' consideration, rendered the following decision:

"The judges decide the race void and order the same to be run over again on Saturday at noon. Carpenter is disqualified."

When they heard the decision, the members of the American committee met and passed a resolution ordering the men not to run on Saturday.

Foreigners Lost Liquor Licenses

Richmond, July 24.—The Italians of this city have filed a protest with the Italian ambassador against the ordinance of the city council which reduced the number of saloons in the city to 150, as a result of which many of them, along with members of other nationalities, lost their licenses. The state laws provide that only registered voters shall be allowed to engage in the liquor business or serve liquor to customers. The issue may involve a delicate point as to the provisions and scope of the state liquor law and treaty obligations.

TWELVE THOUSAND WORDS

Taft's Acceptance Speech Covers Wide Range of Discussion

New York, July 24.—After a conference of five hours at Sagamore Hill, during which time President Roosevelt and Secretary Root had opportunity to go over the speech Mr. Taft has written for delivery next Tuesday at Cincinnati, no expression for direct quotation was given by any of the parties to the conference. Taft returned to New York with few corrections to make in the document, and in a happy frame of mind. The entire approval of his speech by the president was evident from all the candidate had to say.

Mr. Taft announced that the pressing issues of the campaign have compelled him to take a wide range of discussion, and he has undertaken, in 12,000 words, to discuss each of the important issues of the campaign in a full and detailed manner.

Mr. Taft retired at the Manhattan hotel shortly before midnight. Meanwhile the speech had been gotten into printed form, and the worries of the candidate were suddenly lifted and he gave himself up to the first night of real rest he has had for many days.

Mr. Taft breakfasted this morning with his brother, Henry W. Taft, at the Plaza hotel. He will leave the city at 5:30 this afternoon for Cincinnati.

Bryan Drops Editorship

Lincoln, Neb., July 24.—A steady stream of visitors to Fairview kept Mr. Bryan busy yesterday and last night. They included politicians, representatives of a negro Bryan and Kern club, members of the local order of Maccabees, and many others who came out merely to pay their respects. Bryan retired yesterday as editor of The Commoner, a signed letter in the paper announcing that his candidacy for the presidency makes it necessary for him to take such action. As a personal campaign contribution, the proceeds of The Commoner, over and above actual expenses, will be turned over to the Democratic national committee.

Watson on the Stump

Macon, Ga., July 24.—Thomas E. Watson, Populist candidate for president, opened his campaign here last night. In his speech he asked for Georgia's electoral vote and said that if necessary he would give them to Bryan to defeat Taft. His assaults were all directed at Bryan, however, and his praises were for Roosevelt and Taft. His charge against Bryan of refusing to vote for Crisp for speaker in the Democratic caucus because of his being a Confederate was heard in silence.

Out of Politics Forever

Monument Beach, Mass., July 24.—Former Governor Douglas, upon his return from a yachting trip of several days, was questioned concerning the reports from Lincoln, Neb., that he might be named as chairman of the Democratic national committee. "While I shall deeply appreciate the compliment if it is tendered to me," said Douglas, "I shall not accept, as I am out of politics forever. This is final."

Disgusted Democrats

Milwaukee, July 24.—Disgusted over what they term the failure of the Democratic state convention to accomplish anything, more than fifty delegates from various parts of the state got together here, following the final adjournment of the convention, and agreed to circulate nomination papers for a complete state ticket, headed by A. J. Schmitz of Milwaukee as candidate for governor.

SEVERE STORM STRIKES CAMP

Three Pennsylvania Troopers Killed and Many Injured

Gettysburg, Pa., July 24.—As a result of a severe electrical storm which passed over the camp of the National Guard of Pennsylvania last night, three troopers were killed and twenty-six seriously injured.

This morning Lieutenant Colonel Beitler, a member of the staff of Governor Stuart, came to this place from the camp and made the official announcement. Those killed were Privates Barber, Garver and Morrison.

The body of Garver was severed in twain, although by a sword. The greatest confusion prevailed and the visitors to the camp, as well as many of the troopers, were panic-stricken.

When the storm came up Governor Stuart was entertaining a few friends in his tent. The storm broke with such suddenness and fury that the occupants of the tent found themselves entangled in the canvass and ropes in an instant, but all escaped serious injury.

When the storm swept down upon the camp there were hundreds of visitors present. Scores of men and women sought shelter in the Y. M. C. A. tent. This immense sheet of canvass was tossed like a toy balloon in a gale of wind, but strangely enough not one of the occupants is said to have been injured.

Charged With Brother's Murder

Stonington, Me., July 24.—A verdict charging Frank Baldsara, aged 28, with the murder of his brother, Antonio, at Crotch Island, was returned by the coroner's jury. After a thorough search of the island it was concluded that the fugitive had made good his escape under cover of darkness. Three witnesses were held in the sum of $1000 for their appearance at the October term of the supreme court.

EBERHARD IS UNDER ARREST

Drawn Back to Scene of Crime by Force He Could Not Resist

New York, July 24.—August Eberhard, self-confessed murderer of his aunt, Mrs. Ottillie Eberhard, a Vienese widow, whom he lured to a lonely spot in New Jersey a few days ago and shot to death, was captured near Paterson, N. J., and is now a prisoner in the Hackensack jail.

Eberhard says that he was in love with a New York girl and that he needed money to marry her, so, knowing that his aunt had $2500, he plotted to kill her and steal the money. Eberhard says he also intended to kill his cousin, Ottillie Eberhard, to whom he was engaged, so that nothing would stand in the way of his marriage to the New York girl. There was a wound in his right leg, which the murderer confessed was inflicted by himself so as to make the police believe he had been wounded on the night his aunt was killed.

An important point in the confession was the statement by Eberhard that he had an accomplice in the murder plot. He said, however, that his accomplice had no hand in the killing of Mrs. Eberhard.

Eberhard said that he had buried the money he stole from his aunt. He led detectives to a tree near Little Falls, and there dug up $2400 in bills, which is the amount that was stolen. Eberhard says that he and his accomplice passed through Albany, Troy and Buffalo into Canada, and on to Detroit and Chicago without being recognized by the police. When he reached Chicago, he says, an irresistible power compelled him to return to the scene of the crime, and then he planned to wound himself and surrender to the police in the belief that he could convince them he had not murdered his aunt.

Honduran Revolution Peters Out

Washington, July 24.—A dispatch from the commander of the gunboat Marietta at Ceiba, Honduras, reports all quiet there. The government is in control of affairs and no further attacks by revolutionists are expected. The revolutionary leaders, according to this dispatch, have disbanded, owing to a conviction that the whole movement is unsuccessful.

Murderer Pays Death Penalty

Wethersfield, Conn., July 24.—Lorenzo Rossino was hanged at the state prison here early this morning for the murder of Eli Cavanaugh by stabbing him in the abdomen during a quarrel at Hartford. Cavanaugh left a wife and one child.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Cloudy and muggy today.

Makaria vs. Eliot National Bank Saturday at 3.30 P. M., at Merrymount Park.

Tomorrow will be the last Saturday of July. There will be five Saturdays and five Sundays in August.

The Gas Company encountered several large granite blocks in laying mains through Willard street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Miller of Bigelow street have returned and report a loss of $50 to $60 by burglars last week.

Pastors of Quincy churches are requested to send the Daily Ledger their vacation address, and plans for vacation.

Much sympathy is expressed for the continued illness of Mrs. Walter Benson (nee Mabel Wilson of Squantum street.

The body of Edward F. McDevitt will be brought to Quincy from Barre, funeral services being held at St. Marys church on Saturday.

Great preparations have been made for the lawn party tomorrow in aid of Boston College at the residence of Henry Gallagher on North street.

A race for the Cape Cat class of the Quincy Yacht club will be sailed Saturday off the clubhouse at Houghs Neck.

Leo J. McMasters, manager of the Elks base ball nine, wants games with local club nines. The Elks have a strong team.

Michael and Smith for Makaria and Boyer and Eccles for Eliot National Bank, will be the batteries for the game at the Merymount Park on Saturday.

The Girls' Friendly Society of St. Chrysostoms church went to Revere on Wednesday and visited the "Mothers Rest." It was a jolly time and enjoyed by all.

There are three Quincy boys on the Eliot Bank Team which plays Makaria on Saturday at the park, Bob Sibley and Carl Gram of Wollaston and Wight of Quincy Point.

Representative Hultman and others from Quincy attended on Thursday evening the complimentary dinner to Col. Sidney O. Bigney at Hotel Vendome. About 300 were present.

The annual reunion of the W. M. French Hose Association will be held Saturday, Aug. 29, at the Squantum Inn. The committee this year are Frederick H. French, Frank C. Packard, Asa A. Pope, James E. Maxim and Jesse F. Curtis.

The large demands for electric power at the granite yards has caused the Electric Light company to build a sub station for three 200 K. W. transformers on Brook road, which was put in commission this week. It has direct connection with the main station at Brackett's wharf, and will improve the service.

Miss E. M. Freeman has recently formed a partnership with J. C. Swinson of Wellesley, and established a real estate office in the Old South building, Boston. The firm propose to make a specialty of Quincy property, and to advertise it well in Boston and vicinity. There is a good field here for investment.

LONGER TIME

Suggested By One of Leading Quartette in Voting Contest

Capt. Pray was the only one of the leaders to make a gain today, and his increase was small. Several others make larger gains.

One of the managers of the campaign of one of the leaders suggests that the Daily Ledger extend the time for closing the contest,—say two weeks. This can only be done on unanimous request of the first four, on or before Tuesday, July 28. What say you Messrs. Foster, Pray, Field and Middleton?

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

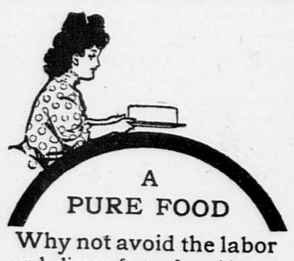

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

The F. D. Fellows Co. advertise an "Odd Lot and Clearance Sale" including suits for men and boys, negligee shirts, etc. A good place for winners in the Daily Ledger popularity contest to make their purchases.

Wonderland.

Wonderland is certainly proving a most popular place for reunions and outings of big fraternities and organizations of all kinds, social, business and benevolent. On Tuesday, July 28, the New England photographers' association goes to Wonderland; Wednesday, July 29, the order of Pilgrim Fathers of Massachusetts and Thursday, July 30, the United Irish League of Lowell and the Caledonian club of Holyoke will enjoy the sights and sounds of Wonderland. Tuesday, Aug. 4, has been officially selected by the grand lodge of Massachusetts, Knights of Pythias as the outing day for the delegates to the National convention and friends and Wonderland has been officially chosen as the place of so many wonders that the thousands of Knights and friends will surely enjoy themselves thoroughly. Wednesday, Aug. 5, there will be a great reunion of the order of the Knights of Columbus of Eastern Massachusetts under the auspices of Boston Chapter and the same day the retail grocers and provision dealers of Manchester, N. H., will test Wonderland's great bill of entertainment.

Not Yegg Men.

Word was telephoned to the police this morning that three suspicious characters were about Presidents hill. The party who telephoned said he thought they were yegg men.

Inspector Goodhue and Officer Murray went up to investigate. They found three men in the bushes and readily recognized them as three of the chain gang, a name given the loafers who roost on the chains about the First church.

It appears that the three had found some one with red liquor Thursday night and they spent the night on Presidents hill. This morning they had not entirely overcome that tired feeling, and were snoozing under the bushes when seen by the party who telephoned the police.

TRY THIS FOR DESSERT.

Dissolve one package of any flavored JELL-O in one pint of boiling water. When partly congealed, beat until light adding one cup whipped cream and six crushed maccaroons. Whip all together thoroughly and pour it into a mold or bowl. When cool, it will jellify and may be served with whipped cream or any good pudding sauce.

The JELL-O costs 10c. per package and can be obtained at any good grocer's.

TODAY'S COURT.

Michael Holden was arraigned for violation of the liquor law at Randolph. Case continued until next Tuesday.

John H. Field, Harvey W. Boyd and Frank W. Harris were arraigned for violation of the liquor law at Quincy. Cases continued until next Thursday.

Tony Desmond was arraigned for concealing leased property at Quincy. Case continued until next Tuesday.

James Snell was arraigned for violation of the city ordinances at Quincy. Case continued until Aug. 1.

The continued case of John R. McLellan, for larceny of rope from N.E. Alley at Quincy, was heard and he was fined $5.

The liquors seized from Rose M. Johnson and John H. Field of Randolph were forfeited.

Charles Haddad and Kalif Akale were arraigned for assault on Hadhaf Kassan at Quincy. Haddad was fined $10 and Akale $5.

The streets in Atlantic have never looked better nor shown such an amount of pruning. Citizens appreciate the efforts of Dennis O'Niel and Patrick Barry in this direction.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Book Title Tea a Fine Way to Amuse Youngsters.

A new and pleasant birthday party for children of the school age is a book title tea. The tea is on the same plan as that of their elders, but with titles of juvenile books instead of adult works represented for guessing.

Cards which give the different book names should be prepared in advance of the occasion.

As each boy or girl arrives a ribbon on which a card is swung is hung around his or her neck, pencils and paper being distributed at the same time.

On each card is a number as well as the illustration representing the book title. When all have arrived a bell rings as a signal for the guessing to begin. Players now commence writing down the names of the books as they think them to be.

Examples of juvenile book titles pictorially represented are given below for the benefit of the entertainer who wishes to try this plan:

Picture of Mme. Recaimer or any other famous beauty colored black as if in silhouette. "Black Beauty."

Sketch of a slipper or a tiny crystal slipper (one of those sold as favors for holding candy) sewed on card. "Cinderella; or, The Little Glass Slipper."

Map of Arabia and pictures of medieval chevaliers. "Arabian Nights."

A spray of American Beauties represented as fully opened. "Rose In Bloom."

Sketch of katydid followed by a question mark. "What Katy Did."

Picture of a knight in armor followed by the word Christmas. "The Night Before Christmas."

These suggestions are merely hints of what can be made a clever and amusing puzzle.

Each guest examines the cards on the other guests as well as his own, and writes his answer after the correct number on the paper. An interesting book will make an appropriate prize for the winner.

A JAPANESE GARDEN.

Planned a Century Ago and In Beautiful Condition Today.

A former American minister to the court of the mikado tells of a wonderful Japanese garden, in the center of which was a little lake that had a tiny island with miniature mountains and peach trees, with pines and azalias, some of them a century old, yet which had not mounted to more than a foot in height.

Seen in its relation to other things, this island looked small, a veritable toy island, but viewed from a certain angle of the veranda, so that no external objects helped to give an idea of proportion, the island appeared to be a large piece of land perhaps half a mile away, with trees, mountains and all the rest their normal size.

The genius who conceived this island has been dead perhaps a century, but his successors in the craft have kept it up to date and every year have so contrived that when the springtime came it was in the condition to give greatest pleasure to its wealthy owner.

Water lilies, lotus plants, iris plants, moss—all these figure in these exquisite creations in which man wields the brush, but nature mixes the colors. The very last refinement of natural pleasure is to be found in the surroundings which the man of wealth has prepared for himself by his experts in the Japanese season of the buds, blossom and early flowers.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES.

Mercerized gingham is a suitable material for making a plain dressing sack. Make it collarless and outline the opening, fronts and sleeves with a two inch fold of white or use white embroidery.

A pretty card holder is made with a large piece of heavy cardboard, with the three points joined at the top to form a triangle shaped receptacle that will hold a ball of cord. Make a hole in the bottom of the box and draw the end of the cord through. Fasten the sides together with little bows of baby ribbon and tie at the top with baby ribbon.

Next to leather itself, nothing is more useful for covering shirt waist and other utility boxes than burlap. Then, too, if the color selected harmonizes with the color scheme of the room it combines beauty with usefulness. The edges of the box should be finished off with linen braid of the color of the burlap and held in place by button tacks. Both the braid and the tacks may be bought of any upholsterer or in any drapery department of any general furnishing store. Burlap can be used with splendid effect for portieres where an inexpensive, yet attractive, material is desired.

A Business That Pays.

Women are, as a rule, most successful in decorative work, and it is a matter for astonishment that comparatively few have so far gone in for this branch of money making.

There are numbers of girls with powers of discrimination who might pick up curios and antiques at a reasonable price, though, of course, even in the depths of the country the supply has been steadily declining for years.

Not alone that, but cottage owners of old china and oak have become more wary, and articles of what Mrs. Malaprop termed "bigotry and virtue" are not to be bought up for a mere song.

Still there is a good field for the woman collector. In furnishing and decorative work feminine ideas are hardly to be surpassed, and many a "house beautiful" owes its beauty to the artistic faculty of a woman.

You can't Beat Ralston's for Summer Wear.

As you well know, it's during the Summer that your shoes are put to the hardest test. In order for them to give you all-Summer-long satisfaction they must be "dressy" enough to wear anywhere. and yet they must be perfectly comfortable.

In short you want your feet to look "dressed up" without their feeling so. That's why we recommend Ralston shoes. Come in and let us show you wherein they're different from any other shoes made.

The Social Realm

The Sun's text is: "Begin the day
With shining purpose anyway."
The rain's: "Let tears fall only where They'll make the world more bright and fair."
The wind says: "Let your voice be sweet,
And only pleasant things repeat."
The flowers whisper, hid apart,
"Show to the world a perfect heart."
The while the sky, from up above,
Shines down the sermon: "Heaven is love."

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Rev. and Mrs. William E. Gardner Congratulated By Large Gathering

The high esteem in which Rev. and Mrs. William E. Gardner are held by the parish of Christ church, the Men's Club of the church, and the people of Quincy in general, was shown by the large mid-summer gathering at the parish house last evening, at a farewell reception tendered by the Men's Club.

The rector has resigned to accept a call to St. James church at Somerville, and on Sunday will close his pastorate at Christ church.

In the gathering were most of the members of the church (some being out of town on vacations) also other clergymen of the city, neghbors and friends, including Miss Putman and Prof. Wrigley, former organists of the church; Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Welch, Dr. John A. Gordan, Representative and Mrs. E. C. Hultman, Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus King, Delcevare King, and others.

The reception was entirely informal, Rev. and Mrs. Gardner being unassisted. Neither were there any ushers. But all the evening Mr. and Mrs. Gardner were kept busy shaking hands and receiving the congratulations and best wishes of Quincy friends. The only interruption was during a presentation.

Merton E. Turner, as president of the Men's Club, first presented Mrs. Gardner a beautiful bouquet of roses. In well chosen words he also presented Mr. Gardner, a beautiful loving cup of silver, gold lined, which was inscribed as follows:— "Rev. William E. Gardner, from Men's Club of Christ church, Quincy, 1908."

Rev. Mr. Gardner responded, saying it was not St. James church alone which attracted him, but the proximity to Harvard College which would allow him to continue a certain line of work which he could not now make public. During his rectorship at Quincy he had declined two and sometimes three calls per year because he loved the church and its people and Quincy. It was his wish that all present should continue faithful to the church.

St. Margaret Guild also presented Mr. and Mrs. Gardner a solid silver salad set.

On Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. Effie Rhines, the Reapers Circle presented Mr. and Mrs. Gardner a cut glass water pitcher, and on Wednesday at the summer residence of Mrs. Hazen E. Richer at Post Island, the Woman's Guild presented Mr. Gardner a solid brass desk set, and Mrs. Gardner a half dozen fruit knives and coffee spoons.

During the reception last night, the Men's Club orchestra of eight pieces furnished pleasing music, and Caterer Furnald served ices, cake and fruit punch. The parish house was attractive from without being encircled with electric lights of different colors.

Rev. and Mrs. Gardner are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Osborne of Bigelow street during the balance of their stay in Quincy.

KING OF THE STEWARDS.

If you happened to be in the vicinity of the Quincy depot last evening, just as the 7.13 train for Boston pulled out, you would have been surprised no doubt to have seen a well groomed man doing a hot-foot for the train, carrying a handsome new leather travelling bag in one hand and having under the other arm a partially concealed solid silver cocktail shaker. But if you happened to have been on the "inside" you would have recognized Chief-Steward Cogan of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company en route to Boston to put his latest acquisition through the preliminary trials.

It is a universally acknowledged fact that John T. Cogan, chief-steward of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, is the right man in the right place.

During Mr. Cogan's career as a chief-steward he has been the recipient of many and costly gifts from men in various walks of life as tokens of their appreciation of his management of the commissary.

Soon after the recent trials of the U. S. Ship Salem (scout cruiser) Admiral Glover of the government trial board presented Mr. Cogan with a handsome leather travelling bag. Then came the Salem's crew, before the smoke from Admiral Glover's guns had cleared away and extended to steward Cogan their good will and a handsomely engraved gold seal ring. And yesterday Mr. Cogan was further made happy by being presented with a solid silver cocktail shaker, bearing he following inscription: "James T. Cogan, from Warrant Machinists of U. S. Navy Trial Board, U. S. Ship Salem, 26.88 knots, July 1, 1908."

Although it will be some time yet before the trial of another large government vessel, Mr. Cogan promises to make good.

Surprise Party.

Miss Ellen Sandbloom of 9 Station street, West Quincy, was tendered a surprise party last evening by her many friends. Miss Lillian Werme, after reciting the presentation speech, presented her with a handsome gold locket and chain in behalf of her many friends. Miss Sandbloom although taken by surprise responded by making a little speech and thanking all for the handsome gift. There were violin and mandolin duets by Carl and Hildur Sandbloom, and then all adjourned to another room to do justice to a lot of dainty deserts. Games of all sorts were played and at ten o'clock all left for home, all tired, but happy. Among those present were: Ellen Sandbloom, Ethel Sandbloom, Mildred Landerholm, Lillian Werme, Marie Buckley, Gertrude Buckley, Esther Johnson, Amanda Butman, Lilly Eskstrand, Hildur Ekstrand, Eva Johnson, Carl Sandbloom, Russell Sandbloom and others.

—"My friends," said an itinerant preacher, "the Scriptural rule for giving was one-tenth of what a man possessed. If you feel you can't afford so much, just give a sixth or a fourth, according to your means. We will dispense with the next hymn, and take up the collection."—August Lippincott's.

AMERICAN WINS THE MARATHON

Italian, Dragged to the Finish Line, Is Disqualified

COLLAPSED ON THE TRACK

England's Boasted Prestige In Long Distance Running Gets a Severe Jolt, Her Best Man Landing In Twelfth Place--Hayes Captures the Victory, While Three Other Americans Were Among the First Ten Men to Cross the Finish Line

London, July 25.—America scored a world triumph here when John J. Hayes of the Irish-American Athletic club won the famous Marathon run after one of the most sensational races seen since the days of ancient Athens.

Not only did the American beat the Indian, Longboat, who was forced to quit near the twenty-mile mark, but so hot was the pace that the best the English could do was to land a man in twelfth place.

Such was the shattering of Britain's boasted prestige in long distance running and tearing from her shoulders of the mantle of victory which England was supremely confident of retaining.

The American protest against Dorando for receiving assistance at the finish of the race was upheld. This makes John F. Hayes the winner of this world famous event.

It was an American day and the resentments of Thursday, which rankled strongly in the breasts of Americans here when they came to the stadium yesterday afternoon, were forgotten not only in the victory of John F. Hayes, the Irish-American A. C. runner, but in the splendid record made by the other Americans who were well to the front among those who finished.

Since the beginning of the Olympic games the great rivalry has been between England and America and, while the minor competitions on the track and field, in which the two nations specialized, were fought out, Englishmen consoled themselves for all the American successes by the thought that in the domain of long distance running they had always been supreme, and whatever prizes they failed to grasp in this department the colonials would pick up.

Fifty-eight men, winnowed from the best runners of four continents, competed in the Marathon race. The sequel may be told briefly. Six Americans started in the race and nine English runners. Of the first ten men to reach the coveted goal four were Americans, and they are officially placed as follows: Hayes, first; Joseph Forshaw, Missouri A. C., third; A. R. Welton, Lawrence Y. M. C. A., fourth, and Lewis Tewinioia, the Carlisle Indian, ninth. The second man was Hefferson of South Africa. He was the oldest among the runners, being 34 years old, and he kept up a remarkable pace almost to the end of twenty-six miles of the struggle, but Hayes was the better man.

It is considered generally that the race is not only a triumph for the United States, but in a larger sense, for America, because seven of the leaders at the end were from North America. The three Canadians, Wood, Simpson and Lawson, finished in fifth, sixth and seventh places respectively, and with the representatives of the United States deprived England of its claim to leadership in the long distance running branch of athletics.

It will not snatch any laurels from the brow of Hayes, who won a good race, to say that the hero of the day was the Italian, Dorando. The admiration and sympathy of every person in the stadium went out to the gallant Italian who did more within the limit of his powers than any other man who ran. The crisis in a battle on which the life of a nation hung could hardly have been more impressive than Dorando's entrance into the stadium. Ten minutes before the megaphone announced "the runners are in sight." guns had proclaimed the arrival of the leaders at the nearest station of the course; an intense silence overhung the stadium, while the thousands awaited breathlessly the approach of the first man.

For ten minutes all eyes were focussed on the gate, almost directly opposite the royal stand, where the contestants were to enter. Finally a runner staggered down the incline leading to the track. He was clothed in a white shirt and red knee trousers. He stood for a moment as though dazed, and then turned to the left, although a red cord had been drawn about the track in the opposite direction for the runners to follow. It was evident at once to everyone that the man was practically delirious.

A squad of officials ran out and expostulated with him, but apparently he was afraid that they were trying to deceive him and fought to go on to the left. At length he turned about and started on the right path along the track.

The colors and the number told the spectators that it was Dorando, and his name was on every lip. He staggered along the cinder path like a man in a dream, his gait being neither a walk nor a run, but simply a flounder, his arms working and his legs tottering.

By devious ways he staggered onward, with his head so bent forward that his chin rested on his chest, toward the turn, and dropped to the ground. him. It was evident that the man had run to the very limit of his endurance. None expected to see him rise.

According to the rules of the race, physicians should have taken him away, but the track officials lifted him to his feet and with their hands at his back gave him support. Four times Dorando fell in the 300 yards that separated him from the finish and three times, after the doctors had poured stimulants down his throat, he was immediately a crowd swarmed about dragged to his feet. Finally he was pushed across the line, one man being at his back and another holding him by the arm.

His part in the race was practically ended when he entered the stadium, for had he not received assistance he could not have finished.

While this pathetic scene was being enacted Hayes entered the stadium comparatively fresh and trotted around it. He came in less than a minute behind Dorando, but in the excitement of the moment failed to get, even from his own countrymen, the reception he deserved. Hayes' time was 2 hours, 55 minutes, 18 seconds.

PRINCE OF WALES KEPT BUSY

Americans Showed Up Well In Review on Plains of Abraham

Quebec, July 25.—The Prince of Wales has had another day of strenuous activity, beginning with a grand review of the troops, sailors and marines on the Plains of Abraham, then officiating as the title deeds of this historic battlefield were turned over as a permanent memorial, between times attending gala luncheons and dinners and finally last night mingling with the gay throngs at the state ball at the parliament buildings.

The prince is bearing his part in these functions with all the dignity and good nature of his royal father, shifting his uniforms from admiral to field marshal and then to a plain and well-groomed English gentleman, and always awakening the enthusiastic cheers of the crowd whenever he appears.

The grand review of the military and naval forces was the spectacular feature of the day. The force assembled on the Plains far exceeded the armies of Wolfe and Montcalm, which fought for mastery of the same grounds, the aggregate yesterday numbering 23,000, while the spectators raised the assemblage to upwards of 50,000.

Spread out over the plain were the troops and bluejackets, a glittering assemblage of redcoats, grenadiers, highlanders and the mounted cowboy forces of the northwest. The 500 American sailors and marines from the New Hampshire showed to good advantage, their steady marching winning a full share of cheers.

After the review the prince formally transferred the battlefield to the governor general as a lasting public memorial. Heretofore it has been owned in parcels by private parties, but the prince's dedication passes it over to the government.

THE JAMAICA PLAIN SHOOTUP

Police Are Holding Six Men In Custody as Suspects

Boston, July 25.—As the aftermath of the shooting up of Jamaica Plain last Tuesday and Wednesday nights, when two men were killed and a dozen others injured, and one of the three or four bandits was shot dead in Forest Hills cemetery Thursday morning by Boston policemen, the police of the Jamaica Plain division are holding six suspects, none of whom, with the possible exception of one, have been positively identified as being concerned in the affray.

The Italian arrested on Wednesday has been identified by one or two of the patrons of the saloon shot up Tuesday night as one of the men concerned in that affair. No one has been found, however, who will identify as having been concerned in the shooting Hugh McDougall, Pasquale Sepa, Francisco A. Specduto, an Italian who was arrested and had anarchistic papers on his person, or A. Weis, aged 17 years, of New York.

There is little change in the condition of the more seriously wounded and, with the possible exception of Thomas Doran and Officer McMahon, all will recover.

Held Up by Highwaymen

Boston July 25.—At 11 o'clock last night, Arthur King, a hackman, while taking a fare to Milton, was stopped on Bradley road by two foreigners. One of the highwaymen, with drawn revolver, told him to hold up and deliver. He was forced to hand over all the money in his possession, $24 in all. Then the men made off in the darkness. When King looked for his fare, he, too, had disappeared.

Work of Lightning

Charlotte, N. C., July 25.—Lightning struck the big hotel at Vade Mecum Springs and started a fire which soon reduced the structure to ashes. Many of the guests barely escaped with their lives and many of them lost their personal effects. No estimate of the loss is obtainable.

CITY OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace Of Two Burial Place Of Two

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors. When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col. John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grandfather of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck, comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponsit river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb, reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7, 1744 and many other notable people.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

WALKER WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Embezzled From Savings Bank and Church Convention

BROUGHT BACK FROM MEXICO

Admits That He Alone Is Responsible For Wrongful Use of Over $600,000, Which He Put Into What He Considered a Good Investment--Does Not Expect to Have Legal Counsel--Was Down to "Hard Pan" When Placed Under Arrest

Hartford, July 25.—William F. Walker, who embezzled $565,000 from the Savings Bank of New Britain and about $56,000 from the Connecticut Baptist convention, reached this city last night in the custody of Superintendent Egan of the state police department and Assistant Superintendent Hoffman of the Pinkerton detective agency in Los Angeles, Cal., the man who arrested Walker in a mining camp about 100 miles south of Ensenada, Mex.

Walker was locked in the steel cage of the county building for the night under the guard of five officers and he will be brought before Judge Shumway in the supreme court today. On his way east with the detectives Walker told them that he would plead guilty when arraigned.

Walker refused to tell what he had done with the money, saying that he put it into what he considered to be a good investment, his judgment being based on a long experience as a successful banker. Walker was poorly clad and he said that he alone was responsible for the crime he had committed. The men to whom he gave the money he met in New York at three different hotels. He said he would not have fought extradition but for the fact that he did not want to bring additional trouble on his family and relatives, and had he only himself to consider he would have returned without opposition as soon as arrested.

Walker absconded from New Britain on Feb. 8, 1907, and was arrested in Mexico on Dec. 10 of the same year. His fight against extradition has delayed his being brought to this state until now. Walker said that he has no lawyer and that he expects to have none, and that as a matter of justice to himself he should first make a full statement to the prosecuting officer of the court.

In conversation and in silent moments Walker shows that he feels his disgrace. He had but $1.10 when arrested and in the trip east he had been in the same private compartment in the Pullman until Springfield was reached. The only time he left the compartment was when he went to the dining car for meals. The Pullman was run through without change.

Since he had absconded he said that he had heard nothing from any of his friends or relatives except his wife, and that he had seen but one newspaper that had made mention of his crime. He said that when he left home on Feb. 8, 1907, he attempted to return, but he lost his senses in New York about noon on Feb. 9 and the next he remembers is when he came to realizing sense of what he had done in a small town in Nevada, a short distance from Tonopah. He had been in Ensenada since May, 1907, he said.

Dentists Gather at Boston

Boston, July 25.—Dentists from all parts of the United States have invaded Boston and begun a long series of meetings. The National Association of Dental Examiners, the National Association of Dental Faculties and the National Dental association constitute the International Dental Fraternity of the United States and Canada. Delegates from eighteen states and forty colleges, numbering over 3000 dentists, are here.

Record Distance For Wireless

San Diego, Cal., July 25.—The government wireless station at Point Loma was in communication with Admiral Sperry's flagship Connecticut of the Atlantic fleet shortly after midnight. This is believed to be a record distance for wireless communication on the Pacific. The battleship reported all well on board. The distance over which the communication was had is figured at about 2900 miles.

Rescued In the Nick of Time

Halifax, July 25.—Completely exhausted, having been without food or water for two days, two Gloucester fishermen, Neil Hawley and Alfonso Hawick, both of the American schooner Senator, who strayed away from their vessel in a fog on the Banks, were picked up by the Spanish training ship Nautilus and brought to Halifax.

Menawa to Be Destroyed

Newport, R. I., July 25.—Schooner Menawa, which was struck by the president's yacht Mayflower early Wednesday morning, is floating beam up in Long Island sound, about seven miles off Faulkner's island. The torpedo boat Gwin was sent out with orders to destroy the derelict, which is considered a menace to navigation.

Mexican Troops Fight Indians

Tucson, Ariz., July 25.—In a desperate battle between Mexican troops and Papago Indians at the Imaculada ranch, in the Altar district of Sonora, nineteen Indians and two soldiers were killed and five soldiers were wounded.

TO GUARD AGAINST FRICTION

Extension of Present Modus Vivendi Governing Newfoundland Fisheries

Washington, July 25.—A continuation of the present modus vivendi governing the Newfoundland fisheries and the rights of American fishermen therein has been agreed upon as a result of correspondence between the state department and the British foreign office. By this means friction over the acts of American fishermen in Newfoundland waters will be avoided, pending a settlement of the whole question before The Hague tribunal.

A distinct advantage is to be found in the continuation at this time of last year's modus vivendi, because it is anticipatory of the fishing season which begins in August, and hence removes ground for serious complications which are constantly apt to arise in the absence of any well-defined understanding and agreement covering the fisheries.

Last year's modus vivendi was not ratified until Sept. 4, after a long correspondence between the state department and the foreign office at London, and there always was fear that some clash would occur pending its ratification. It is understood that the modus extended by Mr. Reid and the British foreign office is in precisely the same terms of that of last year. That instrument worked apparently very satisfactorily.

CUMMINGS AGAIN HEADS HIBERNIANS

National Officer Who Worked Against Him Meets Defeat

Indianapolis, July 25.—The adoption of strong resolutions looking toward the extension of the influence of the Roman Catholic church in the United States and Canada, and the election of officers occupied the time of the convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians yesterday and last night. The administration ticket, headed by President Cummings, was successful with the exception of National Secretary Carroll. It was stated that Carroll had worked against the election of Cummings, and for this he was displaced by Cummings men. The following officers were elected:

MATTHEW CUMMINGS.

President, Matthew Cummings, Boston; vice president, J. J. Reagan, St. Paul; secretary, J. T. McGinnis, Scranton, Pa.; treasurer, J. F. Quinn, Joliet, Ills. Five directors were also chosen. Cummings had as an opponent for reelection former President Dolan of New York. Cummings was successful by a vote of 273 to 173. Carroll received 184 votes, to 264 for McGinnis.

Bank Runner Robbed

Philadelphia, July 25.—After choking Joseph A. Vaughn, a bank runner, and robbing him of $1900 on a Chestnut street trolley car, a man whose identity is unknown dashed through the car and, leaping to the street, made good his escape. Last night the wallet in which the stolen money was enclosed was found in a Broad street saloon. The money was missing, but checks amounting to $625 were found in the wallet.

Boys Thrown Under Auto

New York, July 25.—Richard Grube, 12 years old, and Arthur Cohan, 11, were racing an automobile in Jersey City last night on a tandem bicycle when the wheel swerved into the automobile. The boys were thrown into the path of the swift moving machine and it ran over them. Grube was killed almost instantly and Cohan received probably fatal injuries.

Van Renssalaer Declared Sane

New York, July 25.—John A. Van Renssalaer, a member of one of the oldest New York families, who was arrested several days ago, charged with sending a threatening letter to his mother at Newport, R. I., and sent to Bellevue hospital for observation, has been adjudged sane. Van Renssalaer will be sent back to the Tombs for final disposition of the case.

Telegraphing From Airships

Berlin, July 25.—The new military airship made an ascent last evening for the purpose of making experiments in wireless telegraphy. The experiments were very successful at a height of 600 feet. It had been feared that danger existed in electric waves germinated in close proximity to an airship, it being thought that they might ignite the gas.

The Lady of The Lilacs.

By Philip Kean.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Sherwood called her "The Lady of the Lilacs" because always on spring days there was a bunch of lilacs on her desk, offerings from the girls to a best loved teacher.

"You simply can't help loving her," Betty Baynes said to Sherwood in her emphatic young girl way. "You simply can't help it, Uncle Jack."

"I don't see," Uncle Jack ventured, "where her particular charm comes in."

"She's so sweet," Betty analyzed, "and dainty—and—and—sad"— Betty was getting into deep water. "Anyhow, she's lovely."

Sherwood always called for his niece after school and drove her out to Sherwood farm, where Betty and her widowed mother made their home with him. The farm was beyond the town—a great place, with great barns, where were housed the beautiful horses that had made the farm famous..

As he sat in the trap waiting he could look right into the windows of the room where Miss Duval taught, and he could see her head bent over her desk, with the great bunch of lilacs making a background.

"Look here," he said to Betty one afternoon as they drove away in the sunshine, "I'd like to paint her that way."

"What way?" asked Betty.

"Paint Miss Duval—just her head, bent a little, against a background of lilac blooms, with a circle of gold inclosing it like a halo."

"Oh, Uncle Jack," Betty's face was beaming, "it would be beautiful."

"I'd call it 'The Lady of the Lilacs,'" Sherwood planned. "By George, Betty, I believe it would be the best thing I've done."

But "The Lady of the Lilacs" when approached refused to be painted. "Oh, please tell Mr. Sherwood," she said breathlessly, "that I couldn't think of such a thing. I am sure he can find a better model, Betty."

"He can't," Betty said obstinately. "Please, please, Miss Duval."

The little teacher shook her head. "Don't insist, dear," she said. "I really cannot."

"Now, what do you think of that, Uncle Jack," said Betty, almost in tears, as they drove away that night.

"I don't know what to think," said Sherwood. "I hate to give up the idea."

"Well, don't give it up," Betty said. "You know you always get your own way when you want it, Uncle Jack."

"Yes, I do," said Sherwood thoughtfully.

Several days later when Betty came out of the school arm in arm with the little teacher Sherwood met them at the door.

"Won't you let us drive you home, Miss Duval?" he urged. "We will go the long way round, and it will do you good."

Miss Duval hesitated. "Oh," she began, but Betty interrupted: "Of course you'll go. You've never driven behind the Buckner team, and they are such beauties."

It developed that Miss Duval was from Kentucky and that she loved horses. "I used to ride a great deal out there," she admitted.

"Why can't you ride here?" Sherwood demanded. "We have a half dozen ladies' mounts in the stables that are growing fat and lazy for want of exercise."

"I haven't a habit," Miss Duval demurred.

"I have two," Betty announced promptly, "and you can wear one."

On Saturday Miss Duval in Betty's covert cloth habit and three cornered hat and mounted on Hulda Buckner was a transformed creature.

"I thought she was pretty," was Sherwood's mental comment, "but, by Jove, she's a beauty."

And more and more he yearned to paint her.

To that end he paid her most devoted attention, and it became a regular thing for the little teacher to spend the week ends at Sherwood farm. Betty's mother found her charming.

"I am glad to have Betty under her influence," she told her brother. "She is a lady to her finger tips."

"Yes," Sherwood agreed moodily, "but I wish she would let me paint her as 'The Lady of the Lilacs.'"

His sister flared indignantly. "I don't believe you ever look at a woman except from the standpoint of art."

Sherwood laughed. "I don't fall in love easily, if that is what you mean," he said and shrugged his shoulders and went on.

That afternoon he sauntered down to the end of the big garden where Dulcie Duval was pouring tea. The little table was set under a lilac bush, and the fragrance of the blossoms filled the air.

Betty, on the other side of the bush, was playing tennis with a boy from town. Mrs. Baynes had been called to the house, and Sherwood was alone with the Lilac Lady.

"I wish you would let me paint your picture," he said to her.

"No," she said slowly. "I am not sure that I like the idea of my picture hanging in a gallery for the public to gaze at."

"Surely," Sherwood urged, "one should not keep beauty hidden."

"I am not beautiful," she said quietly. She leaned back in the big wicker chair. Her face was very pale, and there were shadows under her eyes. Behind her the lilacs tossed their pale purple plumes in the spring breeze.

"I am not beautiful," she repeated, "but I think I ought to tell you why I do not want my picture placed before the public."

It was such a simple little tale. She was married. That was the fact that was borne in upon him with stunning force. Her husband had been her father's choice, not her own.

"We were rich," she explained, "but after my father's death my husband spent everything we had, and I was very unhappy. So I ran away and took my maiden name. And that is why I do not want my picture to appear. I do not want him to find me—ever."

She said it vehemently, with a little flush on her cheeks. "My father said love would come," she went on hurriedly, "but it did not. I felt for Betty's sake I ought to tell you. It's such unpleasant history that you might not care to have me with her so much."

Sherwood flung up his head. Suddenly it seemed to him that there was nothing that he so much wished to do as to shelter her from misfortune.

"Betty will always be honored by your presence, as we all are—as we shall always be," he said, and she smiled at him and held out her hand.

"Somehow I felt that I had found a friend," she said simply. "That is why I told you. It seemed best, and I knew you would understand."

That afternoon Sherwood went for a long ride on his favorite horse, Maxtell, and during that ride he fought a battle. Now that Dulcie Duval was out of reach she seemed the most desirable thing in the world. Indeed, from the first moment she had been desirable, but he had let the artist in him blind the lover. He had made himself think that it was her picture, not herself, that he wanted.

And now that he knew that he loved her he felt that he must go away—back to Paris to the studio—to the dreams that had of late been partially submerged in his practical plans for Sherwood farm.

When he came back that night, Betty met him on the porch.

"We are going for a ride early in the morning," she said, "Miss Duval and I, and I want you to go with us."

"Not tomorrow, Bettykins," he demurred. "I've got a lot of things to do. I am planning to spend the summer in Paris."

Betty's dismayed exclamation brought his sister and Miss Duval.

"He's going away," Betty cried, "and he doesn't know when he will come back."

And Sherwood, watching the face of the Lady of the Lilacs, saw it grow pale, and his heart leaped at the thought that she cared.

In the early morning from his bedroom window he saw them ride away.

Five minutes later he was at the stables. "How does it happen that Miss Duval is riding Maxtell?" he demanded of a groom.

"Hulda is lame," said the man, "and Miss Duval insisted on riding Maxtell. We tried to get her to have one of the other mounts, but she wouldn't."

"Maxtell can't be trusted," said Sherwood sharply, "not with a lady. He never likes the flutter of skirts."

"I know, sir." The man looked worried.

"Well, get Buckner Belle ready," Sherwood ordered, "and I'll go after them."

As he cantered down to the gate a boy met him with a telegram. Without looking at the address, Sherwood tore it open, then as a half dozen words confronted him he saw that it was not for him, but for Miss Duval. Her husband was dead, her lawyer wired, and she must come at once.

In that moment the whole world changed for Sherwood. He knew that it was unseemly for him to grow light hearted because of the death of a fellow creature. But for her it meant freedom, for him happiness.

He paid the boy and spurred his horse to greater speed, and at last he saw ahead of him Betty on a sturdy little mare; Dulcie, holding in Maxtell, who danced along the road in a way that spelled danger.

And even as Sherwood looked Maxtell bolted!

And after him, like a shot, went Buckner Belle.

The big horse was not a match for the brilliant mare, and presently Sherwood was beside Dulcie, his hand on Maxtell's bridle.

Maxtell, meek as a lamb at the sound of the well known voice, stopped so suddenly that Dulcie swayed and slipped from his back inertly. Sherwood, dropping the bridles, caught her in his arms.

"Dulcie," he said impulsively; "Dulcie, dear!"

She opened her eyes. "Please," she said faintly, "let me go. You must not."

"Hush!" he said. "You are not strong enough to stand alone, and you have a right here. You are free at last, dear heart."

Her startled eyes met his. "How?" she questioned.

"He is dead," he said quietly. "You are to go to Kentucky this afternoon. Betty's mother will go with you."

He released her then and went on in steady tones.

"But you will come back, Dulcie. When you feel that it is right—you will come back—to me?"

Betty was pounding down the road on the sturdy mare. Dulcie looked up at Sherwood, strong and grave between the beautiful horses.

"Yes," she said, and suddenly her face was illumined. "Yes, I will come back, and you shall paint me—your 'Lady of the Lilacs.'"

Feminine Amenities.

"What did you think of the wedding? Was I nervous?"

"Well, a little at first, dear, but not after Reggie had said 'I will.'"—Harper's Weekly.

EDITORIAL.

As the time draws near when a decision must be made as to who will represent this senatorial district in the Legislature of next year, it is apparent that the candidate to receive the Republican nomination will be either the present incumbent or Representative Hultman.

Senator Jenney has announced his candidacy for a third term upon the basis that he has reason to believe that he can be elected President of the Senate. Such an argument, if well founded, would carry great weight in Quincy and might even induce our citizens to waive their claim to representation this year.

According to political ethics and practice, Quincy is entitled to the senatorship this year and would be gielding something unusual if it should endorse the Hyde Park man for a third term, but if the presidency of the Senate is really within his grasp, if he is returned, there would probably be no dog in the manger sentiment here to prevent him from securing the honors.

Under the circumstances, it is not only fair but right that Senator Jenney should show to the local party leaders that his claims of strength for election as President of the Senate are well founded. If the senator has positive assurance of support from a decisive number of members he should let this be known, but if he has but few pledges he is making an unreasonable request to ask to be returned.

Among the Missing.

A Quincy friend of Walter T. Babcock, who has been among the missing for two weeks, is in receipt of a letter from him mailed from Providence. The letter states that he is in Providence but does not say where. Mr. Babcock wrote that while walking about the city last week he saw the Quincy police officer that was searching for him. He states that he saw the officer first and thought it best that the officer should not see him.

Postponed.

The great lawn party to have been held this afternoon on the grounds of Henry T. Gallagher on North street for the benefit of Boston College has been postponed until Monday It has been announced that 10,000 tickets have been sold, and that a special train will be run from Boston to accommodate the crowd and special electrics will run from City Square. Rev. Thomas J. Gasson and Mayor Shea will be among the speakers.

Y. M. C. U. COUNTRY WEEK.

The managers of "The Country Week" of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union, 48 Boylston street, ask for generous additional donations that the work of the season may not be curtailed. Some 1200 children are already provided with vacations, but the committee has upon the book the names of fully 1000 others who should be given the privilege of enjoying a fortnight in the country.

Six dollars and seventy-five cents will give to one child a vacation of 14 days.

Donations should be sent to Frank L. Locke, president, Boston Young Men's Christian Union, 48 Boylston street, Boston, marked for "The Country Week."

Boston Divine And Salvation Army Will Hold Services At Houghs Neck

The cottagers and guests of Houghs Neck will be favored on Sunday when a prominent clergyman of Boston, Rev. F. E. Emrich, D. D., has consented to address the evening meeting at 7.30 at the Union chapel on Bay View avenue. It will be an interdenominational service to which all are invited.

The Swedish Salvation Army will hold an open air meeting at Houghs Neck tomorrow, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the water near the steamboat landing. Singing and speaking will be both in English and Swedish language. Captain Carl E. Carlson will have charge of the meeting, assisted by Captain J. Haglind and others. The evening meeting will be held at the Army hall on Granite street, Quincy.

Thomas J. Dwyer represented the Houghs Neck Associates at the outing of the Taunton officials Thursday. He did the honors in good shape.

The posts for the street lights are being placed in position and it will not be many days now before the streets will be illuminated at night.

A large crowd attended the Poverty Party at Brown's summer ballroom last evening. The special boat that had been chartered from South Boston did not sail on account of the heavy fog. The affair was a huge success, however, and many odd costumes were worn. James Regan was in charge of the floor.

Miss Mary Nugent of Allston is the guest of Mrs. Felix Reich and Miss Louise King at the Wellesley cottage, Bell street, for two weeks.

It was "Hook Night" at the Palms last night and the house was crowded to the doors. Edward McCarty won the prize in he open-for-all contest. In the club contest, the audience was so undecided that the prize was divided between Frank Murray, representing the Raw-bones, Thomas Mack of the Bendemeres, and William Smith of the Flood Associates.

The "Lady May" owned by William John Tilley went on the recent cruise of the Boston Yacht club. The log of the boat may be printed Monday and will be interesting reading for yachtsmen.

The first of a series of novelty parties to be held at Pandora hall every Thursday night during the remainder of the season will take place Thursday evening, July 30. A splendid entertainment will be given first class talent having been obtained.

When your Daily Ledger delivery is irregular please notify A. H. Dunham the news agent, that he may call the attention of the news boy to the fact. There is no reason why the Daily Ledger should not be delivered regularly to subscribers, but sometimes it is the subscriber's fault when they neglect to notify the news agent of failures to receive the paper.

Over Sixty Boys In Sloyd Classes

The Sloyd school for boys at the Y. M. C. A. has completed its third week and the interest is unabated.

Sixty-two boys are enrolled in four classes. The schedule is arranged that each boys gets two lessons of one and a half hours' duration each week, two classes are held each day for four days a week. The class days are Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, from 8.30 to 11 o'clock. Parents and friends are invited to visit the school.

The boys are taught the proper use of carpenter's tools—the saw, plane, square, rule, shane, etc., and to make simple objects in a systematic scientific way.

The first class each day is taken to the gymnasium after their work is through and is given a half hour of games, and opportunity for a shower bath. In this way each boy gets one period a week in the gymnasium. This additional privilege the boys are very enthusiastic over.

The Women's Club committee, who are co-operating with the association in the work, have visited the classes and are pleased with the plan and the progress the boys are making.

Pedestal Monument And Observatory

Writing to the Boston Post, L. E. Walkins of Brockton says: "I believe no more fitting tribute to the memory of our second President can be erected by the public-spirited citizens of Boston than by building upon the highest elevation a combined pedestal monument and observatory of granite. As a location I would suggest the eastern end of the Blue Hills Park Reservation, which overlooks the home city of John Adams.

Such a tribute would not alone be a memorial to one of our most famous citizens, but also a source of attraction and pleasure in viewing a section of the city of Boston and part of Norfolk county.

I believe that such a memorial would appeal to the park commissioners and to the people of Norfolk county, as well as to the people of the city of Boston and members of the several historical societies."

Boiling Water on Trees.

City Forester Christopher Clarke of Northampton, has recently published an article on the treatment of the elm leaf beetle, which will be of interest to Quincy people, on account of the large number of elm trees here and the prevalence of this serious menace to the shade trees. He says:

"As he slugs and pupae of half-formed elm leaf beetles are now coming down to the ground on the trunks of the trees they should be destroyed by simply spraying them with boiling hot water, which kills instantly and does not soil or injure the trees in the least degree. This may be done by an ordinary garden watering pot, and costs next to nothing to apply.

"Every family can attend to the trees on private estates, and the foresters or tree wardens those on streets and parks, using barrels to convey the water through the streets, having a central point for heating it where it cannot be obtained at the houses. The towns that have adopted this method not only protect the trees, but do it at the very least possible cost.

Should Not Scrape the Bark.

"Where people are absent from their homes, provision should be made by the foresters and tree wardens to correspond with them and arrange to have this private work done at the owner's expense before it is too late. No scraping off of solid bark should be done, as it removes the tree's winter protection and is positively of no use whatever as the beetles fly, the worms crawl and the pupa or yellow half-formed beetles seem to have a sort of snail power to also get down to the ground in enormous numbers, and if not scalded to death are soon complete beetles, which live throughout the winter.

"The next spring they fly to the trees, feed upon the new foliage and deposit their eggs on the under side of the leaves. The eggs soon hatch out and the slugs feed upon the leaves, the beetles dying soon after depositing their eggs. The spraying of trees with arsenate of lead should, therefore, be done in the month of May, using a gasoline engine of 1 1-2 or 2 1-2 horse power, placed on a truck that carries the whole spraying outfit. The standard and best possible material for spraying is the arsenate of lead (Massachusetts state formula,) five pounds to 50 gallons of water, which is harmless to the most delicate foliage.

Prevents Waste of Money.

"One of the most important points I wish to emphasize in this paper is to prevent the absurd and positively useless expenditure of money when using a formula for killing the slugs or yellow immature beetles with a mixture of kerosene and carbolic acid, an unclean, dangerous and grass-destroying mixture in the place of boiling hot water, which is perfectly clean, safe and more effective and which everybody can use or apply without cost, daily, while needed.

"The person or persons who use or recommend this kerosene and carbolic mixture should be properly advised as soon as they possibly can be reached, as it is putting cities, towns and private citizens to an excessive cost and the handling of a somewhat dangerous mixture with no gain whatever in he work or destroying the beetles over boiling hot water. It is a positive loss of time, so valuable for immediate work.

"As the oldest and most experienced forester in this state and about the first in using the spraying engine and hot water in destroying the elm leaf beetles I have learned about this matter from actual work, on both fruit and elm trees, and write this article to prevent if possible the waste of good money in extravagant, useless and unintelligent methods, which I positively know are unworthy to be adopted."

ALLISON CLEAVELAND PALMER.

Allison Cleveland Palmer died at Greeley hospital, Greeley, Colorado, July 18, 1908, three days after passing his 21st birthday. He was the second son of Frank Herbert and Lucy White Palmer and was born in the parsonage of the First church of Weymouth at Weymouth Heights, July 15, 1887. His father, now editor of Education, was then pastor at Weymouth Heights.

Coming to Braintree ten years ago largely for the sake of educating their children in Thayer academy, the family sent "Cleave," as he was familiarly known, to the Jonas Perkins school where he graduated in 1901. For the last three months of his course in Jonas Perkins school he studied outside with his brother, Herbert as tutor and fitted himself to successfully pass the entrance examinations to Thayer without taking the preparatory course.

He maintained an excellent scholarship throughout his course in the academy and was popular alike with students and teachers. Graduating in 1905 he went in the fall of that year to Dartmouth college in company with a number of other Braintree boys, rooming at college with Curtis Hilliard.

His whole heart and soul was thrown into his college life and it was the greatest possible disappointment when his health broke down about the middle of his Sophomore year and the doctor told him he must give up all thought of going on with his class.

In August 1906 he had suffered a severe accident, falling on a long flight of steps at the steamboat landing near the Rangeley Lake house in Maine, where he had found employment for the long vacation. His ill health dated definitely from that accident and it became evident that he had injured himself internally, giving opportunity for the development of that dread disease, tuberculosis. He had the help of the best medical skill of Boston, tried the "out-of-doors" treatment at home, and was finally sent to Colorado in hopes of benefiting by the climate of that state. His lungs were healed by this means but he finally succumbed to the disease which was deep seated in other parts of his system.

Under his severe discipline of pain and weakness his character developed rapidly and his courage, patience and thoughtfulness for others won him many friends. He had no fears of death. For the past five weeks his brother Herbert has been with him.

His remains, in accordance with his own often expressed wish even before his sickness, were cremated at Denver. A private funeral service is held today at his home, after which his ashes will be deposited in the family lot at Weymouth Heights cemetery.

There will be a public memorial service at the First Congregational church on Sunday afternoon early in September, which will enable, his many Braintree and Weymouth friends and his academy and college classmates to manifest their respect for his memory.

Quincy Police Are Well Armed

It is perhaps not generally known that the Quincy police are equipped with the Colt automatic magazine revolvers, such as were carried by the desperadoes who did the shooting in Boston on Wednesday night. These revolvers are small gatling guns. They shoot true to the mark and do great execution.

It was during the time that Mayor Bryant was in office that he inspected the fire arms carried by the Quincy police officers. At that time each officer furnished his own revolver and when the officers made their exhibit to Mayor Bryant a miscellaneous assortment of revolvers was shown. It was also shown that with the guns carried some of the officers could not hit a barn door, let alone a fleeing burglar or yegg.

Then it was that Mayor Bryant purchased the new up to date guns for the officers, and gave orders that when they shot at a man, to shoot to hit the mark. He gave orders that the officers should perfect their markmanship, and a target was set up in the rear of the police station on School street where the officers perfected their aim. As a further encouragement for the officers, a gold medal was offered to the best marksmen.

It is said that the Boston officers while carrying a uniform design of revolvers, are not equipped with the magazine gatling guns, and that it is next to impossible for them to hit the mark, owing to the recoil of the revolver when fired.

—A sea captain, whose home is in Wakefield, reports to the Item of Beverly that while aboard his vessel, 50 miles off the coast ,the ship was literally covered with brown tail moths. The crew were reminded of a snow storm by the millions of white winged moths that were blown to them by the prevailing stiff breeze. Their sudden appearance on the North Shore last week and their equally sudden exit is now accounted for. We wish the high wind had come sooner and lasted longer. The broad ocean is a very good place for the brown tails, and all other kinds of moths.

Chief of Police Maurice Pierce of Milton and ex-Chief of Police Amos L. Litchfield of this city as guests of Chief Mason of New Bedford, attended the annual outing of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Union held at Cottage City on Thursday.

William S. Browne of Wollaston, who is at the Osceola House, Wells Beach, Maine, writes that he cannot do without the Daily Ledger while on his vacation.

Some ladies report seeing a deer at Mt. Wollaston cemetery Friday evening. He did not seem timid as he stopped and gazed at them but on their approach glided away toward Mt. Wollaston farm.

Some of the trees on Greenleaf street, near Valley street, are thick with little crawling worms. On one tree particularly, there are so many that the bagging placed around the trunk is bulging out with them. Some nearby resident should pour a pail of hot water over them before other trees are infested.

Vacancy In The City Council

Councilman Thomas F. Hogan of West Quincy has moved his family to Watertown where he has accepted a position as sexton of the Catholic church under Rev. Ambrose F. Roche, recently of West Quincy.

Councilman Hogan moving out of town leaves a vacancy in the City Council, which under the charter must be filled by a special election.

During the past three years there have been three members of the City Council who have moved from the city during their term of office but in each of these cases no action was taken by the City Council toward filling the vacancies, and the chances are that it will be so late in the season before the City Council again meets no action will be taken in the case of Councilman Hogan.

Rev. A. F. Roche As Spiritual Director

One reason for the transfer of Rev. Ambrose F. Roche to Watertown comes with the announcement that Archbishop O'Connell has chosen the Rev. Fr. Ambrose F. Roche to succeed the late Rev. Fr. Cullen as spritual director of the Middlesex branch of the Federation of Catholic Societies. Only recently Fr. Roche succeeded Fr. Cullen in the pastorate of St. Patrick's Church at Watertown. Fr. Roche was formerly stationed in Wes Quincy, where he was a leader in he federaion movement. In his new position his duties will take him to many towns and cities in that section.

Gen. Banks Statue.

While Sculptor Kitson and his wife took their first view of the new bronze statue of Gen. N. P. Banks on its pedestal yesterday morning, says the Journal, making measurements and gauging it in every possible way to ascertain if it stood in plumb, persons who chanced to be on the state House grounds had an excellent chance to look at the shaft, which was revealed by the raising of its canvas covering. Many came up close and improved the moment.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitson appeared to be satisfied with the appearance of the statue as a whole, but several minor details gave them displeasure. The most important requirement is that the statue shall stand perfectly straight, as, unlike most bronze works of the kind, it has no bronze pedestal but rests directly on the granite.

OUR NEW PASTOR

Rev. H. T. Grady Of St. Marys Well Endorsed By Chelsea Paper

The Catholic Citizen of Chelsea in its issue of July 18, published an extended review of the work of Rev. Henry T. Grady in that city, covering a period of 18 years. Now that he has been transferred to St. Marys parish at West Quincy, the article will be of interest to Quincy people and is reprinted in full:

The parishioners of St. Rose church have gotten about all that is coming to them, the latest being the transfer of Rev. Fr. Grady to another parish, yet there is another and a brighter side, a consolation even in the sorrow—Fr. Grady leaves to become a pastor! Fr. Cusack's beautiful and touching words of farewell of his assistant last Sunday expressed all, yet we presume to express the parishioner's sentiments!

We had hoped to keep Fr. Grady with us, and some of us endeavored so far as laymen could, to attain that end, so did the pastors. They bought land for chapels but death intervened in each case. Some of us planned, successfully too, to have a school building moved to one of the lots in the hope that when the city was through with it the pastor would buy it for a chapel and Fr. Grady be installed there, but when the time came to buy it, the pastor was dead and Fr. Grady as acting pastor bought it and opened it as a parochial school.

But to continue! When Fr. Cusack came he announced that, about Easter, the parish would be divided, and things looked bright again, from a logical standpoint, but one week before Easter came the fire—it was God's will ,not ours!

The fire caused many sad changes for it destroyed not only the homes and the livelihood of many, but it struck at the heart of our material possessions the church and schools. Following this came the departure of twenty of our beloved Sisters who for many years taught our children not only how to live but how to die. Then the departure of Rev. Fr. Fegan who had endeared himself to St. Rose parish; and now, to crown all, comes the departure of Rev. Fr. Grady, who for 18 years, or practically since his ordination has ministered to the spiritual needs of the parishioners, yes and to the material needs, too, as witness his labors in the relief work, not to mention the many calls of charity known only to the priest himself, and the Almighty, sometimes to the recipient thereof.

Of course we regret his leaving, but as we have said he personally is promoted, receiving a good appointment, one of the best recently given, but not any too good for services rendered, even looking at the matter from a material standpoint. He came here in May 1890, five months after his ordination by Cardinal Gibbons in Baltimore, and for eight years he and the late Fr. Mulligan, of blessed memory, attended the needs of the parish, besides the disagreeable duty of collecting the money that paid the large debt on the church and boys' school. It was a tough proposition in those days, because of the infirmities of the late Rev. Fr. McGlew, and the parish work of the two young assistants did not give them much opportunity to put flesh on their bones. Then came Fr. Quinlan and the parish was growing apace.

In 1900, Rev. Fr. Mulligan left Chelsea for the parish of Hingham, to be succeeded by Fr. Welch. The parish had nearly doubled in population, the schools had an increase of nearly 100 per cent, and the pastor, Fr. McGlew, was failing rapidly so that practically all the responsibility fell on Fr. Grady, ably seconded of course, by the Fr. Quinlan and Fr. Welch, and shortly afterward by Fr. Fegan. In 1902 Fr. McGlew passed to his reward, and Fr. Grady superintended the funeral, which owing to weather and other conditions was a difficult proposition, but every detail passed off without a flaw, and he was left pastor pro tem.

Then in the summer of 1902 the late Rev. Fr. Power was appointed pastor. His work enlarging and remodeling the church at an expense of over $100,000 with the payment of the debt within a few years which stands as a record, was in no small measure due to the assistance rendered by Rev. Fr. Grady. The pastor's subsequent long illness practically placed the responsibility of the parish again upon Fr. Grady's shoulders and then Fr. Power's death in June, 1907, occurred, and for the second time Fr. Grady superintended the funeral of a pastor.

The coming of Fr. Cusack promised an era of rest for the young assistant who had so long borne the responsibilities, and indeed this promise bade fair to be fulfilled under our kindly, conservative pastor. But it was destined not to be! On April 12 of this year, came the fire which not only devastated the heart of the parish but destroyed the church and schools as well, and once more Fr. Grady had to hustle, this time in the cause of relief. Now our good Archbishop has given him a parish which is one of the best in the suburbs of Boston, and truly has he not merited it?

During Fr. McGlew's time he purchased the lot of land upon which the Spencer avenue parochial school stands. It was understood that a chapel would be erected there with Fr. Grady in charge, but Fr. McGlew died before the plans were completed. Rev. Fr. Power purchased a large lot of land on the border of Prattville and Everett for a temporary chapel, and his death stopped further progress. Then the Spencer avenue school was purchased by Fr. Grady for St. Rose parish when the public school was ready. The school had been removed to the lot purchased by Fr. McGlew loaned to the city by Fr. Power. It was considered by some that a chapel and school might be combined there but the influx of pupils made this idea impossible. It was also Fr. Cusack's intention, we believe, to have a chapel there, but man proposes, etc. It was not to be—Fr. Grady was not destined to remain with us! It was God's will, clearly and definitely shown. Not alone our spiritual adviser but our beloved friend was destined to go elsewhere, and we must bow to the inevitable, altho some of us did our best to keep him here.

The people of St. Mary's parish in Quincy will not only love him because he is their pastor, but they will admire him for his manly qualities and thoro knowledge and sympathy with them. He is not of the missionary priest type—stern, cold and forbidding, working by quasi-military rule. Approachable, kindly, but stern when occasion demands, a lover of all manly American sports, the men and particularly our young men will miss him. The Young Ladies' Sodality which he constructed into a power in the community, both for the moral and social advancement will miss him.

Rev. Fr. Cusack upon whose shoulders rest the responsibilities made so great by the recent calamity will miss the stalwart lieutenant, and the other assistants will miss a kindly and genial co-worker. But, for all, the same qualities which endeared him to us, make us rejoice that he has been well settled for himself. For eighteen years we have had the benefit, it is only fair and just now to yield him up to himself. Much as he has done for others, no one knows his inner personality, for of himself no man is more reticent.

And so we say good-bye, not in studied phrases but as the heart dictates, not with grandiloquent eulogies, but simply as the pictures of fond memory appear before the mind from the time the fair-haired young priest came to us eighteen years ago until he leaves us, still in the prime of manhood, but perhaps a little weary and worn by his labors for the welfare of the parishioners of St. Rose parish, never seeking, and therefore never disappointed at the many sudden changes of conditions.

HUGHES ON A SECOND TERM

Would Accept Renomination If Republicans So Desire

GOVERNOR DEFINES REASONS

Retracts Private Statement That He Could Not Undertake to Run Again —Feels That Personal and Selfish Reasons Should Not Allow Him to Abandon Policies Which He Has Pursued as Chief Executive of the Empire State

Saranac Inn, N. Y., July 25.—Governor Hughes last night issued a statement to the effect that he is willing to waive the personal reasons which have impelled him to say privately that he could not consider another term as governor, and if renominated will accept and stand for re-election. He said:

"I have received so many inquiries as to my attitude toward a renomination that I have decided to make the following statement:

"Some time ago I said privately that I did not desire a renomination and that I felt that I could not undertake to serve a second term. This, however, was for reasons entirely personal. Upon further reflection I am convinced that I have no right to regard these reasons as controlling, and that if renominated I ought to accept.

"But it is my desire that the will of the party to which I belong should be freely expressed and that it shall take such action as shall be most closely in accord with public sentiment. I believe that the people thoroughly understand the principles which I have sought to apply in administration and, if they so desire, I regard it as a privilege and a duty to continue in office for another term."

Aside from the statement, the governor declined to make further comment for quotation, but he made it clear that he thinks the policies he has pursued since he assumed office on Jan. 1, 1907, should be continued. As he is sponsor for them, many of the governor's friends have expressed the opinion in letters to him that they can be carried out better if he is elected for another term.

It is known that he has received many letters from various parts of the state, urging him to accept a renomination. These letters declare that if he declines to be a candidate for renomination the public sentiment which they say has been created for these policies is liable to evaporate. He takes the posltion that he cannot abandon these policies out of selfish and personal reasons.

The governor made it clear that the decision that he reached was not due to any reluctance on his part. He feels that he has fulfilled the promises made in his telegram to the Republican state convention after his nomination and in his campaign speeches, that his administration would be free from so-called bossism and not conducted for any private interests. He is especially interested in the statutes placed upon the books during his administration, notably the anti-race track gambling laws and the public service commissions law.

In making the announcement defining his position, the governor felt that it was due those interested in the coming Republican state convention that he should make known his attitude regarding his renomination.

The governor was asked if he believed the so-called policies could have been successfully carried out if he had been nominated for the presidency. He declined to discuss the matter, but he left the impression that if he had been nominated and elected president he could have continued many of his policies from a national standpoint and they would have had considerable influence not only in this state, but in other states.

When Chapin Is President

Chicago, July 25.—Eugene W. Chafin, presidential nominee of the Prohibition party, discussed campaign issues as they bear on the Prohibition platform in nine towns adjacent to Chicago yesterday. "If I am elected President of the United States," he said in one of his speeches, "I will have a congress which will pass a prohibitory law, and if there are any communities that refuse to obey the law, and the civic authorities are unable to enforce it, I shall use the power conferred upon me by the constitution and call out the militia, the standing army and the navy, and enforce prohibition on every inch of territory under the American flag."

Taft Meets District Leaders

New York, July 25.—The Republican leaders of the city were fully alive to their opportunity yesterday to make the personal acquaintance of their candidate for the presidency, and when Mr. Taft begun his journey to Cincinnati he had shaken the hand of practically every district leader in Greater New York, a number of state leaders, and had had conversations with politicians of varying degrees of prominence to the number of several hundred.

Bryan Leaves For Chicago

Omaha, July 25.—W. J. Bryan has left Lincoln for Chicago. He was accompanied by former Governor Osborne of Wyoming and a corps of newspaper correspondents. Although protesting that this was not a speechmaking trip, Bryan was induced to mount a baggage truck at the station here and address the crowd during the fifteen minutes the train remained here.

Independence Party Convention

Chicago, July 25.—The sub-committee of the Independence party have named temporary officials for the coming national convention of that party as follows: Temporary chairman, W. R. Hearst of New York; temporary secretary, W. A. De Ford, New York; sergeant-at-arms, Frank Brust, Illinois.

DEMANDS OF "YOUNG TURKS"

Sultan Yields and Constitution For Turkey Is the Result

Constantinople, July 25.—After thirty-two years of autocratic rule under Sultan Abdul Hamid II, Turkey again has been granted a constitution. An imperial irade was issued yesterday ordaining that a chamber of deputies be assembled. This present constitution is practically a restoration of the one proclaimed Dec. 23, 1876, by the present sultan, immediately following his elevation to the sultanate after the violent death of Sultan Abdul Aziz on June 4 of that year and the deposition of Sultan Murad V on Aug. 31, 1876.

This action on the part of the sultan, which came as a complete surprise to all observers of the progress of events in Turkey, was wrested from him by the Young Turks, a political party that has been working for a good many years for the establishment of a constitutional government in the realm of the sultan.

Last fall the young Turks and representatives of the various races and creeds in Macedonia met in Paris and decided to concentrate their energies on bringing about a government for Turkey that should be modelled on the western system. The Young Turks succeeded in winning over 96 percent of the Turkish army officers to their cause. This was cutting the ground out from under the sultan's feet. When the sultan learned that the wild people of the Albanian country would support him no longer, but had joined the liberal movement and were calling loudly for constitutional reform, he suddenly decided to bow to the inevitable rather than face the alternative, a revolutionary outbreak throughout all Macedonia.

An Encouraging Trade Report

New York, July 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that industrial plants are gradually enlarging the percentage of active machinery, furnishing more work for wage earners, which stimulates retail trade, while favorable crop progress strengthens confidence in a continuance of recovery in business.

TO PREPARE SOUP.

Salt Never Added Until the Soup Is Done.

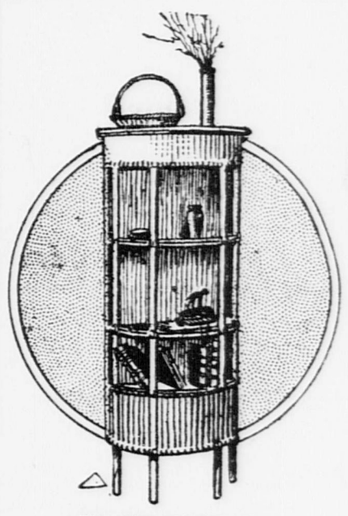

No matter how plain and simple a dinner may be soup adds to it. Poor soup is often served because too little attention is paid to it. First of all, there must be good material to start with. Cold water should always be used where meat is cooked in order to draw out the juice. Salt must never be added until the soup is done. Soup should simmer on the back of the stove instead of boiling rapidly. When the meat is well cooked, strain, add salt and set in a cold place. Skim off all grease from the surface the next day and the stock is ready for use. Clear soups are never considered as wholesome as others. There are a great variety of vegetable, meat and cream soups which are appetizing. Cream of tomato, celery and asparagus are particularly good.

A soup kettle where every bone or scrap of meat left over is thrown in is considered very essential in many households, especially where soup is served every day. One or two tablespoonfuls of cold rice is an addition to any ordinary soup, especially chicken or mutton broth. Be careful that the soup is never greasy. If the stock stands overnight all bits of grease can be removed. A cupful of tomatoes flavors a soup made of stock. In making good soup bay leaves, celery, parsley, carrots, onions, whole cloves and other herbs or vegetables are excellent for flavoring. Beans and peas make delicious soup. An excellent stock for soup is made by cooking a knuckle of veal and beef bone in cold water with six potatoes, five carrots and four tiny onions on the back of the stove for a day or longer, then strain and set away.

A NOVELTY IN WICKER.

Unique Stand to Hold the Veranda Library.

Racks and stands have been provided to hold a veranda library. These racks are made of wicker, and the most useful kind is high and narrow to take up as little floor space as possible on the small veranda floor. Some are made triangular to fit into corners against the house, others are square or with the front curved like an old fashioned swell front bureau. The tall, slender legs keep the bottom shelf high enough from the floor for it to escape most of the dust and wear and tear, and the top one is the right height for vases and bowls of flowers.

VERANDA BOOKSTAND.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

After a dusty trip the face should be carefully bathed in warm water and perhaps massaged with cold cream.

If you wish to become plump, drink plenty of milk, eat starchy vegetables, such as potatoes and rice, beans, corn and the like; eat bread and take raw eggs.

This cough remedy has rarely been known to fail in giving relief: Roast a lemon very carefully without burning it. When it is thoroughly hot cut it open in one end and squeeze into a cup containing three ounces of finely powdered sugar. Take a spoonful whenever your cough troubles you. It is excellent and most agreeable to the taste.

In healthy persons the tiny sweat glands of the skin are always active, and the secretion, save when it is excessive, passes off as soon as formed; or, more exactly, immediately it reaches the surface. It does this by being changed into vapor; hence the skin never looks damp. Any fatty material on the surface of the skin will impede this evaporation and make the liquid collect in drops.

Water will do wonders for one if people but realize it. As a complexion maker, for instance, it is a great beautifier used both internally and externally. An excellent tonic effect may be had by taking a face bath at least once a day in cold water. Fill a basin with the water, placing it on a stand or chair where it can be conveniently reached without too much stooping. Drawing a long breath, dip the face in and out of the cold water for about two or three minutes. When it is necessary to breathe the mouth can be lifted from the water, but immediately take another deep breath.

Curtains In Summer.

When a house is closed for the summer, it is better to hang lace curtains straight from frames or beams in a dark room than to fold them in chests or allow them to hang at the windows. Portieres and heavy draperies should also be hung in this way, but they should be covered with unbleached muslin into which pieces of camphor have been sewed.

PLAYING A TROMBONE

A Rather Easy Matter, the Musician Seemed to Think.

SUCH A SIMPLE INSTRUMENT

But Somehow or Another the Explanation Only Muddled the Man Who Wanted to Learn and Who Decided to Tackle an Accordion.

The band was playing loudly in the Trinkfestbiergarten and the little bald-headed man had his eyes fastened interestedly on the trombone player. When the players stopped to recuperate he beckoned the man who works the loose horn over to his table and ordered two glasses of schoenesbraue.

"My name is Biggs," said the man whose hair was absent. "One of my lungs is trying to quit work, and the doctor advises me to break up its shiftless habits by blowing a brass. The careless way you yank that pump horn looks good, and I want you to put me on."

"What do you want to know?" asked the musician.

"Just a hint about how you handle that wind machine so nonchalantly."

"The trombone is very simple," replied the musiker, wiping his lips, which curled in thick, red volutese. "The slide is divided into seven shifts, or positions, about three inches apart.

"Starting with the lowest note in the first position—the slide closed—you get B flat. Push out the tubes and you hit successively A, A flat, G, F sharp, F and E."

"That's only seven notes," objected Biggs.

"Yes. Getting the rest depends on how you pucker your lips. In the first position you can make, figuring upward, B flat, F, B flat, D, F, B flat and C. In the second you obtain A, E, A, C sharp, E, G and A. The third gives you A flat, E flat, A flat, C, E flat and A flat. It works out the same all the way down.

"There are higher notes that I didn't mention, but you won't want to monkey with them. But a good player has a compass of more than three octaves."

Biggs looked troubled.

"Let me see," he said. "You start in the first position with B flat."

"Yes," replied the other—"that is, provided you are playing in the bass clef. In the treble clef the first position is C."

"What!" exclaimed Biggs. "It's one note one time and another another?"

"In the treble clef," explained the musician, "the trombone is a B flat horn. In the bass clef it is a C horn."

Biggs mopped his brow.

"Say that again, will you?" he appealed.

"Don't you see?" came the answer. "When the first position is C it's a B flat horn. When the same shift is B flat it's a C horn."

Biggs unbuttoned his coat.

"You may call this thing simple," he said, "but if it is I'll give myself up at the nearest asylum. You are talking antonyms."

The musician grinned.

"We'll take one thing at a time," he said. "In getting at what a B flat horn is let's consider a cornet."

"Let's, if it's simpler," said Biggs hopefully.

"It's because it's always a B flat horn," replied the other. Then he added, "Except when it's an A horn."

Biggs gave a sickly smile.

"The lowest note on a cornet when open—when no keys are pressed down—is really B flat," said the bandman. "But it is called C."

"That doesn't make it C," said Biggs.

"For all practical purposes it does," was the reply. "There is a reason for doing this, but it's complicated and at present I'm keeping to simple facts."

"Yes, indeed," murmured Biggs.

"In an orchestra, for instance, when the first violins are playing in C natural the cornetist's score is two semitones higher and is thus written in D or two sharps. When the violins are playing in D the cornet player is tooting in E or four sharps. But if things kept on this way the cornetist would soon be lost in a confusion of sharps and double sharps, so he slips an A crook on his instrument. That raises the signature three semitones. When the fiddles play in A or three sharps the cornetist is blowing along the easy path of C natural."

"Look here," said Biggs, "if my wife is playing 'Under the Pink Lilac Bush' on the piano, couldn't I play with her from the song score?"

"Not unless you can mentally transpose as you go along," said the musician. "The system looks queer at first, but it's logical. Its purpose is to bring the same music within the natural compass of all the instruments of a band or an orchestra. But if you are going to play the trombone you won't have to bother your head about any of this, as trombone music is nowadays always written in the bass clef."

"Then what have you been talking about it for and mixing me up?" shouted Biggs, jumping up.

"What are you getting mad about?" asked the trombonist.

"I'm not mad," replied Biggs. "I'm only going to make my will and buy an accordion."—Washington Post.

No Longer a Secret.

"So that great inventor is dead and his wonderful secret is lost"—

"Not at all. He told it to his wife just before he died."

"Yes; that's what I mean."—Philadelphia Press.

A LITTLE VOLCANO.

How to Perform an Interesting and Harmless Experiment.

A toy volcano that will send forth flames and ashes with lava streaming down its sides in real volcanic action can be made by any boy without any more danger than firing an ordinary firecracker. A mound of sand or earth is built up about a foot high in the shape of a volcano. Roll up a piece of heavy paper, making a tube five inches long and one and a half inches in diameter. This tube of paper is placed in the top of the mound by first setting it upon a flat sheet of paper and building up the sand or earth about the sides until it is all covered excepting the top opening. This is to keep all dampness away from the mixture to be placed within.

A fuse from a firecracker, or one made by winding some powder in tissue paper, is placed in the paper tube of the volcano with one end extending over the edge. Get some potash from a drug store, and be sure to state the purpose for which it is wanted, as there are numerous kinds of potash that will not be suitable. An equal amount of sugar is mixed with the potash and placed in the paper tube. On top of this put a layer of pure potash, and on this pour some gunpowder. This completes the volcano, and it only remains for the fuse to be lighted and action will begin with an explosion which sends fire, smoke and sparks upward. Flames will follow, and the lava pours down the sides of the mound.—Popular Mechanics.

VOLCANO IN ACTION.

STORY ABOUT THE HORSE.

Useful Animal First Domesticated by the Asians.

It is said that the horse was first tamed and used in Asia. The Egyptians and the Assyrians used him at an early date, but for a long time after he was tamed they rode him only in time of war, considering him too good for the ordinary work of burden carrying and riding. This work was done by the ass, a more plebeian animal.

After the Egyptians and the Assyrians began taming and using the horse, the practice extended to the Scythians, and it is said that when the Greeks met the Scythians in battle they were panic stricken at the sight of those warriors mounted on the unknown animals, believing horse and rider to be one creature. That is probably the origin of the centaur in Grecian mythology, half man and half horse. You have read the story, no doubt.

There were no horses in this country when white men came here, and the Indians were as much alarmed to see the Spaniards riding those they brought over with them as were the Greeks when they first saw the Scythians similarly mounted. Perhaps this may surprise you, for most persons think that the wild horses of the western plains have been there always, so to speak. They have not, however, for they are all descended from the horses brought from Europe by the early settlers. It is the same with the wild horses of South America, which live in the pampas in great herds of thousands each. They all came from European stock.—Chicago News.

The Grumbling Rose.

"It is all very well," said the rosebud
That close against my window lattice leans,
"But April is as false as he is fickle,
And there's never any knowing what he means.
He loitered just before me with a whisper
Of mischief much too cunning to detect,
But when I peeped with wonder at the garden
It wasn't what he led me to expect,
For the rain fell fast
On a rude and chilly blast,
And it wasn't what he led me to expect.

"It is all very well," said the rosebud
As April softly sighed a fond adieu,
"But, after all, I'm sorry you must leave me,
For May's a month I dread much more than you.
She prates of all the wonders of the summer,
She promises but only to betray,
And those who tell the truth about the springtime
Are never complimentary to May,
And e'en a baby rose
Can be pardoned, I suppose,
For feeling some anxiety in May."

And thus through all the months of happy summer
This foolish rose no cause for pleasure found,
And when the winds of autumn swept the garden
They scattered all her petals on the ground.
Oh, let me urge this on you—to remember
That no one should enlarge upon a wrong,
For those who spend their time in idle grumbling
Will find there's not a moment for a song,
And sadly they'll recall
When the autumn shadows fall
The summer that was worthy of a song.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

The Scrap Book

Mars' George and the Skeeter.

When General George Sheridan was camping on the lower Mississippi his negro boy, Harry, was one day asked by a friend whether the general was not terribly annoyed by the mosquitoes.

"No, sah!" said Harry. "In the evenin' Mars' George is so 'toxicated he don't mind the skeeter, and in the mornin' the skeeters is so 'toxicated they don't mind Mars' George."

LEAD, KINDLY LIGHT.

Lead, kindly light, amid the encircling gloom;
Lead thou me on!
The night is dark, and I am far from home;
Lead thou me on!
Keep thou my feet, I do not ask to see
The distant scene—one step's enough for me.

I was not ever thus nor prayed that thou
Shouldst lead me on.
I loved to choose and see my path, but now
Lead thou me on!
I loved the garish day, and, spite of fears,
Pride ruled my will. Remember not past years.

So long thy power has blest me, sure it still
Will lead me on
O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent, till
The night is gone
And with the morn those angel faces smile
Which I have loved long since and lost awhile.

—Cardinal Newman.

Running Away From Temptation.

When General Butler was in command at New Orleans a colonel in the Red river region made application for a furlough, which was refused him. Soon after the colonel left his command without permission and went to New Orleans, where he was arrested and put in irons as a deserter. Upon an intimation that he wished to make an explanation General Butler had him brought to his headquarters.

"Well, sir," said the general sternly, "what have you to say in explanation of your conduct?"

"Well, general, there are two men up yonder who have some cotton they want to get through my lines. First they offered me $500, which I refused. Then they offered $1,000, $5,000, then $25,000, and at last they offered $100,000. And I tell you, general, they were getting so near my figure I thought I'd better leave!"

The Lass For Him.

A Scotchman, wishing to know his fate at once, telegraphed a proposal of marriage to the lady of his choice. After spending the entire day at the telegraph office he was finally rewarded late in the evening by an affirmative answer.

"If I were you," suggested the operator when he delivered the message, "I'd think twice before I'd marry a girl that kept me waiting all day for my answer."

"Na, na," retorted the Scot. "The lass who waits for the night rates is the lass for me."—Everybody's.

How to Live Well.

Be courteous to all, but intimate with few, and let those few be well tried before you give them your confidence. True friendship is a plant of slow growth and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to the appellation. Let your heart feel for the afflictions and distresses of every one and let your hand give in proportion to your purse, remembering always the estimation of the widow's mite—that it is not every one that asketh that deserveth charity. All, however, are worthy of the inquiry, or the deserving may suffer. Do not conceive that fine clothes make fine men any more than fine feathers make fine birds. A plain, genteel dress is more admired and obtains more credit than lace and embroidery in the eyes of the judicious and sensible.—George Washington.

Playing on the Piano.

When the mother returned from a shopping tournament the first thing that met her eyes was a lump on little Willie's forehead.

"For goodness' sake!" she said. "How did he get it?"

"'Tis frum the boomp he got," the new nurse explained. "Ye tould me, ma'am, to lit him play on the pianny if he wanted to, an' wanst, whin he was slidin' on the top, he slid too far, ma'am."—Judge's Library.

The Universal Language.

The Chinaman could speak no English and the Englishman could speak no Chinese. Nevertheless the dinner went off agreeably. The two men sat facing one another in silence while a neat Chinese butler served them dish after dish of surpassing delicacy.

There was one dish especially that pleased the Englishman. It was a rich stew of onions, pork, mushrooms and a dark, tender, well flavored meat that seemed like duck.

The Englishman ate heartily of this stew. Then he closed his eyes and lifted his hands and shook his head with an air of ecstasy. After this pantomimic compliment to the dish he said interrogatively:

"Quack, quack?"

"Bow-wow-wow!" said the Chinaman.

When the Ocean Billows Roll.

"I was coming from Liverpool upon one of the famous liners," says Bishop Potter of New York, "and, although the sky was clear and the weather warm, a somewhat tempestuous sea had occasioned more than the usual amount of seasickness among the passengers. As I paced the deck one afternoon I noticed a lady reclining upon one of the benches, and the unearthly pallor of her face and the hopeless languidity of her manner indicated that she had reached that state of collapse which marks the limit of seasickness.

"Touched by this piteous spectacle and approaching the poor creature, in my most compassionate tone I asked, 'Madam, can I be of any service to you?'

"She did not open her eyes, but I heard her murmur faintly, 'Thank you, sir, but there is nothing you can do—nothing at all.'

"'At least, madam,' said I tenderly, 'permit me to bring you a glass of water.'

"She moved her head feebly and answered, 'No, I thank you—nothing at all.'

"'But your husband, madam,' said I, 'the gentleman lying there with his head in your lap—shall I not bring something to revive him?'

"The lady again moved her head feebly, and again she murmured faintly and between gasps: 'Thank you, sir, but—he—is—not—my—husband. I—don't—know—who he is!'"

Learning German.

An eastern woman whose husband's business obliged him to remove to Milwaukee soon showed herself an earnest member of a local German class. She had learned to read the language a little, but for a long time was unable to master the pronunciation.

One day the question was put to her, "Are you not glad you are able to learn German?"

The query was, of course, in German, and the answer was, "Ja, gewiss" ("Yes, certainly").

When the easterner was called upon to answer she upset the class by doing so in this wise:

"Ya; gee whiz!"—Lippincott's.

Speaking of Economy.

"I used to know a clergyman," said Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture recently, "who owned a fine farm and ran it on very economical lines, so that it paid splendidly. Taking his usual daily stroll over his rich, broad acres, he saw a plowman, while the horses rested, sitting on the handle of his plow. It occurred to the minister that he paid this plowman 10 cents an hour, besides board, and he stopped and said gently, but reproachfully:

"'James, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a pair of pruning shears here and be cutting a few bushes along the fence while the horses are taking their short rest?'

"James returned the minister's serious gaze, and in the same gentle yet reproachful voice he answered:

"'Look here, sir, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a tub of potatoes in the pulpit and while they're singing the hymns to peel 'em for the pot?'"

Bound In Calf.

A millionaire cattleman who was as ignorant as he was rich led a visitor into a great room lined with thousands of volumes.

"See them books?" he said.

"Yes," said the visitor.

"They're all bound in calf, ain't they?"

"Yes," the visitor agreed; "they seem to have a uniform binding."

"Well, sir," he said, "I killed all them calves myself."

Jolt For the Judge.

Governor Fort of New Jersey tells this story: An old Quaker woman was a witness in a case which was being tried one day before Judge Garrison over in Jersey, and she wore a big poke bonnet which muffled her ears and prevented her hearing the lawyer's questions. Finally the lawyer appealed to the judge, and he ordered her to remove the bonnet.

"I'll do no such thing," she said tartly. "I am accustomed to having my will respected," said the judge.

"Well, I don't care if you are a judge, that bonnet stays right where it is!"

"Perhaps, madam," the judge put in ironically, "you would like to take my place as judge, too, eh?"

"Not a bit of it," she shot out. "There are enough old women on the bench in Jersey as it is."

When the Minister Missed.

During a golf match between the Rev. Dr. Sterret and Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court at the Chevy Chase Golf club, near Washington, the doctor discovered his ball teed up in tempting style for a fine brassie shot. With the utmost deliberation he went through the preliminary "waggles" and with a supreme effort—missed the ball. For fully a minute he gazed at the tantalizing sphere without uttering a word. At length Justice Harlan remarked solemnly, "Doctor, that was the most profane silence I ever listened to."

Two Kinds of Bass.

A gentleman told his wife one Saturday morning on leaving the house that he was going to spend the day at the lake fishing and would later wind up his week's work at the office during the cool evening and would therefore not be at home till late. He promised to send out by messenger at 6 o'clock the result of the day's catch. Before joining the other three gentlemen in the game of palmistry that he thus sought to cover up he telephoned the store where he was accustomed to get all his table supplies to send up to his house about 6 o'clock a dozen bass and for the messenger to say to his wife that they came from him. When he came home on the last reach toward midnight he asked his wife if she had got the fine bass he had caught. She showed them to him. The purveyor of table delicacies had sent him a dozen Bass of the bottled kind.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title—Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St. Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one of to answer any inquiries.

Bilious Troubles

Bile causes no end of trouble. Sick headaches, bilious attacks, jaundice, constipation and many distressing ailments arise from an excess of bile, or from obstruction of the bile duct. Inactivity, sedentary occupations and indiscretion in feeding and drinking are bile blunders that need to be guarded against. When the liver is disordered the best bile correctives are because they relieve the overworked liver, and gently stimulate it when it is sluggish. These pills control the flow of bile, restore its right consistency, and work for the immediate and lasting benefit of the stomach, bowels and blood. Whenever a furred tongue, dull, yellowish eyes, nausea, or headache indicate bilious conditions, use Beecham's Pills at once, to correct the bile and

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

The contractors for street watering have been hard hit this summer for there has been but little rain until this week.

There was a beautiful sight last night at the residence of Mrs. A. B. Packard, of Hancock street, when a night blooming cereus had six blossems.

Today's storm rather puts a damper on the lawn party to have been held in aid of Boston college at the residence of Mr. Gallagher on North street.

Quincy's population day is in excess of the total population of the State of Indiana in 1810, and the State of Michigan in 1825, and Wisconsin in 1840.

The funeral of Edward McDevitt, who died at Barre, Vt., Wednesday, was held this morning from St. Mary's church. Rev. Henry T. Grady, the new pastor, officiated. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of Thomas Skinner was held yesterday at his home on Washington street, Quincy Point. The Rev. A. R. Atwood officiated. Mr. Skinner was a very skilful mechanic, having been employed at the Fore River, Boston and elsewhere. He leaves a widow, daughter and two sons, all of whom have the sympathy of their large circle of friends.

—In 1841 it took a steamer 13 to 18 days to make the trip from England to Boston.

—Revere and Winthrop is to have gas at $1.10 after August first. Goes down everywhere but in Quincy.

NOTICE!

Monatiquot Spring Co., of South Braintree, is in a position to deliver water to any part of Quincy for the small sum of 25 cents a carboy. No spring water on the market is superior. It is free from all surface drainage and is absolutely a pure mineral water.

August Magazines.

The August Lippincott's affords a good example of what can be done in the way of providing ideal hot-weather entertainment—though the magazine could hardly fail to be interesting were the mercury flirting with the zero mark. No cleverer or more diverting story has appeared this year than the complete novel, "The Road to Gretna Green," by Dorothea Deakin. The title suggests the plot, which has to do with an elopement—two elopements, in fact. The heroine in Alexandra, the youngest daughter of Lord Malinder.

"One who was not afraid, and who spoke the truth." This is the summary that F. Hopkinson Smith makes of the character of Captain Thomas A. Scott, Master Diver, whose life he sketches in the August Everybody's. Captain Scott was a plain American, one of the "common people," with a heart full of the milk of human kindness, a hand ever ready to help and protect the weak. He was a real hero—the record of his life as a wrecker and diver proves this. It is full of instances of his nobility and sacrifice of self, and not only inspires and uplifts, but forces one to be an optimist.

—A man addicted to walking in his sleep went to bed all right one night, but when he awoke, he found himself on the street in the grasp of a policeman. "Hold on," he cried, "you mustn't arrest me. I'm a somnambulist." To which the policeman replied: "I don't care what your religion is—yer can't walk the streets in yer nightshirt."—Everybody's Magazine.

FIELD SECOND

He Also Passes Captain Pray In Motor Boat Voting Contest

"Bill" Field has been heard from. He has been away on a vacation. Today he makes a gain of 229 and moves up again to second place, passing Capt. Pray.

Two others have joined the "charmed circle," those having over 100 votes, Miss Torrey of South Weymouth who moves up from No. 26 to No. 16, and Capt. Crane, who moves up four places.

Gains were also made by Messrs. Vanner, Birnie, Gavin, Von Emden, Sweeney, Clare and others.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

The Cadenza.

The July number of The Cadenza under its new management was issued this week. It is devoted to the mandolin, banjo and guitar. Walter Jacobs is the publisher and Erastus Osgood of Quincy the associate editor. It contains several pages of new music, and considerable reading of interest to lovers of music, some of which is illustrated. There is also a bright sketch by Mr. Osgood. The Cadenza is particularly valuable to teachers of the mandolin, banjo and guitar as it will keep them abreast of the times.

TODAY'S COURT.

John Keohard was fined $5 for drunkenness at Milton.

Charles E. Stewart was arraigned for the larceny of a bag of oats from T. H. Emerson at Weymouth. He was fined $15.

The liquors seized from Ralph Piozzola at Quincy were forfeitted.

Joseph McLaughlin was arraigned upon two complaints for assault on William McLaughlin and Margaret G. Garrity at Quincy. Cases continued until Monday.

—A Western Congressman is in trouble. One of his constituents wrote him to ask how to cure a sick hog, and at once received a pamphlet from the Department of Agriculture. Then the constituent's wife wrote asking how to cure a sick baby, and the Congressman said he couldn't tell her.

—The Brockton Enterprise reports that a local clothing store recently displayed a window sign which read: "Some clothes 1-3 off, some 1-2 off." The paper thinks that to be in keeping with the strenuous weather, an addition should be placed on the sign to read: "Some nearly all off."

—The Boston Almanac of 1842 records the fact that on Jan. 13, 1841, Judah Touro of New Orleans gave $10,000 toward the completion of the Bunker Hill Monument.

—Open your heart to the sorrow of every man who comes to talk with you about his troubles.

Itch cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. Never fails. Sold by C. D. Harlow & Co., Druggists.

Boston Theatre.

Every week new and more startling announcements are being made in connection with the midsummer vaudeville festival at the Boston Theatre, which now opens at twelve o'clock noon, and runs until 10.30 at night, giving two great shows of five and a half hours, something never before attempted. In addition to the splendid bills, including the Romany Opera Company, free orchestral concerts have been inaugurated under the direction of Charles L'Orage, in the Washington street lobby of the theatre.

On this occasion there will be something new in the vaudeville line, presented by Katherine Nelson and Elizabeth Otto, who have a beautifully dressed act, presenting songs and character changes and Miss Otto's splendid piano solos. Fred St. Onge, the champion bicyclist, will appear with a new company and do an entirely new act of trick bicycle riding.

Wonderland.

Wonderland is certainly proving a most popular place for reunions and outings of big fraternities and organizations of all kinds, social, business and benevolent. On Tuesday, July 28, the New England photographers' association goes to Wonderland; Wednesday, July 29, the order of Pilgrim Fathers of Massachusetts and Thursday, July 30, the United Irish League of Lowell and the Caledonian club of Holyoke will enjoy the sights and sounds of Wonderland. Tuesday, Aug. 4, has been officially selected by the grand lodge of Massachusetts, Knights of Pythias as the outing day for the delegates to the National convention and friends and Wonderland has been officially chosen as the place of so many wonders that the thousands of Knights and friends will surely enjoy themselves thoroughly. Wednesday, Aug. 5, there will be a great reunion of the order of the Knights of Columbus of Eastern Massachusetts under the auspices of Boston Chapter and the same day the retail grocers and provision dealers of Manchester, N. H., will test Wonderland's great bill of entertainment.

Paragon Park Attractions.

The hotter it is the more popular Paragon Park becomes—and quite properly too for Paragon is nothing if not a hot weather park. The sail down the harbor to Nantasket Beach is cool and delightful and puts one in a fine fettle to enjoy the pleasures of Paragon. Dinner in the Palm Garden is always a delight but it is especially attractive in hot weather.

Mace Gay's Martland Concert Band of 30 pieces is the main musical attraction this week. Harry Blaney, "The Man Who Has Sung to Beat the Band" every year but one, since Paragon Park was opened, is this year offering an exceptionally good line of songs. Johnny Maguire who has sung at the Park every year since it opened is still proving a vocal attraction. In the free open air circus Lomore and Valveno are doing some clever acrobatic stunts, Bonnetti is doing his terrible whirling "Slide for Life" and Bonnetti Brothers do a sensational trapeze act.

—The tax rate in Hopedale this year, where Lieut.-Governor Draper's Company carries on an immense busines, will be but $9 on a thousand. Probably the lowest in the state.

SYRIANS IN HOLY WAR

Christians and Mahometans Clash at Quincy Neck

Late Sunday afternoon Officer Lyons telephoned the police that the Christians and Mohametan Syrians who occupy the Syrian boarding house at 133 East Howard street, had started a full fledged fight among themselves and that some cutting was being done.

Chief Burrell responded with a wagon load of officers, and Dr. C. W. Garey and Dr. E. R. Bushnell, who had also been notified, were soon on the scene.

The officers found Charles Solomon unconscious with his head crushed in, and near him was Madhad Issam and Nazzra Hassan suffering from knife wounds.

The fight of Sunday had its beginning last Thursday when a clash arose between the two factions as to who should use the washing-up sink first. As a result of this row two men were brought into court charged with assault. They were Charles Haddad who paid a fine of $10, and Kalif Abale who paid $5 for assault on Haddad Kassam.

After court Haddod and Akale gave information to the police department at the Fore River yards, which resulted in the arrest on Saturday of Nazzra Issam, Madhad Kassam, Allah Hassan and Hadrad Joseph for larceny of steel from the Fore River company.

These men were bailed out late Saturday night, and Sunday their arrest resulted in a hot argument which soon came to blows. Then there was a general mix up, during which it is claimed knives, stones, and other weapons were freely used.

The noise of the row could be heard some distance and the whole neighborhood was soon in an uproar. Officer Lyons was notified and rushing into the house put a stop to the fight and telephoned for the wagon.

As soon as the officers and physicians arrived, Dr. Bushnell attended Charles Solomon who was lying on the floor unconscious and Dr. Garey looked after the knife wounds of Issam and Hassan.

Issam had two knife wounds on the back near the right shoulder, each three-fourths of an inch long and half an inch deep. He also had a bad scalp wound over the right temple.

Hassan had a cut under the right shoulder blade.

All with the exception of Charles Solomon were taken to the police station and locked up.

Later word was received that two more men concerned in the fight were at a house on Cyril street. The wagon was sent there but the men could not be found although all the boarding houses in the vicinity were searched.

While here it was learned that the two men had returned to the East Howard street house and the police going there found them.

It is reported in the Syrian colony that the fight was caused by strong armed men who had been imported from Worcester to drive one faction from Quincy.

The police however are convinced that this is not a fact and that the row was the result of the one of Thursday.

Salem Delivered

The new scout cruiser Salem, the fastest vessel in the United States navy, left the Fore River yard this morning and after a five hours builders' run will steam to the Charlestown navy yard where she will be delivered to the government.

She will be formally accepted by Capt. Albert S. Key, who has been busily engaged for a year in connection with her fitting out

Rear Admiral John K. Barton, the engineer in chief of the navy, who has been ordered to Mare Island and other navy yards and stations on a tour of inspection, came to Quincy Sunday and went on board the Salem and will remain with her until she is delivered to the government.

When the new scout cruiser will be commissioned is not yet known, although it is not believed that she will be ready as soon as was the Birmingham. As soon as she reaches Charlestown she will be made fast at one of the piers. The officials of the Fore River shipbuilding company will then call upon Admiral Swift and he will give a receipt for the vessel.

Since her trial trips the Salem has been at the Fore River yard. She was successful in all of her trials and is believed now to be the fastest scout cruiser in the world.

Funeral of Dr. Ordway.

The funeral of Dr. George A. Ordway, of Cochituate, formerly of Quincy, was held Saturday at Mt. Wollaston cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. G. W. Sargent of Natick.

Following this the burial service of the Grand Army was performed by Senior Vice Commander George L. Phillips and Chaplain Henry Chubbuch of Paul Revere post 88, G. A. R. The service closed with three volleys by the firing squad.

Better Pay.

The post office employes of Uncle Sam in this city are soon to be benefited by the recent annexation of the Quincy offices to the Boston district, for it is announced today that nearly 1,500 of the Boston district will receive increased pay. The total includes 580 clerks and 859 carriers.

—"People talk about the midnight oil as if it had some virtue attached to it," writes Doctor Edward Everett Hale in Woman's Home Companion for August. Busy Bee Wins Again

The severe storm Saturday afternoon which prevented many of the out of door sports scheduled did not prevent the race scheduled for the cape cat class of the Quincy Yacht club. There was a piping easterly breeze and a fine race resulted.

It was rather uncomfortable for the judges however who spent a couple of hours in a motor boat with a leaky rain protector and as a result they got wet.

The race was a lively one from start to finish. The Iris and Arawak, two of the crack boats of this class, met with accidents during the race.

The Iris spread a sister hook and the Arawak snapped her boom. Both yachts however remained in the race and sailed over the course.

The Busy Bee finished first with the Almira but a few seconds behind. Corrected time however gave the Busy Bee a greater lead.

In Class B but one boat showed up—the Shoofly. She went over the course however which gives a win to her credit

The power boat race held June 17 was also sailed over again, but only three of this class participated.

The Nokomis however was the only one to get time credited as the Malideen III and Anna were disqualified for exceeding the three per cent limit. The judges were George S. Morse and John O. Hall. The summary:

Pure Food Department.

The news that the Bureau of Food and Drug Inspection of the Department of Agriculture is about to begin a comprehensive inspection of baby foods will interest mothers everywhere. In fact the inspection is said to be directly due to inquiries sent to Dr. H. W. Wiley by mothers whose babies had not thrived on certain of these preparations. It is said that a poison squad may be organized on the plan of the adult squads that have been employed to test canned goods and other food products. This is probably only a rumor, for the babies could not give their consent to become the subjects of such tests, and surely no parent would be willing, even if Dr. Wiley was included to risk results to the infant subjects of his experiments. The "Pure Food Department" as the bureau is popularly termed, will no doubt find a way to make their investigation thorough and conclusive, and those baby foods that emerge, stamped with the approval of the board will enjoy increased prestige and prosperity—Old Colony Memorial.

At all events Bryan will probably have a corking good time until November.

BEATEN AND ROBBED

Atlantic Man Roughly Used By Thugs Men Arrested

Alfred Dahlquist of Squantum street was robbed of $180 near his home at 11 o'clock Saturday night, by five men. He was severely beaten before the highwaymen got his money.

Sunday morning about 5 o'clock he saw two men digging clams on the beach, whom he believed were some of the parties concerned in his hold up. Sending word to a neighbor to telephone the police Dahlquist got out his shot gun and walking to the beach covered the two men until the patrol wagon arrived.

Officer Doran and Hawthorn came down with the wagon and placed the men under arrest.

At 11 o'clock another telephone message was received and Inspector McKay and Goodhue went down in an automobile and another man was brought to the station.

This man was Peters who was asleep in the bushes when arrested by Officer Larkin who held him in the land office until the wagon arrived.

The three men gave their names as Martin F. Mignonette, 38 Quincy street, Roxbury, William Rooney of 29 Thorndike street, Boston, and James G. Peters of 9 Lansan street, Roxbury.

All three denied any connection with the hold up.

They said that they came to Squantum so as to be ready to dig clams at daylight.

After some questioning they admitted aving seen the robbery committed and gave the police information of the men wanted. Acting on their information Inspectors McKay and Goodhue went to Boston to see if they could round up the men wanted.

When Inspector Goodhue first interviewed the three men, Mignonetti, Rooney and Peters, at the police station they denied all knowledge of the assault and robbery. Then he took Mignonetti and Rooney and after putting them through the third degree they confessed and also gave the names of five others who were concerned in the bold robbery.

Then it was that Lieut. McKay and Inspector Goodhue left for Boston. Going to Station 9 the Lieutenant in charge detailed Officers Rooney and Kingsley to assist the Quincy officers.

The Boston officers knew the men wanted as being members of a tough gang and they were more than pleased at having an opportunity to round them up.

By 9 o'clock four of the men wanter had been rounded up but it was a long hunt for the fifth man. He was however located about 2 o'clock this morning. The five men rounded up were: Charles Reardon, John Shea, William Mulbern, Frank Waldron, and Joseph Noonan.

It is also reported that these men have also confessed to taking part in the hold up and robbery.

Word was telephoned to the Quincy police station for the patrol wagon to meet Lieut. McKay and Inspector Goodhue at the Neponset bridge.

Two of the Boston officers accompanied the party to Neponset bridge. The officers arrived at the Quincy police station at 4 o'clock this morning.

The hold up was most brutal and the only wonder is that Dahlquist was not killed. Much credit is also due to Lieut McKay and Inspector Goodhue for the prompt round up of the gang.

Shore Dinner Thursday.

The entertainment committee of the Granite City club are arranging for a shore dinner for club members and their friends to be held Thursday evening at the Squantum Inn. This resort is famous for its shore dinners and a good time is assured. A special car for the party will leave City Square at 6 o'clock for the Inn.

Large Crowd Expected Today

Fuly 5000 persons are expected to attend the lawn party to be held this afternoon on the Henry Gallagher estate on North street, Quincy. The party was to have been held Saturday but was postponed on account of the storm.

The party is being held for the benefit of the new Boston college.

The general committee in charge of the affair are: Frank Hayes, Dr. Timothy J. Murphy, Arthur Crowley, Dr. John M. Ash, Martin J. O'Brien, Timothy J. Collins, John J. Gallagher, Robert Grier, Dr. W. J. Middleton, James F. Burke, James A. White, John A. Mahoney, Michael Sullivan, John A. Avery, Mrs. S. A. Corcoran, Miss Agnes Crowley, Miss Martha E. Conway, Miss Della K. McGeever, Miss Nora Sullivan, Miss May Dunican, Miss Margaret Sullivan, Miss Alice Sheehan, Miss Nora Dolan, Miss Helen Sheehan, Miss Alice Fegan, Miss Nora O'Brien, Miss Nellie T. Crowley, Miss Josephine Donovan, Mrs. John J. Foley, Mrs. Agnes DeLurey, Mrs. Richard Sweeney, Mrs. Annis I. Pollard, Miss Helen Murphy, Miss Gertrude Crowley, Miss Grace Lamb, Miss Louise Crowley, Miss Annie White, Miss Mary Shea, Miss Catherine Garvin, Miss Josephine Kelley, Miss Lottie Donovan, Miss Fanny Kelley, Miss Mary Cunningham, Miss Sarah Corcoran, Misses Julia and Catherine Roche, Dr. Thomas Ash and Mrs. Ash of Rockland, Mrs. John J. Reynolds, Miss Helen Murphy and Mrs. John J. Sweeney.

50,000 Shots a Minute.

The science of war will be revolutionized and standing armies vastly reduced if a rapid-firing gun invented by William Paten of 270 West 136th street, New York, can duplicate in the field the work of a 10-inch model which Mr. Patten has built and is demonstrating.

The gun is noiseless, and is fired without powder. Mr. Patten asserts that the gun can discharge bullets faster than they can be loaded into its magazine, and that the loading speed is therefore practically the only limit to the number of shots that can be fired. He maintains that 50,000 shots a minute can be discharged from this new weapon, and adds that he'll demonstrate this when he gets a full-sized one in commission.

The gun is fired by centrifugal force. All there is to it is a big wheel with a crank for revolving it. In the 10-inch model this can be turned by hand. A motor of 50 horse power would be required to turn the six-foot model Mr. Patten hopes to build.

The bullets—not shells such as are used in other guns, but simply balls of lead or steel—are poured into the gun. The operator revolves the wheel and the bullets begin to pour out in a steady stream. They fly so fast that they have the appearance of one long leaden ribbon, and if the gun were revolved on its base the stream of lead would sweep around in an arc which would mow down anything in front of it.

The inventor of the new gun got his idea from seeing a flywheel burst.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Miss Emma D. Conklin of New Jersey is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Marden.

Sunday was an ideal day and thousands of people were about City Square all day.

Capt. Oliver of the Eva took a party of guests out Sunday on a trial trip around Boston harbor.

Capt John Kenniley of Quincy took a party of friends out in his naptha launch, the Sadie K. Sunday afternoon for a trip around Boston harbor to City Point. In the early evening another party was taken for a trip to the Fore River and return.

Frank D. Field, Jr., recently manager of the Dorchester central telephone exchange, has been transferred to a position with headquarters in the Quincy telephone building. Saturday night he was presented with a pocket book and card case by the operators at the Dorchester office.

Standard Oil Suit.

Judge Grosscup is very much to be commended for his sanity in ordering a new trial in the Standard Oil suit. The fine levied by the lower court on the Indiana corporation was excessive and opposed to the spirit of our laws, which is remedial rather than punitive. Pertinent at this time is the opinion expressed by Theodore Marburg of Baltimore, when he says (Annals of American Academy, July, 1908,p. 57:) "A fine the mere fraction of that actually imposed, together with an indication of what the maximum fine might have been on all the counts, would have demonstrated effectively to its managers the power of the government to ruin the Standard Oil Company if it failed to obey the law." It is true that the decision of Judge Grosscup was in a sense based on legal technicalities, and that a considerable fine could equitably be imposed upon a corporation which the evidence at the lower trial had shown to be owned by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. But this circumstance does not affect the soundness of Judge Grosscup's judgment. Our laws must be clearly framed to reach corporate abuses, and when they are not so framed we have no right to demand that our judges shall override either their letter or their spirit in the attempt to administer a higher justice. Even President Roosevelt may see this to be the case, though we are not certain.—Brookline Chronicle.

INDEPENDENCE PARTY PLANKS

A Radical Declaration on the Question of Injunction

A SPLIT ON CURRENCY ISSUE

Sherman Act, Corporations and Asiatic Immigration Will Receive Attention--Hearst Positively Out of the Race For Presidential Nomination--Four Men In the Race, With Hisgen Apparently In the Lead--No Fusion With Democratic Party

Chicago, July 27.—The platform of the Independence party, which is to meet in national convention tonight, will, if present plans are carried out, contain a much more radical declaration on the question of injunction than was embodied in the platforms of either the Democratic or Republican party.

From present indications, the temper of the convention will be in favor of a declaration doing away entirely with preliminary injunctions in cases of labor disputes. The majority of the delegates who have arrived also believe that there should be no punishment for contempt of court until after a trial by jury.

The members of the Independence party make the identical statement regarding the Democratic platform that the Democrats made concerning the Republican declaration on injunctions. They assert that it means nothing, says nothing and leads nowhere.

The sentiment of the convention, so far as it can be forecasted, is somewhat divided concerning the financial plank of the platform. The majority seem to favor a declaration that all money should be issued directly by the government without an intermediary. Others incline to the view that the money should be issued through national banks.

An amendment to the Sherman act will be favored, adjusting that statute in such a manner that it can be made to apply only to such combinations as are clearly acting in restraint of trade, or tending towards monopoly. Overcapitalization of corporations will be condemned.

A strong and specific declaration will also be made in favor of the restriction of Asiatic immigration.

The delegates to the convention have arrived in considerable numbers, the representation from the eastern states being proportionately stronger than from other parts of the country. It is confidently asserted that when Mr. Hearst, as temporary chairman, begins his address tonight, fully 900 delegates will be in the hall.

It is asserted on all sides that the contest for the nominations will be free and open. Of the candidates now in the field Thomas L. Hisgen of Massachusetts has a strong following and he is apparently in the lead. W. M. Howard of Alabama has many friends who are making a strong fight in his interest. Other candidates are John T. Graves of Georgia and Howard S. Taylor of Chicago.

William R. Hearst arrived yesterday and, after spending several hours with friends, returned to the Auditorium Annex to begin work on his speech. Hearst reiterated the statement he had made in New York that he was not a candidate for the presidential nomination and that he would adhere positively to his declaration that he must not be considered in that light.

On the question of the presidential nomination Hearst declared that he had no particular favorite, but that he would support any strong man who might be named by the party.

At a conference held last evening it was decided that Charles A. Walsh should be made the permanent chairman of the convention and Walsh immediately secluded himself for the purpose of writing his speech.

Thomas L. Hisgen has arrived here. He made the assertion that there was no possibility of fusion with the Democratic party, adding:

"There are many of us who like Mr. Bryan personally, but we cannot agree with some of the things he advocates, nor do we fancy some of the men upon whom he seems to lean most strongly. Personally, I lost my interest, in the Democratic party when it failed to nominate Mr. Hearst four years ago in St. Louis. I am full of confidence in the future of the Independence party, and know that it will be more virile and more aggressive than either the Democratic or the Republican organization."

The national committee met this morning at 10 o'clock to make the final preparations for the convention.

Busy Day For Taft

Cincinnati, July 27.—William H. Taft is working at the trade of politics today. He attended the meeting of the state central committee, met informally the members of the notification committee, lent his aid to the local arrangements committee and placed himself generally at the disposal of national and state leaders. Tomorrow he will deliver his speech of acceptance.

Hitchcock Calls on Bryan

Chicago, July 27.—William J. Bryan spent the greater part of Sunday in his rooms in the Auditorium Annex, where throughout the day he received a number of visitors, chief among whom was Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national committee, who called to pay his respects to the Democratic leader. The two men spent some time in a conversation which was apparently enjoyed by them both. Politics was not mentioned during the talk. Bryan met informally the members of the sub-committee of the Democratic national committee. Plans for the coming campaign were discussed, but no definite action resulted, the conference being entirely of a general character.

Want Taft Banner Removed

Lincoln, Neb., July 27.—Lincoln Democrats will make an effort to have the Taft banner, which is hung over the main street, taken down on the day that Bryan is formally advised of his nomination. The banner, which proclaims that Taft will carry Nebraska, has been an eyesore to local Democrats since it was hung. A week after it was placed the banner was burned and partly destroyed. It has since been rehung.

Campbell Wins In Texas

Dallas, July 27.—Returns from the Democratic primary election account for less than half of the vote polled. Governor Campbell's majority over Williams apparently will be in the neighborhood of 75,000. State-wide prohibition has a very narrow lead, with the result not yet apparent.

DEAF MUTE MURDERED

Opinion That Crime Was Committed by Escaped Lunatic

East Wallingford, Vt., July 27.—Evidence that an escaped prisoner of the Waterbury insane asylum assaulted and killed Miss Delia B. Congdon, a deaf and dumb woman, aged 40 years, living alone in this town, was discovered by state and asylum authorities who have been investigating the murder. The officials today begun a search of the hills in this vicinity for Elroy Kent, aged 33, who escaped July 11 from the asylum, to which he was committed four years ago for attempting to cut the throat of his uncle.

The murder of Miss Congdon was one of unusual brutality. She had lived alone for several years. While doing her kitchen work, unable to hear approaching footsteps or to cry out for help when seized from behind, the woman was knocked down. An autopsy showed that the woman had been assaulted, strangled and knocked several times on the head with an old-fashioned wood cutting instrument. Strangulation caused death.

Kent had been seen in East Wallingford, but disappeared before he could be captured. Yesterday traces of his supposed hiding places in various abandoned buildings about town were found. Finally he was apparently traced to Miss Congdon's barn. Kent's initials were found carved on the side of the house.

TWO BANDITS STILL AT LIBERTY

Boston Police Hunting For Men Who Shot Up Part of City

Boston, July 27.—There are no new developments in the search for the two bandits concerned in the shooting up of Jamaica Plain Tuesday and Wednesday nights, when two men were killed and a dozen injured, and whom the police now acknowledge are at large, the third bandit having been shot in the roundup Thursday morning in Forest Hills cemetery.

The police are bending all their efforts to locate two men who were close friends of Edmund Gutman, the dead bandit, and who came from the same Lettish town in Russia. They have photographs and full descriptions of the men. As the two men in question came here from the Lettish colony in Philadelphia, the police of that city have been notified to keep a watch for the men.

Quiet Sunday For Prince of Wales

Quebec, July 27.—The Prince of Wales had a comparatively quiet Sunday after the round of ceremonies of the past few days. He attended church at the English cathedral. A royal pew at the church had been elaborately decorated, but the prince preferred to occupy a less ornate position. Vice President Fairbanks was invited to be present at the cathedral, but selected the church of his own denomination, the Methodist.

Decrease In Canadian Immigration

Ottawa, July 27.—For the first six months of the present calendar year the total immigration to Canada has been 96,119, as compared with 169,419 for the first half of 1907, a decrease of 73,300, or 43 percent. This decrease was entirely in immigration from European and Asiatic countries. The immigration from the United States, made up largely of settlers going into the Canadian west, practically held its own.

King Was "Bad'y Informed"

Paris, July 27.—The Petit Journal's Lisbon correspondent says that King Edward has written to King Manuel, expressing regret that he was badly informed as to the real condition of Portugal during Premier Franco's regime, otherwise, he would have given advice which might have prevented the tragedy of Feb. 1. Certain diplomatic changes, says the correspondent, are likely to follow the letter.

CASTRO'S ANTAGONISTIC ACTS

Ire of the People of Island of Curacao Is Aroused

VIOLENT DEMONSTRATIONS

Armed Troops Called Out to Protect Venezuelan Consul--Man Charged With Insulting Dutch People Forced to Sign Paper Excusing His Action and to Make Public Apology From Balcony of His Home

Willemstad, July 27.—The relations between Venezuela and the people of the Island of Curacao, Dutch West Indies, are strained to the breaking point.

Following a long series of what the residents of Curacao regard as antagonistic actions on the part of President Castro, directed against themselves and the Dutch government, mobs gathered in force in this capital Saturday night and yesterday and expressed their resentment in an attack upon the home of a Venezuelan who had published statements in Venezuelan papers derogatory to the island and later held violent demonstrations in front of the residence of the Venezuelan consul, surrounded the German consulate, where he had taken refuge, and compelled the ordering out of armed troops so that the consul might be protected from injury.

In the demonstrations before the residence of the Venezuelan consul, Senor Lopez, although no actual attack was made, two shots were fired from the consul's house, no one, however, being injured.

Prior to this a mob numbering about 1000 gathered in front of the dwelling of a Venezuelan resident who, it is alleged, had insulted Curacao in the Venezuelan papers, broke down the doors with stones and, seizing the man, compelled him to sign a paper which set forth an elaborate excuse for the publication of the statements with which he was charged.

The leaders of the populace also forced him to make a public apology from the balcony of his home, while the crowd below hooted and groaned in accompaniment. Furthermore, members of the man's family were compelled to play the Dutch national hymn, while the people below shouted "Down with Castro; long may Wilhelmina live."

The police were entirely unable to cope with the demonstrators, and their efforts in this direction were somewhat feeble. The shouting and cheering continued for a time and then a procession was formed and a march made upon the consul's house.

Yesterday it was noted that there was no shield on the building occupied by the Venezuelan consulate. It is not known whether it was removed by the Venezuelans or torn down by Curacao natives. There was a gathering again of the mob and when it was learned that the Venezuelan consul had proceeded to the German consulate, this building was surrounded by the ever-increasing mob. A small military force attempted to check the demonstration, but for a time that was found impossible.

It became necessary eventually to call out additional troops, and these at once proceeded to patrol the streets and stop the rioting. Lopez was escorted to the Venezuelan consulate by an armed force and he gathered up the official documents of his office and was escorted back to his home. The troops that accompanied him were compelled to force their way through the crowds that had gathered, and were jeered on every hand.

Perhaps a Black Hand Victim

New York, July 27.—The body of a man, with a piece of blue flagstone tied about the neck, was taken from the East river, and the police believe that the discovery means that they have a murder mystery confronting them. They say that the wounds upon the body, knots tied in the rope that held the stone in position, and bricks found in each pocket of the coat upon the body make the case very different from that of an ordinary "floater" taken from the river. The dead man's face is mutilated beyond all possible chance of identification. The police believe that the dead man may have been a victim of "Black Hand" assassins.

Girls May Have Eloped

Worcester, Mass., July 27.—Gertrude Brown, 14, and her friend and chum, Miss Josephine Dorey, 17, who disappeared strangely two weeks ago, are still missing. While the mother of the Brown girl thinks that her daughter went to Boston and is there held in restraint or has met with foul play, Mrs. Dorey, from letters and a photograph found by her among her daughter's effects, is certain that both have gone away with a couple of young men in an attempt to get married.

For Murder of Diplomat

San Francisco, July 27.—In the superior court in this city today, before Judge Cook, In Whan Chang, a Korean, who on March 23 fatally shot Durham W. Stevens, advisor to the Korean emperor at Seoul, was placed on trial. Stevens was shot as he was about to board a ferryboat in this city en route to Washington. Chang, the assassin, was captured on the spot.

Olympic Games Disastrous to Anglo-American Athletics

BITTER FEELING ENGENDERED

Stars and Stripes the Last National Flag to Float at Stadium Masthead, Americans Being Victorious to the Finish--Britons Far Behind In Point Score, Being Credited With 66 1-3, While Americans Roll Up 114 1-2 - Awarding of Prizes

London, July 27.—The Olympic games were brought to a conclusion, so far as the sports held in the stadium were concerned, when Queen Alexandra presented the gold medals and trophies to the successful competitors and the Dowager Duchess of Westminster, the Duchess of Westminster, the Duchess of Rutland and Lady Desborough handed the silver and bronze medals, the diplomas and the commemorative medals to those entitled to them.

A big crowd attended the function and cheered the athletes as they came up to receive their prizes. The Italian, Dorando, was honored with the greatest ovation, the sympathies of the spectators going out to the man who had missed the prize of the Marathon race when it was just within his grasp.

Before the ceremony of the prize giving America captured two events, the 110 metres hurdles and the 1800 metres relay, the latter being the last event on the program. The Stars and Stripes was the last national flag to float at the masthead.

In all of the events concluded since the Olympic games began early in the year, including such games as water polo and other sports in which England alone competed, the present standing of the countries, counting wins only, is as follows:

United Kingdom, 38; America, 22; Sweden, 7; France, 4; Hungary, 3; Norway, Canada, Germany, Italy, 2 each; Belgium, South Africa, Finland, 1 each.

In the field and track events, in which the points are counted five for first, three for second and one for third, the standing is:

America, 114½; United Kingdom, 66 1-3; Sweden, 12½; Canada, 11; South Africa, Greece, 8 each; Norway, 5; Germany, 4; Italy, 3; Hungary, 2 1-3; France, 2 1-3; Australia and Finland, 1 each.

America's score in the field and track events is made up of fifteen firsts, ten seconds and eight thirds, in addition to a tie for second and third in the standing high jump and a tie for third in the pole vault. The United Kingdom got eight firsts, six seconds and three thirds. Sweden won two firsts, two seconds and a tie for third. South Africa, one first and one second; Canada, one first, one second and three thirds; Germany, one second and one third; Italy, Australia and Hungary, one third each.

While theoretically the Olympian games are supposed to foster international friendships, the result of the meeting just finished has been to create international dissensions and kindle animosities. The relations between the English and American athletic officials has become so strained that it will be exceedingly difficult for representatives of the two nations to arrange any competitions in the future or carry them out without unpleasant incidents.

Despite the conservatism of the press the English public is imbued with a fierce prejudice against American athletics which it probably will cherish for years to come.

France Also Has Grievance

Paris, July 27.—French sportsmen as well as the French press are almost unanimous in declaring that the legend of British fair play has been knocked in the head once for all by the action of the judges and public in the 400 metres flat race in which Carpenter was disqualified at the Olympic games. La Vie Illustree says that the English organizers, from the very beginning, have been animated with anything but a true sportsmanlike spirit. The events were so arranged as to bear very heavily on the foreigners and very lightly on the home champions.

End of Honduran Revolution

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, July 27.—The government troops have occupied Choluteca, which some time ago was captured by the revolutionists, and it is believed that this practically ends the revolution. Many prisoners have been taken by the government forces. Reports from all over the republic indicate that the country is now tranquil.

A Two-Hour Duel

Paris, July 27.—A record in duels has been made by Pierre Motier, a journalist, and M. de Monzie, formerly of the department of justice. The combatants fought with swords for two hours without seriously hurting each other, then arranged to continue next day, but in the meantime the seconds had arranged a reconciliation.

Cheers For the Sultan

Constantinople, July 27.—Sunday was given up to patriotic demonstrations and speeches in the general rejoicing over the promulgation of a constitution by the sultan. Ten thousand people marched in procession to the Yildiz Kiosk, cheering the sultan continuously.

PERISHED UNDER AUTO

Two Men Caught Beneath Machine When It Turned Turtle

Burlington, Vt., July 27.—A special to The Free Press from Plattsburg, N. Y., says an automobile accident occurred about six miles west of Port Henry, resulting in the instant death of James E. Dodge of Malden, Mass., and Lockwood Reed of Port Henry. B. E. Titus, who was in the car at the time of the accident, escaped uninjured.

Dodge, the owner of the car, lost control of the machine and it dashed into Muddy brook and turned turtle, pinning Dodge and Reed underneath. Instantly there was a heavy explosion and the car took fire, burning the victims beyond recognition.

There is a high embankment near the scene of the accident and the heavy machine plunged over this, landing with a crash and roar of exploding gasolene that was heard for two miles. Titus landed in the soft mud near the edge of the creek and escaped injury except for a severe shaking up.

Boston, July 27.—James E. Dodge was formerly president of the Dodge-Spear company, dry goods, a firm which he established in Boston in 1906 and which failed some six months ago, and made his home in Malden. He had been spending the summer at Utica, N. Y., his Malden home being closed at the present time. He was 32 years old.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT YOUNG SON

Lowell Man Thereupon Puts Bullet Into Own Brain

Lowell, Mass., July 27.—Filled with remorse over the probable fatal shooting of his 3-year-old son, Walter, Elisha P. Drake, aged 30, of North Chelmsford, killed himself by firing a bullet through his brain. The shooting of the boy is believed to have been an accident.

Drake, it is said, had been acting peculiarly for the past week, and yesterday his wife noticed that he was very restless. In the afternoon he took out his revolver and said he was going to shoot the family cat, which had been acting somewhat viciously towards the children. Going down cellar, he fired off a few shots to test his weapon, and then, returning to the kitchen, fired off the revolver again. His wife remonstrated at this indiscriminate shooting, but Drake fired another shot through the kitchen window. This shot hit Walter, who was playing outside.

With the boy's scream of pain, Drake, horrified at the deed, turned the weapon on himself and fell to the floor dead with a bullet through his brain.

SMASHED CAR WINDOWS

Crane on Wrecking Train Raked a Passenger Train

Lowell, Mass., July 27.—An accommodation train from White River Junction, Vt., to Boston had a narrow escape from a serious accident near the Silver Lake station when an overhanging crane on a wrecking car on a siding raked the passenger train, breaking the fireman's arm and causing minor injuries to several passengers by flying glass.

Several windows on the accommodation train were broken by the crane before the force of the collision swung the wrecking machinery to one side.

The wrecking train had been clearing the tracks of the wreckage of a derailed freight train and was backed onto a siding to allow the passenger train to pass. The crane on the wrecking car, however, protruded on the main track by a scant inch, and when the passenger train hit it at a fair rate of speed there was great excitement as the windows on the first few coaches were splintered, causing minor cuts to the inmates.

German Car Finishes First

Paris, July 27.—The German automobile in the New York-to-Paris race arrived here last evening and was greeted with loud cheers by the Sunday promenaders as it swept up the crowded boulevards to the finishing post, escorted by a large number of automobiles. As the German car had completed the circuit of the world at Berlin, its arrival here was not attended by any official ceremonies.

Deputy Sheriff Fatally Assaulted

Rutland, Vt., July 27.—As a result of wounds received in trying to serve legal papers on Tony Vallento, an Italian lumberman in a Mt. Holly camp, Deputy Sheriff Frank A. Hayden of Ludlow died here last night. Hayden attempted to serve papers foreclosing a chattel mortgage on Vallento. The Italian, it is said, struck Hayden with an axe. Vallento was locked up.

Naval Conference Resumed

Newport, R. I., July 27.—The discussion on battleship plans, in which President Roosevelt and many distinguished naval officers took part at the naval war college on last Wednesday, was resumed by the officers this morning. It is understood that the final report on the results of the conference will not be made before the end of the week.

Closing of Pittsfield Mills

Pittsfield, Mass., July 27.—Commencing today, the Mechanics mills, employing 250 hands, will be closed for two weeks. The mills manufacture woolens and worsteds. Lack of business is given as the reason for the shutdown.

THE AEROPLANE HAS A FUTURE

It Will Yet Become the Safest Means of Conveyance

New York, July 27.—The future of the aeroplane as a safe means of conveyance is practically assured is the confident declaration made by Henry Farman, the aeroplane inventor and navigator, who has arrived here from Europe for a series of flights in his now famous flying machine.

After two weeks in this city it is expected that Farman will make flights in Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburg and St. Louis. He contemplates challenging the Wright brothers for a flight to determine which of their aeroplanes can remain longer in the air.

Mr. Farman spoke freely of his plans and work, and when asked what he contemplated attempting next, said: "To do new things. We are all the time moving like birds. You cannot explain the minute details, for they are of such an infinite variety. We are always changing more or less. Every day brings something new and I shall try something new right along."

"Has the aeroplane a future so far as practicability is concerned?"

"Yes," replied Farman, "it will have a future to a very great extent. I think the aeroplane will be safer than the auto or other methods of conveyance. It will be so easy and so quick. My greatest pause in flight has been ten seconds, staying on an ascending wind. The birds in their flight have a special instinct which we will never have, but we can improve our methods by using some of the methods of the bird."

Sentence of Embezzler Walker

Hartford, July 27.—William F. Walker, the absconding treasurer of the Savings Bank of New Britain, stood in the prisoner's cage in the superior courtroom and pleaded guilty to four counts in a long indictment charging him with embezzlement of securities of the bank. Judge Shumway pronounced the sentence which in its extreme penalty means twenty years in the state prison at Wethersfield. An official interpretation of the sentence is that it is from one to twenty years. Walker is understood to have made a complete confession.

Selling Indian Lands

Muskogee, Okla., July 27.—At midnight the law removing the government restrictions on 9,000,000 acres of Indian lands in eastern Oklahoma went into effect. Every real estate office in that part of the new state is crowded with anxious buyers and sellers of land, and money is changing hands by the hundreds of thousands of dollars. The removal of the restrictions means that 9,000,000 of the 20,000,000 acres of Indian land in forty counties of eastern Oklahoma, which part was formerly Indian territory, becomes salable.

NEWS IN BRIEF

William Broadbeck, aged 89, committed suicide by hanging in his attic room at Boston. Despondency is believed to have been the cause of the aged man's act.

Fire destroyed the paint shop and storage house of the W. F. Whitney Chair company at South Ashburnham, Mass., causing a loss estimated at $20,000.

The publicity department of the Christian Science church gave out the information that hereafter Mrs. Eddy, head of the church, will not continue her custom of taking daily drives.

President Roosevelt has accepted the honorary presidency of the Peace and Arbitration League, which is the outgrowth of the North Carolina peace congress, which has as its objective adequate armament and effective arbitration.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hearn are at Portland, Me., on a brief trip.

Mrs. A. J. Garey of Hancock street has gone to New Hampshire on a visit.

Miss Susie Atwood of Rawson road has gone to Tuftonboro, N. H., for two weeks.

Mr. J. Monnihan and Mr. Fred Reynolds started for a trip to Maine Saturday night.

Miss Maude Bartlett of Rawson road is spending her vacation in Tuftonboro, N. H.

John Haley and son James, clerk at the Boston Post Office, are in New York for two weeks.

Mrs. Fred P. Loud of Beach street is spending a few weeks with her brother, Warren Tribou, at Hampden, Maine.

The recent rains coupled with the care of janitor Hart has worked wonders with the lawn at the High school grounds, which now looks handsome.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fay of Greenleaf street have returned from an extended trip through Indianapolis. They spent a greater part of the time on the water and Mr. Fay's health has been greatly improved.

Winslow B. Grant of Louisville Kentucky, arrived last week to accompany his brother, Walter B. Grant and family of Rawson road, to Tuftonboro, N. H., where they will spend a few weeks in their old homestead.

The Goulds.

Mme. Gould being once more safely married, we may hope that she and her prince will now be allowed to disappear from the public gaze—at least until the next divorce. She has not been a creditable representative of American womanhood abroad. Whatever sympathy may have been originally felt for her in her troubles with Count Boni Castellane was quite dissipated by her later proceedings with this impossible Prince Helie de Sagan.—Exchange.

Every move that this second daughter of Jay Gould has made only makes the character of her universally beloved sister, Helen Gould, shine the more grandly by comparison. The wife of Helie de Sagan will receive but little sympathy from her countrywomen in whatever trouble may beset her in days to come. After her previous experience with Boni Castellane she will have litle ground for complaint.—Haverhill Gazette.

—Word comes from St. Louis that within the next thirty days practically all the large factories and foundries in Southern Illinois, employing about 150,000 men, will be reopened. That is the kind of news the country is waiting for.

They have things arranged so that you can hear Bryan for a cent, very cheap.

FOSTER LEADS

Some Changes Among Leaders In Motor Boat Voting Contest

Capt. Foster was the only one of the leaders to make substantial gains today in the voting contest for the motor boat. Another however, brought in votes but they arrived too late to be credited in today's published list.

As the time for the closing of the contest draws near, interest is fast reaching a fever heat and it looks now like a garrison finish. The winner is still a matter of doubt.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

C.C. Foster, Q.Y.C., Board of Trade	4117
"Bill" Field, W.Y.C., & S.Y.C.	3969
Frank Pray, Q. Y. C.	3814
W. P. Middleton, Quincy Point	2964
Florence Matthews, Houghs Neck	815
E. F. Drew, S. Y. C. & W. Y. C.	739
Dr. J. H. Ash, West Quincy, Elks,	279
John Lofholm, Gay street	270
J. E. Johnson, Q. Y. C.	225
W. G. Geekie, A. A. A.,	222
Capt. E. W. Haskell, Houghs Neck	200
Charles Howard, Makaria,	141
Chas. W. Fosdick, Houghs Neck	118

[All below 100 omitted today.]

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

Fires are Expensive.

The Plymouth Memorial says: "Last Saturday afternoon and evening the town house was a busy place, for the men and boys who had been engaged in the fight with the forest fires were on hand to get their money, It was a very sizeable gathering that congregated there, and Treasurer Edward L. Burgess had a lot of business on his hands. In all over $1,700 was paid out on this account, and the town of Carver had to put out over $1,000 for the same purpose, which shows that the fires are expensive aside from the loss of wood and lumber, while there are a lot more expenses in the way of horse hire and supplies for the chemical fire extinguishers that ought to be counted in when computing the cost of such a week of fires as was experienced."

—Within a short time a Marconi wireless station will be established on the roof of the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia, so that guests may communicate with their friends at sea. If the plant works successfully, a similiar one may be put into operation on the roof of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

NEW SHOE FACTORY.

The Weymouth Board of Trade are planning a $40,000 shoe factory for the Keith Co., of Brockton.

The town hall at East Weymouth was filled with citizens last Friday evening, reports the Brockton Enterprise, who had assembled in answer to a call issued by the board of trade to consider the proposition of the George E. Keith Co., of Brockton to establish a factory there for the manufacture of women's shoes. As a result of the meeting $10,000 in stock has been subscribed for and there seems to be no question but that the necessary amount will be subscribed and the success of the project is assured.

The call was read by President William F. Denbroeder of the board of trade. Hon. George L. Barnes was chairman of the meeting and W. M. Pratt secretary. In taking the chair Mr. Barnes said he was ready to do anything in his power to help along the project. He said it would give employment to many people now working in other towns and some of whom at the present time are paying out more than $25, the price of the shares, in car fares each year in going to and from their work.

He then read the proposition of the Keith company, which was that the board of trade should build a factory which, with the land, would cost $40,000. The company agrees to take a ten-year lease and to pay a rental of 8 per cent on the gross cost of the building. The company also agrees to take $10,000 of the stock and will furnish the money if the land and buildings cost over $40,000 at 6 per cent. and take a second mortgage, a sinking fund to be established for the payment thereof.

The local savings bank agrees to take a first mortgage of $15,000, so that all that is necessary for the citizens to raise is $15,000.

Henry B. Reed, who conducts a large shoe factory at Manchester, N. H., and is a resident of South Weymouth, said he had served on the old industrial committee for two years and when they made their last report to the town there was one less factory in town than when the committee was appointed. He said the present proposition was one that the town had been looking and praying for for years. He thought this was the time to do something. He had subscribed for shares and would double the amount if necessary.

Col. W. W. Castle said it seemed to him to be a clean business proposition, and that every shoemaker in town should have a share. While it did not effect him directly he was of the opinion that anything of this nature which was to the advantage directly of any person was certainly indirectly of advantage of every citizen.

Selectman Willard J. Dunbar was greatly interested and would like to see every workingman take a share. Henry E. Hanley spoke in high praise of the George E. Keith Co., and said he had no doubt but that if the firm came here, in two years there would be in this town the largest factory for the manufacture of women's shoes in the State.

The location is an ideal one. The land on which the board of trade has an option consists of 21 arces on East street, bordering on the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R., and is owned by the John P. Lovell estate. The factory will be 200 feet long, 40 feet wide, four stories high, with an ell 50 by 40 feet.

At the start they will turn out 60 cases a day but this will be increased and it is expected that in a year's time 1500 people will be employed.

TODAY'S COURT.

John W. Moran and Thomas F. Smith were sent to the State farm for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Frank B. Comins was fined $15 for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Milton.

George King was arraigned for assault on Robert Walsh at Quincy. Case continued until Tuesday.

Madoat Fasan, David Solomon, Ferris Solomon, Charles Haddad, Nasarat Iasan, Hadad Joseph and Ferris Abraham were arraigned for assault at Quincy. Cases continued until Friday.

H. Salim, H. Joseph, Allah Hasson, Madhad Isan and Nasart Isan were arraigned for larceny from the Fore River Ship Building Co. Case continued until Thursday.

The default against Joseph McLaughlin for assault on Anguila Blondin was resumed and he was fined $15. McLaughlin was also fined $5 for assault on Margaret Garrity at Quincy.

Martin F. Mignonetti, William Rooney, James G. Peters, Charles Rearden, John Shea, William Mulhern, Frank Waldron, and Joseph Nooman were arraigned for robbery and assault on Alfred Dahlquist at Quincy. Waldron and Mignonetti were held in $1000 each; Rooney, Peter and Reardon in $1500 each and Shea, Mulhern and Noonan in $2000 each for the grand jury.

—A hostler has just been admitted into the hospital at Cleveland, Ohio, suffering from severe injuries, the result of a horse's kicks. The horse belongs to a circus, and the man states that he was trying to teach the animal to "spell phonetically," when it attacked him.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Houghs Neck By the Seaside

Sunday was an ideal day at this popular summer resort. Hundreds of people visited here Sunday. The bay was crowded with boats of every discription. The police closed up two of the grocery stores; they not having any victualer's licenses. No arrests were made during the day.

Mrs. Ottis Hart of the Midland is spending a week with her aunt at Winthrop.

The Galvins of Bell street entertained a few friends Sunday.

Nat. Max of Charles street has purchased the knockabout—"We Two."

The Mt. Pleasant Outing Club of Roxbury, held a concert on the broad verandas of their cottage, the Agnes-Belle on Atlantic avenue, Sunday. A fine entertainment was given which was greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

Miss Corinne LaBrecque of the Great hill house entertained a party of Dorchester friends Sunday evening.

Preparations are being made for the annual bingville barn dance to be held at Brown's dance hall, August 21. James Purcell has the affair in charge and promises a good time.

The managers of Frank Pray's fight for the motor boat wish to ask those having votes for Mr. Pray to either give them to him, or to H. S. Brown, Archie Baird, John Ross, or to William J. Hudson.

Mr. Clarence Bowen of Watertown entertained a party of friends on his yacht Nakomis. A splendid fish dinner was served on board after which Mr. Bowen gave his friends a sail around the bay.

—New York police are after the careless picnickers who leave papers and boxes on the grass, and on a recent Monday over $1,000 was collected in fines from the visitors to a single park, who were so careless of appearances. There is no reason why any city or town should be disfigured in his manner, and a few wholesome examples should make others more careful. It is not asking too much for visitors to any park or resort to deposit rubbish in receptacles generally furnished, and it would be appreciated by those more sensitive to the neatness of things.

The State is getting along very well in spite of the adjournment of the legislature, and the nation feels better with the congressmen scattered from Washington than if the solons were still running the law mill.

—The beautiful weather yesterday made an ideal day's outing on the Boston Floating Hospital, which, carrying 98 permanent patient, 66 day patients and 68 mothers, had a fine trip down the harbor and anchored off Hull.

CHILD'S IDEAL DAY.

Little One Must Rise as Soon as He Wakes.

"From his earliest years," says Edwin Collins, latter day exponent of Rousseau's theory that a child must not be taught systematically until twelve years old, "the little one must rise as soon as he awakes, though on no account must he be awakened prematurely. After a bath he must go straight out into the garden, and there, if possible, eat a substantial meal of as much wholesome food as appetite suggests. The child may then ask questions, and these should be answered. Then, as in the philosophy of the great Socrates, other subjects will suggest themselves. These must be pursued so long as there is no slackening of interest. Let me suggest a concrete example: The morning prayers may suggest Bible history. This, in turn, will open out topics of general history; then the untrained mind may wander off into geography and even hygiene. The child must play, too, as his fancy dictates. Dumbbells and systematized athletic exercises I do not recommend, except in the case of stooping or deformed children, and under the advice of a health specialist. The next variation in the child's day is to listen to the reading of poetry, if he chooses. Arithmetic and the multiplication tables he learns during his play with matches and marbles. If the child wants to eat, let him have plenty of wholesome food, and at noon or shortly afterward a full meat dinner. I am no faddist, but I disagree with giving a child tea, coffee or stimulants. At the age of ten or eleven years, however, this rule may be relaxed. A short rest, out of doors, follows the midday meal, and then, again provided the child is not unwilling, a long walk is advantageous. For tea, bread with plenty of butter is the thing. Early to bed is a motto that wants beating. Here, if anywhere, I depart from my rule of the child's consent. He must have a long rest. Nature demands it."

A GERM HATER'S FIND.

Vanity Shelf For the Up to Date Kitchen Sink.

Who but a germ hater would have thought of a vanity shelf for the kitchen sink? A certain clever housewife has one on which she keeps all the articles required to make the sink absolutely sanitary. She has a row of jars, boxes and brushes, all of which have a definite and important use in the sanitary scheme.

There is a jar of good scouring fluid, an ammonia bottle, a wide mouthed china jar in which she keeps a soft flannel cloth to use after the dishes are washed to polish the water taps A little rubbing daily keeps them in fair condition, so that a really hard polishing is needed only once a week or so. The ammonia will remove stains on the brass, while chloride of lime mixture kills germs, keeps the enamel clean and the pipes pure.

All these little beautifiers are for the sink alone. On the other side of the vanity shelf this careful housekeeper has jars and bottles of lotions to use on her hands. On this part of the vanity shelf is a bottle of fresh toilet water to take away the smell of vegetables she has been preparing and cooking; an antiseptic powder answers the same purpose, and its drug shop odor is more pleasing sometimes than perfume. A bottle of turpentine has its place on the shelf in case of burns; scouring soap for the hands and a pot of liquid vaseline to rub on the nails and keep them from bending and breaking are important articles for the shelf.

Easily Grown Vines.

For beautifying the veranda or covering the wall of a brick or stone house with a living coat of green which will be a joy to every lover of nature there is a large variety of vines which grow with little care and are a perpetual delight.

The Boston ivy and Virginia creeper, two vines known throughout America, cling to walls without support, and so are especially useful for covering walls. The former is not as hardy as the latter, but in the middle and southern latitudes it succeeds well and forms a beautiful mass against a wall. The Virginia creeper is perfectly hardy. It will hide ugly stone fences, outbuildings and dead trees, transforming them into things of beauty.

The rapid growing Virgin's Bower vine is excellent for the veranda, giving a dense shade. It presents a snowy bank of star shaped flowers of delightful fragrance which last for several weeks. A companion variety of clematis, coccinea, has rose colored flowers which resemble half closed rosebuds at a distance. Clematic paniculate, the Japan clematis, is one of the best vines, growing rapidly and presenting a snowy mass of blossoms when in flower.

The wistaria is a good vine for a trellis, but is somewhat coarse for most verandas, being better suited for the rustic house or pergola, where its delightful purple flowers hang in graceful profusion. The Crimson Rambler rose is one of the hardiest and most satisfactory of climbers, admirably suited for the veranda.

Friendship.

If we demand from friendship what it never should mean—no other friendship, no other interests, no greater friendship than that given to us—it is a base demand, the demand of selfish jealousy. It wearies and irritates those of whom the demand is made; it turns friendship into gall, makes it vanish into empty space. Friendship, fettered in chains, breaks them and flies away. —Stafford Brooke.

Never Satisfied.

Employes for City, State and Nation, many of whom draw considerably more pay than the same degree of skill and hours of labor will command in any private business, seem never satisfied without they are continually agitating for less to do and more pay for doing it. At the Boston Postoffice for instance, employees have many of them recently had increases in salaries. Now they are endeavoring to secure a vacation of 30 days each without loss of pay. This is 15 days more than they now get at the public expense. It is estimated that to grant the force this extra 15 days will cost the government $1,000,000. And this pay for service not rendered comes out of an already overburdened people. Postal employees may not be surprised if they find some scheme worked one of these days to bounce them and put in a new set. Civil service will not always save them.—Waltham Free Press.

—Eight billion dollars is the value placed on the harvest of the American farmer for this season by chief statistician Clark of the Agricultural department. Corn does not travel far from the place where it is raised, which is lucky, as there are not railroads enough to carry it. A crop of 2,700,000,000 bushels should load 2,520,000 thirty ton cars. This is 540,000 more freight cars than there are in the country of any sort. The freight cars of all the world would not carry our wheat and corn. If there were cars enough and if the wheat and corn were loaded into thirty-ton cars, forty to a train, and trains were run at two-mile intervals at a speed including stops of thirty miles an hour night and day, it would take nearly six months for the procession to pass a reviewing stand.

—The post offices of the Boston district handle nearly $1,000,000 in money orders in a week, a total of $46,343,125.24 for the year ending June 30.

—The town of Orange is getting considerable newspaper notoriety just now from the fact that it has decided to sell its poor farm at auction. Only two persons require support from the town, and the expense of boarding them outside is much less than the cost of maintaining the farm. The situation is taken to indicate an exceedingly prosperous condition of the town. Probably no intoxicating liquors are allowed to be sold there. They usually make destitute families.

—The banks are full of money. Money is plenty. Forty-five millions of dollars in gold have been sent back to Europe and the contraction has not been felt.—Athol Chronicle.

The greatest fraud of all is a pretty girl having her picture taken while she pretends to be reading a book.—Atlanta Journal.

WELCH GUILTY

Of Assault On Representative Coombs of Quincy At State House

The case of William J. Welch, the man who made an unprovoked assault on Representative Rednor P. Coombs of Quincy, at the State House, was heard before Judge Burke in the Boston Municipal court on Monday. He was found guilty, but sentence was not pronounced, the case being continued until today to give his friends an opportunity to be heard.

The assault was entirely unprovoked. Representative Coombs was showing his wife and sister-in-law about the State House. While in the library Welch aproached and without a word of warning struck Mr. Coombs in the face. Mr. Coombs made a grab at the man and defended himself but he got away.

Later Welch was arrested for the assault. At the hearing Welch testified that Coombs had insulted him, but the latter said he did not know the man and had never seen him until the assault upon him.

Welch is a stenographer and member of the bar, and Judge Burke in finding him guilty, said, it seemed to him that Welch needed guidance.

His friends claim that he is suffering from the effects of overstudy.

Thought Someone After Him With Gun

Word was telephoned to the police Monday evening that a colored wan was going about Greenleaf street acting in a strnage manner. The wagon with Officers Cahill, Bishop, Hathorn and Farrell was sent down. The officers had no difficulty in apprehending the man who ran toward them for protection, saying that someone was chasing him with a gun.

The man proved to be Charles Evans, whose home was in Boston, and he was suffering from an over indulgence in liquid refreshments. He was put in the padded cell for the night, and before morning had made mince meat of the interior. He will be brought into court when he gets thoroughly sobered off.

—An extraordinarily rapid movement of the Georgia crop is being made this year. Peaches are moving from Fort Valley, the centre of Georgia's producing district, to New York city, in forty-eight hours. Onlyly a few years ago it required a week. The peach crop from the Delaware peninsula last year amounted to only 186 cars. It is expected that this year it will require more than 3500 cars to handle the output. Peaches picked today in Delaware will be ready for consumption in Boston day after tomorrow.

—Walker, the New Britain absconder, who fled to Mexico to escape arrest, says that he has not been treated fairly by the Mexican courts, although it took nearly a year to extradite him. Wonder if he thinks he treated the depositors of his bank fairly when he stole $500,000 of their money?

—The town of Gardner, Me., holds the record for economy in the matter of a Fourth of July celebration. The city had a first-class celebration, and the treasurer of the hurrah reports a $600 surplus which, by agreement, goes to the board of trade. It shows what can be done on a pinch.

—As he was the only man with young children in the district of Lane County, Ore., John Larkin formed a school committee, of which he was elected chairman and his wife, clerk. Mrs. Larkin was installed as teacher by the chairman, and the five little Larkins now go to school to their own mother, who is remunerated by the State.—Portland Oregonian.

Successful Lawn Party

The lawn party in aid of the Boston college extension fund, postponed from Saturday, was held Monday afternoon and evening on the grounds about the estate of Henry Gallagher on North street.

The day proved an ideal one and there was a large crowd present especially during the evening when numerous electric lights made the grounds as light as day.

Numerous booths for the sale of refreshments were arranged about the grounds and there were several amusements including an African dodger, target shooting, knife ring and goat riding.

There was also a large platform where the speaking was held during the early evening. Later this was used for dancing.

The speaking was held at 5 o'clock. City Solicitor, John W. McAnarney, presided and the first speaker introduced was Mayor William T. Shea, who was styled the first Catholic Mayor of Quincy.

He spoke of the work that Boston college was doing and said we all look forward to the day when Boston college will be recognized as the leading educational institution of the land.

Rev. Thomas J. Gasson, S. J., presiden of Boston college said in order to crown our educational system we must have a university. Such a university as we desire and contemplate can not be built in a day. What the universities and cathedrals of Europe have done for education we want to do in Massachusetts, the great centre of this country.

We strive to give you better sons, fathers and husbands.

Other speakers were Mrs. Martha Moore Avery, Thomas Flannagan, and James F. Burke.

Over 5000 tickets had been sold for the party and there were about 1500 present during the afternoon and evening.

—It is claimed that the support given the project of having the women's shoe part of the George E. Keith Co., Brockton business made in East Weymouth has exceeded expectations and that a large amount of stock in the new factory has already been sold. Houghs Neck By the Seaside

One of the prettiest dancing parties of the season was held Monday night at Brown's summer ball-room. The affair was held by the managers of Frank Pray's campaign in the motor-boat contest. H. S. Brown furnished the music and hall and considerable money was taken in. The members of the Quincy Yacht club turned out in large numbers. Before the dance a meeting was held at the Yacht club for the purpose of getting "trial orders" for the Daily Ledger.

After boarding a Weymouth Landing car at Quincy on Saturday evening, Miss O'Brien of the Cluikmont club of Houghs Neck discovered that her pocket book had been lost. The entire club searched for the missing article in Quincy square, while two of the young ladies returned to Houghs Neck in a vain endeavor to find the purse. The entire holdings of the club was in the pocket book and as yet, all attempts to recover it have been fruitless. The club occupy the "Nophedi" cottage.

Bowling match is scheduled in the Houghs Neck bowling league tonight at Brown's alleys.

Miss Bella Murray of Shennen street entertained friends from Quincy on Monday.

Congressman O'Connell will lead the grand march at the Bingville Barn dance August 21 at Brown's dance hall.

Only a few days more in the Motor Boat contest. Better get busy.

Mr. L. A. Clee the new Boys' Work Director at the Y. M. C. A. arrived in Quincy on Monday. He will spend three weeks here now, getting acquainted, and will be in charge while Mr. Gay is on his vacation. On August 18, Mr. Clee will go to Silver Bay, Lake George, for three weeks, to attend the Y. M. C. A. summer school, and boys' conference. He will be back in Quincy Sept. 7, and settle down for the season's work. A good ly number of the older boys and young men called at the building Monday evening to welcome Mr. Clee informally.

New Life Saving Station.

A tract of land at Appledore Island, Isles of Shoals, Portsmouth Harbor, N. H., has been taken by the United States government for the site of a life-savings station. This will be welcome news to navigators who regard that part of the coast as exceptionally dangerous. The land taken for the station is located near the present "lookout," comprising a piece of ground commanding extensive views of the ocean. The Appledore Hotel Company is the grantor.

Should Enter Popularity Contest

That a summer resident of Squantum is popular was unmistakably proved a few days ago by an incident in the Squantum car. This certain man—modesty on his part forbids the mention of his name—while waiting for the early morning car with many bundles in his arms laid down these burdens to put on his coat. Just then the car came along which he boarded. After reaching the vicinity of Newbury avenue, the local resident discovered that he had forgotten to take up his bundles. He made his mistake known and by vote of the entire car the motorman and conductor changed places and the car went back to Squantum. It connected with the 8.20 train too, making good time on its return trip. This episode was eloquent of one man's popularity anyway and the genial feeling of good fellowship.

First Break in "Nine Sisters"

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Thomas of Billings street, who died on Sunday after a long illness, was held at her late residence Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Bergen of Dedham conducted the services. A quartette consisting of Miss May Belle Dadman, Mrs. Emma Schufeldt Moore, Miss Alice Gertrude Coe and Mrs. Dorothy McTaggert Miller rendered the following selections: "One Sweetly Solemn Thought", "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere", and "The Homeland."

Mrs. Thomas was one of the "Nine Sisters", a club that is composed of local residents and has been sacredly held nearly a score of years. This is the first break. Mrs. Thomas was much beloved in Atlantic and the many friends who gathered on Tuesday were indescribably grief-stricken. A husband and one daughter survive her.

Good Times Coming.

Our New York financial correspondent, Mr. Henry Clews, the banker and student of business affairs, reports as follows, which certainly gives indications that there will be good business the coming autumn and business men are governing themselves accordingly. He advises great caution and thorough business sagacity in the various departments. Here is what he says:

Events during the week were almost universally on the side of improvement. Our crops are making excellent progress; business shows better recuperative powers; confidence is rising; the security markets have been unusually strong, and in general the trend of the times is towards leaving the panic behind and forgetting its consequences for the present at least.

Next in importance to crop progress and the Standard Oil decision as a market factor was the great improvement in the bond market; the result of bettered financial conditions and a revival of investment demand. Our big railroad systems, it is well understood, are in urgent need of funds for carrying on the improvements previously inauguarted. The panic suddenly cut off their source of supply; throwing many hands out of employment and intensifying the industrial repression. Under present conditions the raising of new capital by stock issues would be impossible, and bond issues are the only resort. Fortunately a market can now be found for higher grades of the latter on reasonable terms thanks to easy money and a partial revival of confidence.

—The tax rate of Fitchburg this year will be $19.60; a reduction of 40 cents from last year. The valuation has increased nearly a million dollars.

Presentation to Officer Murray

The sunny smile that always illuminates the face of Officer James W. Murray, who guards City Square during the day time, is unusually bright today. If you should ask him the reason he would open his coat and show you a handsome gold chain to which was attached a gold charm of the Knights of Malta.

Just before going off duty Monday evening "Jim" was informed that his presence was desired at Wilson's hall. He wanted to go home and see the babies, but orders come first, and he went to the hall. Here he was met by a delegation of the local street railway employees union.

In reply to his inquiry as to what was wanted, President Walsh stepped forward and in a few words presented him with the chain and charm as a slight token of their appreciation of the many favors that he has accorded them at their annual social functions.

Cruiser Salem Now in Commission

The new scout cruiser Salem was formally delivered to the government at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday afternoon, Rear Admiral Swift being the government's representative, and Francis T. Bowles did the honors for the builders. After her delivery she was thoroughly inspected by the department heads. Rear Admiral John K. Barton, chief engineer of the navy, took the trip from Quincy to the navy yard on board the Salem, to familiarize himself with the new turbine engines.

Lieut. Lewis S. Cox, Jr., U. S. N., who has been on duty on the receiving ship Wabash for several months, was assigned yesterday to the Salem. Lieut. Cox is a native of Pennsylvania and was appointed to the service from New Jersey in September, 1897.

Passed Asst. Surg. J. H. Payne, who has been at the Boston navy yard since the first of the year, was also ordered to the Salem. He is a Massachusetts man and entered the service in June 1898.

Commander Albert S. Key, for more than a year general inspector of the fitting out of the Salem, was ordered to duty as her commander. Passed Asst. Paymaster Reginald Spear was ordered from League island to the Salem.

This Morning's Fire.

The alarm from Box 52 at 1.05 this morning was for a fire in a house on Farrington street owned by John Butters and occupied by Robert Jones.

The fire started from some unexplainable cause in the kitchen and worked in behind the walls to the upper floor. The loss was $100.

—"Why, if saloons benefit business does every railroad in the United States refuse to employ in any branch of its service men who drink? Why do people refuse to employ drunken surgeons? Why do great business firms insist on temperance among their employees? Why do even the saloon men demand barkeepers who do not drink?"

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Commissioner Bainbridge is doing a good job resurfacing Washington street.

Charles F. McGilvray, of Walsh's drug store is on a vacation trip to Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Bugbee and son Stuart are at Ludlow, Vermont, for two weeks.

D. J. Sullivan, clerk at Murphy's drug store, is on a vacation trip to Old Orchard, Me.

Adjourned auction sale this afternoon at 4 o'clock of the Andrew Young estate on Granite street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carter of Wollaston avenue are at Poland Springs, Me., for a three weeks' stay.

Mrs. Andrew Stewart and son Warren of Whitwell street have gone to Tatamagouche, Nova Scotia.

Miss Dorothy Brown of Arlington has returned after a week's visit with Mrs. Robert Walker of Wayland street.

Miss Grace L. Rich of Dana street, Somerville, is the guest this week of Miss Mabel L. Anderson of Oakland avenue.

Mrs. T. J. Crowley of Murdock avenue, Quincy Point, entertained her nephew, Doctor Philip Crimmins of Brockton over Sunday.

Miss Agnes L. Dean of Whitwell street has returned from a delightful visit of two weeks with her uncle Robert Rowe, at South Portland, Maine.

Mrs. William L. Peck of Old Colony Terrace has opened her summer cottage at Beechwood, Maine, where she will spend the remainder of the summer. Mr. Peck will join her later.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan G. Robinson and daughter Hope left on Saturday for Jaffrey, New Hampshire, where they will occupy Hillcroft cottage until the middle of September. The Misses Priscilla and Martha Robinson went to Jaffrey for two weeks.

Who is Who, Sim or Sam.

Mayor Shea has allowed the order revoking the license granted last May to Sim Silverman to collect junk to become a law without his signature and he has vetoed the new order passed at the last meeting of the City Council, granting a license to Sim Silverman to collect junk.

This raises the question again of Sam and Sim. The man was naturalized under the name of Sam but he has paid taxes and been granted a junk collector's license for several years under the name of Sim. He claims his name is Sim but legally it appears to be Sam.

The veto of Mayor Shea to become operative must be again acted upon by the City Council. If the Council sustain the Mayor, Sim is down and out. If however the Council passes the order over the veto Sim is on top again.

The question is how does Sim or Sam stand in the meantime. Can he continue to collect junk in the meantime? If not should the $10 which he paid for his license last May be refunded?

If he had violated the ordinance then his fee should be forfeited. But in this case he has not violated the ordinance the revocation being because the license read Sim instead of Sam.

TAFT IS FORMALLY NOTIFIED

Told of His Nomination For President

ALL CINCINNATI HAPPY

People Join In Welcome to Republican Nominee

VAST CROWD ON TAFT LAWN

Presentation of Flag Preceded Notification Ceremony

Cincinnati, July 28.—This is a public holiday in Cincinnati in honor of the welcome the city is extending to William H. Taft upon the occasion of his being formally notified of his nomination to the presidency.

At 7 o'clock this morning there were salutes of twenty guns or more fired from these four hilltops—Price hill, Mt. Adams, Mt. Lookout and Fairview Heights, as a welcome to Cincinnati's first citizen.

At 8 o'clock bands stationed in the parks, squares and at prominent corners began to make melody and will keep it up all day.

At 10 o'clock a flag was presented by the city of Cincinnati to Charles P. Taft, brother of the nominee, which was unfurled over the Taft residence on Pike street. This presentation was made at the Taft residence, the lawn of which, exclusive of walk and driveway, was covered with an immense platform. This was marked by a ceremony of invocation, singing, a speech of presentation and a speech of acceptance.

At 11 o'clock the notification committee was escorted to the Taft residence and, on the temporary platform, Judge Taft heard the formal word that he is the Republican party's choice for president. There were but two speeches—that of Senator Warner of Missouri, notifying Taft, and that of acceptance by the nominee.

TAFT HOME, CINCINNATI, SCENE OF TAFT NOTIFICATION CEREMONIES.

At 1:30 p. m. marching clubs passed in review, and then a public reception was held.

Judge J. H. Bromwell of Cincinnati delivered the speech at the flag presentation, saying in part:

"A distinguished honor has been conferred upon our city by the selection of one of our townsmen for nomination of the greatest office on the face of the earth—the Presidency of the United States.

"In appreciation of this high compliment, and as a special tribute of our regard and respect for our neighbor and fellow-citizen upon whom this honor has been destowed, we have set apart this day to rest from our usual vocations and to celebrate an event unique in the history of our city.

"This demonstration is in no sense partisan or political. For the time being we lay aside party lines and ignore national platforms. We are here as citizens of Cincinnati and as friends, neighbors and admirers of William Howard Taft.

"It would be unbecoming under such circumstances to enter upon any eulogium, however brief, of his ability or his fitness for the high office for which he has been named. That will come later, in the great battle of oratory and argument which is to follow the exercises of this day.

"How appropriate, then, that the formal ceremonies of this occasion should be opened by the function of raising the flag in which all may freely participate without sacrifice of party affiliation or political tenets. For the American flag belongs not, exclusively, to any man or body of men; not to any political party, religious sect or social organization. It is the priceless heritage handed down by heroic ancestors to all the nation and to everyone of its people.

"It is to us an emblem of the unity of our government and the wonderful progress and development it has made in the brief space of little more than a century. Every great national achievement, whether in war or peace, has been wrought under its beautiful folds, which ever have been, and ever will be, the glorious emblem of civil and religious liberty.

"In every contest submitted to the arbitrament of the sword it has waved over victorious armies and unconquerable navies. It has never been trailed in the dust of dishonor nor lowered in the shame of defeat.

"From this day until the people express their choice at the ballot box in November this spot will be visited by many distinguished Americans. It will be the Mecca to which hundreds will make their pilgrimage to pay their respects to and confer with their great party leader. It has been thought that it would be eminently proper that, upon this spot, which will today become historical, the glorious emblem of our country shall be raised to greet the eyes and welcome the steps of these, our coming guests and visitors.

"To you, Mr. Charles P. Taft, as the representative of your distinguished brother, is entrusted this loving tribute of your and his neighbors and fellow citizens, that it may float on high on every proper occasion to do honor to one who has made a record which will reflect luster upon himself and this, his home city, and who, if selected by the American people as their president, will prove a worthy successor to his predecessors in that exalted station; so that in days to come, when our youth shall read the history of their country, one of the names which will go down into its annals as representative of the highest type of official character and devotion to public duty will be that of William Howard Taft.

BOY INSTANTLY KILLED

Received Charge of Shot From Gun Carried by His Chum

Haverhill, Mass., July 28.—While on a hunting trip in the fields of his father's farm, John W. Greenlay, Jr., aged 15, shot and instantly killed Thomas Morrison, his 10-year-old companion. Greenlay was locked up on a charge of manslaughter by City Marshal Mack. On the personal recognizance of his father, however, Greenlay was later released, pending an autopsy and inquest ordered by Judge Fuller of the local court.

Greenlay had gone out with a shotgun, accompanied by Morrison, to shoot crows and other birds that were damaging Greenlay's gardens. While the two lads were going through a dense thicket, with Greenlay carrying the gun half-cocked in his hand, a twig discharged the gun, the contents of which entered Morrison's breast, tearing it frightfully and causing instant death.

PRINCE AT AMERICAN LOURDES

Besieged by Pilgrims Who Wanted to Shake His Hand

Quebec, July 28.—The Prince of Wales yesterday witnessed the curious spectacle of hundreds of pilgrims, many of them on crutches, crowding the shrine at St. Anne de Beaupre, the American Lourdes, seeking relief from their sufferings. The prince had been entertained at luncheon at St. Joachim, where the Laval university has a summer establishment. He returned in an automobile, the route taking him through St. Anne de Beaupre. Here the enthusiasm of the pilgrims was at its height in celebration of St. Anne's day. The prince's visit was unexpected and he entered the church as many of the cripples were at the altar receiving the touch of the holy relics.

The rector of Laval university pointed out the stacks of crutches and surgical appliances thrown aside by pilgrims. As the prince entered the church the organ played "God Save the King." On leaving the church the prince was followed by crowds of the pilgrims, who besieged his automobile to shake his hand.

Last night a reception was given at the citadel by the prince, the guests including Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks and the American army and naval officers on duty here.

The Defense of Herron

New Brunswick, N. J., July 28.—Archie Herron, a blacksmith, was placed on trial here, charged with having shot and killed Rev. S. V. D. Prickett, an aged Methodist minister, at Metuchon. Counsel for the defense said that it would be shown that Herron was subject to delusions; that he brooded over being sent to jail by Prickett when the latter was recorder, and that he was a paranoiac and not responsible for his actions.

Burglars Are Busy

Greenwich, Conn., July 28.—The band of burglars which has been boldly working in the parts of this town outside the borough police protection limits selected the home of Mortimer B. Foster for a descent and carried away $1000 worth of silver. They effected an entrance through a window in the butler's pantry.

Hong Kong Visited by Typhoon

Hong Kong, July 28.—A typhoon struck Hong Kong shortly before midnight, causing unusually high seas to run. A number of Chinese were drowned. No damage to any European vessel is reported. The property loss on shore is very heavy.

TWO WOMEN AMONG SUSPECTS

Boston Police Continue Hunt For Desperate Characters

Boston, July 28.—Four more suspects were taken by the police last night in the effort to round up the gang of yeggmen who terrorized the Jamaica Plain district last week by shooting up a saloon and fighting a desperate pistol battle with the police in their efforts to get away.

The raid last night was made on a Lettish boarding house in the Roxbury district, and after an examination one of the suspects was released and the other three, two women and a man, were held. The man held was Charles Schwarr, aged 24 years. He limps and in other ways bears out the description of one of the missing band.

Of the women, one is Anna Broomberg, aged 30, who is believed to have some resemblance to Leontine Mauren, the woman to whom Edmund Gutman wrote, surrounded by the police in a copse in Forest Hills cemetery, just before his death by a pistol bullet. The other woman gave the name of Irene Sirman, later identified as Irma Firman. The man who was set free is George Nimro.

These four people had hired rooms in the house, which is run by a Lett named Selmor, during the day, and as soon as the Roxbury police had learned of it they took the quartet into custody for an examination.

Hazel Drew Was Murdered

Troy, N. Y., July 28.—That Hazel Drew was murdered and her body thrown into Teal pond to make it appear as though she had committed suicide was practically established by the testimony taken at the inquest into her death at Averill Park. Those who have advanced the suicide theory were compelled to abandon it as a result of the evidence presented.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE'S FIRST

Ovation For Hearst Marks the Convention at Chicago

GIVES OUT SOME HOT SHOT

Republican Party the Hand-Maiden of the Trusts and Democratic Party a Falstaff's Army--Highwaymen of High Finance Declared to Be Back of Both--Severe Criticism of Their Platforms by the Editor

Chicago, July 28.—Amid loud and enthusiastic cheering and with its members showing every sign of loyalty to their new standard of political faith, the first national convention of the Independence party was opened last night in Orchestra hall.

The main floor of the hall was filled by the delegates. There were no alternates. The galleries were overcrowded with a throng which entered heartily into the spirit of the proceedings, and throughout the session applauded vigorously whatever met their approval.

The temporary chairman, officers of the convention and official stenographers occupied a space set off by a barrier of red, bordered by white stars on a blue ground. Back of this rose tier on tier of seats, occupied by invited guests, many of them women. Flanking the stage was a riot of flags, and nestling among them were pictures of Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Jackson. Two cameras on fifteen-foot tripods hinted of flash-light exposures to come. Around the sides of the hall were placards bearing the names of various states and also allusions to the existing political situation as viewed from the standpoint of the Independence party.

The entrance of George W. McCaskrin, whom the Illinois delegates are supporting for the gubernatorial nomination, was a signal for cheers for "the next governor of Illinois."

This outburst had scarcely subsided when the arrival of W. R. Hearst, started a delirious demonstration. The editor bowed right and left as he walked up the centre aisle and ascended the platform. The hall was in an uproar as Hearst mounted the steps leading to the platform. He took no notice of the demonstration, and after remaining on the rostrum about three minutes in consultation with the secretary of the convention, took a seat with the New York delegation.

His action was a signal for renewed cheers and the delegates shouting "Hearst, Hearst," immediately started on a parade around the hall, shouting continuously the name of the New York editor.

Two enthusiastic delegates from California waved a small white banner bearing the name of their state until they snapped the staff, and the head of the pole and the flag fell to the press tables, to the peril of some of the employes of Hearst's own papers.

A large man of Teutonic extraction, carried away by his enthusiasm, attempted to stride along the press tables, but they were not built for such weight and he soon sought safety in flight. The parade continued for several minutes before quiet was restored.

It was thirty-five minutes past the scheduled time when the temporary sergeant-at-arms rapped for order, and asked the delegates to vacate the aisles. Milton W. Howard took the gavel and introduced Charles A. Walsh, secretary of the provisional national committee, who read the call for the convention.

This document declared the purpose of the gathering to be the foundation of an Independent party and the nomination of candidates for president and vice president. The reading was interrupted by cries of "Hearst" and one man in the balcony cried "Bryan." A storm of hisses that followed were stilled by the gavel. Father O'Callahan of Chicago delivered the invocation.

Mr. Howard, at the conclusion of the invocation, announced the names of the temporary officers of the convention. His mention of the name of Hearst was received with an outburst of applause, and Hearst, when he mounted the rostrum, escorted by a committee of three appointed by the chair, was uproariously welcomed. The band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner" and the convention rose en masse, cheering wildly.

The New York delegation gave repeated cheers in honor of their leader, who stood and waited for the demonstration to subside. Then he began his address as temporary chairman of the convention, saying:

"My friends, this is the first national convention of the Independence party. Whether it shall prove an historical event or merely a passing political incident depends upon the wisdom and patriotism with which we shall deliberate and act.

"If the men who met in Independence hall in Philadelphia on the Fourth of July, 1776, had had within them any feeling of hesitation, any disposition towards compromise or concession, that day would now pass as any other day upon the calendar.

"But the patriots who assembled there had courage in their hearts, determination in their minds, high purpose in their souls, and the Fourth of July is saluted throughout the world as the birthday of liberty for all men.

"I believe that we will do a service to our fellow citizens second only to the inestimable service rendered by the founders of this government if we shall found a party which will remain unfailingly faithful to the cause of the plain people, to the principles of the Declaration of Independence, and to the fundamental American ideas of liberty, equality and opportunity for all."

Mr. Hearst then briefly outlined the history of political parties in this country and, continuing, said:

"The Republican party is the open-hand avowed hand-maiden of the trusts. It scorns those who would rescue it, repudiates those who would reform it, and glories brazenly in its profitable infamy.

"The Democratic party is merely envious of its sordid sister's ill-gotten finery. It upbraids her at one election and emulates her at the next.

"The Republican leaders are the political attorneys of trusts and monopolies, and representatives in public life of those giant corporations which have superseded the people in this republic as the source of power and the seat of authority.

"The Democratic vanguard is a Falstaff's army; it is led by a knight arrayed in a motley of modified professions and compromised principles, of altered opinions and retracted statements."

Mr. Hearst at this point in his address mentioned the names of Sullivan, Hopkins, Murphy, McClellan, Taggart, Ryan, Belmont, Bailey and Williams, describing them as officers of the Democratic vanguard, and designating them in uncomplimentary terms. He then resumed:

"A Falstaff's army, whose banner bears on one side a watchword for the people, and on the other a password for the trusts, whose only object is office at any cost, whose motto, 'After Us the Deluge.'

"Assuming that Mr. Bryan himself is all that his most ardent admirers claim him to be, a great lawyer, an enlightened statesman, an inspired patriot, still a man is known by the company he keeps and no decent Democrat can tolerate his free companions.

"No honest citizen can let down the bars of office to such an Ali Baba's band of boodlers and bravos. No prudent citizen will support a combination to which Taggart supplies a candidate and Parker a platform, for which Ryan will pay the freight and the people will pay the penalty.

"Back of both parties and underwriting each are the Captain Kids of industry, those highwaymen of high finance who realize that to plunder safely the people's purse they must first possess the people's government.

"I urge our party to take a broad and liberal stand toward the legitimate business enterprises of the country, but to distinguish between honest business everywhere and those criminal concerns which plunder through political pull and pay for political protection.

"Honest business and prosperity are almost synonymous terms. As one develops the other increases; when one is disturbed the other fails. We all want prosperity, and, what is more, we want prosperity for all.

"I urge our party, therefore, to be intelligently and courageously constructive; not merely obstructive like the Republican party, nor destructive like the Democratic party.

"The Republican platform says nothing and means nothing. It is a platform of statistical inventions and political evasions. It is obviously the product of a party whose sole purpose is to stand pat, and whose sole desire is to stay put.

"The Democratic platform contains some good and original things, but, as has been said, the original things are not good and the good things are not original. It was built by political jackdaws who feathered their nests with the plumes of others without understanding their significance or intention as to their performance.

"It is the habitation of a hermit crab which has no shell of its own and invades the first convenient one without regard to property or propriety.

"It is a platform, too, of reconciliation and retraction, of atonement and apology, of harmony and hypocrisy, for in compliance with a former compact, Parker has announced peace, Bill Bailey has poured Standard oil upon the troubled waters, and Bryan has killed not only the fatted calf, but the goose that laid the golden egg.

"Let us act boldly and speak plainly. Let us make a platform so clear and so sincere that every citizen will understand our position and have confidence in our intention."

Mr. Hearst delivered his address with intense earnestness, driving home his points in an emphatic manner that carried the convention with him from the start to the close. At the end he was cheered for several minutes.

Following Hearst's speech James H. O'Neill presented to the temporary chairman a "union label" gavel. Hearst then made a brief speech of acceptance.

Reuben R. Lyon was called to the chair and directed the secretary to read the membership lists of the various convention committees. It was announced that all the committees would meet immediately after the adjournment of the convention. There are no contests for seats and the business before all the committees, with the exception of that on resolutions, was largely of a perfunctory character.

After an address by C. A. Windle the convention adjourned until this afternoon.

READY FOR AN EMERGENCY

Dutch Government Dispatches Warship to Venezuela

WASHINGTON IN THE DARK

Our Government, as Well as Several European Governments, Interested In a Financial Way In Any Action Holland May Take Against Castro --Latter Has Big "Navy," but No Guns of Any Account

Washington, July 28.—Considerable curiosity exists in Washington as to whether the Dutch government, in dispatching the cruiser Gelderland to Venezuela, contemplates any further steps than merely "the protection of Dutch interests in that country."

This is rather an elastic term and may be called upon to cover wide latitude of action. It is possible that The Netherlands government, in view of the anti-Venezuelan demonstrations in Willemstad on Saturday and Sunday, fears reprisals by Venezuelans on Hollanders residing in that country and thinks it best to have available a warship in case of emergency.

Curacao merchants claim to have suffered financial loss as a result of various orders of President Castro since the prevalence of the bubonic plague, but it is not believed here that the Dutch government expects to take any retaliatory steps on Venezzuelan territory to redress such grievances. At any rate, whatever the plan may be, Holland has not communicated her intentions to this government and nothing indicative of her course is known officially in Washington.

It is pointed out here that if Holland contemplates taking measures against Venezuela there are several European countries, as well as America, whose wishes should first be consulted. Venezuela has been for some time paying monthly installments of her foreign debt, the result of an arbitration arranged several years ago by American Minister Bowen, when the allied powers of Europe blockaded the principal ports of Venezuela and threatened to take more forceful measures because of Castro's refusal to meet his obligations. The countries party to the arbitration naturally would want something to say if steps are to be taken by Holland that would stop the monthly installments now paid by Venezuela.

In official circles attention also is called to the misapprehension which appears to prevail in regard to the Monroe doctrine in the discussion of the relations of European governments towards the countries south of us. That doctrine is a declaration that there must be no territorial aggrandizement by any non-American power at the expense of any American power on American soil. It is nowise intended as hostile to any nation in the old world.

Dispatches to the state department from Consul Cheney, at Willemstad, confirm the press reports of the riotous demonstrations in that city on Saturday and Sunday.

The newspaper report that Holland had sent the cruiser Gelderland to Venezuela started the navy officers to looking up data with a view to ascertaining Venezuela's naval strength. On paper Venezuela's strength looks quite formidable in number of ships, but their total tonnage does not approximate that of the Gelderland. Venezuela has no guns aboard the ships larger than a six-pounder, with the exception of a twelve-pounder on the converted yacht Restaurado. Laguaira and Porto Cabello have fortifications. Those at the latter place are not considered formidable in the modern sense. At Laguaira, it is understood, there are some modern six-inch Krupp guns installed, rendering rather risky the approach of any other than an armored vessel.

Two Killed In Auto Smashup

Glen Head, L. I., July 28.—As the result of a collision here between an automobile and the "millionaire's express" of the Long Island railroad Miss Leigh Townsend, a New York girl of social prominence, who was a passenger in the automobile, died a few minutes after the accident, while Charles Smith, the chauffeur, died while en route to a hospital. Of the other two occupants of the automobile Miss Beatrice Eddy is in a critical condition and Lloyd Robinson was also badly hurt, but he will soon be able to leave the hospital.

President Will Meet Athletes

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 28.—President Roosevelt, in a message which he sent to the American commissioner of the Olympic games in London, expressed a desire to shake hands with every one of the men whose feats placed the flag of the United States at the head of the colors of all nations in the athletic games which ended Saturday. It is not yet known whether the president will go to New York or ask the men to come to Oyster Bay, so that he may meet and talk with them.

Died as Result of Dog Bite

New York, July 28.—Hydrophobia, the result of a dog bite, regarded at the time as trivial, caused the death of James E. Phillips, formerly a lieutenant of police. Spasm followed spasm until the victim became nearly unmanageable, and he died after a night of torture. Phillips conducted a detective agency.

BUYING A RING.

A Story They Tell In Japan to Illustrate Occidental Love.

"The Japanese marry out of esteem and trust to the coming of love afterward," said a Japanese lady. "With us when love comes it lasts. We have a song that we like to sing—'I want to live to ninety-nine years, and you must live to be a hundred, so that we may be happy while our hair grows gray.'

"That is better," she continued, "than the love that comes swiftly and as swiftly flies away again. They tell in Japan a story illustrative of this transitory love—the love of your west.

"A tourist, they say, was touring Brittany. He came to Quimper, and he found in the Place Publique beside the river an old woman selling trinkets.

"'What is the price of this?' he asked, taking up an antique ring of silver and sapphires.

"'Is it for your wife or for your sweetheart?' said the old woman.

"'For my sweetheart.'

"'Fifty francs!'

"'Fifty francs! Nonsense!' And the tourist turned angrily away.

"'Come back,' said the old woman. 'Take it for ten. You've been lying to me, though. You have no sweetheart. Had the ring been for her you'd have bought it at once without regard to its price.'

"'I will take it,' said the tourist, smiling. 'Here are the 10 francs.'

"So the old woman wrapped the ring up.

"'But you haven't a wife either,' she grumbled. 'If it had been for her you'd have beaten me down to 5 francs. Oh, you men!'"

NATURE'S LITTLE SHIP.

A Curious Jellyfish Endowed With a Movable Sail.

While man makes the largest ocean vessels, nature makes the smallest. This is a species of jellyfish, found only in tropical seas, which has a sail.

The part of the fish under the water looks like a mass of tangled threads, while the sail is a tough membrane, shaped like a shell and measuring quite five inches and sometimes more across. The fish can raise or lower this sail at will.

Wise sailors let this curiosity of nature alone, for each of the threads composing its body has the power of stinging, the results of which are very painful and often dangerous. This power defends it from porpoises, albatrosses and other natural enemies.

It has no other means of locomotion than its sail, and when seen skimming bravely along the surface of the water it looks more like a child's toy boat than a living creature out in search of food.—London Saturday Review.

Treating Them All Alike.

There was only one thing in the world of which Eben Ransom thoroughly approved; that was hard, steady work. "I hope," said the philanthropic spinster who was spending a fortnight at the Ransom farm, "I do hope, Mr. Ransom, that you treat all your men alike; give them all equal advantages and wages. I find a varying standard, if I may use the expression, makes so much trouble and discontent among laborers in any field of work."

Mr. Ransom surveyed her gravely and nodded assent.

"You're right there, ma'am," he said dryly after a moment. "There is just one rule for the folks that work for me. 'Begin as early and keep it up as late as there's light to go by, and you'll get your one-fifty a day, unless the times are unusual hard, when I make it one-twenty-five.'

"But I tell you, ma'am, you can't get as many fellers to work on an equal basis nowadays as you might think."

Her Modest Request.

When Andrew D. White was minister to Germany he received some queer letters from Americans. Perhaps the funniest of all was a mandatory epistle from an old lady living in the west, who inclosed in her letter four pieces of white linen, each some six inches square. "We are going to have a fair in our church," she wrote, "and I am making an autograph quilt. I want you to get me the autographs of the emperor, the empress and the crown prince and tell them to be very careful not to write too near the edge of the squares, as a seam has to be allowed for putting them together."

A Maori Name.

A seaside resort in the Hawke's bay district of New Zealand is called by the charming Maori name Tamataukatangihangakoauau. But this is only an abbreviation. The full name is Tamatauwhakatangihangakoauaotanenuiraranginikitanatahu. The translation is, "The hill on which Tanenuiarangi (the husband of heaven) played his flute to his beloved."—Auckland Letter.

Marital Persiflage.

"I must confess," remarked Mrs. Crabbe, "I don't believe there ever was a really perfect man."

"Well," replied Mr. Crabbe, "I suppose that's because Eve wasn't made first."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, if Eve had been made first she would have bossed the job of making Adam."—Philadelphia Press.

Wealth a Burden.

"Do you find great wealth a burden?"

"Sometimes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "There's never any telling when mother and the girls are going to invest in a touring car or a steam yacht or a foreign nobleman or some such form of worriment and responsibility."—Washington Star.

BAD BLOOD

"Before I began using Cascarets, I had a bad complexion, pimples on my face, and my food was not digested as it should have been. Now I am entirely well, and the pimples have all disappeared from my face. I can truthfully say that Cascarets are just as advertised; I have taken only two boxes of them."

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

The popular fad of late seems to be to have a yegg scare.

Mrs. Charles Morrow has been the guest of friends at Brockton this week.

A special meeting of Bethany Brotherhood will be held Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hammond and son Wilson of Washington, D. C., are visiting in Atlantic.

There was another rush at City Hall Monday night to pay poll taxes and the corridor was lined with people.

The submarines Octopus, Cuttlefish, Tarantula and Viper, all built at Quincy, arrived this week at Newport, R. I.

Miss Ellen and Miss Jennie Hersey of Revere road have been the guests of Deacon and Mrs. Andrew H. Gurney of Whitman.

Miss Ruth Bassett of Walker street was one of an automobile party that spent the week end at The Grand, Mont Vernon, N. H.

The annual open race under the auspices of the Quincy Yacht club will be held off the club house at Houghs Neck on Saturday.

Herbert T. Arnold, who has been awarded a scholarship by Harvard college in the University at Athens, sails today for that place.

Lieut. McKay recovered a kodak in a pawnshop on Pleasant street, Boston, on Monday that was stolen from the store of Clyde T. Cox.

Thomas Musgrave of Appleton street has been entertaining his brother, Walter Musgrave of Plainfield, Conn., over the week end.

It is good news to the many Atlantic friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emery of Ashmont that they have rented the house on Billings street owned by the Misses Clean of Walker street. Mr. and Mrs. Emery have always been very popular locally whenever they have visited Mrs. Emery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Briggs of Appleton street.

When Atlantic residents burdened with suit cases patronize the Squantum car in the absence of Edward Dunn, the popular conductor, they realize how heavy grips are to lift up and down. No other conductor of these cars is as obliging in caring for passengers and as generally thoughtful and courteous as Mr. Dunn, and local residents appreciate the fact that he is responsible for half the patronage of the Squantum cars.

—The Swedish Baptist church at Campello observed its 25th anniversary on Saturday and Sunday.

—Three hundred and twelve dozen bean poles recently arrived in this city from Nova Scotia. This will give the outside barbarians a chance to make remarks about the increasing cultivation of the bean in Boston. As a matter of fact they were simply on their way to be shipped elsewhere to be made into rustic furniture.—Boston Budget.

FIELD LEADER

He Passes Capt. Foster Gain Also For Capt. Middleton

Friends of "Bill" Field by coupons and "trial orders" added over 300 votes today and he is again the leader in the Motor Boat contest. Capt. Foster is a close second. A good gain was also made by Capt. Middleton, who has passed the 3000 mark. Capt. Parker has moved up one in the list, and Miss Torrey has moved up three. There is yet considerable uncertainty as to who will win the prizes.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

A Thrilling Camping Experience

Saturday morning, July 25th A. J. M. Cowe, Jr., of Quincy, who recently started on a camping trip among the White Mountains left camp situated at the base of Mt. Tremont, near Livermore, New Hampshire, in company with his cousins, Mr. W. R. Flint of New Haven and Miss Alice Bandeen of East Jaffrey, New Hampshire, on a fishing trip down the Rob brook, supposing that they would return to camp about noon.

Owing to the fact that the brook has many branches they unfortunately followed one of the branches entirely ignorant of the fact, thus going off their course many miles.

About one o'clock a terrific rainstorm come on, thinking that they were headed toward camp which lay to the north of the river and proceeding with that idea they finally came to a ravine unknown to them.

Being completely baffled and night fast approaching with a fierce mountain storm growing worse every minute, Mr. Cowe climbed to the top of a tree about fifty feet in height, to get his bearings, but was unable to do so as the clouds were lowering rapidly until the party were enveloped in them; thus shutting off their view of the surrounding country and of course the position of camp.

The only thing to do was to camp out all night, but it seemed entirely out of question, as the party were wet to the skin and the few matches they had carried were useless being water soaked.

Their only hope was to follow the nearest brook to its destination which they did, coming to on old abandoned lumber railroad.

As it was pitch dark and raining; and almost exhausted from lack of food and the strenuosity of climbing they tried to reach some place of refuge along the railroad; like all mountain railroads it had many trestles ranging from twenty to fifty feet in height over rivers and ravines and which had to be crossed on hands and knees, but as it was pitch dark their passage was finally interrupted by a trestle about fifty yards long and forty feet in height the timbers being rotten and displaced which meant one chance in a hundred of arriving on the other end alive.

Completely exhausted the party tried to overcome any attempt to sleep until daylight by jumping and running back and forth on the ties; Mr. Cowe and Mr. Flint were successful in doing so, although suffering severely from chills and bruises, but the young lady fainted away and was only brought too by the severe efforts of the young men who worked like Trojans for hours until daybreak. The only nourishment the party had had was a cup of coffee and a doughnut apiece at four o'clock the previous morning.

The rain had subsided somewhat so that by strenuous efforts they retraced their tracks along the railroad and crossing the brook from whence they had started the night before and proceeding until they came to a lumber camp some ten miles away; which was reached about nine o'clock Sunday morning. The party were taken into camp by the lumber men almost frozen and suffering severely. They were given nourishment, stimulants and sleep; and were allowed to proceed to camp during the afternoon having found that they were in Passaconaway, about ten miles off their course; taking a direct trail they arrived in camp Sunday night at seven o'clock; finding the other members of the camp almost frantic. Two scouting expeditions consisting of twenty men had been sent from Livermore, Sunday morning in search of the unfortunate fishermen who although they had been lost returned to camp none the worse from the experience excepting from lack of sleep.

Another Shipment For Japan

The steamship Tudor Prince has arrived from New York to load two Curtis turbine engines that were built for warships now under construction at a navy yard in Japan.

The machinery weighs about 500 tons and it is estimated that ten days will be required to load the shafts, cylinders and other parts in the cargo hole of the steamship for the journey of 16,000 miles.

SYMPTOMS OF RABIES.

Signs by Which You May Know When a Dog Is Really Mad.

Hydrophobia is so rare and terrifying that its symptoms and treatment are little understood. As a matter of fact, the commonly accepted expression of madness in a dog is often misleading. The real mad dog does not shun water, as it is said. On the contrary, mad dogs often rush to the water and drink it eagerly, if they are able to swallow. The mad dog does not froth at the mouth. It does not run amuck, snapping at everything in its path. What, then, are the indications of the mad dog? To those familiar with a given dog the surest symptom and the one which should excite closest attention is a distinct and unaccountable change in the dog's disposition, a staid dog becoming excitable and a frisky one dull. That condition does not necessarily mean rabies, but it is suspicious, and if in addition the dog has trouble in swallowing, as though it seemed to have a bone in its throat, beware! That dog should be instantly tied up, because if it be rabies it takes but a day or two for ferocious instincts to develop. The unmistakable evidence, however, of a dog with rabies is the sticky, whitish saliva which covers the teeth and shows on the drawn lips. The eyes glare and are red; the dog has paroxysms of running fury, during which it barks hoarsely, which alternate with periods of temporary exhaustion. — Caspar Whitney in Outing.

BORED AND PLUGGED.

The Truthful Story of a Ship Struck by Lightning.

"In Duluth down on the docks some days ago some fresh water Ancient Mariners were talking of adventures on the raging main," began an old steamship man. "'Captain H.,' said one, 'it seems to me I've heard somewhere that your vessel was once struck by lightning while sailing, sailing over the bounding main?'

"'Yep, twice,' said Captain H. 'Happened off Point Aux Barques 'bout fifteen years ago. We were joggin' 'long when a thunderstorm overtook us, and the very first flash of lightnin' struck the deck amidships and bored a hole as big as my right leg right down through the bottom of the vessel.'

"'And she foundered, of course?'

"'No, sir. The water began rushin' in, and she would have foundered, but there came a second flash, and a bolt struck my foreto' gallant mast. It was cut off near the top, turned bottom end up, and as it came down it entered the hole and plugged it up as tight as a drum. When we got down to drydock we simply sawed off either end and left the plug in the planks.'"—Washington Herald.

Fatalities.

"Yes," said the beauteous young thing, "when I asked papa if I might go mountain climbing he took my head off. But I had my own way, of course, and finally the crowd got started, and you know they made me put on a lot of wraps and things that simply suffocated me. And about halfway up I slipped and fell over a cliff and broke my neck! Indeed, yes And when they had lifted and pulled me back on the trail I absolutely died from pain. But before long I was able to go on to the top, but by the time we were almost there I collapsed and sat down, for I could never breathe again. But they made me pull myself together and in time we got to the summit, and there it was so cold I froze to death! Oo-ooh! And I was glad, I can tell you, when we came down at last, and as soon as they got me home I went to bed, dead from exhaustion."—Independent.

Will Remember His Friends.

When Patrick McGinnagan became a member of the Chicago police force a delegation of his friends burst in upon him while he was at dinner and presented him with a handsome night stick in honor of his popularity and their esteem. Completely bewildered by this unexpected token, the new policeman nevertheless struggled to his feet and stammered his appreciation.

"Friends, ye have upset me wid y'r kindness," he said, flourishing the night stick. "Oi'll try an' do me duty wid this little shillalah, and I hope an' thrust thot ivry man her'll live t' feel its influoince."

The Alphabet.

The great Phoenician alphabet, the parent of every form of European writing and of the scripts of Persia, Arabia and India as well, owes but little to Egypt. It is true that in the construction of their alphabet the Phoenicians made use of certain hieratic characters found in their tradedealings with Egypt, but this fact in no way detracts from the glory of the invention which belongs to the "Yankees of antiquity."—New York American.

A Woman's Era.

"If I were a man!" is surely a very unnecessary cry these days. The epoch of the man is past. The twentieth century is the era of the woman.

There is with a few very slight exceptions nothing that a woman as a woman cannot do, and do every bit as well as if she were a man.—London P. T. O.

The Real Sequence.

Mrs. Premiere—You always get a new gown before you go away on a visit, don't you? Mrs. Seconde—No. I always go away on a visit after I get a new gown.—Woman's Home Companion.

The Gypsy Moth.

It was an unfortunate day for New England, and especially for Massachusetts, when two gypsy moths that had been brought to Medford from France by a Harvard professor escaped from captivity and flew through the open window to begin their work of devastation.

To the credit of the professor it must be said that he at once gave the authorities notice of what had happened, and besought them to take steps to avert future damage. His fears were laughed at, however, and his counsels spurned. Events have proved the timeliness of his warning, and demonstrated that those to whom they were given were incapable of comprehending the gravity of the situation. Had steps been taken promptly to capture and destroy the escaped pests, even though several thousand dollars had been expended in hunting them down, it would have been an evidence of capacity instead of stupidity on the part of the State's officials.

However, the mischief has been done, and the bill of expense has run to over a million dollars. Worst of all, the area that is being infested continues to grow year by year and there is no telling when or where the devastation will be checked. Indeed, there is reason to believe that the territory which the moths are ravaging will continue to expand. Those who are charged with the work of exterminating the pests appear to like their jobs too well to be anxious to lose them and there is a suspicion at least that they are so managing it that it will have to be done over year after year. It is well known that the moths are incapable of long flight, and it naturally follows that if they are thoroughly exterminated in any locality and a vigilant watch kept thereafter they can be got rid of after a time. Slipshod and sloppy methods will never accomplish this, however, and those who are charged with the work must see that it is done thoroughly and well.—Boston Courier.

—A wisely planned vacation is good life insurance. It may be cheaper than medicine bills next winter. But unfortunately a great deal of money and time is spent in vacationing which represents only so much waste, both in energy and substance. Some people make as great work of taking a vacation as they would in sawing cord-wood.—Spencer Leader.

You can't Beat Ralston's for Summer Wear.

As you well know, it's during the Summer that your shoes are put to the hardest test. In order for them to give you all-Summer-long satisfaction they must be "dressy" enough to wear anywhere and yet they must be perfectly comfortable.

In short you want your feet to look "dressed up" without their feeling so. That's why we recommend Ralston shoes. Come in and let us show you wherein they're different from any other shoes made.

GEORGE W. JONES,

HARD HIT

Yachtsmen Forbidden To Cart Yachts Across Parkway Near the Clubhouses

The Metropolitan Park Commission in forbidding the transportation of small boats (under 25 feet overall) on wheels across the Wollaston Beach Parkway, at the foot of Vassal street, opposite the Squantum Yacht club, has stirred up quite a little feeling among the members of the Wollaston and Squantum Yacht clubs and others who are interested in aquatic sports.

For a good many years it has been the custom of a few members of those two clubs when the season ended to mount their boats, which would usually average about 22 feet overall, on low four wheel trucks, attach a horse thereto and drive them to their respective homes.

Usually the boats were small enough to easily house in the cellar or some adjacent shed. During the long winter evenings the owner would put in his spare time on his favorite hobby in giving it a thorough overhauling and when spring came would drive it down to the beach and launch it.

This has afforded a quiet pleasure for generations to the people of the north part of the city. But now the Metropolitan Park Commission after spending thousands of dollars on a parkway apparently solely for automobiles and other pleasure vehicles, peremptorily refuse the lowly small boat (which seldom weighs over 1000 pounds) permission to be pushed across the 24 foot roadway at the foot of Vassal street, so that its owner can reach the beach. But the great touring car, weighing many times as much as the boat, and destroying the parkway as it passes along, is allowed the freedom of this roadway. And now both clubs are asking what justice there is in the Commission's paradoxical attitude.

A few days ago a member of the Wollaston Yacht club brought an eleven foot tender in a wheelbarrow down Beach street and landed it across the parkway on the beach. He had no more than done so when a Park policeman warned him that he was liable to arrest if the offence was repeated.

The Commissioners have been repeatedly asked to take up a short section of the curbing at the foot of Vassal street, near the Squantum Yacht club pier, so that the small boats can be launched there without any fear of the curbing, but even this small request has been peremptorily turned down.

And now the question which confronts the residents of that section is as to whether the parkway is for the privileged class of automobiles and carriage owners, or whether it was built for the pleasure of the whole people under fair and reasonable restrictions which do not unreasonably curtail privileges which our people have enjoyed for generations. Surely the hundred or more owners of boats which are moored in Wollaston bay are deserving of a crumb of consideration.

Sons of St. George.

Delegates from Granite lodge, Sons of St. George, attended this week the annual session of the Grand Lodge at Fitchburg. Joseph Hurley of Brockton was elected grand president, and James Kershaw of Watertown, vice grand president. William Collins of Quincy is chairman of the finance committee. Tuesday evening there was a grand banquet for 200, followed by addresses and music. The business session was continued today.

—Old-age pensions are to be established in England. It will be a daring experiment that will be watched with interest by the other nations of the world. It is to be hoped that it will, at least, bring about a greater respect in England for old age.

Good Progress On Coddington

Work on the new Coddington school building is progressing rapidly. All of the outer walls are up and the building is nearly roofed in. While this has been in progress the carpenters have been busy and much of the studding is in place.

The plumbers and steam fitters have also started their part of the work and at the present time it is well advanced.

When completed the building will easily be the handsomest school building in the city. The contractor promises to have it ready on time.

Court Martial For Lieut. Belcher

On charges of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman," in having failed to turn over to the members of the signal corps their pay for service at the time of the Chelsea fire, a court-martial for Lt. Robert E. Belcher was ordered Tuesday, says the Boston Advertiser.

Belcher, who is supposed to be in the neighborhood of Portland, Me., left the state about a week ago. He is an attorney, having offices at 24 Milk street. His business affairs are said to be in badly mixed condition and his friends say that he has been mentally deranged since the Chelsea fire.

In the payment of the officers and men of the militia who did special duty at the Chelsea fire it was necessary that assignment should be made to the special officer authorized to act as disbursing officer in the organizations to which they respectively belonged, in order that they receive their pay.

In the case of the signal corps the money due the 25 or more members was turned over to Lt. Belcher, who receipted for it, the amount being, as understood, $686.

No part of this money, it now appears, was ever paid the members of the signal corps, who, after waiting for a considerable time after the others had been paid, introduced an inquiry at the state headquarters, only to discover that Lt. Belcher had been paid the money.

The men entered complaints to the adjutant general, who conferred with the commander-in-chief.

Inquiry for Lt. Belcher resulted in the discovery that he had left the state. His friends stated that he had gone away to recuperate, not being in good health. Adjt. Gen. Brigham decided that a court-martial was demanded, and directed an order issued at once.

At the time of the San Francisco earthquake Lieut Belcher went to the stricken city in charge of a consignment of shoes, and his services received many favorable comments. Col William D. Sohier also praises the work he did at the Chelsea conflagration.

His wife at Ashland, and also his family physician, Dr. Woods of South Framingham, say he is unquestionably unbalanced.

EVANS WRITES

About Chester And Happy Valley And His Trip From Holyhead

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

I have been accused of not fulfilling promises to the readers of the Daily Ledger by some of my best friends, because I didn't take them on all the excursions I agreed to give them in the old country.

A word of explanation right here. In the first place, I came home a little sooner than I expected. Secondly, I thought that letters from over the ocean wouldn't read well when you saw me every day around the streets of the dear old city of Quincy, which I am proud to say after all my travels I have not found anything better nor in fact its equal with all its faults. So dear fellow citizens, be proud that your lives have fallen in such lovely places, that you have such a goodly heritage in this the City of Presidents.

I am writing this letter in Ellisville, South Plymouth, where my wife and I are enjoying ourselves on the shore of Cape Cod bay with our daughter, Mrs. A. V. Curtis and family. I would like to tell you lots about my travels here along the shore among the lakes, and through the woods, picking berries, etc., but I must give you some of those excursions I promised you. I have quite a lot of them left over, because I kept my pencil busy all the time, and I tell you there was'nt much that was worth seeing that escaped my notice. I have also nearly a thousand postal cards from every city, town and hamlet I visited.

So, now, take this train from Holyhead, for that is the place I left you in our last letter. It is what they here call "local" because it stops at every station on the way. We will take much notice of but few places on the way. Our first stop will be the celebrated watering or summer resort Llandudno, but on the way notice these beautiful fields closed in with these fine white thorn hedges. The Island of Anglesea never looked prettier. That so! It is grand, isn't it? Not a speck of waste land to be seen anywhere. Yes, those are sheep, thousands of them. Sheep raising is the chief industry here now. I remember the time when this land was all waving grain, but now competition from America, Canada, Argentina, etc., is so keen that it will not pay the farmers especially when they have to pay such heavy rents. When I was a boy this island had 150,000 population, now only 50,000.

Now we are approaching the Menai straits. Here it is. And, see here is the Britania bridge, with two big granite lions at each end to guard it. After passing through numerous tunnels, the train stops, and the doors of our carriage are unlocked at Llandudno Junction.

We must take another train for about two miles to the beach, Here we are. I know you are delighted, because although not nearly as warm as in Quincy, the first of July, it is warm enough so that you can enjoy this beautiful sea and mountain air. You say, what a lovely spot; and what are all those people doing near the bottom of those mountains. Well, dear me, that is happy valley, and they are having an open air concert. Yes it is all free, only some time they pass the hat. Often there is lecturing—preaching in fact. Anything is allowed in this favorite resort, that the authorities think is within bounds. The place lies in a hollow at the approach to the ascent of Great Ormeshead. It is sheltered from the winds and yet commands a fine view of the ocean. There are large steamers running daily to and from Liverpool and other places through the summer. After we enjoy a good swim in these waters we proceed to Cowyn Bay, Conway Castle, and now we arrive at the old town of Chester, where many of you have expressed your wish to visit.

Here you are then. Take this car, it is in front of the station. Yes, we better get on the upper story for these cars are no exception to the rule, all double deckers. I'll settle with the conductor; here he comes. We want to go just far enough to see the city. All right, one penny each, please. Here is half a crown will that pay. Yes, indeed and here is three pence back.

This is the river Dee. This river divides the city. The part south is in Wales and the part north is in England. Chester stands alone amongst all the ancient cities and towns of Great Britain, unique in its history, disposition, and its architectual character. Certainly there is no town which has retained so many important monuments of its original founders, and which presents today so many evidences of its medieval character. No town in all Europe can show its walls complete as those of Chester. It is not too much to say that no intelligent visitor will ever regret or forget the days or hours he may devote to the examination of this most interesting city.

Chester was doubtless an early British town, or camp long before the Roman invasion. Therefore long before the Welsh (or Britons) invited the Saxons (or English) over to help them to fight the northern invaders. At the present time Chester is both a favorite place of resort and residence. Excuse me for making all this explanation before we proceed through the city. It is because there seems to be so many in Quincy who are interested. So much, that one told me that she had been taking the Ledger every day anticipating the trip through Chester. Very well then, keep on looking and we will surely spend a day right here in the oldest town in Great Britain, and may be in the world. And please don't accuse me of going back on my word.

If I hear from any number of you I will also take you to those big open air conventions. I think that those alone paid me double for my 3,000 miles voyage. John Evans.

Good Job on Washinghton Street

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

I want to say a few words in commendation of the excellent manner of the way our streets are being put into condition by our new Commissioner. Many will criticise but few will praise.

I have been a close observer of city work on our streets for a number of years and have never seen better ones made than there is being done upon Washington street. Not only the streets but the gutters and crosswalks are carefully attended to and are put into the best of shape.

When Washington street is done it will be equal to any of the state roads. I am in a position to know whereof I write. I have watched work, and the workman from morning till quiting time for the past two weeks on Washington street and in front of my property. The men work to accomplish and not to kill time. The steam rollers are run at a good quick pace and do not drawl along.

Albert Keating.

No Red Flag In Quincy Parade

It is understood that Mayor Shea has refused the Finnish society permission to carry a red flag on the occasion of their annual outing. Application was first made for permission to carry the red flag alone and upon this being refused application was made to carry the red flag in addition to the Stars and Stripes. The Mayor was firm however and said the Stars and Stripes was good enough for anyone and under no condition could the red flag be carried.

Larceny Alleged.

Tuesday morning parties entered the room of William Trumbell at the boarding house of William Hendri, corner of Washington street and Cleverly court, and took $25 from his grip. The affair was reported to the police and the name of the man who was suspected given to the police. Lieut. McKay has a warrant for the man's arrest. The fellow was very bold about the matter, for after taking the money he made a trip to Boston. He returned to the house early in the afternoon, packed his trunk and left town for good.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Saturday will be the first day of August.

Repairs have been made to the office building of Undertaker Hall.

The steamship Creole is expected at the Fore River shipyard early in August.

Herman F. McIntire is on a trip to the Cape. Deep sea fish stories will be in order on his return.

C. C. Hearn has had a fine awning placed over the front door of his residence on Hancock street.

The Granite Manufacturer's Association are planning for their annual outing to be held at Gloucester next month.

Prof. Marceau of Wollaston avenue returned on Monday from Canada. While away he attended the celebration of Quebec's Tercentenary.

Since the dog officer began to get busy there has been a notable absence of dogs on the streets. Quite a few unlicensed dogs have been killed.

Hughes & Johnson, the Granite street granite manufacturers, shipped two handsome celtic cross jobs to western parties this week.

The postponed races of the Brockton Gentlemen's Driving Club and the Old Colony Driving Club will take place at the Weymouth fair grounds on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Addison, are at their summer camp with guests at Small Point Beach, Maine. Mr. Addison returns every other week during the summer.

Stop my ad in the Ledger, telephones H. E. Crane. I had five applications for my house the first day in the Ledger and not one from an "ad" in the Boston papers.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, Master Harold Morgan and Miss Sproul of Standish avenue are registered at the Hillcrest, Great Chebeague Island, Maine, for three weeks.

One of the prettiest drives in the city is over the parkway along the shore of Atlantic and Wollaston beaches. Starting in from Atlantic street the view along the whole length is a beautiful one.

When the Commissioner of Public Works completes the work of resurfacing Washington street he should give his attention to Hancock street between City Square and Neponset. The street is in very bad condition.

The new method of dispatching the Neponset line of the street cars from City Square does away with much confusion. Instead of crossing over from one track to another the cars are sent over the loop around the First church. No more time is required and there is no confusion among passengers.

CEMENTING OF AN ALLIANCE

Russia and France Continue to Be on Best of Terms

FALLIERES ENDS HIS VISIT

Banquet on Battleship at Which Desire to Maintain Peace of the World and Equilibrium of Europe Is Expressed by President and Czar—Complete Accord on Political Questions Which Interest the Two Nations

Reval, July 29.—The visit of M. Fallieres to Emperor Nicholas terminated last night with a state banquet on the French battleship Verite, after which the emperor bade a cordial farewell to the President of France and his suite. The French squadron then weighed anchor and departed for Christiania.

M. Pichon and M. Iswolsky, respectively the French and Russian foreign ministers, concur in stating that the visit of Fallieres to Reval has served to demonstrate the complete accord of the two nations, without giving rise to any new departures in international relations.

According to Iswolsky, the conferences between the president and the emperor and of the diplomatic representatives of Russia and France covered the general range of European politics, touching all questions now interesting diplomatic chancellories. A complete understanding concerning the problems in which the two nations are jointly concerned was reached, as well as with regard to questions arising out of the situation in Persia and Morocco, which are considered within the special sphere of either of the allies.

The keynote of the addresses upon the exchange of toasts at the banquet was the desire of both France and Russia to maintain the general peace of the world and the equilibrium of Europe. Similar declarations were made at the meeting between Emperor Nicholas and King Edward.

During yesterday afternoon the president's son went ashore and visited many of the public places, but Fallieres himself did not touch Russian soil during the visit.

Prior to the banquet the emperor and the president together visited several Russian and French warships. The Russian sailors were entertained aboard one of the French cruisers.

The usual distribution of decorations and presents took place. The emperor presented snuff boxes to M. Pichon and Admiral Touchard, the ambassador to Russia. Fallieres presented a pair of vases to the empress and delighted the imperial children with two chests of beautiful French toys.

GREAT HURRICANE WRECKS SHIPS

Fears That Governor of Newfoundland May Be Lost

St. Johns, July 29.—The Labrador coast was yesterday visited with a terrible calamity when a hurricane wind from the northeast wrecked seventeen vessels in one harbor.

Other parts of the coast are as yet unheard from, but grave fears are entertained here for the safety of Governor MacGregor of Newfoundland, who is on an official visit to the Labrador coast.

The meagre advices received here state that the crews of the seventeen fishing vessels which were smashed to pieces in one harbor reached shore, but should any craft have been caught outside on the bleak coast where there could be no succor to the shipwrecked the loss of life must have been heavy.

The large majority of the good sized fishing fleet on the Labrador coast was north of Indian Harbor, out of reach of any cable station, and it will be at least three days before the full extent of the disaster can be learned. It is not known on just what part of the coast MacGregor was, no news of him having been received from Indian Harbor or any cable point in that territory.

Thousands of Chinese Drowned

Hong Kong, July 29.—Reports from Canton say that the scenes following the typhoon of Monday night last are heartrending. Thousands of Chinese were drowned. The typhoon in its loss of life and damage to shipping eclipsed the typhoon of 1906. Returns received here show that the loss to European shipping was light, but that over 100 native vessels were wrecked.

Bryan Reads Taft's Letter

Lincoln, Neb., July 29.—William J. Bryan returned to Lincoln after an absence of four days in Chicago and Omaha. Taft's letter of acceptance was read by Bryan with manifest interest, and he said he would probably submit some comment for publication today on Taft's utterances.

Sultan Takes Oath of Allegiance

Constantinople, July 29.—In the presence of Sheik ul Astam, the head of the hierarchy in Turkey, the sultan yesterday took the oath of allegiance to the constitution on the Koran. This solemn ceremony tends to reassure the public mind.

Speedy Justice In New Jersey

New Brunswick, N. J., July 29.—Archie Herron, who shot and killed Rev. S. V. B. Prickett, a Methodist minister, on July 15, was convicted of murder in the first degree and was sentenced to be electrocuted on Sept. 7. Herron's trial began Monday, and the case was given to the jury yesterday. It took but forty-five minutes to bring in a verdict of guilty. Herron's motive is believed to have been to revenge himself upon the minister, who, when a recorder of the Metuchen court, sentenced Herron to serve ten days in jail for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Death of Congressman Powers

Houlton, Me., July 29.—Congressman Llewellyn Powers, aged 72, died after a few months' illness with a complication of diseases. He practiced law for awhile in New York state, but in 1861 began practice in Houlton. Becoming interested extensively in timberland he gave less and less attention to the law. A few years ago he was credited with owning nearly 200,000 acres of timber land in Maine, and was considered one of Maine's richest men.

Held For Killing Brother

Ellsworth, Me., July 29.—Frank Baldasare, who was arrested at Bangor and charged with having killed his brother at Crotch Island, was arraigned here and entered a plea of not guilty. He was bound over to the October term of the supreme court without bail.

Settled With the Government

Washington, July 29.—Acting Secretary of the Treasury Coolidge yesterday received from the Central Pacific Railroad company $2,939,661 in payment of its twentieth and last note, and in valuation of its total indebtedness to the government, under the settlement agreement of Feb. 1, 1899.

Protest Against Granting Right to National Organization to Pitch Tents For Accommodation of Thousands of Men on One of Boston's Largest and Most Frequented Parks—A Menace to Health

Boston, July 29.—As a result of a protest meeting of the citizens of Dorchester and Roxbury, called by the Harvard Improvement association, the supreme court will be asked for an injunction to restrain the Knights of Pythias from holding their biennial national encampment, which opens here next week, on Franklin Field, one of the largest parks of the city.

The park commission recently granted the right to the national body to pitch tents on the field and use it throughout the week of their national encampment. Several thousands of Pythians will congregate here from all parts of the country for the encampment.

The announcement at once aroused the citizens of Dorchester and Roxbury, and the action of the commission has been very generally criticised, resulting in the call for a meeting last night at which action was taken authorizing the law committee of the Harvard Improvement association to ask for an injunction and to protest to the park commission.

The citizens claim that the encampment of such a large body of men will constitute a menace to health and that the city has no right to give up the use of one of its public parks to any particular body of men, thereby depriving the citizens of the use of the park.

Franklin Field is probably used by a larger number of citizens daily than any other park in the city, being especially well equipped with tennis and baseball grounds, bowling greens and a race track.

DEPARTURE OF OFFICIAL GUESTS

Quebec's Great Celebration Practically Comes to an End

Quebec, July 29.—The visit of the Prince of Wales came to an end when the prince went aboard the battleship Indomitable, which sailed this morning. The prince's departure was marked by the same scenes of demonstrative enthusiasm which marked his arrival. Troops lined the streets and another great crowd was out to give the royal visitor a rousing farewell.

The prince drove in an open carriage from the citadel to the King's Landing, accompanied by his suite and attended by a mounted escort. As he went aboard the Indomitable the international fleet roared a parting salute.

During last evening the prince attended a state dinner aboard the British flagship Exmouth, this being the closing official function. It was attended by all the official representatives here, including Vice President Fairbanks and the American army and navy officers.

The New Hampshire sailed today and the French ships sail tomorrow. Fairbanks and the American army officers left today. Quebec will continue to celebrate for several days, but the departure of the official guests practically closes the ter-centenary.

LEAGUERS PRESENT A TICKET

Hisgen and Graves Standard Bearers

GREAT ROW OVER BRYAN

Man Who Tried to Nominate Nebraskan Hustled Out

NEARLY PRODUCED A RIOT

Both the Old Parties Scored In Independence Platform

Chicago, July 29.—For president, Thomas L. Hisgen of Massachusetts.

For vice president, John T. Graves of Georgia.

The above ticket was last night nominated by the Independence party at its first national convention.

THOMAS L. HISGEN.

The friends of Mr. Bryan made an effort during the night session to bring his name before the convention and the man who attempted it nearly produced a riot and narrowly escaped physical violence at the hands of indignant delegates.

The man who sought to place Bryan in nomination was J. I. Shepard of Fort Scott, Kan. He did not succeed in his mission, for being called to order by the convention and questioned by Chairman Walsh he admitted that it was his intention to name Bryan.

That was the first and last time he mentioned the name of the Democratic leader. He was promptly ruled out of order by the chairman and under the guard of several sergeants-at-arms he was hustled out of the hall, while some of the incensed delegates vainly attempted to strike him with fists, and one of them swung at him savagely with a cane.

The nomination of Hisgen was made on the third ballot, his competitors being Milford W. Howard of Alabama and John T. Graves. Reuben R. Lyon of New York received a complimentary vote on the first ballot, and William R. Hearst had forty-nine friends who voted for him on the first two ballots.

The final ballot resulted: Hisgen, 831; Howard, 38; Graves, 7; Hearst, 2. A roar of applause followed the announcement of the ballot and a motion making unanimous the nomination was adopted with a yell. The usual parade of standards around the hall then commenced, while the band played patriotic airs. The uproar continued eight minutes and then a committee was sent to escort Hisgen to the hall.

The nomination of Graves was made unanimously, all the other candidates being withdrawn.

Following is the platform adopted by the convention:

THE PLATFORM.

We, Independent American Citizens, representing the Independence party in forty-four states and two territories, have met in national convention to nominate, absolutely independent of all other political parties, candidates for president and vice-president of the United States.

Our action is based upon a determination to wrest the conduct of public affairs from the hands of selfish interests, political tricksters and corrupt bosses, and make the government, as the founders intended, an agency for the common good.

At a period of unexampled national prosperity and promise, a staggering blow was dealt to legitimate business by the unmolested practice of stock-watering and dishonest financiering. Multitudes of defenseless investors, thousands of honest business men and an army of idle workingmen are paying the penalty. Year by year, fostered by wasteful and reckless governmental extravagance, by the manipulation of trusts and by a privilege-creating tariff, the cost of living mounts higher and higher. Day by day the control of the government drifts further away from the people and more firmly into the grip of machine politicians and party bosses.

The Republican and Democratic parties are not only responsible for these conditions, but are committed to their indefinite continuance. Prodigal of promises, they are so barren of performance that to a new party of Independent voters the country must look for the establishment of a new policy and a return to genuine popular government.

Our object is not to introduce violent innovations or startling new theories, but to restore the action of the government to the principles of Washington and Jefferson and Lincoln, to conserve for the citizens of the United States their privileges and liberties won for them by the founders of this government, and to perpetuate the principles and policies upon which the nation's greatness has been built.

The Independence party is, therefore, a conservative force in American politics, devoted to the preservation of American liberty and independence, to honesty in elections, to opportunity in business and to equality before the law. Those who believe in the Independence party and work with it are convinced that a genuine Democracy should exist; that a true Republican form of government should continue; that the power of government should rest with the majority of the people, and that the government should be conducted for the benefit of the whole citizenship, rather than for the special advantage of a particular class.

Direct Nominations.

As of first importance, in order to restore the power of government to the people, to make their will supreme in the primaries, in the elections and in the control of public officials after they have been elected, we decalre for direct nominations, the initiative and referendum and the right of recall.

The Referendum.

We believe in the principle of the initiative and referendum, and we particularly demand that no franchise grant go into operation until the terms and conditions have been approved by popular vote in the locality interested.

The Recall.

We demand for the people the right to recall public officials from the public service. The power to make officials residein the people, and in them also should reside the power to unmake and remove from office any official who demonstrates his unfitness or betrays the public trust.

Corrupt Practices at Election.

We demand severe and effective legislation against all forms of corrupt practices at elections and advocate prohibiting the use of any money at elections except for meetings, literature and the necessary traveling expenses of candidates. Bidding for votes. The Republican and Democratic candidates are making an outcry about publicity of contributions, although both the Republican and Democratic parties have for years consistently blocked every effort to pass a corrupt practices act. We believe that the dishonest use of money in the past, whether contributed by individuals or by corporations has been chiefly responsible for the corruption which has undermined our system of popular government.

Economy.

We demand honest conduct of public office and business like and economical administration of public affairs, and we condemn the gross extravagance of federal administration and its appalling annual increase in appropriations. Unnecessary appropriations mean unnecessary taxes, and unnecessary taxes, whether direct or indirect, are paid by the people and add to the ever-increasing cost of living.

Over-Capitalization.

We condemn the evil of over-capitalization. Modern Industrial conditions make the corporation and stock company a necessity, but over-capitalization in corporations is as harmful and criminal as is personal dishonesty in an individual. Compelling the payment of dividends upon great sums that have never been invested, upon masses of watered stock not justified by the property, over-capitalization prevents the better wages, the better public service, and the lower cost that should result from American inventive genius and that wide organization which is replacing costly individual competition. The Independence party advocates as a primary necessity for sounder business conditions and improved public service the enactment of laws, state and national, to prevent watering of stock, dishonest issues of bonds and other forms of corporation frauds.

Labor.

We denounce the so-called labor planks of the Democratic and Republican platforms a spolitical buncombe and contemptible clap-trap unworthy of national parties claiming to be serious and sincere.

The Republican declaration that "no injunction or temporary restraining order should be issued without notice, except where irreparable injury would result from delay" is empty verbiage, for a showing of irreparable injury can always be made and is always made in ex-parte affidavits.

The Democratic declaration that "injunctions should not be issued in any case in which injunctions should not issue if no industrial dispute were involved" is meaningless and worthless. Such insincere and meaningless declarations place a low estimate upon the intelligence of the average American working man and exhibit either ignorance of, or indifference to the real interests of labor.

The Independence Party condemns the arbitrary use of the writ of injunction and contempt proceedings as a violation of the fundamental American right of trial by jury.

From the foundation of our government down to 1872, the Federal judiciary act prohibited the issue of any injunction without reasonable notice until after a hearing. We assert that in all actions growing out of a dispute between employers and employes concerning terms or conditions of employment no injunction should issue until after a trial upon the merits; that such trial should be held before a jury, and that in no case of alleged contempt should any person be deprived of liberty without a trial by jury.

The Independence party believes that the distribution of wealth is as important as the creation of wealth, and indorses these organizations among farmers and workers which tend to bring about a just distribution of wealth through good wages for workers and good prices for farmers and which protect the employer and the consumer through equality of price for labor and for product, and we favor such legislation as will remove them from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

We indorse the eight-hour workday, favor its application to all government employes and demand the enactment of laws requiring that all work done for the government, whether federal or state, or whether done directly or indirectly through contractors or sub-contractors, shall be done on an eight-hour basis.

We favor the enactment of a law defining as illegal any combination or conspiracy to black-list employes.

We demand protection for workmen through enforced use of standard safety appliances and provision of hygienic conditions in the operation of factories, railways, mills, mines and all industrial undertakings.

We advocate state and federal inspection of railways to secure a greater safety for railway employes and for the traveling public.

We call for the enactment of stringent laws fixing employers' liabilities and a rigid prohibition of child-labor through operation between the state governments and the national government.

We condemn the manufacture and sale of prison-made goods in the open market in competition with free labor manufactured goods.

We demand that convicts shall be employed direct by the different states in the manufacture of products for use in state institutions and in making good roads, and in no case shall convicts be hired out to contractors or sub-contractors.

We favor the creation of a department of labor, including mine and mining, the head of which shall be a member of the President's cabinet.

The great abuses of grain inspection by which the producers are plundered demand immediate and vigorous correction. To that end we favor federal inspection under a strict civil service law.

Currency.

The Independence Party declares that the right to issue money is inherent in the government, and it favors the establishment of a central governmental bank through which the money so issued shall be put into general circulation.

The Tariff.

We demand a revision of the tariff, not by the friends of the tariff, but by the friends of the people, and declare for a gradual reduction of tariff duties with just consideration for the rights of the contending public and of established industry. There should be no protection of oppressive trusts which sell cheaply abroad and take advantage of the tariff at home to crush competition, raise prices, control production and limit work and wages.

The Railroads.

The railroads must be kept open to all upon exactly equal terms. Every form of rebate and discrimination and railroad rates is a crime against business and must be stamped out. We demand adequate railroad facilities and advocate a bill empowering shippers in time of need to compel railroads to provide sufficient cars for freight and passenger traffic and other railroad facilities through summary appeal to the courts. We favor the creation of an interstate commerce court, whose sole function it shall be to review speedily and enforce summarily the orders of the interstate commerce commission. The Interstate commerce commission have the power to initiate investigation into the reasonableness of rates and practices, and no increase in rates should be put into effect until opportunity for such investigation is afforded. The interstate commerce commission should proceed at once with physical valuation of railroads engaged in interstate commerce.

Trusts.

We believe that legitimate organizations in business designed to secure an economy of operation and increased production are beneficial whenever the public participates in the advantages which result. We denounce all combinations for restraint of trade and for the establishment of monopoly in all products of labor, and declare that such combinations are not combinations for production but for extortion, and that activity in this direction is not industry, but robbery.

In cases of infractions of the anti-trust law or of the interstate commerce act, we believe in the enforcement of a prison penalty against the guilty and responsible individuals controlling the management of the offending corporations, rather than a fine imposed upon stockholders.

Public Ownership.

We advocate the extension of the principle of public ownership of public utilities, including railroads, as rapidly as municipal state or national government shall demonstrate ability to conduct public utilities for the public benefit. We favor specifically government ownership of the telegraphs, such as prevails in every other civilized country in the world, and demand, as an immediate measure, that the government shall purchase and operate the telegraphs in connection with the postal service.

Parcels Post and Postal Savings Banks.

The parcels post system should be rapidly and widely extended and government postal savings banks should be established where the people's deposits will be secure, the money to be loaned to the people in the locality of the several banks and at a rate of interest to be fixed by the government.

Good Roads, Statehood, Postal Censorship.

We favor the immediate development of a national system of good roads connecting all states and national aid to states in the construction and maintenance of post roads.

We favor the admission of Arizona and New Mexico to separate statehood.

We favor a court review of the censorship and arbitary rulings of the post office department.

Fictitious Sales of Farm Products.

We advocate such legislation, both state and national, as will suppress the bucket-shop and prohibit the fictitious selling of farm products for future delivery.

National Health Bureau.

We favor the creation of a national department of public health, to be presided over by a member of the medical profession, this department to exercise such authority over matters of public health, hygiene and sanitation which come properly within the jurisdiction of the national government and does not interfere with the right of states or municipalities.

Asiatic Exclusion.

We oppose Asiatic immigration which does not amalgamate with our population, creates race issues and un-American conditions, and which reduces wages and tends to lower the high standard of living and the high standard of morality which American civilization has established. We demand the passage of an exclusion act which shall protect American workingmen from competition with Asiatic cheap labor and which shall protect American civilization from the contamination of Asiatic conditions.

The Navy.

The Independence party declares for peace and against aggression, and will promote the movement for the settlement of international disputes by arbitration. We believe, however, that a small navy is poor economy and that a strong navy is the best protection in time of war and the best preventative of war. We therefore favor the speedy building of a navy sufficiently strong to protect at the same time both the Atlantic and Pacific coast of the United States.

Internal Waterways and National Resources.

We rejoice in the adoption by both the Democratic and Republican platforms of the demand of the Independence party for improved national waterways and the Mississippi inland deep-waterways project, to complete a ship channel from the gulf to the great lakes. We favor the extension of this system to the tributaries of the Mississippi by means of which thirty states shall be served and twenty thousand miles added to the coast line of the United States. The reclamation of arid lands should be continued and the irrigation program now contemplated by the government executed and steps taken for the conservation of the country's natural resources which should be guarded not only against devastation and waste, but against falling into the control of the monopoly. We protest vigorously against the policy of the federal government in selling the exclusive use of water and electric power derived from public works to private corporations, thus creating a monopoly and subjecting citizens living in those sections to exhorbitant charges for light and power, and diverting enterprises originally started for public benefit into channels for corporate greed and oppression, and we demand that no more exclusive contracts be made.

Protection of American Citizens.

American citizens abroad, whether native born or naturalized, and of whatever race or creed, must be secured in the enjoyment of all rights and privileges under our treaties, and wherever such rights are withheld by any country on the ground of race or religious faith, steps should be taken to secure the removal of such unjust discrimination.

Popular Election of Senators—Income Tax.

We advocate the popular election of United States senators and judges, both state and federal, and favor a graduated income tax and any constitutional amendments necessary to these ends.

Equality and opportunity, the largest measure of individual liberty consitsent with equal rights, the overthrow of the rule of special interest, and the restoration of government by the majority exercised for the benefit of the whole community these are purpose to which the Independence party is pledged, and we invite the co-operation of all patriotic and progressive citizens, irrespective of party, who are in sympathy with these principles and in favor of their practical enforcement.

Some Taft Ideas

Cincinnati, July 29.—Speaking to a delegation of Indiana editors in the Taft residence immediately following the notification exercises, Mr. Taft gave a glimpse of his ideas regarding party organization and of his estimate of himself as a politician.

"I am not a politician," Taft said, "in the sense that I have had a great deal of experience in organization. I am a politician in having the aspirations of a politician, but my experience has not been such as to justify my advice with respect to details of organization. I can only say that I understand and fully take in the necessity for organization and for watchfulness, so as to focus on election day the strength that is behind the party in popular opinion."

Activities Confined to Taft

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 29.—President Roosevelt will maintain an attitude of absolute non-interference in the political situation in New York during the coming campaign. He has been appealed to in behalf of various candidates, but he will continue his policy of strict non-interference. He will do all that it is legitimately proper for him to do to secure Taft's election, but further than that he will not go.

CAPT. PRAY SHOWS WAY

His Gain of 1,000 Puts Him in Lead In the Motor Boat Popularity Contest

Capt. Field made a gain today, but it was small beside the increase for Capt. Pray. An even 1000 for the latter places him in the lead today by a margin of nearly 300.

Capt. Foster has also passed Capt. Field, having made a gain of 300.

Gains were also made by T. J. Larkin, of the Bigelow A. C., and by E. C. Bennett the Fore River draughtsman, and others.

After Saturday the standing of the candidates will not be published until the final summary. The last coupon will be printed July 31, and the polls close on Thursday, Aug. 6, at 5 P. M.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

Houghs Neck Bowling League

The Night Owls have withdrawn from the Houghs Neck bowling league. They were supposed to bowl the Yannigans Tuesday night but forfeited the three strings. Flynn of the Night Owls claims that the team has not been treated fairly by the others. The Night Owls forfeited three strings to the River Roads by non attendance. Last night they wanted to bowl the River Roads the strings they forfeited. The River Roads refused to do this so the Night Owls quit and would not play the game scheduled with the Yannigans. The dropping out of the Night Owls leaves the league with only three teams. The remaining teams will continue to bowl for the prizes.

The Yannigans bowled three strings to save their percentages, resulting as follows:

Taber	67	73	75	215
Hammond	91	78	82	251
Burke	95	87	97	279
Greenaway	84	95	96	275
Scott	104	88	72	264
	441	421	421	1284

The League standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Yannigans	17	1
Night Owls	5	10
Bay Views	4	11
River Roads	withdrew

Fred Scott of Bell street captured the prize for the three highest strings at Browns alleys last week. Mrs. Clara Catarius won the ladies prize.

The Bay Views will bowl the River Roads Thursday night at Browns Alleys.

The Conference On Battleships

There are indications that the discussion of the battleship problems at the Naval War College, in which the president participated July 22, may yet continue for two or three weeks more says a Newport dispatch to the Boston Advertiser. The sessions are presided over by Rear Adm. John P. Merrell, president of the college, and continue from 9 A. M. until 5 P. M., with an hour and a half for luncheon. Nothing is given out from the conference room, and while the discussion lasts the regular course of the college is suspended. It was reported Tuesday that Sec. Metcalf would attend one of the discussions.

New Business Block.

Penniman & Son are to vacate the stable on Depot street between now and the first of September. The building is to be remodelled by Mr. Faxon into a business block. Messrs Penniman have leased the Greenleaf stables where they will be located. This location will give them more room and the location is nearly central.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title—Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL
(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams Street, Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

Claim Agent Held for Assault

John Dowd, a claim agent, was arrested in Boston on Tuesday for Inspector Goodhue, who held a warrant against him for assault. It is reported that Dowd visited the City Hospital to interview Keniley, and that he tried to induce him to sign a release. Keniley wanted to read the paper, and when he had it in his hand it is said that he tore it up. It is alleged that Dowd in trying to get the paper away from Keniley assaulted him. At this point the hospital authorities put the agent out. He was arrainged in the Quincy court and the case continued until September.

SHIRKING THE TRAMP PROBLEM.

The banishment method of dealing with petty criminals, vagrants and beggars—all the denizens of the underworld roughly grouped as "tramps" or "hoboes"—is a cowardly, ineffective and slipshod way of handling a grave problem. It is a system of which any up-to-date and self-reliant municipality ought to be ashamed.

It is well enough, of course, to turn back such undesirables at the limits of any town. Sufficient unto the city are the criminals and idlers thereof, and no place can be censured for refusing the outcasts bred by its neighbors. They are properly their own community's burden. But to drive out vagrants, thieves and beggars who cannot be traced to some other place of origin is unfair as well as cowardly. It is shirking plain duty.

Tramps ought to be either cured or put out of the way of honest and useful folk. They should be reformed or kept locked up where they are neither a peril nor a pest. It is not possible to reach either safety or reform by means of banishment.

This is plain common sense. It is also justice. Especially is it true that big cities play an unfair and disgraceful part in turning hordes of hoboes loose upon small neghboring towns, or upon the country folk who have scanty means of defending themselves and their property against an army of outcasts.—Boston Courier.

Governor Hughes of New York, will accept another nomination if the Republican party of the Empire State desires him to again be its candidate. He has made a most excellent Governor, performing his duties without fear or favor, and New York should continue him in office. He has incurred the displeasures of the race track gamblers, and Richard Croker sneers at him as Elder Hughes, but the law abiding citizens owe it to themselves to see that he is re-elected by a substantial majority.

The Fortune Hunters.

[Original.]

Raymond Riggs, a rich bachelor, finding the weather oppressive in the city, concluded to run down to the seashore. He found there a bevy of girls, the most of whom, having worn themselves out during the gay social season in town, were endeavoring to put the roses back into their cheeks under the influence of ocean breezes. Nevertheless there was not one of them but could spare the time to secure "an establishment."

Raymond Riggs was a key to the wealth he possessed. All a girl had to do to unlock the door to it was to snare him. He had fought off a regiment of them during the previous season and had hoped for a rest at the seashore. He was doomed to disappointment. They attacked him by platoons and companies. To get rid of them he went off one day several miles up the beach and sat down on the sand. The waves rolled lazily in, broke on a bar and slid up on the sand with an effervescing sound. The sky was blue and cloudless. The ships out at sea sailed on as silently as if they were painted instead of real. It was all very restful and in marked contrast with being hunted down by a flock of—women, he should have said, but he preferred the word harpies.

A glass bottle was thrown up by the waves, rolled about on the sand and carried out. When it came up again Raymond noticed that it was corked. He seized it, took out the cork and with the blade of his knife managed to extricate through the narrow neck a card. On it was written in pale ink, "Aline Eliot." The address was given at a town a hundred miles down the coast, then followed, "Dear finder, I am lonely."

"For heaven's sake," exclaimed Raymond, "are all the women in the world hunting lovers? I escape from a flock of them back on the shore only to be met by an advance from the ocean."

But as he gazed at this singular contrivance for mating, as he regarded it, it seemed far different to him from the advances he had received from the fortune hunters. He fancied the writer to be some innocent girl who craved only to obey the instincts mother nature had planted in her pure bosom. Perhaps she had sat alone by the ocean as he was sitting, yielding to a natural inclination to mate, and had sent out her message with blind confidence that it would fall into the hands of the man who was destined to be all in all to her. Was this the explanation, or was she, too, hunting for a fortune? He would open a correspondence with her. In this way he could find out what he wished to know.

He inclosed the card with his own name and address and the words, "I, too, am lonely." In a few days he received a letter. There was nothing in it about love or marriage. It was an unsophisticated epistle from a young girl about nothing. Raymond read between the lines, "Perhaps you are he for whom I intended my message." But it did not say, "You may be some rascal who will take a mean advantage of what I have done." What refreshing innocence! Fancy one of the fortune hunters reposing such confidence in the average man. Raymond was an imaginative fellow and would sit long on the dunes or on the beach mentally contemplating this innocence. If he could see her likeness he could judge of her motive with more certainty.

He thought he would send a picture of some man about his own age and ask hers in return, but the girl's guilelessness had affected him, and he shrank from such deception. Then, confident that he could not be mistaken, he inclosed his photograph. As soon as he had done so the thought occurred to him that he was a fool. The danger of a society fortune hunter was nothing beside one he had never seen possessing letters from him and his photograph.

However, in exchange came a likeness. It was the likeness of one a painter would seize upon as a model for a Madonna. There was innocence personified. A pair of soft eyes looked out from an oval face. The lips were sensative, and Raymond considered them especially kissable. He thought of the faces of the fortune hunters, restored to their natural appearance by cosmetics. There was none of them who would not consider herself flagrantly immodest to thus advertise for a husband. Yet here was the Madonna-like face looking at him with a modesty that none of these could have assumed.

One day Raymond was missed at the seashore. There was a flutter among the fortune hunters, for, though none of them had secured a foothold, every one hoped for herself, not for the others. Had he returned to the city? No. Inquiries elicited the fact that his baggage, like our flag, was "still there." So they waited and watched and hoped. But Raymond did not return. In time he directed that his baggage be sent to the city, and neither the waves nor the gulls nor the ships nor the fortune hunters saw him more—at least not that summer.

But the next summer all these saw him again and saw a very different man. He was no longer pursued by the harpies, for his estate had been pre-empted. A slender, oval faced wife was with him, whose presence kept them all at a distance. They were willing to admit there was a certain placid beauty about her, though she had no style. But there was evidence that her figure was not built out or driven in. Indeed, she was as God. not dress, had made her.

Ladies Night Quincy Council

A largely attended and very enjoyable ladies' night social was held Tuesday evening by Quincy council, Knights of Columbus, at the Hibernian hall on Franklin street.

During the first part of the evening Rev. W. J. Carey, C. S. P. a brother of Grand Knight T. J. Carey gave an interesting talk on California, illustrated by over 00 stereopticon views. He showed San Francisco before and after the earthquake, and related his personal experiences during those trying times. A number of views of the Yosemite valley were also shown.

After the lecture there was a brief entertainment which included piano solos by George Powers, recitations by Harry McGrath, vocal selections by a quartette composed of Miss Helen Galvin, Miss Angelina McCarthy, Dr. Daniel B. Reardon and D. J. Seward McCurdy, Miss Mary McConarty was the accompanist.

Ices and other refreshments were served, and there was dancing until 11.30. The evening proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the many held by Quincy council.

RESOLUTIONS.

on the death of Bro. BENJAMIN F. LINTON.

WHEREAS—It has become the sad duty of Local Union No. 79, I. U. S. E., to record the death of one of its most honored members, Brother Benjamin F. Linton, one, whose sudden call to the great Beyond has left a vacancy which cannot be easily filled, either in the hearts of his many friends and brother members; one, who was a worthy brother, capable engineer and a respected citizen:

RESOLVED—That while we bow in humble submission to the will of the Supreme Ruler, we none the less mourn the loss of the presence and good council of our deceased brother:

RESOLVED—That we the member of Local Union No. 79, I. U. S. E., Quincy, Mass., hereby express our heartfelt sympathy and condolence to the bereaved family of our deceased brother, and commend them for consolation to that Divine Power, who doeth all things well, feeling that to them as to us, there as comfort in the knowledge that the departed has lived a consistent and honorable life:

RESOLVED—That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the breaved family and one to the public press, and one to our official Journal, and that they be spread in full on our minutes, and that our charter be draped for thirty days.

You can't Beat Ralston's for Summer Wear.

As you well know, it's during the Summer that your shoes are put to the hardest test. In order for them to give you all Summer-long satisfaction they must be "dressy" enough to wear anywhere and yet they must be perfectly comfortable.

In short you want your feet to look "dressed up" without their feeling so. That's why we recommend Ralston shoes. Come in and let us show you wherein they're different from any other shoes made.

GRANITE FIRMS

Of the City Threatened With Black List By the Retailers

Practically all of the granite manufacturers have received letters from the National Retail Monumental Dealers Association, whose headquarters are at Oak Park, Ill., relative to the wholesale manufacturers who do a retail business in competion with the recognized retail dealers.

The object of the association is to confine the retail business to the retail firms, and to keep the wholesale firms from doing any retail business.

According to the circular received, those wholesale firms who continue to do retail business will be black listed by the association.

Here in Quincy there are but few firms that are known as strictly retail firms, the greater part of the firms being wholesalers.

For all this, however, there is probably not a whilesale firm in the city who would refuse to cut a monument for any person who had the necessary money to pay for it.

The individual, however, who goes probably not a wholesale firm in the ment cut, must not run away with the idea that he is getting his monument at wholesale prices. On the contrary he will have to pay as much as he would to any strictly retail firm. The only difference is that the manufacturer gets the profit instead of the so-called middle man or jobber.

The letter from the Retail Association enclosed a slip containing questions it desired answered. One of these questions was, does the firm do any retail business in addition to wholesale? An affirmative answer to both these questions means a blacklisting of all these firms. There is no question but if the manufacturers answer the question truthfully every wholesale firm in the city will be on the black list.

World's Largest Prison.

A State should not boast of the size of its prisons or the number of inmates, and so far as is known no one has mentioned with pride the fact that New York proposes to build the largest penal institution in the world. Yet as a matter of general interest it is worth calling attention to. The plans recently approved provide for a cell house that will hold 2000 prisoners and will be restricted to four tiers, instead of eight and ten, as is the custom. All the buildings and grounds will cover thirty acres. There are to be some novelties introduced in the construction of this home for felons. Enameled steel is to be used in the cells, and the interior walls are to be of porcelain enamel, the same as bathtubs. No other prison in the world is so equipped, concrete, brick, stone and other kindred materials commonly being used. But in addition to making the cells as dirt and germ proof as possible by the lavish use of enamel, each one will contain running water, all the furniture will be steel, and no piece of wood as large as a hand will enter into the construction of a cell. The only inflammable articles allowed in them will be mattresses and bed clothing. But in case the prisoners come to the conclusion that they would rather be elsewhere, despite the fine appointments, plans have been made to have the keepers first lock the cells, then interlocked by the supervising officer and again interlocked from the warden's office. This is calculated to keep the inmates from roaming afield, no matter how great the monotony may become."—Boston Courier.

—Out in Roxbury a man of 95 has just quit tobacco, and he declares it is about time that he took care of himself. He is right. Tobacco shortens human life and ought not to be used, even in moderation, by anyone over 95 years of age.

Parkway Rules Need Amending

A couple of yachtsmen with a boom on their shoulders were crossing the Parkway from Beach street to the Wollaston Yacht Club's wharf on Tuesday when they were held up by a Park policeman and compelled to retrace their steps. The only way they could get the boom into their club house was to land it in Sachem brook, by crossing private land, and then float it down to the club.

It appears as though the Park commission had securely locked the two yacht clubs out in the bay and proposed to keep them there. As the commission controls the entire water front it looks as if they would have their own way, regardless of the hundred yachts which are moored there, unless the Legislature steps in and grants relief.

A bill is now being drafted to protect the rights of the members of the two clubs and other yachtsmen.

It is regrettable that the commission could not have been a little more diplomatic in handling what at first seemed a very small matter, and one that called for no outlay of money and no especial privilege. Rule and regulations which are applicable to the government of the Blue Hills reservation or Middlesex Fells are hardly fitted to the Wollaston Beach with its large yachting interests.

Tendered a Surprise.

A surprise party was tendered to Miss Ella W. Werme of 25 Station street, West Quincy, Wednesday evening by her many friends. After making a speech that was fitting for the occasion George Bjork presented her with a beautiful gold locket in behalf of her relatives and friends who had gathered to help her spend an enjoyable evening. There was an hour of singing, and duets were played on the violin, accompanied by a guitar. Then all adjourned to the dining room to do justice to a dainty spread. The rest of the evening was spent in singing and playing games. It was at a late hour that the party broke up and all hoped that they may have another chance to be present at such an occasion.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. P. Person, Miss Teresa Linberg, Lillian Linberg, Ella Werme, Esther Werme, Lillian Werme, Alma Nelson, Dora Landerholm, Mildred Landerholm, Signe Almquist, Ellen Murray, Mr. Parker, George Bjork, Oscar Dahl, Alfred Hanson and others.

Houghs Neck By the Seaside

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Murray of Shennen street are entertaining relatives from Boston.

Mrs. Annie Collins of River road and Bell street entertained a party of friends from Back Bay, Wednesday. A luncheon was served, followed by whist and a delightful sail around the bay in the yacht Leo.

A novelty party will be held in Pandora hall tonight. A splendid entertainment will be given. Refreshments will be served after which dancing will be enjoyed.

The Bay Views will bowl the River Roads tonight at Brown's bowling alleys.

The O'Brien boys of Manet avenue are entertaining friends from Dorchester this week.

Many sightseers visit the old Linden House that was blown down during a recent storm.

A whist party will be held at the Great Hill House next Monday evening.

It is expected the new street lights will be lighted for the first time in about ten days.

The all-absorbing topic at Houghs Neck is the Motor Boat popularity contest of the Daily Ledger. The ire of the Houghs Neck people has been aroused and they do not propose to be downed by anyone. They are in the contest to win, and are putting forth every effort to that end.

Virginia Drew, only daughter of Atty. William J. Drew of Dorchester, who died at Houghs Neck on Monday after an illness of three days, was buried Wednesday from her home on Great Hill. Prayers were read at the grave in St. Mary's cemetery by Rev. Henry T. Grady, the new pastor of St. Mary's church at West Quincy.

Life Preservers Stand a Test

A practical test of the life preservers at the City bath house was made Wednesday afternoon, and they stood the test. A 7 year old Jewish girl was in the water learning to swim by the aid of inflated wings. Suddenly the wings became misplaced and she sank. Several men were swimming near by and they went to the girl's rescue, and soon had her on land none the worst for her experience.

When the cry went up that a girl was drowning, however, one of the big life preservers was quickly thrown into the water, but its service was not needed. Having in mind the rotten life preservers found in Boston, Keeper Starr thought it a good time to test those kept on hand for emergency. The preserver was placed beneath a 180 pound woman. It easily sustained her above water and she floated in shore.

Grapite City Banquet.

A large number of the members of the Granite City club and their friends will participate in a shore dinner tonight at Squantum. A special car for the party will leave City Square at 6 o'clock, and will return after the dinner. Tickets for the dinner may be obtained on the car. The dinners are famed for their excellence and a good time is assured those who participate.

Married in Providence.

News comes from Providence, R. I., that the Quincy photographer, Mr. Nerses H. Baylerian and his assistant Miss Susan Mina Page of Wollaston, were married in that city on Tuesday, July 28.

Revolver Practice For the Police

The "Social Settler" of the Boston Transcript comments very wisely on the need of revolver practice by the police when he says:

It seems to be pretty generally agreed that whatever other virtue the members of the police force may have displayed in the recent battle of Forest Hills, they did not distinguish themselves for revolver marksmanship. That two lone outlaws should have been able to stand off a small army of policemen for a day and a night does not speak well for the shooting ability of the latter. To be sure, the emergency which these policemen were called upon to meet was a very unusual one, but all guardians of the public safety, both military and police, ought to be trained and prepared to meet every possible test of emergency.

In this connection the suggestion of Mr. Charles Warren, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, impresses the Settler as pertinent and commendable. He suggests that candidates for the police force be required to qualify in revolver practice before admission to the civil service list of eligibles. At present the members of the force are not even required to take regular revolver practice. Commissioner O'Meara perversely defends the present policy. The objections which he urges against the proposed requirements are that it is hard enough to get good men for the police force without imposing this additional test; that the occasions in which a policeman is called upon to shoot to kill are exceedingly rare, and that, in view of the criticism to which a policeman subjects himself when he discharges his revolver. "It is not wise to have the men too good shots."

It is difficult to follow the logic of the last remark. If policemen are allowed to carry a loaded revolver at all, they ought to be tested and trained in markmanship. If they are not to be drilled in revolver practice, then they should be disarmed. The alternative is clear; either require the members of the police force to qualify and practice in the handling of revolvers, or take the revolvers away from them. A loaded revolver in the hands of an untrained person, even though he be "one of the finest," is a menace to public safety. Let the policemen of Boston either be tested and trained in revolver practice or disarmed. The present compromise policy is indefensible.

The fact that the London "bobbies" are not armed might be sighted in support of the proposition that the Boston policemen should not be allowed to carry revolvers. But there is no analogy between the two cases. The police force of Boston is called upon to deal with a dangerous mass of foreign criminals, many of whom go armed and are ready to shoot "at the drop of a hat." Considerations of self protection and public safety alike demand that the policemen of Boston and of other large American cities should carry revolvers. This being the case the only safe and wise course is to see to it that they are competent marksmen. The notion that "it is not wise to have the men too good shots" is simply grotesque.

Not the Peeper.

A Hebrew who gave his name as Abram Goldstein, and his residence as 153 Albany street, Boston, was sent to the police station by Officer Duane Wednesday night, on suspicion that he was the party who has been doing the peeping act in the vicinity of Adams street. The man was acting in a peculiar manner running from one car to another in City Square. It was said that he had boarded the car near Presidents bridge. Sergt. Barry put the man on gridiron, and became convinced that he was all right, and told him to dust, which Abram lost no time in doing.

—A. M. Downs, late secretary of New York's fire department, related at a dinner a fire story. "At the end of the first act of a drama," he said, "a man leaped hurriedly to his feet. 'I heard an alarm of fire,' he said. 'I must go and see where it is.' His wife, whose hearing was less acute, made way for him in silence, and he disappeared. 'It wasn't fire,' he said, on his return. 'Nor water, either,' said his wife, coldly."—Everybody's Magazine.

ASSISTANT PASTOR

Charles B. Ames Accepts the Invitation of The First Church

Mr. Charles B. Ames of the Class of 1908 at the Harvard Divinity school, has accepted the invitation to become the assistant of Rev. Ellery C. Butler, the pastor of the First church, Quincy.

Mr. Ames was graduated from Harvard College as well as the Harvard Divinity school. He was born in Groton, Mass., and belongs to one of the well-known Unitarian families of that historic town. He is a young man, unmarried, and of good appearance.

At present Mr. Ames is in Gottingen, Germany, where he will continue his studies until October 1, when he returns to assume his duties in Quincy.

The history of the Quincy church dates back to the settlement of the town. Rev. William Tompson was ordained in 1639. The pastors and length of pastorates since have been as follows:

	Settlement,	Years
William Tompson,	1639 to 1666	27
Henry Flynt,	1640 to 1668	29
Moses Fiske,	1672 to 1708	36
Joseph Marsh,	1708 to 1726	16
John Hancock,	1726 to 1774	18
Lemuel Briant,	1744 to 1753*	8
Anthony Wibird,	1755 to 1800	45
Peter Whitney,	1800 to 1843	43
William P. Lunt,	1835 to 1857	22
John D. Wells,	1860 to 1876*	15
Daniel M. Wilson,	1880 to 1893*	13
Ellery C. Butler,	1894 to date

*Resigned. Revs. Wells and Wilson are the only living pastors.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the new assistant pastor, comes the news that Hooks & Hastings have been awarded the contract for a new organ for the church, which will be the largest in the city and cost $5,000 to $6,000.

—Leslie Carter, the actress, says that a livery bill of $5000, introduced against her in bankruptcy proceedings, is excessive and declares it isn't more than one-tenth of that sum. What difference does it make if Leslie isn't going to pay up?

☞The power boat Crescent will make hourly trips beginning at 9 A. M. Sunday, August 2, between Quincy Point bridge and Peddock's Island.

Eugene W. O'Connor, one of the inspectors at the custom house, is enjoying his annual vacation.

J. S. Swingle leaves today for Ohio to attend the funeral of his mother who passed away early this morning.

Forbes Craig, one of South Quincy's well known granite manufacturers, has gone to Scotland for a two months' trip.

Thomas Skinner of Whitwell street and Mr. Frank Duran of South Quincy are spending a three weeks' vacation at Southport, Maine.

First of the three-game series at Atlantic will be played on Saturday at 3.30, between Makaria and Atlantic. Both teams are in fine shape and fast ball will be in order.

Business in the granite industry is booming just at present. All of the granite cutting firms report a good amount of work on hand, and the quarry owners are more than rushed.

H. Everett Hayden of Hancock court, who has been on the road with the Fiske Stock Company, closes his engagement with them this week and is expected home on Monday. The company has played through the New England states, New York and Canada, finishing the season in Glorrisville, New York, where they have been playing for the past six weeks.

Newspaper Advertising Best.

A rather striking demonstration of the supreme value of newspaper advertising over all other kinds is given by the bureau of navigation, which spent last year $50,000 in advertising for recruits for the navy. It was determined to spend a similar sum this year, but before letting the contracts the bureau thought it advisable to find out where it had received the best returns for its money. An investigation showed that all magazine and periodical advertising produced from one-fourth to one-sixteenth the return in enlisted men the daily newspaper advertising did. The most profitable line of advertising was that under "help wanted." By using the daily newspapers the bureau of navigation got recruits at an advertising cost of $3.86 each, as against $15 to $65 each through the medium of certain magazines and journals.

There is in this investigation by the bureau of navigation and its results a most striking lesson for commerce and industry, which depend for their profits on being known of the people. It is obvious why the newspaper offers so much more profitable a field than any other medium. Part of the people may read this magazine, part may read that, but in this day and age practically the entire population of the country reads the daily newspaper, and goes to it for advice and help.

We merely cite this case of the bureau of navigation, which hereafter will advertise in the daily newspapers for the sailors it needs, as a modern instance pointing anew the old and tried moral: "It pays to advertise."—Boston Courier.

COMMENT ON TAFT'S SPEECH

Bryan Sees Attempt to Amend Republican Platform

TO DISCUSS VARIOUS POINTS

Expresses Opinion That Opponent Is More Impressed With Democratic Platform Than That of His Own Party and Hesitates to Adopt Real and Substantial Reforms--Nebraskan Outlines His Plan of Campaign

Lincoln, Neb., July 30.—A statement was called forth by W. J. Bryan because of the allegation made by Mr. Taft in his speech of acceptance at Cincinnati that Bryan was a destroyer of business. In regard to the speech Bryan said:

"I read it, and shall discuss it as I deal with the various subjects upon which it treats. For instance, in a speech at Topeka, between now and the first of September, I shall discuss the guaranty of banks and contrast Mr. Taft's position with the Democratic position. In my Labor day speech at Chicago on Sept. 7 I shall discuss his attitude on the labor question. In other speeches I shall discuss his attitude on the tariff question, the trust question and other questions on which he has expressed himself.

"The most noticeable feature of his speech is his attempt to amend the Republican platform by engrafting on it some of the planks of the Democratic platform. He is evidently not satisfied with the work of his convention, and is deeply impressed by the work of the Democratic convention.

"He is uncharitable, however, in not giving the Democratic party credit for having pointed out the reforms which his own convention repudiated, but which he, in a half-hearted way, endorses. The speech shows that he fears the uprising which Republican abuses have caused, and yet hesitates to adopt his real and substantial reforms."

Confirmation was given by Bryan to the story printed yesterday afternoon that it was not his intention to make any extended campaign tour, but only to deliver a few prepared speeches at central points before the first of October, and that during that month he expects to remain at home and assist in the educational work of the campaign through the discussion of public questions in the form of signed articles, interviews and letters.

"The outline of my plan of campaign, as printed," said Bryan, "is substantially correct, but I am not prepared yet to announce the number of speeches or the places. Beside speaking at Topeka in August and at Chicago on Labor day, I shall attend the Democratic convention at Peoria on Sept. 9, the notification of Mr. Kern at Indianapolis on a date not yet fixed, and a farmers' congress at Madison, Wis., about Sept. 26."

The actual writing of his speech of acceptance has not yet been begun by Bryan, but he says that his ideas are about formulated and he will enter upon the work of preparation in a day or two. The fact that an additional stenographer has appeared on the scene is an indication that all is in readiness for this important task.

Taft Goes on Vacation

Cincinnati, July 30.—William H. Taft and his wife left Cincinnati last night for Hot Springs, Va., where they will remain until the first week in September. Taft then will return here, where it is his intention to remain until election day. The day following the notification ceremonies was one of comparative quiet for the candidate. He had an extended conference with Arthur I. Vorys concerning matters in the Ohio situation. He also saw State Chairman Williams and Secretary Dover of the national committee. He was made a member of the International Brotherhood of Steam Shovel and Dredgemen.

A Sagamore Hill Conference

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 30.—"President Roosevelt is very much pleased with the political situation of the country in general," said one of the participants in a conference at Sagamore Hill. He explained that the president is anxious to see the party everywhere working its hardest for the election of Taft. The general political situation in the entire country was discussed by the president and his visitors. Very little more than this could be learned after the conference was over.

Lightning Kills Young Woman

Kineo, Me., July 30.—Miss Gertrude Gilbert, aged 19, was struck and instantly killed by lightning in a shower which passed over the West Outlet camps. The young woman went into the shelter of a bungalow when the storm came up and laid down on a couch. The bolt struck her without leaving a mark in any part of the bungalow. Her aunt sat three feet away at the time, and felt no effects of the lightning.

Harvest Hands Wanted

Winnipeg, Man., July 30.—The Manitoban government has announced that 30,000 men are needed to harvest the wheat crop in western Canada, and recommends to the governors of jails that all men in prison for vagrancy and other minor offenses be released early next month on condition that they work in the harvest fields.

NO WORD FROM THE FIONA

Fears That the Cruiser May Have Been Lost In Great Hurricane

St. Johns, July 30.—No tidings have been received of the whereabouts of cruiser Fiona, with Sir William MacGregor, governor of Newfoundland, on board, and the anxiety felt for the safety of the vessel on account of the report of a severe northeast hurricane off the Labrador coast continues unabated. When last reported the Fiona was off the southern Labrador coast.

In the storm which swept Tinker Harbor, wrecking seventeen vessels, as previously reported, eight vessels and three men are also said to have been lost at Byam bay.

No reports from the northern Labrador coast have been received.

EDITOR ROSE IS SCENTING FRAUD

Says Bryan's Brother-In-Law Is Engineering Conspiracy

Omaha, July 30.—Victor Rosewater, Republican national committeeman for Nebraska and proprietor of the Omaha Bee, published an open letter to Mr. Bryan, asking him to disapprove an attempt that was recently made to file the names of the Democratic presidential electors from this state under the head of "People's Independents." This matter is an outcome of the bolt of the Nebraska delegation from the St. Louis convention of the People's party, which nominated Watson for president.

"Let me call your attention to the fact, if you are not already aware of it, that a conspiracy is now on foot in this, your own state of Nebraska, engineered by your own brother-in-law as chairman of your Democratic state committee, for the purpose of purloining votes not intended to be cast for you and to count them for your candidacy. In the interest of square dealing, I have filed protests with the secretary of state against the misbranding of Democratic presidential electors.

"The filing of the names of Democratic electors as People's Independents is a palpable attempt to secure votes for you by false pretenses. If this plot succeeds you will have the benefit of the votes intended to be cast for Thomas E. Watson as well as of the votes intended to be cast for you. If this would not be larceny of these votes, 'through the operation of law,' I would like to know what you would call it."

Mr. Rosewater closes with an appeal to Bryan to put the stamp of his disapproval on the proposed action.

Bryan May Make No Reply

Lincoln, Neb., July 30.—When informed of the open letter of Victor Rosewater, Mr. Bryan said: "I have not the time to make answer." He was not certain that he would reply at all, but said that the subject would be investigated.

RIFLED MAIL BOXES

Young Men Did Big Business In Raising and Forging Checks

New York, July 30.—By robbing mail boxes, raising checks found in letters and cashing them by means of forged endorsements, two young men arrested last night have obtained between $7000 and $10,000 from more than a score of banks in and near New York within the last six months, the police say.

Six other men were arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the robberies. Robert Cohen and William Bradley, the first two to be arrested, made written confessions, it is said, and upon these the other six men were taken into custody. Their ages range from 19 to 25 years of age.

Discovery of the scheme was made through a check for $14 which had been stolen from a letter box and raised to $204. Payment was made on Cohen's endorsement, but in course of time the check was returned as worthless.

Cohen gave details of the band's operation and said letters were fished out of the boxes with a piece of wire, about the first of the month, when merchants sent out checks. Bradley, who is a clever penman, would raise the checks and Cohen undertook to cash them. The check for $204 was the smallest in amount.

Vanderbilt's Stepson Killed

Paris, July 30.—G. W. Sands, a stepson of W. K. Vanderbilt, was killed just outside the grounds of Vanderbilt's beautiful country seat, twenty miles from Paris. Sands was driving his fifty-horse power car along at a terrific clip, in a desire to reach the chateau, where his wife and her infant daughter were staying. He had always been known as a reckless driver.

Killed Young Bride and Self

Lebanon, O., July 30.—Infuriated because she had begun suit for the annulment of her marriage, Grover Willoughby, 21 years old, shot and killed his 17-year-old bride of less than a week and a moment later sent a bullet through his own heart, falling dead a few yards from the body of his wife.

Stabbed Victim Through Wall

Hammond, Ind., July 30.—A man cut a hole through the wall of the room in which Leon Wilmz lay sleeping and, shoving a dagger through the aperture, fatally stabbed Wilmz in the face and ear and escaped. The cause of the attack is unknown.

THRILLING ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Storm Sweeps Balloonists Ten Thousand Feet In Air

Pittsfield, Mass., July 30.—In a wild ride in a balloon to a height of 10,000 feet above the earth, Leo Stevens, A. R. Hawley and William Van Sleet were only saved from being dashed to death by throwing out of the car every possible article of ballast, even bottles and the remainder of a lunch being thrown overboard to keep the big balloon from dashing to the ground from a tremendous height.

A huge wind cloud caught the balloon when it was sailing along in calm weather 4000 feet above the earth, and sent it to a height of 10,000 feet at the speed of an express train, the occupants saying that the bag must have been blown upwards at the rate of fifty miles an hour. All around was the cloud that had caught the balloon and nothing could be seen in any direction.

Just when the three men had about given themselves up for lost, the balloon shot out of the cloud that had enveloped it and returned to the placid weather that they had left at the 4000 foot level. The landing was made in an open field, the rip cord being used to make a safe descent, as all the ballast had gone and the weight of the bag was making it drop faster than a safe descent warranted.

A Civil Service Probe

Port Huron, Mich., July 30.—J. A. McIlhenny of the United States civil service commission and Secretary Doyle of the commission left for Washington today, having completed an investigation regarding reports that the fifty-five employes of the custom house here had been compelled to pay $7.50 a month for campaign purposes for several years. McIlhenny declined to indicate what the result of the investigation had been or to say who had made the complaints.

Torpedo Ne's Withstand Tests

Newport, R. I., July 30.—Important secret tests were made at Coddington cove and in Buzzards bay with the new torpedo nets, a steel mesh claimed to be able to withstand the shock of torpedoes fired at close range. It is reported unofficially that the nets were not pierced. The nets are designed to be placed about armored cruisers and torpedo boats for protection in time of war against torpedo attack.

NEWS IN BRIEF

James Weeks, aged 55, fell from the roof of a barn which he was shingling at Anson, Me., and broke his neck, causing instant death.

Satisfactory assurances have reached the navy department from New London, Conn., that there will be no further discrimination against the enlisted men of the navy or the uniform of the United States in the places of public amusement in that city.

The Thirteenth infantry, 780 strong, left Fort Leavenworth, Kan., on a march to Fort Riley, Kan., to attend the maneuvers. The soldiers expect to cover the 140 miles by Aug. 8.

It is expected that the United States cruiser Marietta will remain off Honduras for a considerable time, although no trouble is indicated there at present.

Joseph Chamberlain, who has returned to London from the continent, is reported to be in a very grave condition.

TO PRESS ALL REBATE CASES

Decision Reached by Legal Advisors of the Government

DECISION ON STANDARD OIL

Motion For Its Modification and Application For Reargument of the Case Will Be Made--Will Go Before Supreme Court of the United States If Necessary--No Let-Up In Prosecution of Other Cases

Lenox, Mass., July 30.—After an all-day conference of the leading government prosecuting officers and Frank B. Kellogg, one of the special counsel for the government in certain civil suits, Attorney General Bonaparte gave out a statement as follows:

"The government will make every effort in its power to secure a revision of the recent decision and opinion of the circuit court of appeals for the seventh circuit in the case of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, either by the court of appeals itself or, if necessary, by the supreme court of the United States. The gentlemen who have been in consultation with me all unite in my opinion that in the interest of the impartial and effective administration of our laws such action on the part of the government is imperatively demanded by the circumstances of the case and the possible consequences if this opinion should stand as an authority without question by the government.

"To this end an application for a reargument of the case and a motion for a modification of the opinion will be submitted to the circuit court of appeals on behalf of the United States at the earliest possible moment. Other appropriate steps will be taken afterwards, their character to be determined by the court's action upon this application. The pending prosecutions against the Standard Oil company, and all other prosecutions in which the giving or receiving of rebates or offenses of like character are charged, will be pressed to trial and judgment by the government with all possible energy and as promptly as may be practicable.

"In the view of the government's legal advisors, the reversal of the judgment in the case recently decided in no wise affects the merits of that controversy or the necessity and duty of bringing to punishment, if possible, in this and other cases, any individual or corporation shown to have evaded or defied the laws."

CROWD PURSUED HORSE THIEF

Captured and Placed In Lockup, Where He Tries Suicide

Warren, Mass., July 30.—When George Adams arose yesterday and found his horse and carriage gone from his stable he started for the village in the hope of overtaking the thief. When about to board an electric car he met a man driving the stolen outfit. Adams recovered the equipage, but the man disappeared into the woods.

Adams then drove his team to the town, and while telling his story to an officer on the street the man again suddenly reappeared and a chase began, an angry mob participating. The culprit was driven into the cellar of William H. Kimball, where he hid in a ditch under some planks, covering his face with a handkerchief.

He was arrested and taken to the lockup, charged with horse stealing. A short time after he was placed in the cell an officer had occasion to enter it, and found the man's body hanging, apparently lifeless, by a strip of his blanket tied to an upper bar. He was cut down and found to be alive and it is believed that he will recover. Cards were found on him bearing the name Alton Torsey, Saco, Me.

Complaint of Bostonians

Boston, July 30.—Members of the Harvard Improvement association of Dorchester appeared before the supreme court late yesterday and asked for a writ of injunction to restrain the Boston park commission from allowing the uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias holding their national encampment on Franklin Field. Objection is made to the use of the park for this purpose, as it is a public playground, and it is further maintained that the encampment may be a menace to health. A hearing on the petition will be held this afternoon.

Wholesale Swindling Suspected

New York, July 30.—Frederick Gondorff, who is charged with having defrauded Fritz Helznagel, a Scranton hotel proprietor, out of $15,000 by inducing him to bet on a pretended prize fight in Boston, was held in bail to await the action of the authorities of Bridgeport, Conn., where it was stated that Gondorff is charged with obtaining $5000 by false pretences. Detectives are trying to find out whether any of the funds of the New Britain (Conn.) Savings bank reached Gondorff or his associates.

SPINNERS ARE DISSATISFIED

Changes May Be Made In Sliding Wage Scale Agreement

Fall River, Mass., July 30.—At a special meeting of the Textile Council last night it was voted to submit the sliding scale wage agreement, now under dispute, to the executive committee of the council for their criticism. The committee will go over the agreement carefully and recommend to the council such amendments and suggestions as they think necessary in order to have the approval of the union men.

There has been considerable dissatisfaction among the textile workers in this city since the wage reduction of 18 percent went into effect two months ago, and last week the Spinners' union sent to the council notice of their withdrawal from the agreement.

It is expected that it will be several days before any action will be taken by the committee, after which the Textile Council will return it to the manufacturers for their approval.

CHARGED WITH GRAND LARCENY

Prominent Brooklyn Bankers Carried Bad Checks as Cash

New York, July 30.—Two prominent Brooklynites, Edward E. Britton, president until last Tuesday of the Eagle Savings and Loan company of Brooklyn, and Quarantine Commissioner Frederick H. Schroeder, second vice president until Tuesday of the same institution, were arrested yesterday after having been indicted on a charge of grand larceny. They were immediately arraigned before Judge Dyke, who held each in $10,000 bail. Both men secured bail.

There are four indictments against each man. Both admit that they took approximately $44,000 of the cash of the company and used the money to keep the Homestake South Extension Mining company, a South Dakota concern, upon its feet. This company was organized by Britton and Schroeder about three years ago. The irregularities in the bank's affairs were due to Britton and Schroeder having bad checks carried as cash.

A discovery by Bank Examiner Young last week led to the two men's undoing. He found that Joseph Wood, secretary and treasurer of the company, was carrying in the bank a number of checks signed by Britton and Schroeder. These checks were for varying amounts aggregating $47,986. When the examiner demanded an explanation he was told by Wood that he had been instructed by his superior officers to hold the checks and not to send them for collection by the banks on which they were drawn. But meantime he explained that he had paid out the company's money on them. Further probing showed that practically all the checks in question were worthless.

Well Known as Clubwoman

Boston, July 30.—Mrs. Estelle M. H. Merrill, wife of Samuel Merrill of the Boston Globe, herself a former newspaper writer and a widely known clubwoman throughout the country, died at her home in Cambridge. She was born in Jefferson, Me., 49 years ago and won recognition in the newspaper world under the pen name of "Jean Kincaid." Mrs. Merrill devoted much time to lecturing, giving courses on Esperanto and the Bible as literature. She leaves her husband and two sons.

Alleged Clubbing by Liquor Raiders

Calais, Me., July 30.—Sturgis Deputies French, Hayward and Richardson were arrested last night, charged with assault upon James F. Sirois, proprietor of the Boundary house at Milltown. Sirois was badly clubbed, it is alleged, by the deputies, who arrested him on the charge of illegally keeping liquor for sale. The deputies were arraigned, and, waiving a reading of the warrants, furnished sureties for their appearance at the October term of the supreme court.

Germany Interested In War Balloons

Berlin, July 30.—While Count Zeppelin is preparing for his great trial with his aluminum airship, other experiments with semi-rigid and entirely flexible dirigible balloons are proceeding in various parts of the country under the supervision of government officials. It is understood that by the end of the year the military authorities will possess eight dirigible balloons suitable for war purposes.

Syndicate's Enormous Profit

St. Paul, July 30.—In the Northern Pacific rate hearing case in the United States circuit court here, it was developed that the syndicate that carried through the reorganization of the railroad in 1896 received from the sale of stocks, bonds, etc., in the new company $117,900,000, while it cost them $95,700,000 to call in the stock of the old company, leaving them $22,200,000 profit.

Quarryman's Life Crushed Out

Lynn, Mass., July 30.—Abraham Grandmason, aged 29, was working in a stone quarry here when one of the derrick chains on an immense rock, weighing several tons, became unfastened, and the stone fell on him. He was so badly crushed that he soon died.

SCAPULAR AS A SLIGHT CLUE

It May Reveal the Identity of a Murdered Woman

A MOST ATROCIOUS CRIME

Victim's Features Destroyed by Acid, Oil Poured Over Clothing, and the Body Wrapped In Oil-Soaked Mattress and Burned--Apparently a Woman of Gentle Breeding--Two Men Are Arrested on Suspicion

New York, July 30.—In the finding of the half-charred body of a young woman in an isolated section of Willamsburg, Brooklyn, one of the most atrocious and cunningly planned murders that has been given to the police to solve in many years was revealed.

Death had resulted from a cut across the throat, and then, in an endeavor to utterly destroy all evidences of the crime, the murderer or murderers wrapped the body in an oil-soaked mattress, poured oil over the victim's clothing and set fire to the bundle. A powerful acid previously had been poured over the face to make identification impossible.

Although two arrests have been made, the police do not believe they have in custody any one who can shed any light on the mystery. The prisoners are James Ruddick, who lived in a stable near where the body was found, and his son, Joseph, a peddler, who discovered the body. James Ruddick told the police that he discovered the body, next he said that an unknown man discovered it and had asked him to inform the police, and later he said that the "unknown man" in reality was his son. This last statement led to the arrest of Joseph. But the police do not attach much importance to the elder Ruddick's conflicting stories. He is very old and was laboring under great excitement.

The body was found in a large vacant lot, and a better place to conceal such a gruesome secret could hardly have been selected. The nearest buildings are stables, and there is a dismal stretch of a quarter of a mile between them and the spot where the body was found. Foul smells come from rubbish that has been dumped into an old creek, thus tending to drive away any one who might start to cross the lot.

It was due to the fact that Joseph Ruddick saw the blazing mattress in which the body was wrapped that the murder was discovered. Ruddick was sleeping with his father in a stable when he saw the flames. He ran out to extinguish the blaze, fearing it might spread to the stable. He was horrified at finding the half-burned corpse tied in the mattress. When the fire had been put out he returned to the stable and told his father to notify the police. A little later Joseph Ruddick went to his work. When his father told the police of the case he appeared to be holding something back, so was locked up.

A scapular was found on the murdered woman's breast and this is about the only clue the police have. It was home-made and larger than is ordinarily worn. It bore a picture of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. With this slight clue the police hope to discover the identity of the victim. It was considered remarkable that the scapular was not burned, for it was oil-soaked and the clothing over it was burned.

A woman has been found who says that she heard a wagon drive to the spot where the body was found about 3:30 o'clock in the morning. A few minutes later she heard the wagon being driven rapidly away. It went toward the Greenpoint ferries. As it was only half an hour later when Ruddick saw the blazing mattress, the police feel sure that the wagon carried the body to the lot.

The murdered woman apparently was of gentle breeding. She was five feet, four inches in height, weighed about 130 pounds, was about 30 years old and had been a mother.

Collision of Elevated Trains

New York, July 30.—Three persons were injured, one seriously, and fifty or more were severely shaken up in a rear-end collision between two Ninth avenue trains on the elevated railroad, when an empty express train ran into the rear car of a train which was well filled with passengers. Leonard Murray, guard on the rear of the latter train, had his leg crushed. Motorman Porter of the express train was locked up on a charge of assault.

Alleged Fugitive From Justice

Boston, July 30.—Frank T. Wells, aged 21, of Kenosha, Wis., was arrested in Cambridge as a fugitive from justice. He is wanted at Kenosha on the charge of larceny of $6000 from the First National bank of that place, in which he was a bookkeeper, on Oct. 12, 1907. Shortly after coming here Wells secured employment with the Cambridge Gas company and was living in Cambridge with his wife.

Tardy Efforts to Preserve Decency

Paris, July 30.—Following up his crusade against the appearance of unclothed women in the Paris theatres, Prefect of Police Lepine has given orders that the sale of obscene pictures on the boulevards, which has been for so long a disgrace to the city, be rigorously suppressed. The establishments producing these pictures will be prosecuted.

The Women Chums.

[Original.]

The Scandinavian ship Sea Gull was sailing in Kara bay, a part of the Arctic ocean lying between Russia proper and Siberia. About five miles from the Russian coast at sunrise in the morning the lookout in the fire top, a woman (women on Scandinavian ships do the same work before the mast as men), saw on the port quarter a black speck on the track of sunlight shimmering on the waves. A black speck on a river usually means nothing, but at sea always excites attention. The lookout seized a glass and brought it to bear on the object, which under the magnifying power of the glass was resolved into a boat with a person in it. The lookout sent word to the captain, who gave orders to put the vessel off a point or two with a view to discovering if the lone boatman needed assistance.

As the Sea Gull approached the boat the figure in it was discovered to be that of a woman. She was lifted over the ship's side in an exhausted condition, pale and emaciated, but when they asked her questions she could respond only in the Russian language, which was unintelligible to the Scandinavians. One of the crew was a young Russian woman, Katia Jaroff, who had shipped at a Siberian port a few days before. Knowing a little Scandinavian, she was brought forward as an interpreter. A close observer would have noticed a slight start on the part of both her and the woman from the boat when they first saw each other, but they sufficiently restrained themselves so that nothing unusual was noticed. Katia questioned the stranger and reported that she claimed to have been aboard a Russian vessel and, incurring the displeasure of the captain, had been marooned. She asked where the Sea Gull was bound and when told that she would first stop at a Norwegian port asked to be transported there. Since she had no money she was required to work her passage before the mast.

Naturally the two Russian women became companions. The woman who had been marooned, Sonia Sarderhoff, was large and soon regained her strength, which was considerable. Katia, on the contrary, was delicate, and she seemed to have been pulled down by some past hardship. Both women were intellectual looking, and their station was evidently far above that of the balance of the crew. Sonia from the time she was able to stand watch offered to do duty also for Katia. This she insisted upon and most of the time did double work relieving Katia.

The first mate, a Swede named Scanderson, became enamored of Katia and made love to her. Katia repelled him, but he persisted. Sonia took the girl under her protection, which led to hard words between the mate and Sonia, and during the altercation Sonia told him that if he did not cease annoying her friend and countrywoman she would compel him to do so. This interested the crew, who ridiculed Scanderson. He paid no attention to Sonia's threat, but persisted in annoying Katia.

One day while he was so doing he was felled to the deck by a blow from Sonia. When the mate got up several of the sailors were laughing at him. He attempted to bring the open palm of his hand against Sonia's ear; but, leaving his own face unguarded, he received a knock under the jaw which raised him off his feet and landed him on the deck again.

A fight between a man and a woman brought the crew together to see. The mate arose and let drive at Sonia. He was now in earnest, and the fight was more even. Sonia was at a disadvantage from her skirts, but she had the luck to knock her enemy against the capstan, which stunned him, and he was carried below unconscious. That ended the mate's attentions to Katia, and from the time of the fight the two women were inseparable.

But Sonia had nothing to do with any of the women of the crew except Katia. She would not occupy a bunk with the women, sleeping when she did sleep at night on deck. She was a puzzle to the men, and her devotion to Katia excited a good deal of curiosity. The captain, hearing of her quarrel with the mate, reprimanded him and gave orders that the two Russian women should thereafter be treated with every consideration. He even relieved Katia of her part of the duties of a seaman.

Finally the Sea Gull rounded the northern extremity of Norway and, sailing down into the Atlantic ocean, put into Bergen. When the anchor had been dropped in Swedish waters the women went to the cabin of the captain and made a confession. They were both escaped prisoners from the Russian political prison at Kara. Katia had been convicted of teaching the Russian peasants. Sonia was a man, Michael Vlostoff, who had got himself sent to Kara for the express purpose of freeing Katia, which he had planned to do by bribery. Katia's escape had been made at the time arranged, but Vlostoff had been delayed. They had arranged to get away from Siberia by shipping on a foreign vessel, which Katia had accomplished. Vlostoff had been obliged to put out in Kara bay in a boat, and fortune decreed that he should be picked up by the vessel on which Katia had shipped.

The captain furnished Vlostoff with a suit of men's clothes, and the pair were married before leaving the ship.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

The new moon sets today at 8.43

High tides on Sunday at 2.30 A. M. and 2.45 P. M.

Last coupon tomorrow in the Motor Boat popularity contest of the Daily Ledger.

J. A. Campbell of this city has entered the races at the Scotch picnic August 8.

Painters are improving the appearance of the house of Mrs. John H. Gilbert of Chestnut street.

Michael and Smith for Makaria and F. O'Neil and Fitzgerald for Atlantic will be the batteries at the ball game on Saturday at Atlantic.

Gordon Harley of Pawtucket R. I., is visiting Miss Esther Beckford of Washington street.

Most of the grocery stores of the city will be closed next Wednesday, when the grocers will have their annual outing to Crescent park.

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Hunt of Hartford, Conn., who are en route for Kennebunkport, Me., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Howe of Bigelow street.

The question is, just what does the man who is found sitting on the steps of Barry's store every morning about 5.30 find attractive in the early hours?

Both the Wollaston and the Squantum Yacht clubs are giving Bill Field hearty support in the Motor Boat contest. They don't want a member of the Quincy club to win.

Mr. C. H. Kidder while out after blackberries, caught a copper head snake 3 feet 11 inches long on Wednesday after a fight of 25 minutes with the butt end of a fish pole.

Miss Mary Ireland, the assistant postmaster at Littleton, with a party of friends, made a tour of the historic places of interest in the City of Presidents today, and then proceeded to Nantasket.

As the same crowd of idlers have hung around Atlantic for the past year and have a definite stamping ground just why can't they be arrested for vagrancy? They're not an ornament to the town and there is no prospect of them even soliciting work so that the police can have firm backing for making the arrests.

At the annual convention of the Sons of St. George at Fitchburg on Wednesday John Collins of Quincy was nominated for the office of grand inside sentinel, for the 1909 election. The report of the finance committee showed an increase of $1000 over last year, and an increase in membership of 500.

There will be an all day outing for the boys of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. at the summer home of Mr. Gay, Post Island, Friday, July 31st. There will be swimming, baseball, outdoor sports and a general good time. Boys will meet at the Y. M. C. A. building with lunches, etc, at 9.30 A. M. Mr. Clee the new boys' work director will be present, as will also Mr. Maxwell, physical director.

—The tax rate of Brookline is seventy cents more than in 1907. The valuation is $100,000,680, an increase of $5,000,000

BILL FIELD IS FIRST

Wednesday's Leader Is Now No. 3 In the Motor Boat Popularity Contest

Shake-ups may be expected every day now in the Motor Boat popularity contest, as the quartette of leaders are making great spurts. The leader of Tuesday was number three on Wednesday, and the leader of Wednesday is now number three. Thus the see-saw continues, and the finish next week promises to be close.

Today Capt. Field gained an even 1000 and again becomes the leading candidate. Capt. Foster maintains second place by making a gain of 462, while Capt. Pray who gained 1000 votes yesterday received no votes today and is number three.

Capt. Middleton is still an active candidate, but is keeping the others guessing as to the size of his reserve vote.

Sixty new trial orders would put any of the other candidates in the lead or in fact some new candidate who may enter as a dark horse.

After Saturday the standing of the candidates will not be published until the final summary. The last coupon will be printed July 31, and the polls close on Thursday, Aug. 6, at 5 P. M.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M., Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daly Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

Granite Imported From Scotland

Although some claim the duty on granite is high, large quantities continue to be imported to compete with local granite. The steamer Numidian which arrived in Boston this week brought 195 cases of granite consigned to eight firms as follows:

H. & A. Allan—83 cases granite.
Stone Downer Co.—3 cases granite.
Burton Preston—37 cases granite.
E. McLam & Co.—40 cases granite.
Brown Bros. & Co.—5 cases granite.
R. M. Flanagan—1 case granite.
National Shawmut Bank—20 cases granite.
Order—6 cases granite.

Burglars Frightened Off.

It is reported that an attempt was made early Wednesday morning to enter the house of Councilman Joseph L. Whiton, Jr., on Whitney road. Councilman Whiton heard the parties at work on the front door and frightened them away.

Collier Bids Rejected.

Acting Secretary Newberry of the Navy department has rejected all bids for colliers, having recently advertised for three not to cost more than $525,000. It was understood at the time the appropriation was made that the department would purchase the Malden, Melrose and Everett built at Quincy.

One Way to Look at It.

Cornish humor is often unconscious. A writer in the English Illustrated Magazine says, and proceeds to furnish a concrete example.

"Gwain to larn your boy the fiddle, are 'ee?" asked one Cornishman of another.

"Iss," was the reply.

"He wain't never play the fiddle tall."

"Ow shouldn't aw?"

"'Cos his head's too big."

"Go on with 'ee. The bigger the head the more tunes he'll hold."

Earth and Moon.

The moon's real diameter is 2,160 miles, not much more than a fourth of the earth's. Her surface is 14,600,000 square miles, or between a thirteenth and a fourteenth of the earth's. The earth's volume exceeds the moon's nearly forty-nine and one-half times, but the moon's material is lighter than the earth's, for the earth's mass exceeds hers not forty-nine and one-half times only, but nearly eighty-one and one-half times.—New York American.

Historical Revelation.

"How did you distinguish Achilles from the girls?" asked the Greeks. "How could you see that he was a man in woman's garb?"

"He didn't," explained Ulysses, "drop his handkerchief every time he turned around."—Kansas City Journal.

A Dime Novel Reader.

"Did you tell Johnny to split that kindling?"

"Yes."

"But he didn't do it."

"No; he said he'd swim in blood first."—Washington Herald.

The Hospitable Mind.

There is no greater virtue than the possession of the hospitable mind. The man whose mind is not so, and who refuses to receive and entertain any new thought, simply because it is new, is to be pitied. Yet, strange as it may seem, the really hospitable mind is very rarely found. There is a general suspicion concerning the new and strange, a feeling that age of itself gives verity and authority. In religion we need the hospitable mind, the mind that will give good welcome to all new thoughts as the possible containers of God's later truth.

—Mrs. Lillian Trainor, widow of John Trainor of Randolph, was seized with a severe hemorrhage while she was sitting on the rocks at Centre Hill, Nantasket, on Tuesday. She was overcome with dizziness and fell to the rocks below, fracturing her skull. She was taken to the Cleveland House, where she died shortly afterwards.

Quincy Boy Has Washington Job

Harold Newcomb, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin H. Newcomb, and well known at Quincy Point, left this morning for Washington, where he has been appointed to a position in the government civil service department. Harold was born in Quincy and attended the Washington school, being one of Mr. Pollard's boys. After graduating he entered a Boston business college where he took a special course. He then entered the office of the Boston Herald, where he has been for the past six years. During his spare hours he has continued his studies, and recently he successfully passed the government civil service examination in typewriting and stenography, receiving a high percent. He will probably be assigned to the examination of papers in this line at the Washington office.

Officer Butler Run Down by Auto

The family of Patrick Butler, police inspector of Weymouth, were severely injured Wednesday night, by being run down by an automobile near Nantasket. The Butler party were driving home in a carriage, when they were run into by an automobile owned by L. L. Brown of Boston.

The carriage was smashed and the occupants thrown out and bruised. The Butler party consisted of Edward Butler and Beatrice Butler, Mrs. M. E. Butler, Sarah Wilbur and Lenore Finn.

The bonnet of the automobile was smashed. Mr. Brown says the dust obscured his view so that he did not see the carriage until too late to prevent the accident.

Masons Lay Corner Stone.

Under the direction of the Grand lodge of Masons, the laying of the corner stone of the new $60,000 stone edifice of the First Universalist Society of Malden will be held this afternoon on the church lot, Pleasant street. The ceremony will attract one of the largest gatherings of Universalists and members of the Masonic fraternity that the city has ever witnessed.

Shipbuilding Plant Sold.

A Philadelphia dispatch to the Transcript reports that the plant and property of the Neafie & Levy Ship building Co. sold Tuesday by auction for $50,000. The mortgage of $277,000 and receiver's certificates amount to $125,000 and interest The purchaser was F. C. Somers, a director of the First National Bank of Camden, and sheriff of Camden County. Mr. Somers states that he purchased the property for private interests and that it may or may not be run again.

—The brutal Judge of a municipal court in Delaware, who sent a man to prison for referring to a colored man as "Mister," has had his decision reversed, and he receives a rebuke from the Superior Court of his State. The Court tells this modern Dogberry that he had no more right to punish as a contempt the addressing or referring to a colored person as "Mr." or "Mrs." than he would have to punish as a contempt the using of the same terms to foreign-born persons or persons having eyes and hair of a particular color which might be offensive to him.

TREES AS A FARM CROP.

Many Tracts Whose Best Use Would Be Growing of Forest Trees.

In every state of the Union, says a forest service bulletin, there are many tracts of so called agricultural land which, owing to their hilly character, poor soil or numerous bowlders, are not suitable for farming. The owners of such tracts are often at a loss to know what to do with them. Without question the best use to which land of this kind can be put is to plant it with trees. One of the fundamental principles of forest economics is that soil which is not good enough to make the growing of cereal crops profitable should be devoted to the production of wood crops. This does not mean that trees grow better on poor soil than on fertile soil. They will, of course, grow better on fertile soil. But in proportion to the money invested better returns are secured from trees planted on the less valuable land.

Most of the cone bearing trees and many hard woods as well will thrive in soil of medium fertility. All trees, however, do not thrive on poor, sandy ridges or on hillsides where the soil is thin. Black walnut, hardy catalpa and white oak for their best development require a deep, fertile soil, well watered and well drained, and it is not advisable to plant them where these requirements are not met.

An Ohio farmer is solving the problem of what to do with the wornout farm. He owns an old homestead of sixty acres, which he is desirous of keeping in the family. He does not live on the place, however, and farming has been a losing proposition. He has therefore decided to plant the entire tract with trees. He has already planted 35,000 Norway spruces, set three and one-half feet apart each way, on an area of about eleven acres. These trees will be cut as they become large enough for Christmas trees.

Chestnut seedlings will be planted in the spaces left by the removal of the spruces, and it is expected that they will begin to come in bearing when the last spruce is cut. In addition to the spruces, hardy catalpa, black locust, elm, box elder and sycamore have been planted. It is planned to put the entire sixty acres in forest within five or six years. The owner is wise in planting several kinds of trees instead of confining himself to one species. His forest will be producing six or seven kinds of lumber, chestnuts and Christmas trees at the same time.

UNIQUE QUAY MEMORIAL.

Senator's Widow Will Build House After Plans He Originated.

A unique monument to the memory of the late United States Senator M. S. Quay has been designed at Pittsburg. A house to cost $100,000 will be erected on Sewickley Heights, the fashionable Pittsburg suburb, by the widow and daughters of the late politician.

Senator Quay had long planned such a dwelling and had conferred with Hall Caine, the novelist, his warm friend, as to the name. Caine had decided on "Ballamona," and this will be the name of the house, for which Mrs. Quay and her daughters recently had the plans drawn.

About six years ago, while the senator and his wife were traveling in Italy, they met Caine, and the three discussed at length the house which Quay intended to build when he retired from public life. The library was planned roughly by Caine for Mr. Quay, and these plans will be followed. An Italian architect has started for America to design the library.

The exterior of the house will be modeled after an old English castle.

Government Balloon House.

The United States government finished the great steel balloon house the other day which it has been erecting at Fort Omaha for the use of the military balloons and airships, says an Omaha dispatch. It is said to be the largest balloon house on the American continent and the only steel one in existence. The building is 200 feet long, 75 feet high and 90 feet wide and weighs 325 tons. It cost $100,000. In the house will be kept the balloons with which the signal corps of the army will carry on experiments. Already two of the big airships are at the post. Experiments have been delayed because of the lack of hydrogen gas. However, the vast factory will be completed within a month, and Fort Omaha will then become the headquarters of the balloon corps.

Teaching Farming In Public Schools.

Oklahoma has a law requiring the teaching of agriculture in the public schools. In this respect it stands alone, since no other state requires it, but it has adopted a course that other states must follow, says the Little Rock Democrat. All agricultural states must in time come to a recognition of the importance of this feature in the complete education of its children. The Arkansas legislature is pledged to the enactment of similar laws at the ensuing session, and it is practically assured that it will be done. The Oklahoma law provides for a curriculum including horticulture, agriculture, stock raising, road building, flower culture, fertilizers, dairying, drainage and irrigation, grazing, etc.

Conductor Dunn Getting Up Muscle

Eddie Dunn, the street railway conductor, attracted considerable attention in City Square this morning. While his car was waiting for the signal to start, Eddie was seen to be throwing his hands about his head and swinging his right arm round and round.

A number of ladies stopped their gossip and the chain gang began to close in. Charlie Austin, the starter, forgot to blow his whistle, and even "Jim" Murray let a kid pass by without speaking to him. He even forgot to throw peanuts to the pigeons.

Just as the riot call was about to be sounded, someone asked Eddie what it was all about.

"Well," I'll tell you. The Elks play the Knights of Columbus on Saturday, and I pitch for the Elks, and I am simply getting my muscle up."

Ding, dong, sounded the bell, and away went the car.

BILL BOARD NUISANCE

Good Work For Citizens' Association Or the Quincy Women's Club

When the Citizens' Association was organized, one of its objects was to make Quincy a city beautiful, and to make it a desirable residential city as well as to encourage business enterprises to locate here.

Up to the present time, however, nothing has been heard of any action on the part of the Association to overcome the bill board nuisance.

All over the city great unsightly bill boards have been erected which mar the natural beauty of the city, and are a detriment to the city from a residential point of view.

Many of these advertising bill boards are erected on the main streets leading into the city, and in several cases they are placed directly on the line of the sidewalk, making them look still worse than if located back from the street.

A larger part of these bill boards are owned by a Boston firm, who care not one cent as to how unsightly they are as long as their pockets are lined with good dollars.

If land owners in Quincy, in their greed for a little gain, do not take pride enough to refuse their land for these purposes then an ordinance should be passed that would prohibit the erection of such sign boards within a certain distance of the street line.

The city can pass ordinance relative to the erection of buildings and there is no reason why an ordinance of this kind can not be enacted.

If the Citizens' Association wants an opportunity to show the citizens of Quincy that they are a live, up-to-date association, having the welfare of the city at heart, here is their opportunity.

Then when the yearly report of its president is read, showing what has been accomplished during the year, they can point with pride to the words printed in bold type, "We have abolished the unsightly advertising bill boards."

Once public sentiment is thoroughly aroused in this matter, the boards in question will disappear.

Anyone who doubts the unsightliness of these boards has only to take a ride over Hancock street to Neponset bridge.

The Quincy Women's club will be found ready to cooperate with the Citizens' Association or any other organization.

Larceny Alleged.

John McCann, an employe at the Fore River shipyard, was arrested by Inspector Goodhue on Thursday on a technical charge of larceny. It is alleged that McCann give his boarding house keeper, Walter J. Knights of Winter street an order on the Fore River Co. for the amount of his board. When Knights went to collect the money he found that McCann had drawn all that was due him. Knights then swore out a warrant for McCann's arrest.

Arm Broken.

While cranking an automobile Thursday afternoon for John C. Snow of Somerville, Edwin Cole had his right arm broken. Mr. Snow and cousin Mr. Cole had been visiting Captain E. A. Snow of West Elm avenue. Dr. Gordon and Dr. Burke were summoned. Mr. Cole was removed later in the day to his home in Somerville.

Only a Bonfire.

The alarm from Box 23 at 2.50 Wednesday afternoon was for a fire among some furniture crates back of the store of Henry L. Kincaide & Co. They were against one of the windows and set fire to the casing but no fire got inside. A chemical stream put out the fire. The Central apparatus was quickly on the spot, the Wollaston apparatus responded in six minutes and the Quincy Point hose in seven minutes.

☞The power boat Crescent will make hourly trips beginning at 9 A. M. Sunday, August 2, between Quincy Point bridge and Peddock's Island.

CHALLENGE CAME

Granite Cutters Accept Challenge Of Tool Sharpeners To Play Ball

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

For sometime past there has been considerable discussion between the granite cutters, polishers and tool sharpeners employed in the yards and shops of Quincy, as to which trade could put the best ball team on the field and the matter was brought to a head about two weeks ago when the tool sharpeners sent a challenge to the granite cutters, to play a game, which was unanimously accepted, and John Duffy was elected captain of the team composed of cutters.

The game will be played on Ward Three play ground on the afternoon of Saturday, August 1st, play to commence at 2.30 o'clock. It is needless to say that a large crowd will be present.

Both teams are confident that they can beat the other fellows and when that spirit is manifested a good game is sure to be the result.

The polishers are confident that they can raise a team, capable of beating either cutters or tool sharpeners and they are to play a game with the sharpeners on Aug. 8, so that they will have an excellent chance to get a line on their future opponents when the game this week is played.

Every one who has the least chance to play on the teams, and a good many others who have no chance whatever, have been practising hard during the past two weeks, so that some hair raising plays are to be expected when the teams meet.

The tool sharpeners have perfected a code of signals which are to be put in operation for the first time. The cutters assert that signals are not required by them when it comes to administering a liberal dose of whitewash to their friends, the sharpeners.

There is some talk among the parties interested, of sending a challenge to the Manufacturers' Association which organization could be depended on to raise a good team, as a large number of the younger element now in the Association were good ball players not so very long ago.

CAPTAIN PRAY SHOWS HIS HAND

Put In 2337 Votes And Takes Big Lead Large Gains for Foster Miss Matthews, et al

Tomorrow, for the last time previous to the award of prizes in the Motor Boat popularity contest, the standing of the candidates will be published in the Daily Ledger. Many of the candidates, therefore, will want to make a good showing tomorrow, to encourage their friends for the final spurt next week.

The boomers of Capt. Pray of the Quincy Yacht Club, did not wait, however, for the morrow. They were willing to show their hand today, and with a gain of 2337 votes they have jumped their favorite from third place to the leadership. Capt. Pray now has a lead of 945 votes over his nearest rival, Capt. Foster, also of the Quincy Yacht Club.

Capt. Field of the Wollaston and Squantum Yacht Clubs is 924 votes behind Capt. Foster, while Capt. Middleton of Quincy Point is still full of courage with a total of 3064, less than half the total of Capt. Pray.

Gains were also made by Miss Matthews, Miss Torrey, and Joseph Upling, the latter moving up from No. 45 to No. 13. The addition of 71 trial orders for Daily Ledger, with 100 votes each, would have put "Joe" in the lead today.

Remember, all, no standing of the candidates will be published in the Daily Ledger next week, and no intimation will be given of the size of the vote for candidates. Make a good showing therefore, tomorrow, and then brace up for the final spurt. Pick up as many coupons and trial orders as possible.

After Saturday the standing of the candidates will not be published until the final summary. The last coupon will be printed July 31, and the polls close on Thursday, Aug. 6, at 5 P. M.

The standing today at 9 A. M. was:

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Contest Editor makes the following official announcement relative to the close of the Motor Boat contest:

The last coupon will be printed in the Daily Ledger the last day of the month, Friday, July 31, 1908.

No Daily Ledger containing coupons will be sold at wholesale at the Daily Ledger office after 5 P. M. Tuesday, Aug. 4.

No votes will be credited with "Trial Orders" of the Daily Ledger which are received after 5 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 6, and no votes by coupons cut from the paper will be received after that hour.

The Contest Editor hopes to announce the result in the Daily Ledger a few days later.

No votes which have been cast for one candidate can be transferred to another candidate.

Papers ordered by "Trial Orders" can be started at any time, but votes can be withheld by request until the last week of the contest.

Under no circumstances will the reserve vote of candidates be divulged to other candidates. The Daily Ledger has no favorite, but desires the most popular yachtsman to win, not only the Motor Boat, but the three cash prizes aggregating $25.

Now is the time to hustle, and make your estimate of the number of votes required to win.

Granite City Club Banquet

The dinner of the Granite City club at the Squantum Inn Thursday evening while not so largely attended as anticipated, was a pronounced success.

A greater part of the party made the trip to Squantum in a special car which left City Square shortly after 6 o'clock. Others went down in automobiles, all arriving about 6.30. The cool invigorating sea breezes were enjoyed from the broad piazzas until 7 o'clock at which time dinner was announced.

The dinner was served in one of the private dining rooms and was excellent. It was something remarkable the amount of steamed clams, fish, vegetables, lobster and other things that go to make up a fish dinner, that some people can store away beneath their vests, and live to tell the story. Only by long training can such feats be accomplished.

An hour and a half was spent at the dinner table, then cigars were lighted, and the breezes wafted about the piazzas were enjoyed until 9 o'clock, when the special car was taken for home.

IDENTITY IS NOT ESTABLISHED

A Second Autopsy on Body of Woman Who Was Burned

NEW FACTS ARE ESTABLISHED

Throat Was Cut by Skilled Physician or an Expert In Surgery--Skull Fractured to Make Sure of Death--Police on Trail of Two Men Who Carried Body to Dumping Ground and Tried to Destroy It by Fire

New York, July 31.—That at least two men were concerned in the murder of the unidentified woman whose half-charred and acid-seared body was found on the Greenpoint avenue dumping ground in Williamsburg, Brooklyn, has been established by the police.

Philip O'Bren, a Greenpoint laborer, saw a covered wagon drive to the dump at dawn Wednesday. Two men got out and lifted from the wagon what the witness supposed to be only an old mattress. He saw the men pile a heap of brush on the mattress, pour oil over it and then set fire to the bundle. Believing the mattress was being destroyed because it was disease-infected, the man avoided the spot. There can be no doubt but that the mattress was the one in which the body of the murdered woman was concealed.

This important development has given the police valuable aid, for it also led to the discovery that the covered wagon was seen by several other persons, and the police now have a minute description of the two men who were in it. They were foreigners.

Another startling feature of the case was disclosed when Coroner's Physician Wuest made a second autopsy on the body. His first autopsy revealed a deep cut across the woman's throat, and the second autopsy shows that this cut was made either by a skilled physician or a person who is an expert in surgery. The incision, says the coroner's physician, is such as is made in desperate cases of diphtheria where it is necessary to pierce the windpipe to prevent strangulation. Whether this wound caused death or not Wuest was unprepared to say. Besides the incision in the woman's throat, the skull was fractured and the police believe that poison may also have been used to make thrice sure of killing the victim.

Failure to establish the identity of the victim is the greatest obstacle the police have to overcome in solving the mystery.

A general alarm has been sent out for Mrs. Mamie Muskovitch and her husband, Stanley, who have disappeared. Detectives learned that the couple are missing and there is a possibility that the murdered woman may be Mrs. Muskovitch.

Muskovitch and his wife left Greenpoint last Monday, supposedly for Stamford, Conn., and Mrs. Muskovitch has not been seen since. Her husband returned to Greenpoint on Tuesday alone, it is said.

Irish People Welcome Athletes

Dublin, July 31.—Members of the Irish-American Athletic club received a tremendous popular welcome here last night. The greeting accorded them was entirely spontaneous, the mere announcement of the hour of their arrival bringing many thousands of persons to the station to meet the athletes. The streets along the route to their hotel were completely blocked by the Dublinites. Arriving at their hotel, the athletes were greeted by Joseph Devlin, who said that wherever they went in Ireland a similar welcome awaited them.

Lawson to Reorganize Curb

Boston, July 31.—At a stormy meeting of the curb brokers last evening, during which the committee of reorganization named on Wednesday was thrown out and after two chairmen had conducted two sessions of the brokers, Thomas W. Lawson was elected a member of the committee on reorganization of the curb market affairs. The committee later met and elected Lawson chairman. Lawson says that the curb unanimously accepted his general scheme of reorganization.

Woman's Body Reduced to Bits

Seabright, N. J., July 31.—Miss Julia Drucker of New York was killed and her sister, Mary, and Miss Ruth Rouse were seriously injured at a railroad crossing here. The horse attached to the carriage in which the young women were driving became frightened and dashed in front of a passing train. Miss Drucker was ground to pieces. Parts of her body had to be gathered up in bags and pails.

Railroad Disobeyed Law

Baton Rouge, La., July 31.—A $2000 fine was imposed on the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railroad by District Judge Brunot for failure to provide negro passengers accommodations as good as those furnished white people. The matter was carried to the courts by the state railroad commission to sustain its ruling that equal accommodations must be furnished both races.

An Interesting Balloon Test

Magdeburg, July 31.—The army yesterday made experiments in shooting at a captive balloon at a distance of 2½ miles. Although it was struck thirty times, the balloon did not collapse.

A VICTORY FOR PYTHIANS

Permitted to Have Camp on One of Boston's Big Parks

Boston, July 31.—A writ restraining the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, from erecting a camp on Franklin Field was denied the Harvard Improvement association by Justice Braley in the supreme court late yesterday afternoon.

Work on the monster camp to accommodwate 10,000 men was continued with renewed vigor when the announcement of the decision was made to the men at work there by Past Grand Chancellor Ballantyne of Boston, who presented the Pythians' side of the case to the court.

Justice Braley based his opinion on the government statute of 1875, which permits the park commissioners to issue a permit such as was applied for by and granted to the Knights of Pythias.

Mr. Ballantyne, in presenting his case to the court, stated that every Pythian convention had a camp, and Boston was the first city in the history of the order to object to its erection.

COVERED TEN AND A HALF MILES

But Woman Swimmer Did Not Quite Accomplish Her Purpose

Boston, July 31.—Annette Kellerman of Australia, who claims the woman's swimming championship of the world, swam a distance estimated at ten and one-half miles in six hours and twenty minutes in Boston harbor yesterday.

Miss Kellerman started from the Charlestown bridge at 12:55 for the swim to Boston light, nearly twelve miles from the starting point. When she reached within a mile of the light the tide, which had been against her for five miles, and an unusually swift current which she encountered, prevented further progress on the part of the swimmer, although she was still strong and eager to finish. She left the water at 7:15 and declared she experienced no ill effects from her long swim.

Miss Kellerman accomplished more than did any one of the forty odd men in the race over the same course a year ago.

She swam a mile further than did Louis Jacot, the winner of that race, or than Mahoney or Rhodes, who, with Jacot, were the last to be taken from the water that day.

It was the turn of the tide that defeated Miss Kellerman when victory looked to be in her grasp. It was the same adversity that befell Jacot, Mahoney and Rhodes last year.

Prince Gets Doctor's Degree

Strassbourg, July 31.—The University of Strassbourg announces that Prince August, the fourth son of Emperor William, has passed his examination for the degree of doctor in the science of government, with the endorsement "very good" on his papers, and that the title of doctor has been conferred on him. This is the first time that a Hohenzollern has taken the degree of doctor. The emperor some years ago intended sending August to Harvard for the completion of his education. This was not done because the empress did not wish to be separated from her son for so long.

The Thomas Car at Paris

Paris, July 31.—The Thomas car in the New York-to-Paris automobile race crossed the frontier at noon yesterday and reached Paris at 8 o'clock last evening. The car was escorted up the boulevards by automobile enthusiasts who met it at Meaux, twenty-five miles east of Paris, and was greeted with cheering. The race committee was awaiting at the office of The Matin to receive the car. Congratulations were showered upon the intrepid crew.

Baldwin's Airship Almost Ready

Washington, July 31.—The work of inflating the big gas bag of Thomas S. Baldwin's airship was begun today. The tent in which the balloon will be housed arrived at Fort Myer yesterday and was pitched this morning. By Monday, barring accidents, Captain Baldwin will be ready to make his first flight.

Tropical Storm Hits Our Coast

Norfolk, July 31.—The Virginia coast is in the grasp of a tropical storm, sweeping up the coast. The velocity of the wind is steadily increasing and a high sea is running. An unknown three-masted schooner is reported ashore at New Inlet. Although not on duty, the lifesavers are standing by.

Horse's Kick Proved Fatal

Pawtucket, R. I., July 31.—With the imprint of a horse's hoof squarely in the face, the toe at the chin and the two caulks beside either of the man's eyes, the body of Orren A. Lewis, 64, was found in the stableyard of the Hope Webbing company.

Young Aeronaut Killed

Jackson, Miss., July 31.—William Oliver, a young aeronaut, was killed while making a parachute drop near here. Just as the parachute filled the strings on one side snapped and the aeronaut dropped 2000 feet to his death.

TURKISH CONSTITUTION IS LIMITED

Minister Leishman Thinks It Too Early to Predict Results

Washington, July 31.—American Ambassador Leishman at Constantinople, in a dispatch to the state department touching recent events in Turkey and the proclamation of a constitution, says:

"The change has been brought about with comparatively little bloodshed, although it is too early to determine whether the new machinery of the government will run without conflict or disturbance. The constitution is limited and is the same as that granted at the beginning of the present reign. Changes in the ministry are taking place and efforts are being made to have some of the palace entourage displaced."

Mr. Leishman says the populace openly charge the palace camarilla with unscrupulousness and appear to regard it as responsible for past ills. The dispatch adds that a general amnesty for political prisoners has been proclaimed.

Spectacular Fire at New York

New York, July 31.—A spectacular fire at Broadway and Fifty-Third street last night damaged the Standard Storage warehouse, causing a loss of $200,000. One fireman was injured and fifteen horses were burned to death.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The last section of the Philadelphia subway will be operated regularly next week. The subway is declared to be one of the finest in the world and cost approximately $20,000,000.

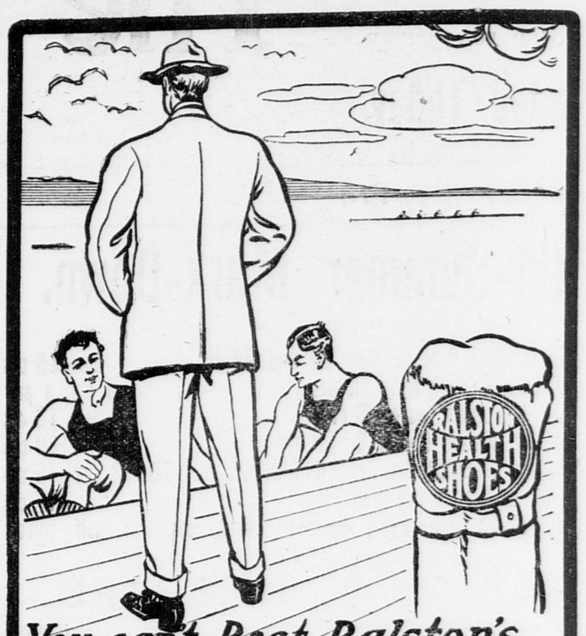

Cruiser Yankee sailed from Newport, R. I., for Hampton Roads with 400 naval apprentices for service with the Pacific squadron. They will go overland from Hampton Roads.

A resolution favoring the proposed construction of a broad parkway from Washington to Gettysburg as a memorial to Abraham Lincoln was adopted by the Thirteenth Vermont Regiment association at its annual reunion.

When Governor Fort of New Jersey was thrown from his hose while at a military encampment it was not known that he had sustained any more serious injury than slight bruises, but it has developed that a rib was broken.

The Iowa state executive council has issued a certificate of nomination for Congressman Hull. This makes him the Republican nominee and is the last official step in his nomination.

A dangerous fire in the wholesale oil house of the F. H. Little Oil company, in the heart of the wholesale district of Portland, Me., was checked with a loss of about $24,000. The cause of the fire is not known.

You can't Beat Ralston's for Summer Wear.

As you well know, it's during the Summer that your shoes are put to the hardest test. In order for them to give you all-Summer-long satisfaction they must be "dressy" enough to wear anywhere, and yet they must be perfectly comfortable.

In short you want your feet to look "dressed up" without their feeling so. That's why we recommend Ralston shoes. Come in and let us show you wherein they're different from any other shoes made.

DECLARED AN "INFAMOUS LIE"

Gompers Did Not Say He Could Deliver the Labor Vote

HE DFFENDS HIS POSITION

Only Interested In "Politics of the People" and Stands For Right of Individual Opinion--Says He Seeks No Political Honor and States His Opinion of Those Who Have Denounced Him

Washington, July 31.—"The report that I have ever said that I would or could deliver the labor vote to any political party is an infamous lie," said Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. "Organized labor is not only honest, but intelligent enough to choose the party for its support which will best represent its interests.

"It is possible that by lies and misrepresentations the enemies of organized labor may injure me personaly and even be successful in accomplishing my removal as president of the American Federation of Labor," said Gompers, "but that will never change my course in battling for the principles for which I stand.

"It is not a question of politics with me. I have no politics, or if I have, they are the politics of the people. I fully expected when I took the stand which I have," said Gompers, "that some would disagree with me. I don't expect the labor world to accept my conclusions in every instance. I expected to be criticised, too, in some quarters, but I did not think that the criticism would be so unjust as to be contemptible. I stand for the right of individual opinion.

"I regard my position as president of the American Federation of Labor as the most exalted and honorable in this world to which I could ever wish to aspire. It is a sacred trust with which my fellows have honored me because of my convictions and the principles which I advocate. They may take that honor away from me if they like, and I will bow to their will. But it will not prevent me from fighting for the cause which is my life's work, just as I have in the past and as I propose to do in the future.

"I want no political office or honor. I have nothing for sale, and don't propose to begin at this late day by selling my honor. What I think and what I say is from conscientious conviction that it is the truth. No one can make me sacrifice my honest conviction.

"My editorial in The American Federationist plainly and forcefully sets forth my position. He who runs may read and understand. Those who have taken issue with the position therein set forth, not, understand me, with the position I am alleged to have assumed, are political renegades and discredited outcasts of labor. I do not mean those who differ with my opinion are such, but those who have denounced me and claim that I have not set forth the facts as they are."

Republican National Chairman F. H. Hitchcock, when asked as to the truth of the report that a personal campaign was to be waged against Gompers, replied: "Nothing of the kind has been arranged."

Honored by Fellow Townsmen

Springfield, Mass., July 31.—Thomas L. Hisgen of West Springfield, nominee of the Independence party for President of the United States, arrived in this city from Chicago last evening. Upon his arrival here he was greeted by several hundred of his townsmen, who escorted him to the town hall in West Springfield, where he was tendered an ovation unparalleled in the history of the town. The meeting of citizens in his honor was thoroughly non-partisan and purely a personal tribute to Hisgen. The meeting was addressed by delegates to the convention and Hisgen himself.

Not Favorable to Negroes

Charleston, W. Va., July 31.—After an all-night session the Democrats of West Virginia, in convention here, nominated Louis Bennett of Lewis county for governor at 4 o'clock in the morning, after the convention had struggled for hours over the only two planks in the platform. These two planks were the negro disfranchisement and "Jim Crow" planks, which, after the resolutions committee had reported them favorably, were made a part of the platform amid scenes of the wildest excitement.

Taft Will Appreciate Rest

Hot Springs, Va., July 31.—William H. Taft admits that he feels somewhat tired from the rapid evolutions he has been going through during the past eight days. If the wishes of the candidate can be realized, his engagements during August will be very limited.

Storeship Reaches Fiji Islands

Suva, Fiji Islands, July 31.—The Glacier, storeship of the United States Atlantic fleet, has arrived here. She reports having been in communication by wireless with the battleship Georgia yesterday at a distance of 1200 miles and hopes to effect a chain of communication with the fleet through the tender Yankton, which is in the Tonga Islands, and the repair ship Panther, which is at Pago Pago, Samoan Islands.

THE QUESTION OF REFORM

Touched Upon by Bryan In Discussing Independence Platform

Lincoln, Neb., July 31.—The most interesting piece of news to emanate from Fairview yesterday was a formal statement by William J. Bryan, in which he discussed the platform of the Independence party, adopted at the convention at Chicago, and pointed out that it contains a number of planks identical with, or substantially similar to, the planks of the Democratic platform.

He declared that the voter preferring the Democratic platform to the Republican platform, and yet who joins with the Independence party, merely assists the Republican party and thus defeats the reforms in which he is interested. Bryan argued that "the question is not whether one can get all the reform that he wants, but how he can get the most reform." He asserts that the Democratic party offers the best opportunity to secure that which is obtainable at this time.

No attempt will be made by Bryan to reply to the open letter of Victor Rosewater of Omaha, charging a conspiracy between Bryan and his brother-in-law, State Chairman Allen, to "purloin" votes in Nebraska.

Unlike his distinguished opponent, who refused to accept an elephant as a mascot, Bryan, in reply to a letter from the Agricultural Society of Minnesota, telegraphed that he would be delighted to avail himself of their offer to send him an "educated mule" as a mascot.

CLOSE OF HAZEL DREW INQUEST

Nothing of Pathetic Nature as Girl's Mother Gave Testimony

Troy, N. Y., July 31.—At the closing session of the inquest into the death of Hazel Drew the coming and going of the young woman, from the day she resigned her position in E. R. Cary's home on July 6 until her body was found in Teal's pond on July 11, were related with meagre incident.

A touch of the pathetic might have been expected when the mother of Hazel, garbed in heavy mourning, identified the clothing in which the girl went to her death. But it was not forthcoming, for the mother smiled now and then, as she critically turned over the various articles of wearing apparel, and recognized them as having been worn by her daughter when alive. Her story was like that she has always told, colorless and barren of detail.

Then the coroner summoned the father of Hazel, who haltingly told the little he knew of his daughter's habits and associates.

Minnie Taylor, the aunt of the dead girl, who has been a source of much perplexity to District Attorney O'Brien, was sharply cross-examined by him. She smiled pleasantly throughout the ordeal, except for a few moments when she handled the garments of the dead girl, when she looked as though she might break down and sob.

Four other witnesses gave testimony, and then the inquest into the Teal's pond tragedy closed.

The coroner will make public his findings today, which, it is believed, will be the stereotyped announcement that the girl came to her death at the hands of a person or persons unknown.

Saved Army's Ammunition

Tacoma, Wash., July 31.—Stephen Grubb, a Civil war veteran whose action at a critical moment is said to have saved General Sherman's entire store of ammunition just before his famous march from Atlanta to the sea, died here last night, aged 73 years. Just before the battle of Resaca lightning struck a telegraph pole standing in the midst of the 3,000,000 rounds of infantry and 500,000 rounds of artillery ammunition, the entire supply of Sherman's army. The lightning set fire to the pole, and Lieutenant Grubb, assisted by Private Dan R. Anderson, mounted the heap and extinguished the flames at the imminent risk of being blown up.

Chicago In Grip of Hot Wave

Chicago, July 31.—The relief promised in the government weather forecast from the heat of the last five days, which has been responsible for eleven deaths and more than sixty prostrations, has not arrived. Four more deaths were added to the roll yesterday, and of the fifteen prostrations reported several victims are in a critical condition.

An Enemy to Potato Bug

Presque Isle, Me., July 31.—Farmers throughout this region are rejoicing in the discovery by Judge Smith of this village, a practical farmer, as well as a lawyer, of a parasite that seems to be exterminating the potato bugs. It is a green bug with a long lance, which it thrusts half way through its victim.

Two Charged With Murder

Cranston, R. I., July 31.—Charged with the murder of Denis Pementel in Knightsville, Pietro Esquizzera and Angelo Di Maio were bound over without bail for the grand jury after a hearing before Judge Knowles. The murder is alleged to have been the result of a barroom dispute.

Youth Smothered In Shavings

Burlington, Vt., July 31.—Archie Frost, 16 years old, was found dead in a large pile of shavings at the lumber mill of Robbins & Edwards. It is supposed that he fell down a long chute and was smothered to death.

ARMED MEN HUNT FOR ELROY KENT

Will Not Relax Vigilance Until Fugitive Is Caught

BLOODHOUNDS ON THE SCENT

Man Who Escaped From Insane Asylum Is Wanted For Murder of Miss Congdon--Mountains and Valleys For Miles Around Scene of His Alleged Crime Being Thoroughly Searched by Sheriff's Deputies

East Wallingford, Vt., July 31.—The mountains and valleys for miles around this village are filled with armed men, determined, with the aid of four bloodhounds, to run down and capture Elroy Kent, an escaped prisoner from the Waterbury insane asylum, who is alleged to have murdered Miss Della B. Congdon in this village on Friday of last week. Some of the men have not slept for three nights, but all are resolved to keep up the search until they have placed the fugitive safely behind the bars.

With the arrival of the four bloodhounds yesterday from the kennels of Manning Cleveland in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sheriff Fish, assisted by several deputies and about 100 armed men, started on a search for the trail of the man. The dogs soon got the scent and followed the trail until sunset last night, when they were called off. State Attorney Lawrence arrived here from Rutland to direct the search.

The path led to the home of Kent's sister, Mrs. Rollin Flanders, in the mountains near Wallingford, and then branched off in another direction. The sheriff and his deputies searched the house, but found no trace of the fugitive. Mrs. Flanders denied that he had been there. The party then took up the trail, which led by several houses, all of which were carefully searched.

At dusk, the dogs and men being tired out, the hunt was temporarily abandoned, and the men were stationed at cross roads and at points throughout the hills for the night. With the first break of dawn today the search was renewed.

The Beresford-Scott Controversy

London, July 31.—The admiralty has exonerated both Admiral Beresford and Admiral Scoft from any blame in connection with the mistaken signal incident of the last naval maneuvers. It seems that Beresford gave the signal for an evolution which, if obeyed, apparently would have brought the cruisers Argyll and Good Hope into collision. Scott, who was on board the Good Hope, doubted the accuracy of the signal and refrained from obeying it. The admiralty finds that the maneuver order was not dangerous, but as Scott thought there was risk he was justified in turning his cruiser the other way, and Beresford so informed him at the time.

Litigation of Long Standing

Cleveland, July 31.—Federal Judge Taylor yesterday ordered that a suit be placed on file that may cost the Wabash railroad $456,000. Forty holders of old Toledo and Wabash railway bonds brought the action. The suit is an inter-pleader in the case of James Compton, who fought the Wabash through state courts and won in the supreme court of Ohio. He then fought through United States courts and won in the highest tribunal. He got a verdict for $800,000 due on the same issue of bonds and interest from November, 1862. The railroad has resisted Compton for over twenty years.

Miners Fear Being Blown Up

St. Clairsville, O., July 31.—Fearing that twenty-five Montenegran miners who were discharged from work by the Provident Coal company will carry out an alleged threat and blow up the mines with dynamite, 350 miners have refused to return to work. The foreigners congregated about the mouth of the mine and prevented hundreds of other men entering. The arrival of Sheriff Amrine with a posse precipitated a fight, in which four of the coal company officials and several miners were injured. No amount of coaxing will get the 350 men to resume work.

Switchmen Vote to Strike

Scranton, Pa., July 31.—Grand Master Hawley of the Switchmen's union says that 80 percent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad's men have voted for a strike, and that the grievance committee is now awaiting a reply from President Truesdale to a letter requesting a conference, with a view of effecting a settlement before the committee takes up the question of ordering the men out.

Town Delinquent In Taxes

Providence, July 31.—Because the town of Johnston has neglected up to this time to turn over to the state treasurere its proportion of the state tax for six months ending on July 15, there is a possibility that under the law the matter will be reported to the attorney general, and the latter will levy upon the property of the town and sell sufficient thereof to liquidate the bill.

Shortage In Bank Accounts

Seattle, Wash., July 31.—R. F. Parkhurst, assistant cashier of the First National bank of this city, was arrested and, when confronted with an apparent discrepancy in his accounts, confessed to a shortage of $48,330.

A Hand In the Dark.

[Original.]

When my father, who had been a very wealthy man, died insolvent his children were like persons thrown into deep water without having learned to swim.

Had it not been for my mother and sisters I would have got on well enough. I was young and strong and perfectly willing to work. But they must live. Mother was too old to do anything for herself, and, as to my sisters, it was before the admission to the various fields which are now open to women. I secured an agency for the sale of sewing machines. One day I went home and found the family all being turned out of the little cottage to which we had been reduced for nonpayment of rent. I had sold that day a machine for which I had collected the money. I paid the rent with it.

There are cases where the penalty for dishonesty seems very harsh. That I had appropriated the sewing machine funds soon became known to my employers. I was given twenty-four hours to make good the deficiency or submit to arrest. There was no way in the world to save myself. Of a naturally sensitive disposition, to go behind bars was more than I could endure. I resolved on suicide.

I owned a revolver which I had purchased in the halcyon days. I had a few cents necessary to buy cartridges. Following a plan usual to suicides for the purpose of lessening as much as possible the shock to those who love them, I went to a hotel, registered and asked for a room. The hour was for 6 o'clock in the evening, but it was in December and as dark as midnight. The clerk assigned me to a room, and I was shown to it by a bell boy. It was in a wing of the hotel at the end of a dimly lighted hall. My conductor found the door unlocked and opened it. I entered and shut the door behind me. I was in absolute darkness, which was what I preferred—that is, if a man about to die has any preferences.

My knee rubbed against a chair. I took hold of it and sat down with my face to its back, and dropped my head on my hands. My mind of course was on my misfortunes. Had I not been suffering from a partial temporary insanity I might have seen the folly of my course. It would have been better for me to disappear. Then I might still be of use to my mother and sisters. This did not occur to me. My mind had become saturated with one subject—arrest, handcuffs, prison bars. I am a believer in the power of purely temporary physical conditions to force one into crime, and such condition I suffered from.

Presently I straightened up, put my hand to a hip pocket and took out my revolver. There was no necessity for a light. I could do what I intended through the sense of touch. Indeed, I did not care, as some suicides have done, to shoot myself standing before a mirror. I dreaded to see the horrible expression that was on my face. I slowly raised the revolver, my finger on the trigger, intending to place the muzzle against my temple. Just as I felt the cold steel a hand grasped my wrist.

Doubtless nothing could have occurred better calculated to bring me to my senses. The spell in which my mind had been caught was suddenly broken. Surprise was the first sensation, curiosity the second. Neither had anything to do with the monomania that had possessed me. I had suddenly been transferred into a free thinking man. I noticed first that the hand about my wrist was small and soft. It must be a woman's. But what was a woman doing in that room, and how did she know that I had raised a pistol to my head? She might have heard me come in and sit down, but it would have required light to detest noiseless motion. Not for a moment did I fancy that some one from the dead had come to save me. The hand was warm, human, and I felt human currents passing from its owner to me. What has required a whole paragraph to tell flashed through me in an instant.

"Who are you?" I asked.

"One whom God has doubtless sent to save you from a crime," came the reply in a low musical voice.

"I will strike a light."

"Please don't. I am under the care of an oculist. He has placed me in darkness preparatory to an operation. I have been here all day without a ray of light entering my eyes, for, in addition to the room being darkened, my eyes have been bandaged. Hearing some one enter, I lifted the bandage. Having been so long in perfect darkness, my sight is very strong. I have seen you, though dimly, from the first and can see you now. Hadn't I better ring for some one to take you away?"

"No; I will go alone. There is no fear that I will act as I intended. You have relieved the mental strain under which I suffered."

I gave her a brief account of the causes that had led up to my intended suicide. She exacted a promise from me to go to her father and tell him the story, including my adventure with her, giving me a ring as a token. I left her and kept my promise. I was given a check to pay my indebtedness, with another for temporary requirements. On going out I discovered at the office that I had been taken to the wrong room.

When I saw the lady who had saved me I saw an attractive girl of twenty. We became close friends. Indeed, she and all her family were extremely kind to my mother and sisters. Her father gave me a desk in his counting room, and I am now on a fair way to prosperity. HORACE B. GAYLORD.

Quincy Locals Briefly Told

Rain is predicted.

Boston dealers have advanced the price of coal.

Who will win the Daily Ledger motor boat ?

At 3.30 P. M. on Saturday at Atlantic, the Makaria team plays Atlantic.

Asa A. Sewell has recently painted several houses in the vicinity of Edison street.

Bakers basin is nearly emptied of its boats, they having put off for their summer cruises.

Rev. Mr. Johnson of East Weymouth will preach Sunday morning at the Quincy Point church.

John Cahill of Boston has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. Edwin Langley, the last few days.

Alex Shirley of South street has a situation in South Quincy, in one of the stone sheds for the summer.

Another 90 degree day. Quincy has had fifteen thus far this summer against eleven to Aug. 1 last year.

The Joseph L. Whiton homestead, Washington street, looks very nice as a result of recent repairs and improvements.

Sprague's boathouse, foot of River street, is still the scene of business, as owners of small crafts, are in there daily for alterations and finishing touches.

City Treasurer Curtis has awarded a seven months loan of $50,000 to Bond & Goodwin at about 3.75 percent discount. Other bids ranged up to 3.89 percent discount.

Fore River, east of the works, is being dredged. Each day two tugs draw out several scow loads of mud. The dredging is being done by the Harbor and Land appropriation.

Carl Sherburne who has been employed by the Matallic Bed Co., of Boston, has accepted a position with the Electric Boat Company, whose office is located in the Fore River yard, Quincy.

The standing of the candidates in the Motor Boat contest will be published tomorrow for the last time previous to announcement of the prizes. Candidates will be anxious to make a good showing tomorrow.

The monument committee of Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R., met Thursday evening. There was an informal discussion of plans for the work of raising funds, but no definite action taken.

Another concert will be given at the Blue Hills reservation on Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6, by Post 68 G. A. R. band, Harry Bethoney director. It will include ten numbers, one a trombone solo from the stabat Mater by Frank L. Warren.

The annual Sabbath school picnic of the First United Presbyterian church will be held Saturday at Highland park. Cars will leave Doble's corner at 10 A. M. Cars will leave park to return at 4.50 P. M. An enjoyable time may be expected.

An unusually large summer congregation was present at the Point church last Sunday morning. This church keeps open for the morning service and Friday evening service through the summer. During the pastor's vacation in August the pulpit is to be suplied by able preachers.

But for the recent teachings of the Syrians at the Quincy Point church it is probable that Quincy policemen would have been injured in the "holy war" at Quincy Neck last Saturday. The Syrians class has been taught to consider the police as their friends and protectors, which is quite different from the conditions in the native country.

Carpenter Chisholm is reported to have sold the new house he is building on Bay View street and he has started building a second on the same street. These houses have five rooms and city water and indicate the kind of houses now in general demand in Wards One and Two. Our Board of Trade recently recommended the erection of such houses for the man of small capital to purchase for a home.

Boston Inspectors And Quincy Officers Round-Up Lett Families of Quincy

There was a general round up of the four boarding houses in Quincy Thursday evening where it was known Letts made their homes. The descent was made in the vicinity of 9 o'clock, and was for the purpose of obtaining some clue to the whereabouts of Mrs. Leontine Mauren, whom the Boston police are anxious to apprehend that they may question her as to the whereabouts of certain men believed to be mixed up in the plot which led up to the shooting at Jamaica Plain last week.

There are four of these boarding houses in Quincy, and while the woman was not found it was learned that she was in Quincy with a man two weeks ago. The houses visited were at 246 South street, 95 and 152 Sumner street, and 4 Main street.

Early in the evening Inspector Thomas Sheehan and Sergt. Hennessey of Boston, with Chief Burrell, Lieut. McKay, Inspector Goodhue and Officer Olson started on their visits to the houses in question.

The house at 246 South street was the only one kept by a Lett, the other places being kept by a German, a Hebrew and an Italian. At one of the houses, a woman shown the photograph of Mrs. Mauren, said that the woman and a tall man were there two weeks ago.

At 95 Sumner street the Letts refused to answer any questions and when the German boss volunteered any information he was roundly abused.

Other than the recognizing of the photograph by the woman mentioned, the round up was unproductive of results, as no arrests were made. The raid was over at 11.00 o'clock, and the Boston officers took the 11.20 train for home.

Reduction of Wages At the Shipyard

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Every once in a while we see in the papers an extract of a speech of the president of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company. Generally these speeches treat of the impossibility of making the shipbuilding business a paying investment. The reasons given are always the same viz: the American workman and his wages. Yet,ever since the present administration came to the Quincy shipyard the wages have been cut gradually until now there is not one branch where the wages paid in the Fore River yard are not lower than those paid elsewhere for the some kind of work.

But how about the administration of the shipyard? President and manager are said to receive quite opulent salaries. Has there been anything done to improve the methods of the previous administration? Has the enormous waste of time, labor and material been abolished or diminished? Now, Mr. Editor, I request you to give a workingman a chance to say, what he knows of the work as carried on in the Quincy yard, and I promise a series of letters that will make very interesting reading. G.

Fresh Air Camp Closes Season

After a most successful month, the Fresh Air Camp of Weymouth and Quincy, broke camp today. This is a new enterprise for our city, and has met with hearty approval and generous acceptance by all. The camp has been well patronized by both the Quincy and Weymouth people, there having been from the day of its opening to the day of its closing, people from both towns at the camp daily. Applications for next year have already been received by the management.

Bicyclist Hurt.

A young man named Frank Hayes was run down by an automobile on Hancock street near Barry's corner on Thursday evening. Hayes was riding a bicycle when the automobile came upon him. In passing his wheel was struck and he was thrown off. Hayes was severely bruised and shaken up, and he also received some minor cuts. None of his injuries are serious however.

Syrians Pay Fines And Give Bonds

The cases of the ten Syrians engaged in the religious war at the boarding house on East Howard street on Sunday night were disposed of in the district court this morning and peace is assured for the time being.

Some of the men were charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and others with simple assault.

Charles Solomon and Simon Joseph paid fines of $25 each for assault with a knife. The cases against Ferras Solomon, David Solomon, Nozart Ision, Hadhad Ision, Hahad Joseph, Charles Hadad, Ferras Abraham and Mohamed Abbas were placed on file and they were put under bonds of $200 each to keep the peace for three months.

Welcome Home.

A parade of the A. O. H. divisions of Dorchester will be held at Neponset tonight in honor of the election of Matthew Cummings as national president at the recent convention at Indianapolis. President Cummings arrives home tonight, and will be met at the Harrison Square station by Division 26, 31, 35 and 75. A meeting with addresses will be held after the parade at Woods hall.

Sent Up as Tramp.

Jacob Podpora a Lett was found wandering about the streets near the Atlantic depot by Officer Matthews near midnight. The fellow said that he had no money and no work. The only thing he had about him was a razor. He was locked up as a tramp, and was sent to the State farm.

DELICIOUS BANANA CREAM.

This recipe is highly recommended by one of our correspondents; try it for desert tomorrow.

Peel five large bananas, rub smooth with five teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add one teacup sweet cream beaten to a stiff froth, then add one 10c. package of Lemon JELL-O dissolved in 1 1-2 teacups boiling water. Pour into mold and when cold garnish with candied cherries. Serve with whipped cream, or any good pudding sauce. JELL-O is sold by all Grocers at 10c. per package.

Houghs Neck By the Seaside

A hundred couple attended the novelty party at Pandora hall Thursday evening. A fine entertainment was given between dances. Miss Helena Russell of Boston and Miss Helen County of Houghs Neck were easily the star performers. The affair was such a success that it will be repeated every Thursday evening during the remainder of the season.

Some young lady from Houghs Neck is a good sport. On the 10.15 car today the young lady opened her purse to pay her fare and the strong wind that was blowing, blew a two-dollar bill from the purse to the street. The conductor wanted to stop the car to see if the $2 could be recovered but the young lady said, "Never mind, there is a lot more where that came from."

Mr. and Mrs. J. Emil Johnson are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hall of Winthrop, Mrs. Fred Ingalls and Mrs. B. Carle of Somerville in their bungalow the "Olive May."

Thursday afternoon the ladies of the Monday sewing circle surprised Mrs. Margaret Walsh, one of their members at her summer home on Island avenue, Houghs Neck. Knowing that Mrs. Walsh was not expecting them, the ladies came laden down with baskets of things good to eat. For once the usual sewing materials were laid aside, and the afternoon given up to enjoyment. Mrs. Walsh's cottage is located on the ocean front, and the cool breezes wafted from the water were very refreshing, and a delightful afternoon was spent. At supper time the men put in an appearance, and a jollier party would have been hard to find. Eatables there were in plenty and the sharpened appetites were appeased. After supper there were games, music and dancing until a late hour.

A SHORT SPEECH.

Made by an Indian Chief In Reply to a Government Agent.

Old Shah-bah-Skong, the head chief of Mille Lac, brought all his warriors to defend Fort Ripley in 1862. The secretary of the interior and the governor and legislature of Minnesota promised these Indians that for this act of bravery they should have the special care of the government and never be removed.

A few years later a special agent was sent from Washington to ask the Ojibways to cede their lands and remove to a country north of Leech lake. The agent asked my help. I said:

"I know that country. I have camped on it. It is the most worthless strip of land in Minnesota. The Indians are not fools. Don't attempt this folly. You will surely come to grief."

He called the Indians in council and said:

"My red brothers, your great father has heard how you have been wronged. He said, 'I will send them an honest man.' He looked in the north, the south, the east and the west. When he saw me, he said, 'This is the honest man whom I will send to my red children.' Brothers, look at me! The winds of fifty-five years have blown over my head and silvered it with gray, and in all that time I have never done wrong to any man. As your friend I ask you to sign this treaty."

Old Shah-bah-Skong sprang to his feet and said:

"My friend, look at me! The winds of more than fifty winters have blown over my head and silvered it with gray, but they have not blown my brains away."

That council was ended.

THE NECK RUFF.

It Reached Its Full Glory In the Sixteenth Century.

One of the most peculiar and interesting evolutions in historic fashion is the growth and development of the ruff in England. This ruff began its career as a humble little something like a tuck running along the top of the chemisette from shoulder to shoulder. You can see it grow in the portraits of royal personages slowly, but surely, like a great linen flower opening its plaited petals from generation to generation. During the reign of Henry VII. it was scarcely more than a budding excrescence, but with Henry VIII. it had outgrown its tuck stage to the extent of reaching up to the ears and was beginning to sport a mild flare. Those were the days of such strict sumptuary laws that in order to wear black gemet you must be royal, to wear sable you must outrank your viscount neighbor, to wear marten or velvet trimmings you must be able to show an income of over 200 marks a year. The reign of Edward VI. and Queen Mary merely fostered the ruff without encouraging it to any greater development. But Queen Elizabeth, seeing in it possibilities for offsetting her red hair and clear skin, fanned it into vigorous life. In the sixteenth century the ruff burst into full bloom. Men and women, even tiny princesses, were overshadowed by the stiff rays of the ruff on all great occasions. Even over France, Germany and Italy it spread its white pinions and held unquestioned sway until it fell with the Roundheads.

The Burnt Cork Circle.

"Mistah Middleman, Ah has ah riddle."

"Mr. Bones, we shall be delighted to have you propound it."

"Yessah, but hit ain't nothin' lak dat. Ah jest desires to ax yo' what am de difference between ah storekeeper whose business is improvin' an' a man who selects feathers fo' sofa pillows?"

"That's a pretty hard nut to crack, Mr. Bones. Now, what is the difference between a storekeeper whose business is improving and a man who selects feathers for sofa pillows?"

"De storekeeper's business is pickin' up, an' de other man's business is pickin' down."

"Mr. T. N. Orr will sing the pathetic ballad, 'He Married Himself to a Marcel Wave, an' Now He's All at Sea.'"—Harper's Weekly.

Swankers.

A number of our contemporaries appear to be somewhat exercised as to the precise meaning of the word "swank." Swank, though usually called by other names, is the leading characteristic of Englishmen. Frenchmen used to talk of "perfidious Albion." It was simply another way of calling us swankers. To swank is, broadly, to make the thing that is not seem as the thing that is.—London Globe.

Not.

"Shall we marry, darling, or shall we knot?" was the short and witty line an ardent lover dispatched to the idol of his heart.

But, where the strangeness of the matter comes in, the girl replied: "I shall not. You may do as you please."

Moral Lesson Lost.

"Good for Squillips! I hear that since he quit drinking he has got rich."

"It's too bad to spoil that story, but it's the other way. Since he got rich he has quit drinking."—Chicago Tribune.

Much Easier.

Candidate of Ideals — Wouldn't you rather be right than president? Practical Friend—Certainly! It is so much easier to be right.—Baltimore American.

Honesty is the best policy, but it is the sort of policy that has no surrender value.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Has Made War On the Dogs

Atlantic residents as well as Quincy people feel that they have a most proficient worker in Officer John Hunt of Squantum street who, in whatever he has undertaken, has fulfilled that duty thoroughly and faithfully. During the last month, officer Hunt has had the dog problem to face in Quincy Square and in Atlantic. When he began dogs were everywhere and a great many of them were unlicensed. These stray canines were to be removed to the city pound, or if thought dangerous to be shot. Officer Hunt left no territory uncovered. He patrolled every street daily in Atlantic until this week not a dog is visible and Atlantic is famous for its dogs—and in Quincy square it is said there never was such freedom from the stray animals that are apt to frequent public places.

That public mention of Officer Hunt should be made seems only just. He is modest about his reverence of duty and therefore has not had the praise that should be coming his way. He is a hard worker and a good citizen and a public vote of thanks should be tendered him for his efficiency in ridding the city of dogs.

MILTON.

Mrs. Theodore I. Reese of Columbus Ohio, who has been the guest of friends in Milton, has gone to the Cape for the remainder of the summer season.

Josiah Babcock is at Provincetown for a few weeks' visit, preparatory to commencing active work as tax collector.

Clarance Haverley of Hose 2 is having his annual vacation.

Chief of Police Pierce and his officers have made a thorough search of the town in the hopes of finding the Letts wanted by the Boston police. No trace of them was found, although it was rumored they were in the woods about Milton.

Although the town has made an appropriation for the purchase of a horseless chemical engine, Chief Engineer Choate has not as yet placed the order for the engine. Chief Choate has been looking over the different kinds of apparatus on the market, but has found nothing as yet that satisfies him. When he gets the new apparatus he wants a good one or none at all.
